It is because of these resolutions that the amendments which I have presented have been introduced. Briefly, it calls for the fact that, after the county board has prepared and presented a plan of reorganization to the State Council of Education and that State Council has approved of that county plan as submitted, it shall go back to the people of the proposed merged district for their consent, approval or rejection of that particular plan. In the event that the plan is not approved by the electorate, the classification of the school district at the time of the rejection by the electorate shall remain in existence.

This election, or this referendum, shall have taken place prior to December 1st of 1964.

Since we have vested the local school boards with the power of running our school districts, they know best what the needs, the demands, of their districts are. They know the attitude of their people; they know the type of program, the type of curriculum their people want. It seems a feasible opportunity and privilege to give them, that they be able to say "yes" or "no" to the county plan as presented.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the amendments offered by the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

The very bulwark of our educational system is found in Article X, section 1, of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which not only recognizes that the cause of education is one of the distinct obligations of the State, but makes it an indispensable governmental function. This section of the constitution directs the General Assembly to provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of public schools. The power of the State over education thus falls into that class of powers which are made fundamental to our government. It ranks with law enforcement, taxation and preservation of the peace as an element necessary for the sustenance and preservation of our modern state.

There have been sufficient court decisions to indicate that it is up to the legislature to determine what is an efficient and thorough system of school organization and school classification. The legislature, by a great body of court decisions, has said that the legislature may create, it may abolish, it may set school districts as it may deem wise and necessary.

Since it is charged with the responsibility of maintaining the educational system, it has ultimate control and authority over the arrangement of governmental machinery needed to support it.

So I think there is enough law and constitutional body to indicate that the legislature has the right to reclassify school districts as it deems necessary and wise. Now we in the legislature have permitted school districts to reorganize themselves on the basis of incentive payments to union and merged districts.

In Pennsylvania, progress has been made in this field but not nearly enough to meet the needs of an ever-changing and modern society. The people have been slow and reluctant to maintain and present a good system of public education for the children all over the Commonwealth. Since this mehod has been tried, particularly since 1947, it is, therefore, I think, time that the legislature take up its constitutional mandate to provide for a thorough and efficient system of school districts, and, where school districts have not complied with the reorganization, that we now mandate a certain reorganization system.

Therefore, I ask that we oppose the amendments offered by the lady from Montgomery.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel.

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the members of the House on both sides to give consideration to the amendments as submitted and would request a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

STATEMENT ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, on page 5 of the bill in question there are set forth certain factors which may be considered by the State Council of Education in permitting any school district to be organized with less than 4,000 pupils in that district, down to the floor of 2,500. Among those factors are the words "socio-economic characteristics."

Mr. Speaker, I have had prepared and have in my possession an amendment to this bill deleting the words "socio-economic characteristics." I prepared this amendment because I felt that this language was vague, ambiguous, and that there was a lot of vice inherent in this language and that it was a catch-all phrase for those school districts that would come before the State Council and seek to get a school district of less than 4,000 pupils in population.

I am not going to offer my amendment, however, Mr. Speaker, but I feel constrained to briefly state for the record why I am not going to offer this amendment, although I do believe strongly that the words "socio-economic," by all means, should come out of the language of this bill. As far as I am concerned consolidation of the school districts is a necessary condition precedent to any vote on a tax package, on a tax bill. As far as I am concerned, if there is no consolidation there will be no vote from this one member for a tax, but I do not want to be left in a position where I can be pointedly accused of harpooning the consolidation bill by inserting, or seeking to insert, an amendment that perhaps a Senate-House Conference Committee could not agree on, and thus by harpooning the consolidation bill, in effect, Mr. Speaker, and this reason alone, that I am not going to offer my amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I am offering two amendments. I would like to have them considered separately and, if I may, I will ask that the shorter of the two be considered first. I will explain the amendments.

Mr. GAILEY asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6, lines 5 and 6 by striking out "TWO THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED (2,500)" and inserting: three thousand (3000)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, this amendment affects the so-called floor that this redistricting bill sets up. In other words, there are provisions in the bill that say "under certain conditions" such as topography, number of pupils, facility of transportation, and that most unfortunate phrase that my colleague, Representative Fineman, has already discussed, "socio-economic characteristics," whatever that means.

The State Council may make districts smaller than the minimum 4,000 provided, but in no event less than 2,500. Now in order to understand the full import of what has been done here I think it is necessary to review a little history concerning the way this bill was first introduced.

I think we all know that it is the product of a compromise within the so-called Select Committee. This committee, after many compromises, recommended to the members of this General Assembly that a floor of 3,000 be established. This is the way the bill was originally introduced in the Senate and this is the way the bill came to a vote in the Senate, except in other places perhaps it would be more appropriate to say, the language of this act was changed to make it 2,500 instead of 3,000. So what this represents is a compromise of a compromise.

I suggest to all the members of this House that if the 3,000 figure, which was in itself a compromise from the initial suggestion of the Governor's Committee on Education, if this in itself is a compromise, this should be the very least that the members of this House should accept as being the minimum figure which should be eligible to stand as a district by itself, taking into account these factors which I have already discussed. I think this is something that will help us in our efforts to redistrict the State and will lead, not only to a better plan of reorganization of our districts, but to a better education for the children of our State. I ask the members on both sides of the aisle to vote for these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the amendment offered by the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey. Mr. Speaker, the Select Committee on Education labored long and hard over the kind of a re-organization bill which it felt, in its wisdom, would provide for the proper kind of educational opportunities for the children of the Commonwealth, and one which all the members of the districts would be able to support. It was felt that a fair floor of 3,000 would have been sufficient. However, when the bill reached the Senate, in the wisdom of those members over there, it was agreed that a floor of 2,500 should be included in the bill.

Those of us who are interested in re-organization feel that we can very well go along with a 2,500-pupil-population district under certain conditions without doing any violence to the principle of re-organization. Therefore, I ask that this amendment not be supported.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise also in opposition to the amendment offered by the gentleman from York. As to his concern about the extraordinary cases which are contemplated by Senate bill 867, I think the gentleman was unduly, and unnecessarily alarmed. In my opinion, the number of districts that would fall within this extraordinary category would be infinitesimal in number, so that, while I am in favor of larger size school districts, I do feel that we are making any substantial sacrifice at all by lowering the floor in these extraordinary cases from 3,000 to 2,500.

I would also remind the gentleman and all the members of the House, that perhaps one of the most important things that this session can do before it adjourns sine die is to enact re-organization of the school districts of Pennsylvania. This session of the legislature can go down in history alone if it accomplishes this monumental task.

I would suggest, if there are other amendments of a controversial nature inserted in the bill, that this bill Senate 867 will bog down in conferences and further negotiations which will serve no one in Pennsylvania. I oppose the amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. I want to thank the lady from Northampton, Mr. Speaker, for her kind attention to my initial remarks. and I do not think the gentleman has any idea how many exceptional districts there are that might be affected by this section. He is not in a position here to tell us today what this number is and any figure that he would give us would be a pure guess.

I suggest to those members and I would ask all the members who have read this bill to look at it again. There is nothing to prevent the State Council of Education, under the very terms which allow for these special exceptions, to make any number, an unlimited number, of districts and have 2,500 pupils under the amendment that the Senate has inserted into this bill.

We all heard the lady from Northampton say that the members of this committee felt that 3000 was a reasonable figure. She herself has stated it, and yet, we, apparently in the face of the recommendation of our own select committee, are willing to bow to the caprices of those in other places with regard to legislation that comes before us. I say to you that too long, perhaps, have we allowed the tail to wag the dog. I think it is time this House made its own decisions on legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. I ask the members on both sides of the aisle to oppose the amendments offered by the gentleman from York.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, just a brief statement—I am not voting for the amendments and I am not voting for any kind of a reorganization bill on school districts on a population basis. I think the entire problem has been approached on a population basis from an impractical and illogical standpoint. I believe the only way that you can profit from reorganized school districts is on a geographical basis, and nothing has been produced in testimony, either before the other party or this party or through the report of the commission the Governor appointed, or from the deliberations of the select committee, which has in any way changed my mind one iota. I am still firmly convinced that the only practical and logical way to reorganize school districts is on a geographical basis, and I think the debate and the differences that have arisen on this problem to try to attack it on a population basis amply proves that point.

Second, I do not believe that you can properly in any way, shape or form attack the transportation problem and the cost of the transportation problem by redistricting on a population basis, which you can do on a geographical basis. That is where a lot of waste of the taxpayers' money is taking place this year.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was not agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, rise?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I notice that the gentleman from Berks, Mr. McDevitt, is not voting on the amendments to this bill. I would like to know how he is voting.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has voted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GAILEY asked unanimous consent to offer additional amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 281), page 3, by inserting after line 20:

A county of the eighth class shall have one reorganized school district but if any such reorganized school district has a pupil population of less than two thousand five hundred (2500) the State Council of Education shall make such provisions as are necessary for such district with one or more other school districts to assure that the district is adequately provided with school facilities and services.

In all counties other than a county of the eighth class, in addition to the reorganized school districts formed by a single school district of the second class or by a district of the first class, ther shall be a minimum of one reorganized school district and a maximum number of such districts determined by dividing the total pupil population of the county by eight thousand (8000) and adding thereto one district for any fractional part of eight thousand (8000) in excess of the whole number quotient obtained by such division but no reorganized school district shall have a pupil population of less than four thousand (4000). The pupil population of the county shall be the sum of (1) all pupil populations of all school districts within the county but not including the pupil populations of a reorganized school district formed by a district of the first class or by a single district of the second class; and of (2) all pupils in average daily membership in area technical schools and schools operated by the county board of school directors.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, may I say I am glad I ran that set first, because the second set is much more important and I hope to do better on this set.

I would like to point out to the respective floor leaders, Mr. Speaker, that these amendments have been changed from the copies they have in their possession in that seventh class counties as they appear therein have been stricken out, in order to conform it to the bill as it is now.

Now what do these amendments do? These amendments attempt to set some criteria, both for the guidance of the local county boards of education and, in the event that it comes to their decision, to the State Council of Education and the Department of Public Instruction, in determining just how many districts there shall be in each county. I think we are all aware of the fact that the Governor's committee on education recommended a district of 10,000 students as representing a student population that would be desirable from a number of standpoints—two major standpoints, I think.

First, this, of course, would reduce the number of administrative areas and therefore result in substantial savings in the administration of our school system, and, second, and I think this is much more important than the savings to be effected. Anyone who has read the Governor's committee report, while they may not agree with it, cannot help but be impressed by the wealth of material which indicates—

I know the hour is late, but I trust the members of this House are cognizant that what we do today on this issue of reorganizing school districts is not just something we do for this next year or the next five years. In my opinion, it is something that is going to set the pattern for our school districts here in Pennsylvania long after all of us are in our graves. So I would earnestly request those who are not interested in hearing what I have to say, at least, to remain silent so that perhaps some of those who are may have the opportunity to hear me out.

As I was saying, Mr. Speaker, just as important as the savings it would make in administrative costs in reorganizing districts is the fact that with the increase in student population to what they consider to be a desirable district of 10,000 would be the tremendous increase in the quality of education. This is true in all but a few exceptionally wealthy districts which can afford to offer that quality of education because of the tax base which they have. They found consistently that those districts which had larger student populations, from the area of 8,000 to 10,000 students, were able to offer a far broader range of subjects and to do it in a much more economical fashion.

And as I stated, they recommended 8,000 to 10,000 as a minimum.

Now the bill that we have before us sets no figure as a desirable one. All it does is state that there shall be a minimum of 4,000, which would mean, Mr. Speaker, that should a county board wish to reorganize their county, they could, by dividing their student population into units of 4,000, comply with this law. There is nothing that compels them to increase the size of the district.

It is important that these districts are enlarged; Not important only in the sense that we save money in administrative costs through all the factors which have been mentioned so far, but important in that it will enable these districts at a minimum of cost rather to the Commonwealth than to their local taxpayers to provide a quality education. There is nothing in this bill which would establish a standard that these people should be shooting for in arriving at the size of these districts.

Now what does this amendment do? This amendment does not establish 10,000 as a criterion, even though this was the recommendation of the Governor's committee on education. I am well aware that in this area the spirit of compromise frequently must prevail. No, this sets 8,000 as the district that the county should shoot for when they redistrict the county. What it says is that you divide the student population by 8,000, you establish one district for each unit of 8,000, plus one more for any excess over 8,000 plus one, so that if a county has a student population of, say, 51,000 there could be established, dividing 8 into 51, six districts plus one for the overage, or seven, plus an additional one or eight. Under this present bill there would be nothing to prevent the county school directors, perfectly legal, to divide this 51,000 by 4,000 and arrive therefore at a total of 12 districts, a substantial increase—12 as opposed to 8.

Now why is this important at this time? I know there is opposition to these amendments for two reasons. First, there is opposition from those who do not wish reorganization in any manner at all. Second, there is opposition from those members who are in favor of this approach, who believe there should be larger districts but who say, we must compromise; anything we can get through is at least a start. I do not expect to have any impact today on those people who are against reorganization completely, but I would like to point this out to those who are saying, "Look, we at least have made a start on it. Let us improve it in the future." I say to the members of this House that this is not something that we can improve on in the future. We will not be able to. Once we pass this legislation today the pattern will be set.

Is there anyone in this House who can tell me with a straight face that if we were to pass the bill in its present form and all the local school boards begin to reorganize and lay their plans on the basis of 4,000 people and this works up through the machinery that is set forth, that two or three or four years from now, after all this work has been done, after plans have been submitted, that this legislature is going to turn around and say, "Now wait a minute, we are going to throw all that work out the window. Now we are going to make you raise the level to 7,500, to 8,000, to 10,000?" Of course not. Those people who say that this is just a start, that we will improve it in the future are flying in the face of facts. They are kidding themselves. What we do at this time is to establish the kind of school districts we have from the standpoint of size and organization for our lifetime.

I say to you that this is not something we can start now and improve later. It is either now or never, and I suggest to the members of this House that a school reorganization plan of the sort we are voting on today, while it is certainly infinitely better than our present method, is not the sort of thing towards which we should be striving, and if we fail in this opportunity here we will be doing the school children of our Commonwealth, the citizens of our Commonwealth, one of the greatest disservices this legislature can render them. I ask, therefore, that all members of this House support these amendments.

Mr. EILBERG. I rise in opposition to these amendments. I find that the gentlman from York has stated there are criteria in the present bill, Senate bill 867. I beg your pardon, that there are criteria in the Governor's committee report and he refers to the formula used whereby the 5,000 minimum figure is ultimately arrived at. I would suggest that there is no magic in that formula. The only purpose of the formula was a guide to arrive at the 5,000 minimum figure. I would suggest that there is no magic in the figure 5,000. This was a figure that the Governor's committee, a particular group, thought was desirable as a minimum size for a district. I would say that under the bill as we have it, Senate bill 867, where it says 4,000, the method of arriving at the minimum number or maximum number of school districts in the particular county can very readily be arrived at by dividing the 4,000 into the total population of the county. Now, it seems to me there are just as much criteria in that very simple mathematical calculation as there was in the formula, rather complicated, presented by the Governor's committee report.

Now, I would say, Mr. Speaker, that we have in Pennsylvania today some 2,300 school districts. Far, far too many. Under Senate bill 867, as it is before us, this number would be reduced to some 400 or 450. Now, this is a very substantial drop. Approximately 80 percent of the total number of school districts would be consolidated into some 400 or 450 new school districts. And I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that an 80 percent figure is a very substantial one.

I would also point out, and perhaps most important in this particular argument and I do not know whether the gentleman from York is aware of this, but the question of the size, the minimum desirable size, of a school district, is not a new one and has not been studied by the Governor's select committee for the first time. This is an old, old question which has been studied by many, many expert groups. Unfortunately, I do not have some material with me that I have read but I know in that material is the reference that many substantial groups, many educational groups, Mr. Gailey, if you please, are quite satisfied and quite content with the 4,000 minimum. These independent studies show that a school district with 4,000 population can produce an adequate school system. I therefore, say, Mr. Speaker, that these amendments should be opposed.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schuster, rise?

Mr. Schuster. Mr. Speaker, is it a rule of the House that if you are in a seat you must vote either yea or nay?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. SCHUSTER. I would like to know when the gentleman from Philadelphia is going to make up his mind, Mr. Fineman?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is sorry that the gentleman's objection comes too late. The roll has been called. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, rise?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I was trying to get your attention before the roll was closed but failed to get it. I ask again how the gentleman from Berks would have voted on this amendment if he had been voting? I think the people in Berks County are entitled to know.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will apologize. I did not see the gentleman trying to get the attention of the Chair, but the objection comes too late; the roll has been closed.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. McDevitt, I am referring to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. ADAMS. Could you ask him how he would have voted if he would have voted?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has no authority to ask him how he would have voted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TOMPKINS asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 5, line 9, by striking out "eighth class" and inserting: seventh and eighth classes

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6, line 2, by inserting after "event" except in counties of the seventh and eighth classes

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, these amendments conform to what I have understood to be the unanimous intention of the select committee to exempt the seventh and eighth class counties from provisions of the reorganization bill. For that reason I ask that the amendments be supported.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. We concur in the amendments offered by the gentleman, Mr. Tompkins.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. ESHLEMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments to this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 5, line 11, by striking out "four thousand (4,000)" and inserting: two thousand (2,000)

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 5, line 19, by striking out "four thousand (4,000)" and inserting: two thousand (2,000)

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6 lines 5 and 6, by striking out "TWO THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED (2,500)" and inserting: one thousand six hundred (1,600)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Eshleman. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ESHLEMAN. What these amendments do in effect is lower the 2,500 figure to 1,600 and the 4,000 figure to 2,000, and I would like to take just a few minutes of your time to tell you why.

The 1,600 figure is not an arbitrary figure; it is the suggested unmandated minimum figure the State Council of Education has been using for the last 12 years. So these amendments in effect change the present unmandated 1,600 to a mandated figure.

Now I believe this section to be true home rule, while at the same time insuring against the too small school district. Evidently, the State Council of Education has seen merit in the figure 1,600, feeling anything under that as being too small. I respectfully point out to you that there is no ceiling figure; the 2,000 is merely psycholoical as was the 4,000 figure. Any county may submit plans under this legislation creating school districts of any size they see fit, 4,000 or 10,000, and it is conceivable that the state council would approve it. I ask the members on both sides of the aisle to vote for these amendments as I am sure the majority of your people back home in your school districts would want you to do. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to these amendments because over the year-long study that the Governor's Committee on Education has made of education in the Commonwealth there was an overwhelming amount of evidence presented to show that events in the last ten years have changed sufficiently in the world and in the educational world to prove and to point out that a school district of 1,600 or 2,000 is not able to supply all the educational services which are necessary to meet all the needs of the children. Therefore, I ask you to vote "no" on these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schuster, rise?

Mr. SCHUSTER. I think when you asked the chief clerk to record the vote that he pushed it before you had asked him. I think that I had the floor, and I want to know whether he is going to vote, whether he is pushing his button or not?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Whom is the gentleman inquiring about?

Mr. SCHUSTER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, recorded as voting?

The Chair notes that the gentleman is recorded as voting.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the membership, if I may, at this point, that Mr. Johnson has informed me I will not have an opportunity to amend the tax measure unless the members stay here; there will be objection. Immediately at the end of this vote, I will call the tax measure up for the purpose of amendment. I ask that the membership stay here until the amendment is inserted into the bill

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. GRAMLICH asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 5, line 9, by striking out "eighth class" and inserting: sixth and eighth classes

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6, line 2, by inserting after "event" except in counties of the sixth and eighth classes

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Venango, Mr. Gramlich.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman at my left just said it is a very simple amendment, and really it is. All this amendment does is to remove the sixth class counties from this reorganization bill. Now, if it is good for the seventh and it is good for the eighth, it is good for the sixth, in my opinion. At least, I observe that in my county. They do not want it, and, in my opinion, they do not need it.

I would say also, now that we have a full head of steam we might as well take a vote on it as of now. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the lady from Northampton desire recognition?

Mrs. REIBMAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

I rise in opposition to the amendments offered by the gentleman to exempt sixth class counties.

The select committee had agreed that because of the small pupil population in seventh and eighth class counties they should be exempt under certain conditions of the reorganization bill. To exempt any other counties with a larger pupil population would negate the whole idea of providing equal educational opportunities on a local level to children in any other class counties. Therefore, I ask that we oppose the amendments.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. FETTEROLF and Mrs. KERNAGHAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Bill, page 7, by inserting between lines 7 and 8:

Section 4. Notwithstanding any of the foregoing provisions, any existing school district which offers an educational program of proven quality which meets community needs, which has the willingness and ability to support its program financially, without unduly increasing State appropriations, as determined by a State accrediting agency comparable to the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, shall not be subject to the provisions of this act.

Amend Sec. 4, page 7, line 8, by striking out "4" and inserting: 5

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, on your notes, is this the last set of amendments to this bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. According to our listing, this is the last set of amendments.

Mr. FETTEROLF. Mr. Speaker, this amendment to the bill in question provides the following:

That any existing school district which offers an educational program of proven quality which meets community needs, which has the willingness and ability to support its program financially, without unduly increasing State appropriations as determined by a State accrediting agency comparable to the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, shall not be subject to this act.

Now in effect it means, in simple terms, if the school district is doing a good job, then the State shall keep its hands off.

This amendment is particularly important in my county to the school district of Jenkintown. Many of you people probably never head of the borough of Jenkintown until this bill was introduced. Well I can tell you and I assure you that I have heard from them since then. They have a fine school, highly accredited, considered in the county one of the top ones. Mrs. Kernaghan is also on this amendment with me and she has been requested by the school district in the borough of Yeadon to go along on these amendments.

I ask the support of all the members of this House on this amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, I oppose the amendments as offered by Mr. Fetterolf of Montgomery and Mrs. Kernaghan of Delaware. The legislature is concerned with the education of all the children in the Commonwealth, not only of those children who live in a school district which can offer a good educational program. Just as we, on the State level, have tried to spread the base of equal educational opportunities by having the wealthier districts help support some of the poor districts in Pennsylvania, so must we then, on the local level, extend equal educational opportunities to further reduce the patchwork quilt of any kind of inequality in educational opportunities.

If this amendment were adopted, this would negate the entire philosophy of the re-organization of school districts to further equalize educational opportunities of all the children in every district in Pennsylvania.

I ask that you vote "no" on these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1789, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for educational purposes by imposing an excise tax on royalties interest dividends and capital gains from investment capital as defined of individual residents and nonresidents of the Commonwealth and of estates and trusts fixing the rates of tax thereon providing for the reporting and payment of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews appeals refunds and penalties and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue fiduciaries partnerships associations and individuals.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendat this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Section 205, page 6, line 18, by inserting after "Government" Provided, that where investment capital has been held by the taxpayer more than six months prior to its sale or exchange the taxable investment return thereon shall be 50% of the net capital gain thereon as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's amendments, I observe, now makes the tax on capital gains of intangibles the same as the Federal rule practically, meaning that if you hold the intangible six months, only one half of the tax is payable, or only 50% percent of the profit is taxable.

The first question I want to ask is, by reason of this amendment cutting in half the profit on the sale of intangibles held more than six months, what is the revenue loss as a result of this amendment?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, there is no revenue loss, because the estimate was based upon the Federal return which is already includes this provision.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, do I understand then that the law, with respect to the gain or loss on taxes on gains on intangibles, will now be the same as that of the Federal Government?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker, and I might further state that is the way the bill now reads. However, this amendment was put in because one of the members here felt that we should spell out the long term capital gains so that there would be no question about it, and for that reason I had this amendment prepared.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. How about the Federal rule with respect to a net capital loss, the limitation of $1,000? You can just deduct a $1,000 loss from other income on your return. Would that apply so that you could deduct a $1,000 loss from dividends in the same return on the state basis?

Mr. POLEN. It would not, Mr. Speaker, because we are going to use the same basis as the Federal tax. In other words, if you have long term capital gains of $1,000 you will pay on it; if you have a loss you will pay nothing. It will be exactly the same as the Federal returns.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Would there be a carry-over in your state returns if you had royalties and had dividend income and gains from capital gains? Then you would, of course, add the three of them and multiply it by two percent, but you would divide your capital gains profit in half if you held it more than six months. That is the intent of this amendment, is it not?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, this would not affect dividends or net income because they are separate. This would affect only capital gains. It would make your returns to the Commonwealth exactly the same as your returns to the Federal Government. This amendment is to make clear that the long term capital gain is to be taxed at the same rate as the Federal Government. As to the carry-over, for instances, if you said $1,000 loss, there would be no tax. If, in your next return, you had $1,000 in capital gains, you could offset your $1,000 loss on that basis. But the $1,000 loss you are talking of against regular income would have no relationship to this. Now if you had a carry-over you would reduce your current return by the $1,000, that is true. And again I say the basis of your return would be your Federal return.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, Mr. Speaker, would not your capital net loss be a deduction from your profit on dividends and your profit on royalties in ascertaining what your net investment income was for the purpose of this state tax?

Mr. POLEN. It would not, Mr. Speaker, because each one of them is taxed separately. The capital gains stands on its own, the dividends stands on its own, and the royalties stands on its own.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is a revelation, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman for that answer.

Now the next question: Here you have a situation where in this tax bill you are taxing and classifying as income from investment, dividends, royalties and capital gains. Now then, you have offered amendments which treat differently the profit on capital gains by reducing that by 50 percent. Are you not violating the uniformity clause of the constitution which says that taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subject, namely, in this case, investment income?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker. If you will read the bill in each case it reads, "as such year as returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government." In other words, if your dividends are $1,000 to the Federal Government, you pay on that. If your royalties are $1,000 you pay on that; if your capital gains are $1,000 you pay on that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then the gentleman's position is that if you report certain income to the Federal Government and you use a different base, exemptions, and so forth, the mere fact that you did it for the Federal Government, and even though it might violate the State's rule, having to do with uniformity, yet because it was all right for the Federal Government, it would be all right under our State practices? Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to get into the question of constitutionality because I am not familiar with it. I would say, however, that the bill was drafted by the Justice Department, this amendment was drafted by the Justice Department, and I do not see where there is any question such as the gentleman has raised. Perhaps, as an attorney, he could bring out more on it; I cannot understand it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you. There are people who will probably see you in the courts on that question.

Now the next question: Now that you have offered all these amendments and you favored these favorite ones in the State through pressure for deducting rents and so forth, how much is finally left in the bill for certain people who are in segregated cases, you might say, to pay?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the figures that I have show there are $22,600,000 revenue in the bill at the present time.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to have kept the membership here, but we felt that this as a very important amendment. It could well destroy the constitutionality of the bill, if it is constitutional, although I think constitutionality was destroyed when you ripped out of the bill similar investment incomes, such as, rents and interests, but that again is a judicial matter which will be determined by the courts.

As far as we are concerned on this side you can make this bill just as unconstitutional and unfair as you want. It is your bill and you are going to stand by it and, as far as the members on this side are concerned, you can go ahead and offer this amendment, but I wanted it in the record what you were doing.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would now like to call up bills for amendments. Is there any objection to any of these that were agreed to?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe our membership, of course they can leave, but Mr. Polen is going to amend House bill 1841, which reduces the education program by the amount of deductions that have been made in House bill 1789, and, if you want to offer those amendments now, we would like to interrogate Mr. Polen right down on House bill 1841.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1841, entitled:

An Act amending "The General Appropriation Act of 1961" approved May 25, 1961 (Appropriation Act No. 5-A) changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Revenue and making an appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction for community colleges.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 5, by striking out "$5,408,232" and inserting: $5,308,232.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 6, line 7, by striking out "$35,250,000" and inserting: $32,950,000.

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 2), page 8, line 4, by striking out "$1,000,000" and inserting: $400,000.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, with respect to the first item on page 4 of H.B. 1841, you are reducing the appropriation to the Department of Instruction, which was $5,408,232; you are cutting it $100,000. We note you have written into the bill money for the State Council of Higher Education and State Council of Education. May we first ask this question: The original $700,000 that was in the bill, what did you plan to use that money for under that particular item?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in the select committee we have the proposals of the Governor's Committee on Education. I believe the figure they recommended for this purpose which covered several programs, was $1,300,000. In order to tailor the appropriation to the anticipated tax revenue, we cut that down to $700,000. Now to again tailor it to the reduced amount that is now in the bill, we cut it an additional $100,000. It is made through general governmental operations, but it includes several programs recommended by the Governor's Committee on Education and also the cost of the State Council of Higher Education and the State Council of Education.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, do you have a statement there as to what the $600,000 would actually be used for, how much for the State Council of Higher Education, how much for the State Council of Education, and so forth?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, we are simply going to get along with $600,000 additional money to take care of all phases of the Governor's committee's report. The reduced amount will not do many of the things mentioned in the program but it will cover the cost of the State Council of Higher Education and the State Council of Education. Some of the program will have to be dropped, and I could not say exactly what the balance would be used for. There would not be a large amount left.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, could you, tomorrow, bring us a breakdown of that $600,000? You apparently do not have it there tonight.

Mr. POLEN. I will be glad to.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now the next reduction that you have made is on page 6 of the bill. You are cutting the annual rental or sinking fund charges on school buildings, the appropriation which was, I believe, $3 million?

Mr. POLEN. $2,600,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. $2,600,000. You are cutting that to $2,300,000, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. No, we are cutting it by $2,300,000, to $300,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. You are cutting it by $2,300,000 and leaving $300,000 in the fund. Now the question is, if you are cutting out the program, what is the $300,000 for? I take it you plan to send back to committee the bill increasing the room allowance from $1,100 to 1,200—that bill is not going to move, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, the reason that we reduced this is that when we checked into it—let me give the history of it. The Governor's Committee on Education set that figure at $2,600,000, and we of the select committee accepted it. However, when we went into figuring it out—the Department of Public Instruction did—it was found that amount would not be necessary in this fiscal year and that approximately $300,000 would take care of it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In other words then, Mr. Speaker, the $300,000 will be all that is necessary for the increase in the authority rental subsidies?

Mr. POLEN. That is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. By the way, this is an aside, do you suppose the Department of Public Instruction could find about $2 million for panic repairs for schools? I mean they found this $2.3 million—

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, let me correct Mr. Johnson. This recommendation of $2.6 million was not the recommendation of the Department of Public Instruction. We in the select committee accepted the figures which the Governor's Committee on Education recommended, but they were rcommending it for the full year that this additional construction would be in any they are not going to be. Now the figure that I have of $300,000 is what the department estimates will be necessary for this fiscal year 1961-62, the additional amount.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is not such a substantial program, is it?

Mr. POLEN. It will not affect the program. It will take care of the authority rentals as the department has estimated them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, then the other reduction from $1,000,000 to $400,000 on the junior college setup, you are cutting that $600,000? You say that $400,000 will be enough to start the one part of the junior college program, is that about it?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the recommendation of the select committee was for $400,000. When I introduced House bill 1841, which was introduced on my own but using the amounts the select committee had given me, we had additional revenue at that time contained in House bill 1789. There is such great interest in that program that I, on my own, upped the appropriation to $1 million so that there would be—in my mind—there would be no question to anyone who was reading this program that there was money for it. However, the original figure of $400,000 was what was estimated to take care of the program for the balance of this fiscal year and it will permit the establishment of the junior colleges, the community colleges, under that program.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, that ends the interrogation. There was the feeling that we should interrogate Mr. Polen on this so the members on this side, as well as the members on the other side, would know what these amendments do and what particular program was being cut and what the extent of the program would be after the slash. We have no objection to the amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this point I wish to inform the House that we will convene tomorrow at 12 noon. We will vote on a series of bills before we caucus. All we have are the amended bills that are agreed to, and I will release the membership for the 6 o'clock dinner hour.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize Mr. McCann was dramatically going to put a sine die resolution in tonight, but apparently he is not going to do it.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the membership to know that the parliamentarian informs me that the House rules on the sine die resolution require that it must be referred to the Rules Committee, and I will ask your permission to hold a meeting of the Rules Committee off the floor of this House tomorrow.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. We realize that, but I do not think it is going to be that easy. You have to put the thing in first, however.

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. CURWOOD offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 22, 1961.

The Borough of Shickshinny is presently celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding.

Shickshinny, which derived its name from the indian name meaning five mountains, is strategically located beside the Susquehanna River in the lower end of the coal rigions of Luzerne County and throughout the years has served as a business center and hub of activity for thousands of residents of nearby areas. This picturesque little community, which several years ago was selected as an ideal American town, has steadfastly retained its air of friendliness and hospitality even though at times its prosperity has been seriously threatened.

The centennial celebration of the founding of Shickshinny, which started in June, will be climaxed by a celebration beginninng on Wednesday, August 23d, and lasting through Sunday, August 27th. Each night a spectacular review of the borough's history will be presented. On Wednesday night the outstanding attraction will be the crowning of a queen by our Governor, the Honorable David L. Lawrence. On Friday, a motorcycle rodeo will be presented by the Philadelphia Police force, and on Saturday, a parade is planned, with many important dignitaries on hand, including a representative of the President of the United States. Religious services on Sunday will bring the celebration to a fitting close in a spirit of giving thanks for pasts blessings and expressing prayers for the future; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends its most hearty congratulations and felicitations to the Borough of Shickshinny upon the celebration of its 100th anniversary and expresses the sincere belief that Shickshinny will maintain its enviable record and will continue to advance itself in the future; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Mr. Dennis Carvely, Chairman of the Centennial Celebration and to Mayor Edgar G. Scott, Honorary Chairman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Curwood.

Mr. CURWOOD. Mr. Speaker, all I want to say is that I thank the House very kindly for considering my resolution for the borough of Shickshinny.

Thank you.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1689, entitled:

An Act regulating the maintenance of junk and scrap yards and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DOUGHERTY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 5, by inserting after "fence" or the tree and shrubbery height

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1840, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897 (P. L. 292), entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" clarifying provisions for imposing collecting and paying tax on deposits and shares of savings banks without capital stock building and loan association and federal and state savings and loan associations measured by their surplus undivided profits and reserves.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Section 1 (Section 1) page 6, line 10 by inserting after "reserves" provided that a deduction shall be allowed for dividends accrued or declared and unpaid.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 312

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 312.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 1273 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. McCANN offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 21, 1961.

Resolved (if the Senate of Pennsylvania concurs), that House Bill No. 1273, Printer's No. 1469, entitled "An act amending the act of June 1, 1959 (P. L. 392) entitled 'An act relating to the retirement of State employes amending revising, consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto' providing a disability retirement allowance for disability incurred by officers and employes of the Pennsylvania State Police while engaging in law enforcement activities when not on active duty", be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so that the chief clerk may have this—he has asked me about the printing—House bill 1789 will be a special order for printing tonight or early in the morning also, House bill 1820, House bill 1821, Senate bill 867. Those are "musts" for the printer to deliver on special order by 10 a. m. in the morning.

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. I mentioned to the minority leader that in the session tomorrow we will vote all the retirement bills and those that are agreed—we will vote first—then there will be a special caucus from the floor on reorganization and tax measures.

Without a doubt, this House will definitely work Thursday and then adjourn for the week. Next week, when we come in, we will go into the sine die schedule which means that we will not close at any given time each day until the Senate and the House are in complete agreement. We will recess for meals two and three hours at a time, when printing is necessary, continuing to work steadily through the week driving toward adjournment sine die, which will be reported from the Rules Committee tomorrow.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader who desires to interrogate the majority leader.

Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, what are your plans with respect to the sine die resolution? Do you hope to have a meeting of Rules Committee tomorrow and have it released from committee? Is that right?

Mr. McCANN. That is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Will it be on the printed calendar?

Mr. McCANN. I assume that is the proper procedure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It will not appear on the calendar. It will be voted upon by the House.

Mr. McCANN. It will just be voted on?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. If it is reported from Rules Committee, it will come up for a vote tomorrow, is that right?

Mr. McCANN. That is absolutely right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What time of day would you expect to call it up, before your tax program may or may not have passed, before your school program is passed, or just when would you expect to call it?

Mr. McCANN. I never gave it a single thought. Whatever time you say, that is when I will call it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now just a minute. You are the boss.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I never for once thought of that. I will vote sine die before or after, whichever you prefer. It is honestly that simple. If you want to vote on it at the end of the day, it will be agreed to, or at the beginning of the day. It will be agreed to, right after we report it out.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, if we vote sine die before we pass taxes or pass the school program, that is an indication that you are ready to quit no matter what happens. I did not think you would run it before you had some of these bills in your vest pocket.

Mr. McCANN. They are sure to pass with those 10 Republican votes I will get tomorrow.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, he is on another subject now. Let us stick to sine die.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS PASSED OVER

Mr McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that all other bills and resolutions on today's calendar not acted upon be passed over.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, August 23, 1961, at 11 a. m., e. s. t.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 7:07 p. m., e. s. t.) the House adjourned.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1961. No. 93.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, August 23, 1961.

The Senate met at 10:00 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Benjamin R. Donolow) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JAMES V. LEARY, Assistant Rector of St. Michael The Archangel Roman Catholic Church, Levittown, offered the following prayer:

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.

We pray Thee, O Almighty God. Who alone art good and holy, shower Thy blessings on the Governor of this State, on the Members of this Assembly, and on all those who hold important situations. Let their administration be conducted in righteousness. Let it be useful to the people over whom they preside by encouraging due respect for virtue and religion, by a faithful execution of the laws in justice and mercy, and by restraining vice and immorality.

We recommend, likewise, to Thy unbounded mercy all our brethren and fellow citizens throughout the United States that they may be blessed in the knowledge and sanctified in the observance of Thy most holy law, that they may be preserved in union, and in that peace which the world cannot give.

Finally, direct all our actions, O Lord, we beseech Thee, by Thy divine inspiration, and further them by Thy continual help so that every prayer and work of ours, and especially fo this Assembly, may always begin with Thee and, through Thee, be likewise ended. Amen.

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LANE and Mr. RIPP, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

CREATING THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ADVISORY COUNCIL

Messrs. BERGER and WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 129), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, August 23, 1961.

Whereas, There is a need for a closer medium of contact and communication between the General Assembly and the offices of the Governor and the various administratives offices and agencies, and

Whereas, Functions of the legislative arm of government are hampered and delayed by lack of facilities and lack of co-ordination of existing facilities between its own agencies and the Members of the House of Representatives and Senate, and

Whereas, It is desirable to create a continuing commission of the General Assembly to direct the ways and means whereby the agencies, standing committees, officers and employees of the Assembly may operate for the best interests of the Commonwealth by expediting and simplifying the legislative processes, assisting and advising with special committees and agencies, and generally acting as an advisory and executive arm of the legislature.

Therefore be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That there is hereby created the General Assembly Advisory Council whose function shall be to co-ordinate and advise on the duties of special committees and agencies of the General Assembly or either House thereof; to co-ordinate the functions and duties of the Legislative Reference Bureau, the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee, Joint State Government Commission, Local Government Commission, and other commissions or committees; the creation and staffing of a legislative library within one of the presently existing legislative commissions or committees, and to give immediate attention to a revision of the rules of the House and Senate whereby the major House and Senate Committees shall receive and study proposed legislation during the interim between sessions of the Legislature and during the Fiscal Session of the Legislature.

And Be It Further Resolved, That the Council hereby created shall have the right and power to obtain, upon request, reports and information from all agencies, commissions and committees now or then currently engaged in programs of construction or planning, and to obtain facilities and space for the Legislature and its committees.

And Be It Finally Resolved, That the Council shall consist of not less than twenty nor more than thirty Members of the General Assembly, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and the President pro tempore of the Senate, the membership to be bipartisan at all times, and the officers shall be elected by the members of the Council.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make certain Reports from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I have been unofficially informed that the House has passed the school reorganization bill.

At this time, I have been instructed to report from the Select Committee on Education, as committed, Senate Bill No. 819 and Senate Bill No. 820, which are bills also dealing with school reorganization.

FINAL PASSAGE CALENDAR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 283 (Pr. No. 2628)—And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am going to vote for this bill, and I am going to ask my colleagues to do likewise.

This is not the type of bill that I would be happy with or that I think is needed in this type of a situation. I believe we should have followed the bill that appears in the National Congress. The requirements for the people who lobby for labor, which appear in the Griffith-Landrum Bill, should be incorporated in this measure.

Unfortunately, we are dealing with what we would like to have rather than the practicalities of the situation. As a result, rather than have no bill at all, I will accept this measure and ask my colleagues to vote "aye."

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I had hoped to vote for an adequate lobbying bill at this Session. However, as I said yesterday, my luck with amendments has been running bad. Therefore, I will not offer amendments, but I will be compelled to vote "no" because I think this bill is inadequate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it seems to me that we are doing something here which is contrary to not only the Constitution of the United States, but also the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

May I just take a minute of the time of the Senate to read two sections? The first one is the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

> "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or of the right of the people peacefully to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

Our own Pennsylvania Constitution, I think, is even more specific. Article I, Section 7, reads as follows:

> "The printing press shall be free to every person who may undertake to examine the proceedings of the legislature or any branch of government, and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. No conviction shall be had in any prosecution for the publication of papers relating to the official conduct of officers or men in public capacity, or to any other matter proper for public investigation or information, where the fact that such publication was not maliciously or negligently made shall be established to the satisfaction of the jury; and in all indictments for libels the jury have the right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court, as in other cases."

Section 20 of Article I also reads as follows:

> "The citizens have a right in a peaceful manner to assemble together for their common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances or other proper purposes, by petition, address or remonstrance."

Mr. President, I hate to see the Senate give favorable consideration to a bill such as this, which I think interferes definitely with the freedom of speech of the citizens of the Commonwealth, and is going to make it difficult for honest and intelligent men to perform their responsibilities and duties which we think they are entitled to.

I would certainly like to urge all of the Senators to vote against this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman's remarks as far as they go. Unfortunately, they did not go far enough.

I agree that honest and decent people have no reason to be concerned about this matter. This legislation is not primarily set up to interfere with the right of free speech or the right of assembly. If it were, I would be the first one to vote against it.

What you have is the practical situation where you have an organized group, or groups of people, who try not only to influence legislation, but they try to legislate. I think there ought to be some curb as to that activity.

Also, we must face the basic premise which man has faced from the day he came on this earth; namely, that he happens to be weak in certain areas. When people exploit some of these weaknesses or operate on some of these human frailities, I think that ought to be curbed and people ought not to be faced with that kind of temptation.

You have, in the General Assembly, 260 Members who come from every nook and cranny of the State. They are people who come from every walk of life and from every economic strata of life. These people are no better or no worse than anyone else. Many of them are highly skilled in the type of work they do. Others would be better advised not to be in this business. Unfortunately, they all arrive here. The people who are interested in some aspect of legislation then begin to operate on these people, and all of the frailties of these people come to the fore.

How do you deal with this problem? Do you have a meeting of all of the people who come here as Legislators? Do you sit them down and go over the basic human concepts or the basic concepts they should have learned as a child in their homes? Do you then go into all of the decent things they should have done and all of the indecent things they should try to resist, because this temptation will come along constantly with every piece of legislation?

There is not a bill on this Calendar, Senator, that does not deal with some problem that somebody has or does not deal with some area in which someone is interested and someone is opposed. One of the things the Legislature must do is iron out all of these problems if at all possible or, best sort them out and try to come to some honest conclusion.

This is very difficult. There are many subjects about which many of us know nothing. The definition once given of "ignorance" is that we are all ignorant about many things, and it is just lucky that we are not all ignorant about the same things. Therefore, all of us can bring something to bear or something to each of these problems.

When people try to exploit this ignorance—I mean that in the best sense; that you do not know the subject—and try to use it for their own means, try to turn it or twist it, or try to embarrass someone here who would normally not be faced with this problem or would have no chance to deal with it other than the fact that he has been elected and is down here, that is the kind of problem we are trying to curb.

I would say that, on the whole, people are decent and try to do the right thing. However, you always have the fellow who goes overboard. You had the same thing in the national Congress. A bribe was attempted upon one of the United States Senators on an oil lobby bill. I do not think that is a coincidence. I do not think that is the first time it has happened, and I do not think it is the last time it will happen. At least, under this bill, you would have some idea who these people are.

As I stated to you earlier, I do not think this is the best bill that we could get. This ends up merely being a registration bill. The other bill would have been a desire to know everything that is going on. Just as in the Griffith-Landrum Bill, every labor lobbyist who goes into Washington must not only register, but he must give a full account of his income, must give a full account of the wages he receives, and he must give a full account of his expense account. We are not asking that here and, unfortunately, we are not going into detail.

Also, you have in every Session the one man who comes up here on one bill and makes an all-out effort on it. He is not motivated by the best interests of the people, and he is not always motivated by the highest ideals. He has been hired to do a job and he is going to try to do that job the best he can. He might do it any way that he can. We are trying to curb this. There may be an honest and decent fellow who comes up here to try to influence and try to bring to bear the knowledge that he has.

Lobbyists are not bad. People who are lobbyists are not bad people. They bring information to the Senators; they bring information to the Members of the Legislature. They bring a lot of information we may not have at hand. However, when they move into the area of trying to legislate, or when they try to be the Legislature, that is when you have the basic problem. This is what we are trying to curb. This is what we are trying to deal with. I do not think that is in the same category of the right of free assembly or interfering with the right of free speech.

We allow people to have guns in their homes. This is no crime in this State or in this Nation. However, if you walk down the street with a gun hidden inside of your coat, you are committing a crime. This, I think, is analogous to the situation that we have here at hand and with which we are trying to deal.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 761—Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 761 go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, might I point out to the gentleman that if we pass this bill over in order on Second Reading,—it is a Senate Bill—there is very little likelihood that it will become law. That might be what is intended. I am certain that on due reflection, the gentleman would not want to do this because this is an opportunity to reapportion the Senate of Pennsylvania, which has not been done in many, many years.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, had the House agreed today to the sine die adjournment resolution, I might take a different attitude toward this. However, I believe, as of tonight, it would be well to have the bill go over in its order because they have not yet agreed to the resolution.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may I advise the gentleman that I have been informed by persons who are somewhat close to the situation that the House will pass the resolution on Monday so that the sine die adjournment will be next Thursday?

Perhaps the gentleman will bear that in mind and have the bill moved up to Third Reading. If the House does not pass the resolution, we can then have the bill go over in its order on Monday so that we may have another opportunity to look at it. Then we will be in a position to move it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, even so, I would rather have the adjournment resolution fait accompli than something happening on Monday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

SB 806 (Pr. No. 1173), SB 826 (Pr. No. 1015), SB 828 (Pr. No. 1200), HB 840 (Pr. No. 2660), SB 855 (Pr. No. 1078), SB 880 (Pr. No. 1129), SB 881 (Pr. No. 1130), SB 893 (Pr. No. 1160) and SB 895 (Pr. No. 1238)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a three minute recess for the Committee on Agriculture to hold a meeting, to be held in the Minority Floor Leader's Office, during which time we will proceed with the Second Reading Calendar and if there are any controversial bills, we will hold them.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Committee on Agriculture will hold a meeting for three minutes, and the Senate will continue with consideration of the Calendar.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILLS

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, advising that the following Senate Bills had been approved and signed by the Governor:

SB 789 and 790.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WEINER and SARRAF (by request), by unanimous consent, presented to the Chair SB 936, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 8, 1937 (P. L. 262), entitled as amended, "Consumer Discount Company Act," removing certain limitations on service charges and imposing others.

Which was committed to the Committee on Banking.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. HAWBAKER, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported, as committed, SB 935.

Mr. LANE, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Appropriations, rereported, as committed, SB 914; as amended, SB 814 and 815.

Mr. DEVLIN, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on State Government, reported, as committed, SB 912, 928, HB 1008, 1010, 1827 and 1842; as amended, SB 619, 799, 913 and HB 1539.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows:

SB 619, 787, 799, 819, 820, 910, 912, 913, 928, 931, 932, 934, 935, HB 65, 1008, 1010, 1030, 1539, 1789, 1827, 1831 and 1842.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, at the end of a rough week, you may be looking for some entertainment, and I would like to call attention to something that is going on in central Pennsylvania, beginning on Friday.

We have a unique institution in the little town of Centre Hall, called a Granger's Picnic. This is almost 100 years old. It started by some farmers bring a basket picnic, and it has developed now so that we have a city of about 1,000 tents. The people come in there and live a week, with some rather elementary plumbing facilities. Otherwise, they have good, clean fun at this particular picnic.

We invite you to come up there. We have two nights given over to the political parties. I am not conversant with the Republican program, but I would be glad to announce it if I knew what the Republican program was going to be. However, on Saturday night, the distinguished United States Senator, Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, will be there. He will give a report—an unbiased report—on the Kennedy Administration from the Democratic viewpoint. We will be happy to have any of you come and join us.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, does our colleague, Senator Hays, have any assurance that we will be out of here by Friday?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, on behalf of my distinguished colleague, the Senator from Berks County, I would like to call your attention to—since we have passed the billboard bill and cannot put up signs along the roads anymore—and invite you to a spot where the Governor enjoyed some Pennsylvania Dutch "schnitz un knepp" and pork and sauerkraut recently. This is the week of the great Kutztown Fair, in Berks County, which neighbors the Land of the Golden Touch, Lehigh County.

The Fair is running this entire week, and we have some outstanding Pennsylvania Dutch entertainment. In addition to that, we have very good food, as is so prominently displayed by the Senator from Berks and the Senator from Lehigh in the most prominent spot of their anatomy.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I would be remiss in my duty as a native of Allegheny County if I did not announce that our County Fair begins on August 31st, and runs for five days.

I might advise you that we have a spectacular attraction this year in the form of Gene Autry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It appears to the Chair that the Senators of Pennsylvania will be having a very busy social life.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I am very much a bipartisan politician, as you know. Since Ray Shafer is not here, I should announce that the Crawford County Fair is running this week and we have a great many attractions. Of course, we are up in the area which is probably the coolest, cleanest and most attractive area in Pennsylvania —right on Lake Erie.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, at this time, I would like to call to the attention of the Chair, and to the attention of the Members of the Senate and the people of Pennsylvania, that the last of August and the first part of September are known as "Fair Weeks" in Pennsylvania. Everyone of the very wonderful counties in Pennsylvania, undoubtedly, is having a County Fair.

SB 914 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Bill No. 914, Printer's No. 1208, which originally appeared on page 11 of today's Calendar, under the heading of "Education Bills on Second Reading." Earlier today, this bill, prior to passing second reading, was rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations and then rereported from committee, as committed.

I would now like to have this bill read for the second time in order that it may be in a position to be acted upon by the House before we adjourn sine die.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection and Senate Bill No. 914, on second reading, is now before the Senate for consideration.

BILL ON SECOND READING

SB 914 (Pr. No. 1208)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 238

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House bill No. 238, printer's No. 2004, entitled "An Act amending the act of December 15, 1959 (P. L. 1779), entitled 'An act relating to fish and amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth,' providing for the issuing of resident fishing licenses to persons sixty-five years of age or over and to certain disabled veterans."

This bill reduces the fee for a resident fishing license for persons over sixty-five years of age from $3.25 to $1.00.

It further extends the provision for the issuance of free licenses to disabled veterans whether or not such disability is service-connected. The present law authorizes free licensure to veterans with the service-connected disabilities.

This bill appears to violate Article IX, Section 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

> "Section 1. Uniform taxation; exemption from taxation.
> "All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects, within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, and shall be levied and collected under general laws; but the General Assembly may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit, and institutions of purely public charity, and real and personal property owned, occupied, and used by any branch, post, or camp of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines; and the General Assembly may, by general laws, set up standards and qualifications for private forest reserves, and make special provision for the taxation thereof. Amendment of Nov. 4, 1958."

It is clear that this bill would create lack of uniformity. The arbitrary establishment of a birth date to separate the taxed from the exempt cannot create a valid classification of subjects. This is established in Sayre Borough vs. Phillips, 148 Pa. 482 (1892), and the long series of similar cases.

The same logic also prevails in the veteran preference provision of this bill. Although this specific question does not appear to have been ruled upon by the courts, the general problem is discussed at length by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in Kurtz vs. Pittsburgh et al., 346 Pa. 362 (1943). In that case which struck down compensation for dependents of public employees in military service, the Courts decision supports the conclusion that provisions for gratuities for veterans must bear some relation to their military service. The Fish Law, as it now stands, is so related, since free licenses are available only to veterans whose disability is service-connected. Modification of this service-connected requirement, as now proposed in this bill, would remove the very legal factor which has supported the constitutionality of the present free licenses for disabled veterans, and could conceivably jeopardize the existing veterans' exemption.

The cost of administering the Fish Law is derived from license fees. It would be very unjust discrimination to require a certain class of licensees to bear the entire burden of this expense while exempting other persons from this obligation regardless of their ability to pay.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. IRVIS from the Committee on Judiciary, reported as committed, House bill No. 17, entitled:

RETIREMENT BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 610, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Employes' Retirement Code of 1959" approved June 1, 1959 (P. L. 350), providing a death benefit after ten years of service or an accumulation of withdrawal credits in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, our caucus agreed to vote "aye" on this bill.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the minority leader rise?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I, too, want to say that our caucus has approved this bill as it betters the retirement system for the teachers. I, therefore, ask our membership to vote "aye."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1803, entitled:

An Act relating to certain charitable organizations requiring the registration of such organizations regulating the solicitation of moneys and property by or on behalf of charitable organizations establishing a Commission on Charitable Organizations and an Advisory Council on Charitable Organizations and placing duties upon the Department of State.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BOWMAN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 4, page 12, by inserting between lines 2 and 3:

(7) Hospitals which are required by law to file reports at least annually with the Auditor General.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments that I am offering exclude hospitals which are required by law to file reports at least annually with the Auditor General, from the provisions of this bill. I believe that it is just as logical to exclude this group of organizations as it is to exclude libraries that report to the State as to their finances, and schools and universities which report to the State as to their finances. As I understand, one of the major purposes of this legislation is to provide to the State financial information concerning charitable institutions. Under the existing law, hospitals do report in detail to the State with respect to their finances, and if libraries are excluded because of that reason, and if schools and universities are excluded because of that reason, it is equally logical that hospitals should likewise be excluded from the provisions of this act.

I therefore request all the members of the House to support these amendments.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendment is agreed to and it is my understanding that it will make this a non-controversial bill.

Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. I would like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, surely he has not inserted amendments into the bill to then fight and contest and oppose the bill?

Mr. BOWMAN. Very frankly, Mr. Speaker, I inserted the amendments in the bill to improve it in the event the bill would pass, even though I am not particularly fond of the bill.

Mr. McCANN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. As I understand, the House has agreed to the amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1818, entitled:

An Act amending the "Unemployment Compensation Law" approved December 5, 1936 (1937, P. L. 2897), redefining State and modifying certain provisions as to eligibility of individuals while in training or when permanently separated or when separated from a family enterprise.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GELFAND asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, sixth line of Title, by inserting after "STATE": excluding remuneration from a family enterprise as wages

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title, by striking out "or when separated from a family enterprise"

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, lines 2 to 4, by striking out "AND SUBSEC-" in line 2, all of lines 3 and 4, and inserting: amended December 17, 1959 (P. L. 1893), is amended, and subsection (x) of said section is amended by adding at the end thereof a new paragraph to read:

Amend Bill, page 4, by inserting between lines 16 and 17:

(x) "Wages" means all remuneration (including the cash value of mediums of payment other than cash), paid by an employer to an individual with respect to his employment, except that the term "wages" shall not include:

(10) The amount of any payment made after October first, 1961, to an individual by any corporation, partnership, association or other business entity in which fifty per centum (50%) or more of the proprietary interest is owned by such individual, his spouse, father, mother, brother, sister or any combination of such persons unless the tax imposed by the Federal Unemployment Tax Act is payable with respect to such payment or payments.

Section 3. Subection (d) of section 401 of the act, amended December 17, 1959 (P. L. 1893), is amended to read:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 401), page 5, lines 13 to 20; page 6, lines 1 to 3, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 3, page 6, lines 4 to 13, by striking out all of said lines.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I yield the floor to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, for the present. I had the impression that these were not controversial.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, yields to the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. These amendments are not controversial. I thought maybe he wanted to explain the amendments for the benefit of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That was the purpose of the Chair in recognizing the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, on page 6, lines 9 to 13 of this bill deal with family enterprises in which they would provide that if a family enterprise were in existence, those people who are related to the major stockholder in a family relationship of brother, sister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, father or mother, would not be covered by the unemployment compensation law, despite the fact that the employer had paid contributions to the unemployment compensation fund. This to me seems to be patently unfair, and as a consequence I have had a conversation and several conferences with the department, and, as the end result, reached these amendments which would provide that insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned this act would not require family enterprises of the nature involved to make contributions to the unemployment compensation fund wherein the Federal statute does not govern the situation. In short, that would mean that if the family enterprise had four or less employes, it would not be required to pay contributions to the unemployment compensation fund so that, in the event an employe in a close family relationship in this type of family enterprise would be released from employment, he would not be entitled to unemployment compensation nor would the employer make any contributions to the unemployment compensation fund.

However, if the Federal statute governed the situation and the employer had more than four employes, then, of course, the employer would have to make contributions to the fund despite the fact that one who was in a close family relationship in this enterprise would not be entitled to payment from the unemployment compensation fund in the event he was let out from employment through no fault of his own and because of business circumstances.

As I say, I think this is at least fairer and more just than the provision presently in this bill, because, in situations where the Pennsylvania statute controls, at least the employer will not be making contributions to the fund and therefore the employe would have no right to expect any payment from the unemployment compensation fund in the event he were released. I thank you.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, we have no objections to these amendments and I will ask the members to vote favorably. They have been cleared with the department and a satisfactory arrangement has been reached on them, so I ask the members to vote "aye."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. BOWMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, sixth line of Title, by inserting after "REDEFINING": base year and Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title, by inserting after "enterprise": requiring additional reports by employers; further regulating payment of compensation and the charging of employers' accounts for such payments; further regulating qualifications required to secure compensation and the rate and amount of compensation.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out "Subsection" and inserting: Subsections (a) and

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 2, by inserting between lines 7 and 8:

(a) "Base Year" means the [first four of the last five completed calendar quarters] first fifty-two of the last fifty-four completed calendar weeks immediately preceding the first day of an individual's benefit year, provided that with respect to an individual who, on the effective date of this subsection, is in a current benefit year, his next succeeding base year shall be the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the first day of such individual's next succeeding benefit year which begins within ninety days after the end of the current benefit year.

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, lines 2 and 3, by striking out "AND SUBSECTIONS (D) AND (F) OF SECTION 401"

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 4, by striking out "ARE" and inserting: is

Amend Bill, page 4, by inserting between lines 16 and 17:

Section 3. Section 206 of the act, amended May 23, 1949 (P. L. 1738), is amended to read:

Section 206. Records of and Reports by Employers. Each employer, (whether or not liable for the payment of contributions under this act), shall keep accurate employment records containing such information as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations adopted by the department. Such records shall be open to inspection by the department and its agents at any reasonable time and as often as may be deemed necessary, but employers need not retain such records more than four (4) years after contributions relating to such records have been paid. The department may require from such employers such reports as it deems necessary which shall be sworn to if required by the department.

Information thus obtained shall not be made public or be open to public inspection other than to the members of the board, the officers and employes of the department, and other public employes in the performance of their public duties, but any employe or employer at a hearing on an appeal shall, upon request, be supplied with information from such records to the extent necessary for the proper presentation and consideration of the appeal.

Any officer or employe of the department or the board or any other public employe who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding, be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty nor more than two hundred dollars, and in default of the payment of such fine and costs of prosecution shall be sentenced to imprisonment for not longer than thirty days.

Each employer who has been determined by the department to be subject to the reporting provisions of this act shall furnish among other reports wage and separation information upon request of the secretary. Such request shall be made upon a form prescribed by the department. Every employer receiving such request shall furnish all information required on the form and mail or deliver it to the department within seven days from the date on which such request was made. If any employer fails to furnish the information requested within the seven days period, the secretary or his deputy may make a determination of the claimant's benefit rights based upon all available information, and shall use the claimant's certified statement as to his wages and reason of separation as to the employment not reported.

Any employer who has been determined by the department to be subject to the reporting provisions of this act and has been so notified and who neglects or refuses to file or to complete, in such manner as the department may prescribe, [either] the periodic report required by the department to establish the amount of such contributions [or the periodic report required by the department, showing the amount of wages paid to each employe or both] on or before the date such reports are required to be filed, shall pay a penalty of one hundred (100) per centum of the total amount of contributions paid or payable by the employer for the period; Provided, That such penalty shall be not less than one dollar ($1.00) or more than five dollars ($5.00). Such penalty shall apply to the reports for each period with respect to which such reports are required to be filed; Provided, That such penalty shall not apply to reports for any period with respect to which the last day for filing such reports is prior to a date on which the department has notified the employer that he has been determined an employer subject to the reporting provisions of this act, unless the reports for such prior periods are not filed within thirty days after the employer has been so notified. The penalties provided by this section shall be in addition to all other penalties provided for in this act.

Section 4. Subsection (f) of section 302 of the act, amended September 3, 1955 (P. L. 556), is amended to read:

Section 302. Establishment and Maintenance of Employer's Reserve Accounts. The department shall establish and maintain for each employer a separate employer's reserve account in the following manner:

(f) [Subsequent to June, thirtieth, one thousand nine hundred forty-nine] With respect to benefit years commencing prior to January 1, 1962, such account shall be charged with all compensation by even dollars paid to each individual who received from such employer wage credits constituting the base of such compensation in the proporation that such wage credits with such employer bears to the total wage credits received by such individual from all employers. With respect to compensation paid for benefit years beginning on and after January 1, 1962, such compensation shall be charged to the account of the base year employers of such individual as follows: The account or accounts of the employer or employers who provided the last day of employment to such individual during his base year shall be charged with all compensation paid to him until the total of such compensation paid equals but does not exceed fifty per centum of the base year wages paid by such employer or employers. Any additional compensation paid shall be charged in the same manner and to the same extent to the remaining base year employer or employers in the inverse of the chronological order in which such individual's employment occurred: Provided, That if the department finds that such individual was separated from his most recent work for such employer due to being discharged for [willful misconduct connected with] misconduct affecting such work, or due to his leaving such work without good cause attributable to his employment [or if the department finds that such individual's unemployment exists because of his loss of work with such employer due directly to a disaster by reason of which the Governor has declared a state of emergency], thereafter no compensation paid to such individual with respect to any week of unemployment occurring subsequent to such separation [or due to such disaster as the case may be] which is based upon wages paid by such employer with respect to employment prior to such separation [or loss of work] shall be charged to such employer's account under the provisions of this subsection (f), provided such employer has filed a notice with the department in accordance with its rules and regulations and within the time limits prescribed therein. The findings and determinations of the department under this subsection (f) shall be subject to appeal in the manner provided in this act for appeals from determinations of compensation. [The provisions of this subsection (f) as hereby amended shall become effective with respect to charges arising out of any benefit year which commences after the thirtieth day of September, one thousand nine hundred fifty-one.]

The department shall remove from the account of each employer all charges based upon benefit for which the department has been or will be reimbursed by the Federal Government.

Section 5. Subsections (a), (d) and (f) of section 401, and subsection (b) of section 402, of the act, amended December 17, 1959 (P. L. 1893), are amended to read:

Amend Bill, page 4, by inserting between lines 19 and 20:

(a) Has, within his base year, been paid wages for employment equal to not less than [thirty (30)] forty (40) times his weekly benefit rate: Provided, however, That (1) an employe whose base year wages are less than six hunderd dollars ($600.00) shall not be eligible under the provisions of this subsection, unless such wages were earned during eighteen (18) different weeks within such base year, which weeks need not be consecutive, or more than fifty per centum (50%) of such wages were earned while engaged in a full-time occupation in a full-time industry or enterprise while attached to the labor market for permanent full-time employment, and (2) wages earned by a full-time day student in temporary employment during holidays or periods of vacation, or in employment which is an integrated part of a cooperative educational curriculum, shall not be considered base year wages within the meaning of this subsection and section four hundred four of this act.

The secretary shall define, by rule and regulation, full-time occupation, full-time industry and permanent full-time employment for the purposes of this subsection. Such rule and regulation shall include, inter alia, provisions excluding casual workers, persons who, at their own option, work less than full-time, and persons who, at their own option, work irregularly rather than in permanent employment.

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 3 and 4:

Section 402. Ineligibility for Compensation. An employe shall be ineligible for compensation for any week

(b) (1) In which his unemployment is due to voluntarily leaving work without cause of a necessitous and compelling nature, irrespective of whether or not such work is in "employment" as defined in this act: Provided, That a [voluntary] leaving work [because of pregnancy whether or not the employer is able to provide] because the employer did not provide requested other work shall be deemed not a cause of a necessitous and compelling nature: And provided further, That no employe shall be deemed to be ineligible under this subsection where, as a condition of continuing in employment, such employe would be required to join or remain a member of a company union or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide labor organization, or to accept wages, hours or conditions of employment not desired by a majority of the employes oin the establishment or the occupation, or would be denied the right of collective bargaining under generally prevailing conditions, and that in determining whether or not an employe has left his work voluntarily without cause of a necessitous and compelling nature, the department shall give consideration to the same factors insofar as they are applicable, provided, with respect to the determination of suitable work under section four (t): And provided further, That the provisions of this subsection shall not apply in the event of a stoppage of work which exists because of a labor dispute within the meaning of subsection (d).

(2) In which his or her unemployment is due to leaving work (I) to accompany or to join his or her spouse in a new locality, or (II) because of a maritial filial or other domestic obligation or circumstance, whether or not such work is in "employment" as defined in this act: Provided, however, That the provisions of this subsection (2) shall not be applicable if the employe, during a substantial part of the six months either prior to such leaving or the time of filing either an application or claim for benefits was the sole or major support of his or her family, and such work is not within a reasonable commuting distance from the new locality to which the employe has moved.

Amend Bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 13 and 14:

Section 7. Section 404 of the act, amended May 14, 1949 (P. L. 1355), September 29, 1951 (P. L. 1580), March 30, 1955 (P. L. 6), and December 17, 1959 (P. L. 1893), is amended to read:

Section 404. Rate and Amount of Compensation. Compensation shall be paid to each eligible employe in accordance with the following provisions of this section, except that compensation payable with respect to weeks ending in benefit years which begin prior to the first day of [January, one thousand nine hundred sixty] October, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, shall be paid on the basis of the provisions of this section in effect at the beginning of such benefit years. [Provided, however, That with respect to benefit years which begin on or after the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred sixty, and prior to the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred sixty, the maximum weekly benefit rate of compensation shall not be in excess of thirty-eight dollars ($38.00), nor the maximum amount of compensation payable with respect to such year in excess of eleven hundred forty dollars ($1140.00).]

(a) The employe's weekly [benefit] compensation rate shall be [computed as (1) one twenty-fifth of his "highest quarterly wage" in accordance with Part A of the Table Specified for the Determination of Rate and Amount of Benefits, or (2) fifty per centum (50%) of his full-time weekly wage, whichever is greater, or if his base year wages are insufficient to qualify him for compensation by either of these methods, his weekly benefit rate shall be determined as (3) that rate appearing in Part B of the table on the line on which in Part C appears the amount of qualifying wages which most nearly approximates but does not exceed his base year wages] that rate which appears in Part B of the table set forth in subsection (e) hereof, and which is on the same horizontal line in Part A as the interval which includes his highest quarterly wage.

(b) The "highest quarterly wages" of an employe shall be the total wages (computed to the nearest dollar) which were paid to such employe in that calendar quarter in which such total wages were highest during the base year.

(c) Any otherwise eligible employe shall be entitled during his benefit year to [the amount appearing in Part D of the Table Specified for the Determination of Rate and Amount of Benefits on the line on which in Part B appears his weekly benefit rate: Provided, That he has sufficient qualifying wages in Part C, and provided further, That an employe whose weekly benefit rate has been determined under clause (3) of subsection (a) of this section shall be entitled to compensation only if his base year wages are at least thirty times the weekly benefit rate as computed under clause (1) of subsection (a)] an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate, multiplied by the number which appears on the table set forth in subsection (e) hereof at the top of a column under Part C of such table to be ascertained by locating on the same horizontal line in which his weekly benefit rate appears the maximum amount which does not exceed the total wages paid to him during his base year: Provided, That an individual who has received a reduction in compensation for one or more weeks of unemployment because of eligibility for a private or public pension or pensions, as provided in subsection (d) hereof, shall have such benefit year entitlement debited in the amount by which such compensation payment or payments were reduced in addition to the amount of compensation actually paid.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, each eligible [employe] individual who is unemployed with respect to any week ending subsequent to the [first] thirtieth day of [January, one thousand nine hundred sixty] September, one thousand nine hundred sixty-one, shall be paid with respect to such week, compensation in an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate, less the total of (1) that part of the remuneration, if any, paid or payable to him with respect to such week which is in excess of his partial benefit credit, and [also (2) that part] (2) the amount of a retirement pension or annuity if any [received by him] which he has received, is receiving, is entitled to receive, or, upon application, is eligible to receive with respect to such week, under a private pension plan to which [a base-year] an employer of such employe has contributed [which is in excess of the maximum weekly benefit rate provided for in this act], and (3) the amount of the retirement pension or annuity which he has receive, or, upon application, is eligible to receive with respect to such week under the provisions of either or both of the Federal Old Age Survivors and Disability Insurance Act and the Federal Railroad Retirement Act. If such retirement pension or annuity payments deductible under the provisions of this subsection are received on other than a weekly basis, the amount thereof shall be allocated and pro-rated in accordance with the rules and regulations of the department. [Retirement pension or annuity payments received by the employe under the Federal OASI program, the Federal Railroad Retirement program, or under any private retirement plan to which the employe was the sole contributor, shall not be considered a deductible retirement pension or annuity payment for the purposes of this subsection.] Such compensationfi if not a multiple of one dollar ($1.00), shall be computed to the next higher multiple of one dollar ($1.00).

(f) For purposes of this section and of section four hundred one (a), wages paid with respect to employment performed under Shipping Articles shall be considered as having been paid in the respective calendar quarters in which the services of the employe were being performed.

Amend Sec. 4, page 6, line 14, by striking out "4 This" and inserting: 8. Except as otherwise provided, this

Amend Sec. 4, page 6, by inserting after line 18:

The amendments provided by this act to clause (a) of section 4, section 206, and subsection (f) of section 302, shall take effect January 1, 1962.

The amendments provided by this act to subsection (a) of section 401, subsection (b) of section 402, and section 404, shall take effect with respect to benefit years commencing on and after October 1, 1961.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, today the unemployment compensation fund is literally broke. The benefits being paid at the present time are from borrowed money—money borrowed from the Federal Government. My amendments have a two-fold purpose. They are designed to restore, to a certain degree, solvency to the fund, and at the same time increase the maximum weekly benefits to a recipient of unemployment compensation.

On the surface this appears to be impossible. However, by closing three loopholes in the existing law, with respect to benefits, the total savings effected will be in excess of the total amount of additional money necessary to provide for the additional $5-per-week compensation.

Briefly I would like to explain each of the three major loophole closings. First, I would like to speak about the provision which will modify, not change in its entirety, but modify, the existing law with respect to the payment of unemployment compensation in relation to pensions. My amendments would do this, and it is indeed a compromise. Other legislation I introduced would completely eliminate unemployment compensation if pensions equaled or exceeded such compensation payments. I have compromised that position in this bill.

Briefly this bill would do this in respect to pensions and would be exactly like the Federal law on this same subject: Social security payments or railroad retirement or other Federal pension payments would not be offset against your otherwise unemployment compensation benefits, but private pensions or pensions from employers would be set off against the unemployment compensation benefits to which you would otherwise be entitled. In other words, under my amendments, a person on retirement would get his social security or railroad retirement in full and his unemployment compensation in full. There would be no offset one against the other. The offset would be exclusively in the area of the so-called private pension or employer pension. By making that change, and I think it is eminently fair, the fund could save—and I have reliable statistics here, I believe—approximately $8.5 million.

It is an odd fact in our unemployment compensation law today that many people on retirement and who get unemployment compensation receive more tax-free dollars than they did when they were employed. How did this come about? By the obvious reason that unemployment compensation benefits, social security payments and like payments are tax free. I think there is something fundamentally wrong with a system which will enable a man to receive unemployment compensation benefits which result in his total income being in excess—tax-free income—being in excess of that which he received when he was employed. In this way we can restore some sense of solvency to the fund and still maintain the concept of social security being separate and apart from unemployment compensation benefits.

The second major change that I would propose is in the field of what is normally considered "second dippers." Now, second dippers, I think most people will admit, is an anomaly. It was a mistake. It just happened. It certainly was never originally contemplated in the law.

Now a second dipper, or a person who can get a second crack at unemployment compensation payments without further work, comes about by a reporting system which I propose to change. In effect, by changing the reporting system of employes' wages for particular quarters, the result of second dippings, or second time around, would be eliminated.

I do not think anyone can disagree that the so-called "second dip" provisions were basically not understood and certainly a mistake as we members of the legislature, or our predecessors, amended this law over the years. The second dip elimination would allow the fund to have approximately $12 million additional per annum.

The third major provision of my amendments deals with the matter of variable duration of benefits. Now, if my memory serves me correctly, benefits were of variable duration when the bill was originally adopted, and, I believe, perhaps in the early 50's, the standard duration of benefits was changed. That is, the law was changed to establish standard duration of benefits. I, in effect, propose to restore the previous law providing for variable duration of benefits.

Now this is basically brought about by changing the tables that are in the existing law, and the philosophy of this amendment is that the people who work longest and have the best employment record are the ones who receive the maximum benefits. This amendment would go against people who are casually employed, temporarily employed, because it would substantially reduce the maximum duration of their benefits.

Now I believe that when we have a fund in this dire financial condition that our thoughts and our ideas should be for protecting the workers who, unfortunately, are not employed but who have a good employment record.

This amendment would save the fund approximately $20 million. In other words, these three amendments, these three major changes, with respect to benefits, would produce approximately $40 million. As I said before, I feel to make this bill attractive, these amendments attractive, and to point out that we can do something in the way of increasing benefits if we at the same time recognize the folly of some of the dipping into the fund at the present time, we can increase the benefits by $5 which costs $25 million a year or save the fund and increase its stature financially by approximately $15.5 million to $16 million per year.

These benefits, I think, the ones that I am eliminating, are not logical; they are not within the original contemplation of workmen's unemployment compensation and certainly have no place in the fund particularly today when the fund is literally broke and when at the same time the employers of Pennsylvania are paying the highest average contribution rate of any State in the Union which has any industry at all.

I have statistics and comparisons of our adjoining States, and Pennsylvania stands at the top of the list on cost of contributions by the employers.

If we are to create and if we are to give sense, if we are to give meaning, to our oft-repeated statements that we are making and trying to make Pennsylvania attractive for industry, let us do something in a constructive way which will both help the bona fide unemployed man by increasing his benefits and, at the same time, make this fund—at least a step in the right direction towards making this fund—a sound fund and something that Pennsylvania can be proud of rather than ashamed of, which I think we all are today. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, this amendment is, in effect, House bill 1705. Of course, the real purpose of it is to eliminate as much as possible the payments of unemployment compensation.

We realize, of course, that the fund is now in a precarious position, financially embarrassed. However, it is still keeping within the scope for which it was created, for which it was intended, to provide payments to individuals who find themselves out of employment in a period of slack work through no fault of their own. These amendments would create a great deal of hardship to people. Now, if the intent is to try to save money and forget about the needs of these people, then what we should do is repeal the act entirely.

None of us can deny that had it not been for the Unemployment Compensation Act and fund in 1957 we would have suffered one of the worst depressions we have ever had in the State of Pennsylvania. It was the unemployment compensation fund which made it possible for people to have income so that we could at least prevent a depression.

While there may be some abuses which have developed in the unemployment compensation fund, nevertheless, it still serves the purpose and the needs of the people in times of a bad economic condition or a depression. H.B. 1705 would have a drastic effect in the steel areas where today we are undergoing a great deal of unemployment due to the change in the economic system. Certainly we would not want to take those people today and force them to go on relief rather than to receive unemployment compensation by which they can maintain their dignity as workers. This is too drastic an action to take at this particular time.

The fund finds itself in a dangerous position today, not because of the so-called loopholes to which the gentleman referred, rather it finds itself in this position today because of the fact that employers paid themselves money in good times when we should have created a reserve so as to have funds available in times of depression.

Therefore, I ask the members of the House to vote down these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman very adroitly avoided any specifics and spoke in generalities as to the desirability of unemployment compensation. There is not a man in this House who questions his general statements. We all recognize the need for a sound, attractive unemployment compensation system. That nobody denies.

However, he was strangely silent on the justification for people on pension receiving unemployment compensation. He was strangely silent on double dippers, and he was equally silent on justifying the variable duration, that is, the present standard duration, of benefits regardless of your past earning record and your past employment record.

I must say one other thing: This is not House bill 1705. I modified House bill 1705, for example, and among other things, completely set off social security, railroad retiremen and all types of retirement benefits against unemployment compensation. The amendments before you today follow the Federal law exactly. Is the Federal law bad? Are the employers of Pennsylvania getting away with murder in the amount they are contributing to this fund? I think the statistics will prove to the contrary. The employers of Pennsylvania for a period of at least 10 years have had the highest rate of contribution of any State in this union having any industry at all. The employers have not robbed the fund; they have paid in higher than any other employer in any other State in the Union which has industry.

Mr. Speaker, we have a single issue, a sole issue here today, not generalities. The issue is: Shall these off-shoots of unemployment compensation continue or shall we get back to the basic fundamentals of the payment of unemployment compensation? Equally important, shall this fund be made sound or shall we end up in the near future in a chaotic condition as bad or worse than that of the State of Michigan's fund and other general finances of that State?

It is today, not tomorrow, not next year; it is today when we face up to the fact that the unemployment compensation fund is broke. It owes the Federal Government. Where are we going to get the money? We certainly cannot increase the employer's rate if we are going to at the same time blithely say, "Pennsylvania is good for industry." It cannot be done. We have to face up to the facts and do it today.

Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman makes reference to the double dip. What is the injustice about the double dip? There is nothing wrong about the double dip, which means a second round of unemployment compensation. Why does an individual receive a second round? He receives a second round because he is unemployed.

Of course, the big cry is about those who have reached the age of 65 and who are on social security benefits. Even considering those people, the courts have justified it; the courts have said it is perfectly legal. There have been a number of cases on it just recently, decisions, which say that the man who retires against his own wishes is eligible for unemployment compensation. Then let us consider the other angle of it, when a man reaches 65 and 70 he goes on retirement. He is going from a high standard of living to a lower standard of living, a much lower standard of living. I think this bill serves a good purpose, because it gives that individual an opportunity to adjust himself to a lower standard of living. Besides that, we all recognize that today there are many people who at the age of 65 still have dependents and, therefore, since the courts have found it perfectly legitimate, I think there is nothing morally or legally unjust about unemployment compensation being paid to those individuals whether they are on social security or not. I think while that may not have been the original intent, the interpretations over the years have been for the best interests of our workers.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in a rather peculiar position today and I would like the privilege of making a few comments on it.

Mr. Speaker, I do not think any one will take issue with the words of the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, when he describes the condition of this fund as "precarious." I do not think anyone would seriously take issue with the facts as recited by the gentleman from Dauphin County, Mr. Bowman, to the effect that this does bear on this Commonwealth's relationships with business and industry within this State.

Mr. Speaker, I was a co-sponsor of House bill 1705, and I want everybody in this House to know that I did it out of a sense of conviction. It was not an easy thing for me to do, I realize full well, as do the other members of this House who are the principal proponents of this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, time will show, I suspect, that what we put off today we will have to do tomorrow. If nothing is done this year—and I seriously suspect and suggest to my colleague from Dauphin County that he is tilting at windmills this afternoon—eventually we are going to have to face up to this bill. I agree that this seriously affects the growth of business and industry in this Commonwealth. I think we should seriously consider that fact in view of the fact that we have lost a major industry. I should not say we have lost it, but we have certainly seen the decline of the coal industry in Pennsylvania. The whole pattern of our Pennsylvania economy has shifted over the past two decades.

Mr. Speaker, the only thing that I am seriously concerned about is that there is a lack of detail, a lack of knowledgeable detail, from this administration on the position of this fund. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, a few minutes ago I offered a question under House Rule 19B. It is directed to the Secretary of Labor and Industry. I suspect the question will not be answered, particularly in view of our present plans for next week.

I am a realist, Mr. Speaker; I do not know what the outcome of this argument is going to be. I am going to vote on this issue with the administration, because I feel that we are tilting at windmills if we try to adopt the amendments of the gentleman from Dauphin. But I want to repeat that I do not believe that the unemployment compensation fund should be used as a vehicle of general assistance. There seems to be, and, unjustly, a feeling that the public assistance program in this Commonwealth is undignified. My recollection is that the preamble of the 1937 Public Assistance Law mentions the phrase "dignity of the individual." It is about time, Mr. Speaker, that we should seriously consider handling basic public assistance problems brought about by unemployment or otherwise, from the general fund, and not by what I consider, at least, an unfair burden on the employers of this Commonwealth when we need, we desperately need, the expansion of business and industry. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. I am rising in support of these amendments, and coming from a labor district, that possibly could mean that I could be in some trouble. But I am still reiterating my song and dance that I have reiterated not only in the last session but in this session, that the primary problem facing Pennsylvania today is unemployment. We still have close to 400,000 people unemployed in this State, on relief rolls, not counting those receiving unemployment compensation.

The main obstacle, one of the main obstacles, to attracting new industry into Pennsylvania, to getting industry to expand in Pennsylvania, is the shape that our unemployment compensation is in today. And if you talk with the Chambers of Commerce, the secretaries of the Chambers of Commerce over this State, if you talk with the main employers over this State and the people who are in the position where they talk with people who are thinking of attracting industry into this State and establishing an industry, or expanding industry in this State, they will tell you that same thing, that one of the main obstacles of their expansion in this State, one of the main obstacles or the main drawbacks to industry coming into this State, is this unemployment compensation law, which has been allowed to degenerate, as the gentleman from Erie said, into an assistance law in many respects, which was never intended to be. And we have got to face up to the problem. If labor is fair, if the labor leaders are fair, if they are sincere, and I say it's sincere, in the welfare of their own people, they would back these amendments, and not play to the crowds and the mob, and try to show justification for their leadership and the dollars that they draw.

I am really sincere about this thing. I want to see unemployment payments increased in Pennsylvania. It is very vital; it is very vital to our tax structure; it is very vital to the excess moneys that we are trying to raise for the educational program. You are at a level now where you are going to tax estates of widows and orphans to pay for an educational program which is unfair. And if we had the ratio of employment in this State, as an industrial State like Pennsylvania has a right to and should have, in comparison to the like industrial States over this Nation, we would not have to go to such a tax program as you are proposing now to finance the educational program. We would be able to have it because we would have the employables in this State; we would be able to pay the bill and not tax the widows and orphans who are relying on a fixed income for subsistence. So I say to you, if we are sincere in attacking this problem of unemployment, which I still say is the main problem facing Pennsylvania, in all sincerity I ask you to examine your conscience and vote for these amendments and let's start on the road back to make Pennsylvania the prosperous State that it should be. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sullivan.

Mr. T. F. SULLIVAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I say these amendments which we claim are 1705 should be voted down. It is easy for people to get up and say that it has degenerated into a system of relief and I resent the fact that some of our less fortunate people are called second dippers. These people are unemployed, not through their own choosing, but because of industry. And if anyone in this House has ever tried to collect unemployment compensation, he will find that it is no easy task. The law is very stringent and they just do not have a bushel basket sitting in the unemployment office full of silver dollars for you to walk in and pick up. Or if anyone in this House has ever attended unemployment compensation hearings and found out just how strict the rules of the department and the law are, he will find this State's unemployment compensation law or the benefit which the people derive from it is not easy.

Now, some people say that they degenerate into a system of relief. Let's look at the fact that if unemployment is as bad as it is in Pennsylvania today, when the Unemployment Compensation Law benefits run out—and let's be aware of the fact that not all people, not all unemployed people, are entitled to two rounds of benefits. They are entitled to a round of benefits based on the amount of money they earned in a certain period of quarters. And not all of the other poor people, as I say, are entitled to a second round. But after these rounds run out—they are entitled to what? They are entitled to relief. And has anybody in this House ever applied for relief, or do they know what they get, and how much they get? And do we understand that widows, or rather the pensioners, which Mr. Bowman objected to, how much do they get when they are on pension from the corporations of Pennsylvania plus the social security? Is there enough to live on in the manner to which they are accustomed to living when they have their own job?

Unemployment is not caused by the unemployed people. It is caused by the industry or the change in the economic picture. I will bet it is safe to say, if you checked the records you will find that the industry in Pennsylvania is making more money today and more profit with less people than it ever had in the annals of its history, with the changing times of automation. I know in the steel industry that half the people who have been laid off for the last two years will never be called back, because the changing of work in the steel industry has made it such that they will not need these people. And I have no pity for these people who shed crocodile tears for industry. They are making huge profits out of the people of Pennsylvania and I think they should pay their fair share. If the people of this House, or some of them, do not like the Unemployment Compensation Law and some of its aspects, then maybe we would be better off if we legislators in this House guaranteed an annual wage for the people of Pennsylvania. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, please.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman, Mr. Schaaf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHAAF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Schaaf, we on this side of the House are rather intrigued by your argument and I would like to explore it a little bit further. I believe you said you were not very cognizant of the condition of the fund. Do you recall from the last statement that we received from Labor and Industry what the cash balance is in the fund at the present time?

Mr. SCHAAF. I do not have the last statement. The last statement that I personally have was that of May 31.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And what was the balance on May 31?

Mr. SCHAAF. I would have to look. Excuse me.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Would you get it please?

Mr. SCHAAF. This, of course, Mr. Speaker, is without the second quarter return, as I understand the law. And the fund balance as of May 31 was $124.7 million, however, subject to or inclusive rather . . .

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now just a minute. Are you reading and have you got the chart there with the graph which shows that one time there was half a billion dollars in the fund?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to analyze the graph for the gentleman from McKean. I will answer his question as best I can. The fund balance as of May 31 was $124.7 million, subject to or inclusive, rather, of a Federal loan of $111.2 million. So the actual employer contributions in the $124.7 million balance would amount to, as I do quick arithmetic, $15.5 million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The net balance, in other words, would be around $13.5 million as of the end of May 1961?

Mr. SCHAAF. As of the end of May 1961.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now, are you familiar with the balance owing the Federal Government? Will that loan of over $100 million have to be repaid?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I do not know. My understanding is, and I am not precise on this, but my understanding is that this loan was authorized in 1959 and any money borrowed from this allocated money must be repaid, as I recall it, within five years from the date of the loan.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And is it not true that if it is not repaid that there will automatically be some type of a Federal payroll tax go on in order to pay off that loan?

Mr. SCHAAF. I cannot answer that question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now, I believe you stated that you are for the amendments and you realize that industry is beleaguered on this, but so we will understand why is it then that you are going to vote against the amendments—I mean you are for the amendments, yet I believe you said you were going to vote against the amendments. Is that true?

Mr. SCHAAF. For two reasons, Mr. Speaker. In the first instance, as I indicated, this is tilting at windmills. Secondly, I am a Democrat and I am very proud of it.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am still intrigued by your statement . . .

Mr. SCHAAF. I want to elaborate on my last comment. I stand with this administration, right or wrong.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you.

Mr. SCHAAF. The purpose I might say of offering 1705, the purpose in the first instance of my offering 1705 as a co-sponsor was to add my own personal weight based on, as I said, my conviction, thinking that perhaps in the months ensuing something could come out of the Department of Labor and Industry by way of remedial legislation which I personally think is necessary.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in commenting on your reasons, I would say that it is the most masterful political statement that I have ever heard, and I think you are pretty clever, I will say that.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. BOWMAN and CAPANO and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Donnell, rise?

Mr. J. P. O'DONNELL. Mr. Speaker, being in the hall of the House, I wish to be recorded as voting "no."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh, rise?

Mr. WALSH. To make an inquiry, Mr. Speaker. Was I recorded on the last roll call?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not recorded.

Mr. WALSH. I voted "no." My light was on. I do not know what happened.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record of the House.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Polen.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as we are going to break for caucus pretty soon, so that our caucus will understand the financial picture in the State better, as a result of the interrogation of Mr. Polen last evening, I would like to interrogate Mr. Polen on this question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish you had before you the statement you gave me this morning of the re-estimate of the revenue estimates so that I can interrogate on the question.

Mr. POLEN. I have the statement, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, there is some misunderstanding on our part as to what some of the bills already passed really do. With respect to House bill 1663, which passed the House yesterday: We know that it had incorporated within it House bill 95, which took away from the merchants their two percent commission. How much would that bill bring in the remaining 10 months of the biennium?

Mr. POLEN. $6,500,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. About $6.5 million. Now there was an acceleration amendment in H.B. 1663 which put into this 13 month-fiscal period additional payments under the sales tax. How much was that supposed to have brought in? Do you have those figures handy?

Mr. POLEN. There were two accelerations, the monthly acceleration and the quarterly acceleration. The quarterly acceleration will bring in $11 million additional which was not in the estimate previously furnished. The monthly acceleration of $17.6 million, which is also in H.B. 1663 now, was used in the original revenue estimates.

In other words, in your full rental $411,700,000, that included the $17.6 million on the acceleration of the monthly payments.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. All right. Let us not go too fast.

Then the Governor in his budget in January estimated that the sales tax for the 13 months should bring in $411,700,000, and you say included in that was $17.6 million which was in the acceleration bill of yesterday?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But $11 million was not in the Governor's budget, so that would be additional money that was not figured in the Governor's budget?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then this statement that you have given to me showing that during this 13-month period there will be $17.5 million more sales tax coming in, or a total of $429,200 of the $17.5 million, $11 million is in the acceleration of yesterday, and where is the other $6.5 million?

Mr. POLEN. Six and a half million was what was originally in H.B. 95 and was put into H.B. 1663.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. So then there is $17.5 million increase in the sales tax take that was not in the original budget?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now the statement you have given to me also shows that corporate taxes which were estimated to bring in $250 million in the Governor's budget will now bring in $27,900,000 more money—$5 million by reason of changes in existing law and an increase in the estimates, owing to better economic conditions, of $22.9 million, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. So that we will know in our caucus, let us break this down in three parts.

The increase in the estimates of $22.9 million, what is that money going to be used for?

Mr. POLEN. That money will be used for general purposes, but we would, in effect, say that it is going to match the loss of $21,337,000, which I spoke of yesterday, which was the amount we were short in the tax collections from business taxes in the previous fiscal year. The reason we feel we can safely use that figure is that the majority of the corporations took advantage of paying on the first three months' profit of 1961 and they were at very low ebb. With the acceleration of business and the normal amount that we would receive under fair business conditions, as I told you yesterday, it was felt it would be in excess of the $21,337,000 which we were short, so therefore the $21,337,000 is offset by a slight increase up to $22,900,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could the gentleman tell the House, without our having to look it up—it is a matter of record—how much the tax program of January, the acceleration from the new tax on insurance premiums, et cetera, how much that was estimated to bring in in January when you passed that tax program in that all-night session?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I—

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I am not talking about the two-cent gas tax; I am talking about the other tax.

Mr. POLEN. I do not have the figures on those previous tax bills, but it runs in my mind it was something like $140-some million.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON.. Yes, between $130 million and $140 million.

Mr. POLEN. Yes, that is right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then you say, in addition to this $130 million-$140 million of new taxes which were enacted and accelerated and paid into the last biennium, that there was in addition to that a $21 million deficit from the end of the biennium, May 31?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, the estimated taxes on business were $21,337,000 less than the estimates, which we held as an additional deficit.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then you are now resorting to the fiat of re-estimating and adding on certain taxes to wipe out that particular deficit. That is, in effect, what you are doing?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, based on the fact that we feel the reductions were due to the majority of the corporations that availed themselves of the privilege of using the first three months of 1961, that was considerably under what they would have been if they were going on the previous year or on the anticipated business and profits expected in this year.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you. Now another question:

Now we have increased the revenue estimates and we have wiped out the deficit and we still have this figure of $17.5 million more money coming in from the sales tax than was anticipated. Can we not use this $17.5 million for this school subsidy bill of $18.7 million so that we will not have to put on a new tax at this time?

Mr. POLEN. No, we could not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What are you going to do with that money?

Mr. POLEN. That money will go into the general fund to take care of all the bills we have authorized in this House. Let me put it this way: My estimates, my figures, based upon these additions that you have here and what was in the original revenue estimates in the budget, show that we are going to have tax revenues of around $1,023,000,000 to $1,024,000,000. The bills that have passed this House or are in the process of being passed are approximately in the same amounts. In other words, we should be in balance if we have no additional spending. If we are going to go above that amount, such as the subsidy of which you speak of $18.1 million, or any other educational bills, we will have to raise additional taxes to cover them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was saying that we have passed, or will have passed, appropriation bills which will be in excess of the Governor's budget by $17.5 million, so that this $17.5 million will be absorbed?

Mr. POLEN. We have not passed them all. They are in the process of being passed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. When they are passed . . .

Mr. POLEN. Let me put it this way: the bills coming out of the Appropriations Committee are just about even with the amount of the estimated taxes as revised.

Mr. Speaker, as I stated yesterday, we have not received the official revenue figures that are certified to by the Department of Revenue. They will certify them in due course, and, of course, they will be the final figures. The figures I used are the budget figures based upon the additional taxes passed and the increase of $22.9 million in the business taxes.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the sales tax, as we recall it, by law is earmarked for education. How can you take this $17.5 million that we accelerated yesterday and the denial of a commission to the merchants, which makes up the $17.5 million, and use it for general fund purposes when it is earmarked for education and, if it is earmarked for education, why is it not available for the $18.7 million subsidy bill we have on our calendar?

Mr. POLEN. Because, in addition to the amount that will be produced by the sales tax, which is earmarked for education, it will take many millions of dollars of other taxes to make up that amount. The amount of money that is earmarked will not pay the bill for education.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now, another question: You say there are appropriation bills languishing in your committee which will be moved which will absorb the $17.5 million. But you . . .

Mr POLEN. Mr. Speaker, let me correct that. I said the bills which we have reported. There are a lot more than that languishing, but on the ones that we have reported, my figures are practically in balance with the estimated revenues as I have revised them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, did we not understand on the day we passed the general appropriations bill and passed these non-proferred bills that they were exactly equal to the Governor's budget and, unless they equaled the Governor's budget, that you cut down elsewhere in the Governor's budget so they would exactly equal the Governor's budget?

Mr. POLEN. The cuts that we made were offset by non-budgeted bills which we passed, such as the teachers' retirement for the old teachers. The statement then is the same as the statement now, that the bills that we have reported from committee, or were committed for, were approximately equal to the revenue. But let me state, in those figures, and it was brought out on the floor, included what was in House bills 95 and 573 which is now H.B. 1663. Those figures which were the estimates were included. So the situation did not change by passing them. It simply made it possible by passing H. B. 1663, previously H.B. 95 and H.B. 573 that the non-preferred appropriations could be signed in full.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

I would like to make just a few brief remarks on this, if I have unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe there will be opposition on this side of the House following our caucus, and we will discuss it at length in our caucus. I am not completely satisfied with the explanation of Mr. Polen. I would say that he has been an outstanding chairman of Appropriations and has done a yeoman job for the administration in explaining these revenues. But it seems to me there is still $17.5 million, at least, floating around here that is available, earmarked for education under the sales tax.

When H.B. 1789 comes up for a vote, I wish that the chairman of the Appropriations Committee would have a real, sound, lucid explanation of where that $17.5 million is going to, because it appears to us that that money is free and avialable and at present is unappropriated.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know how I could have made it any clearer than I did. In our revenue estimates was this $17 million, $17.5 million. In fact, it was $1.5 more than that, which was the loss in House bill No. 95.

All of this $17.5 million, in fact, all of the sales tax, $429.2 million, is earmarked for education, but that is far less than the amount that we have appropriated. The rest of the money will come from the general fund. This $17 million is not available for any new appropriations because it is a part, and has been a part, of our revenue estimates at all times. They were higher than this but dropped due to the loss each month through H. B. 95.

I will be glad to try to explain, if the gentleman will tell me just what he is not clear on.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, what we would like to know is, has this $17.5 million been appropriated by this House and have the bills gone to the Senate? If they have not and there are bills in committee that are going to absorb that, we would like to know what they are. They might not be as important as this subsidy to the school districts, and we may be inclined to say, we will pass this subsidy to the school districts and those appropriations can die in committee, because the whole spirit around this State is that something has to be done for education. That is the hammer that is over our heads right now.

I will ask you again, is the $17.5 million represented by appropriation bills that have left this House and are over in the Senate?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I answered that question before. The $17 million is a part of the $1.023 billion bills which have passed this House. There are no bills in committee that have any relation to this. There would be, in addition to that, maybe a few thousand dollars, in the final analysis of bills that might not pass.

The bills that have passed this House are covered by the estimated revenues I have given. There are no revenues available above those amounts. There are no taxes above those amounts. The bills that we have processed between $1.023 billion and $1.024 billion is the amount of the estimated revenues. They are practically in balance at this time. That has been the situation all along.

That is the reason for the conference in the Select Committee on Education, and the reason for tax bill 1789 is to provide the money to pay for the educational program.

Now, so far as the money going to education, certainly the $17.5 million will go to education. There is no question about it. There is no question but what is in H.B. 1789 will also go for education. It is earmarked.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then to wrap this up, Mr. Polen, if, as you stated, the $17.5 million was not originally in the Governor's estimate but has been added to it, then we have sent appropriation bills to the Senate in excess of $17.5 million of the Governor's original budget? That must be true.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is true, and the floor leader, Mr. McCann, has reiterated on several occasions, and I have told many members and I have written many letters, that if House bill 95 and House bill 573 did not pass the Senate, it would be necessary to cut appropriations for the non-preferreds approximately 42 percent, and that was correct.

Now, those bills have been passed by both Houses. We concurred in them yesterday and they have gone to the Governor and, when he signs them, it will permit him to sign all the non-preferreds.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, do you have the areas in which we exceeded the Governor's budget by $17.5 million?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is not a question of our exceeding. I do not think the bills that were non-budgeted amounted to that much, but the deficit was increased due to the fact that the revenues did not come in, either in the sales tax or in the business taxes. They were under in both cases. The amount of $17.5 million is only what was contained in two tax bills which we had in our figures for many, many months. I think House bill 95 passed this House on January 26.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Rules to meet during the session of the House.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. I will request a meeting of the Committee on Rules immediately when I make the motion. I will ask if there is anything to clear on the desk. We will recess for one hour and fifteen minutes.

I ask the Democratic members that they eat first and immediately come to the caucus room. We will caucus within 30 minutes and return to the floor in one hour and fifteen minutes for special orders of business.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. SCHAAF.

Questions raised under Rule 19-1 as amended February 1, 1961 requesting from department head information relating exclusively to departmental legislation pending on the House Calendar.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to notify the Republican members that upon recess we will first eat and then caucus. We would like to have everyone come to caucus. Bring your calendars with you.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, re-reported as amended, House bill No. 56, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), authorizing departments boards and commissions to train personnel.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate bill No. 923, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 4, 1959 (P. L. 587), entitled "An act creating and establishing the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee providing for its membership . . ." further providing for the personnel to be appointed by the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House bill No. 689, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949," approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), authorizing boards of school directors to arrange, with the authorities conducting private or parochial schools in their districts, to furnish transportation to pupils attending such schools under certain circumstances and providing how the costs shall be met.

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution (Not Printed) re: Philadelphia Inquirer.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the resolution.

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1961.

In 1951 The Philadelphia Inquirer, a newspaper of general circulation, commenced the waging of a vigorous campaign to compel the Trustees of the Barnes Foundation, located in Merion, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, to open to the general public its multi-million dollar collection of paintings.

The Barnes Foundation, depsite the fact that it enjoys tax immunity as an educational institution, has successfully resisted every attempt made to open its gates to the public as well as to artists, students, and critics, because of rules laid down by its founder, Dr. Albert C. Barnes.

In further pursuit of its campaign on behalf of the public, the aforesaid newspaper instituted lawsuits in the Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts of Montgomery County to compel the trustees of the aforesaid Foundation to open its doors to the public.

Through the personal efforts and intervention of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who relentlessly, and with diligence unparalleled in the history of the Attorney General's office, prosecuted on behalf of the public the aforementioned lawsuit in the Orphans' Court of Montgomery County.

On December 12, 1960, it was announced that an agreement had been reached between the Attorney General and the Trustees of the Barnes Foundation wherein and whereby the fabulous gallery would be open to the public.

On Saturday, March 18, 1961, the gallery was open to the public for the first time in thirty-eight years.

The Attorney General has stated publicly that the campaign to open the doors of the Barnes Foundation gallery to the public would never have started were it not for The Philadelphia Inquirer; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That The Philadelphia Inquirer and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be given the highest commendation in bringing to a successful conclusion their untiring and public-spirited campaign for the good of the public in causing the gallery of the Barnes Foundation to be open to the public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to The Philadelphia Inquirer and to the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Joshua Eilberg
James J. Dougherty

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

NOT VOTING—8

Ashton,	Jenkins,	McInroy,	Varner,
Esler,	Lippincott,	Strausser,	Willaredt,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call upon page 4 of the calendar, bills on final passage, House bill No. 1789, printer's No. 2666.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1789, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for educational purposes by imposing an excise tax on royalties interest dividends and capital gains from investment capital as defined of individual residents and nonresidents of the Commonwealth and of estate and trusts fixing the rates thereon providing for the reporting and payment of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews appeals refunds and penalties and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue fiduciaries partnerships associations and individuals.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, continuing our interrogation of this morning before the luncheon break, I believe that you stated there was $17.5 million additional revenue from the sales tax and that you felt it had been used up by appropriations over and above the budget. Now have you been able to clarify your thinking on that and is there any change in your answers of this morning?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker. The figures I gave this morning are correct with one exception. It makes no difference in the totals, but, when I spoke of bills in the amount of $1.023 billion, that was the total liabilities because in that figure I had included the deficit of $33 million. The bills were actually $990,630,000, and the deficit was $33,228,000; therefore I used the figure of $1,023,224,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then the confusion this morning, apparently, from what you say, is on the total amount of the deficit? The deficit now at the end of the biennium is $33 million, approximately; it that it?

Mr. POLEN. $33,228,000.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Approximately $33 million?

Mr. POLEN. Right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then how are you wiping out this deficit so that we can start the biennium without taxes to cover that?

Mr. POLEN. The way we are working out the deficit and the way we take our total liabilities for which we must have tax revenues is that we start out with a deficit of $33,228,000, and we have reported bills from the Appropriations Committee in the amount of $990,630,623, which makes a total of $1,023,858,623. I used a figure of between $1.023 billion and $1.024 billion. Now that is our liability for which we have to have revenue and our revenues are within the same range. The estimated revenues that I have used are between $1.023 billion and $1.024 billion. In other words, the taxes on the books will take care of the deficit and the bills that we have reported from the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then what the gentleman is saying now is that the $17.5 million is not available for appropriations at this time.

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker. That is what I said this morning, too, that it was not available because it took all of these. We must throw them all together to arrive at a balance; as an accountant, the gentleman is familiar with that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. All right. Now I want to ask the gentleman some other questions, not on this subject, but on this education passage. These questions probably should be addressed to Mrs. Reibman, but I believe there is a timidity on her part and I believe that, because of your connection with this tax bill, that I should address this question to you. Now when the meeting of the Select Committee on Education was concluded and you decided that there would be released to the floor these various education bills and tax bills, I have a copy of the minutes of your meeting wherein you made the motion that the above bills be reported out of this committee to either the House or Senate, as above listed. May I ask you this question: These bills, namely, House bills 1789, 1807, 1701 and now Senate bill 867, were released here as a result of this understanding of the committee without their endorsement, necessarily, that those were the bills to be released to the floor. Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And in this list of bills that you put in your minutes you have this two percent tax on unearned income, House bill 1789; that is correct, is it not?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Now the motion that you made went further, that any other tax bills introduced for educational purposes be reported out of the appropriate House committees. Did or did not the joint committee agree that you would report out this House bill 1789 and that any other tax bills that were to be reported out for education would also be reported out of the appropriate committees? That was the correct motion, was it not?

Mr. POLEN. My original motion only referred to House bill 1789, but the members of the committee understood that it should include any other tax bills that were properly sponsored. It was my understanding that any other tax bills could be reported out if House bill 1789 was not adopted.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then it would be the understanding of this joint committee that, if House bill 1789 were to fail today, that pursuant to this motion any other bills introduced would be reported out of the appropriate House committees? Now that it correct, is it not?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is my understanding.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then if there is a failure today to vote favorably for House bill 1789, that could not necessarily be construed as being against this education package because you were not for this particular tax bill?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, my answer would be that if we are going to pass a package of bills that requires money, that in order to support the educational program you would have to vote for the bill before us or propose an alternate bill.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. That is correct. Then we are right in our assumption that if this bill fails, pursuant to this motion made that there would be other tax bills reported out of committee, that would still be the understanding so far as the joint committee is concerned?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, of course that is strictly the opinion and the thinking of the select committee, the joint select committee, that considered these matters. We knew that anything we said or did or recommended was purely a recommendation and, of course, was not binding upon the House.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. But that was your recommendation, was it not?

Mr. POLEN. Right.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Another question: Since House bill 1789 was reported to the floor there were numerous amendments to it writing it down and saving certain interest; was that ever contemplated by the select committee, and has the select committee approved these alterations in this tax bill?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, there were no further meetings of the select committee, and the reductions were not approved to the best of my knowledge. The chairman of the select committee, Mrs. Reibman, told me that she did desire a further meeting of the committee but they refused to meet.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Then this bill that is on our calendar today is not essentially the bill that you recommended on July 28, when it was reported out of the Ways and Means Committee?

Mr. POLEN. It is the same bill but it has been amended.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. It has been drastically amended, has it not?

Mr. POLEN. The yield has been reduced by certain amendments.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe the gentleman has given me the answer that we wanted. I thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that I am very happy that I have this once given the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the right answers.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker,

Teeth-gnashing has become quite a fad on Capitol Hill these days.

In this particular case it is not an activity confined to sleeping hours—but more pointedly perhaps, almost exclusively a day-time "avocation."

For the most part you'll find the grinding and gnashing taking place among administration Democrats, who undeniably, in legislative halls at least, have become about as frustrated as any group you'll find anywhere.

There should be plenty of it either today or tomorrow when Lawrence Administration leaders are expected to call up for vote once again Mr. Lawrence's once-defeated education tax measure—a projected two percent tax on investments designed to yield some $25.5 million a year.

At this point it isn't expected to pass the House of Representatives any handier than it didn't last week when it went down to defeat—ignominiously—by the painful score of 74 to 124, with 106 votes needed for passage.

We say "ignominiously" for this reason, which incidentally is also the cause of the nettled and irritated teeth-gnashing on the part of the administration Democrats:

Go back to last year's general election. At that time Pennsylvania Democrats cried lustily to Keystone State voters, in effect, give us the legislative green light, that is control of the legislative branch, and we'll do a job for you.

Pennsylvania's voters did just that last year. They gave Mr. Lawrence control of the House of Representatives and an even-stephen 25-25 split in the Senate but with a Democratic presiding officer holding the 26th vote needed for breaking a tie.

The point to be made is simply this: Pennsylvania Democrats got what they wanted, not as handily as they would have preferred of course—but the book was laid bare.

Now it is a cardinal rule in the legislative game—whether in Harrisburg or Washington—that the majority party holds the responsibility whip. That is, because they are the majority, they have the control.

Back to the $25.5 million two percent education tax proposed by the controlling Democratic administration.

The lineup in the House as it stands at present is 109 Democrats to 101 Republicans—with 106 votes needed to pass legislation. Thus, the "majority" in this case has three votes to spare.

But—House Democratic Majority Leader Stephen McCann, when the education tax bill came up for final vote (and went down to defeat) called for all-out bipartisan support and then complained when lack of Republican help failed to carry the bill, commenting:

> "If they (Republicans) are not for this tax measure, what measure are they for?"

The point is, what do Republican votes as such have to do with it? Twenty-nine of McCann's own fellow Democratic legislative colleagues voted against the measure!

The salient fact is that administration Democrats have within their own majority bloc the needed votes—plus three extras—to carry the legislation. Again the question recurs: what do Republicans have to do with it?

Yet for some obviously inane reason, administration Democratic leaders—including the Governor—are demanding from Republicans, that they either support the present tax measure or propose one of their own!

Administration Democrats of course are calling for a "heads-up overall responsibility outlook" on the part of minority Republicans—forgetting apparently that there was none of this when they were in the minority role!

Mr. Speaker, those are not words of the present speaker on former occasions when he was minority leader on this floor, although he said words substantially to that same effect. Nor are they the words of the speaker who is now at this microphone. They are the words of an impartial observer, quoted from the Bradford Era of August 15, 1961, under the by-line of Mason Denison. I say to you that his observations, so far as we on this side are concerned, are our controlling observations, and, if they have 109 votes over there, trot them out and pass this tax bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to take a lot of time opposing these bills, although I should. I have a folder here full of letters from my constituents in Berks County begging me and pleading with me to oppose these bills and I am going to make known their feelings.

Now this two percent tax apparently is a part of a philosophy believed in by the majority party to take from the haves and give to the have-nots. It is a tax on a class of people, for all the people, and for a program which is of a highly questionable nature. I have gotten a lot of mail against this program. I think more time should be taken to study this program before we enact any kind of tax to do what the program plans to do, when there is so much opposition to it.

Taxing these people on dividends and capital gains—of course, we admit there are some well-to-do people who have stocks and bonds who are going to be hit with this, but those people can very easily pick up and move out of Pennsylvania if they want to. They do not have to stay here and be taxed. They are crowding the people out of Pennsylvania, business and industry. The administration is talking about creating a favorable tax climate and business climate and industry climate; at the same they are talking about it they are trying to nail them to the cross whenever they get the chance.

But let us think about the poor people who, through self denial and thrift, have accumulated a few dollars and put them into stocks and bonds and are trying to live off this money to supplement their meager social security or pensions that they have. They can barely make a go of it. They do not want to go on the public assistance rolls or on relief rolls. They write and they tell me they don't want to go on, but, if we are going to take away the few pennies that they have coming in, they are going to have to go on these relief rolls.

This business of taxing these people and telling them it is a sin to try to save money for their old age and live off of it instead of public assistance, and for us to create a welfare state is all wrong, and I say and I know I am not going to influence the people who are going to vote for this, but I want it on the record that I oppose this bill, and I ask all the members on both sides here to vote against the bill for the benefit of the people.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. filed the following reasons for his vote:

This bill, which would impose a so-called "Investment Capital Return Tax" of 2 percent, has now been amended in a fashion which makes it even more objectionable than it was in its original version. Originally the tax was imposed upon interest, dividends, royalties, rents and capital gains, payable by all individual residents of the Commonwealth and by estates and trusts of persons domiciled in the Commonwealth at date of death or at the time the trust was created.

The amendment has eliminated interest and rentals so that the bill is now even more selective than it was originally. It now taxes only those persons receiving dividends and royalties or incurring capital gains. It therefore still taxes part of the income of some individuals and not the remainder of the income. Furthermore, it does not tax any of the income of a vast majority of the Commonwealth's citizens.

This tax is purportedly intended to raise money for educational purposes. Such purposes are the concern of the people and logically they should be provided for by a broad base tax on all the people. A relative small segment of the Commonwealth's citizens should not be called upon to bear this burden.

The further sub-classification of what is taxed and what is not taxed increases the possibility that the Act is unconstitutional.

The taxation of capital gains, which the bill would impose, is particularly inequitable and unfair. The bill taxes capital gains returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government. This means that the State is attempting to tax gains which may have accumulated from as far back as 1913 or almost entirely accumulated before the effective date of the bill if passed.

This tax is unfair and I am forced to vote against it.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair notes the presence in the House of Judge David H. Weiss of Westmoreland County, formerly a member of this House, whom you will remember made a great record.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House bill No. 1841, printer's No. 2668,
was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 96, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways with the approval of the Governor to construct a highway and to erect and maintain a bridge over the Kiskiminetas River in Westmoreland and Armstrong Counties and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways empowering counties to pay certain damages.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1689, entitled:

An Act regulating the maintenance of junk and scrap yards and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. McNally.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, House bill 1689 is a scrap bill for third class cities only. It has to do with erecting a fence around these piles of scrap. It was amended in the last two or three days so the fence could be substituted with shrubbery. It is practically impossible for any third class city to put in any kind of legislation in their own code that would stop the scrap yards from spreading. They were there first and nothing can be done about it.

In the city of Johnstown where I come from, what was 20 years ago one pile of scrap now covers eight acres in the center of our city.

The bill itself gives the scrap dealer 3½ years to get his house in order. If he sees fit to move out where the ground is a great deal cheaper on a railroad siding, he has 3½ years to do it.

This pertains only to third class cities, Mr. Speaker, and I request both sides of the aisle to support this legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 736, entitled:

An Act regulating the procedure for petitioning a court to order a safety deposit box opened in furtherance of a criminal investigation or proceeding.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate someone who is familiar with this Senate bill.

The SPEAKER. Is anybody familiar with the bill?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 736, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, and will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EILBERG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I think this is a very significant bill and for that reason there ought to be a little atention given to it. I am not only interrogating for my own information, but for other members of the House who might be a little curious as to just what the present law is and what effect this bill will have on the present law.

If it is just impossible to get any attention here, Mr. Speaker, I would rather not go through with it because it is very exasperating to try to concentrate with this constant noise.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman proceed with his interrogation?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, that is all, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Since Mr. McCormack has decided not to make any interrogation, I think it would be fitting to make a brief statement on behalf of the bill.

The law presently is, of course, that a search warrant may be obtained for a safe deposit box and the police may examine the box and do what is fitting with the contents, but there is nothing in the present law to notify the holder of the box of the action taken by the police.

Now there have been a few cases where, a search warrant being obtained, the holder of the box has not been informed until some period of time after the actual search took place. He went back to his box, found his box rifled, and in these cases there were valuable papers and the holders of the boxes were concerned by the very obvious going through of their boxes.

In view of these few cases that have occurred, it seems fitting that the holder of a box should be notified when a search is going to be made and he would have 48 hours to answer the petition for the search and, if in the public interest the court felt that no one should touch the box during that period of time, the court could freeze the box, that is, no one could enter the box during that 48-hour period of time.

I think the bill is in the public interest. I ask everyone on both sides of the aisle to vote for the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, because the Chair itself was confused as to what the bill did.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to announce at this point that there will be no session tomorrow and we are going to release everyone, but I do inform them that beginning Monday I ask for full attendance and we will not work the normal hours. Conference committee reports will go to the printer while we recess and then come back after dinner, striving to finish the work. At the hotels, of course, there will be no charge for overtime from what I understand, if you are in the Harrisburger or the Penn-Harris. Had the tax measure not passed it would have been a different situation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BOIES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks for one of the nicest things that has happened to me in this House in my 25 years of service. Today the members of my committee presented me with a very fine gift and a card expressing regards to me. I appreciate it very much and I would like the House to know that I appreciate it.

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. DONALDSON, WILT, GIBB, THOMPSON, HAUDENSHIELD, SIMMONS, M. H. GOLDSTEIN, EWING, CLARKE, McLAUGHLIN, WALSH, MURRAY, GUESMAN, KAMYK, LUTTY, LEONARD, FILO, BOIES, MIHM, FOERSTER, IRVIS, CAULEY, SCHUSTER, KRAMER, LAMB and T. F. SULLIVAN offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 23, 1961.

The Honorable Willard F. Agnew, Jr., representative from the seventeenth legislative district of Allegheny County since his election to the House of Representatives in 1954, died on March 14, 1961.

Mr. Agnew was born in Pittsburgh, December 30, 1924, son of Willard F. and Jean (Fisher) Agnew, the oldest of four children; married Norma Ann Graham of Fox Chapel on September 13, 1952; was graduated from Aspinwall High School in 1942, Pennsylvania State University in 1948 and University of Pittsburgh School of Law in 1951; admitted to practice of law in Allegheny County in 1952; member of Allegheny County and Pennsylvania Bar Associations; admitted to practice in the Supreme and Superior Courts in Pennsylvania; member of Aspinwall Borough Council since 1953 and was president of council since 1958. Mr. Agnew was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Theta Phi, Lions Paw, Kiwanis Club, Aspinwall, Playhouse, University Club and American Legion Post No. 77.

The high point of Mr. Agnew's career in government was his election as Republican floor leader in the House of Representatives for the 1961 session of the General Assembly. The excellence of his leadership for the period in which he held that position is a testimonial to his high character, courage and intellectual honesty and ability.

Throughout his career in government and as an attorney, Mr. Agnew distinguished himself as a true and devoted man of high principle who dedicated himself to advancing the public good. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him for his attainments, dedication to duty, and a humility which endeared him to his co-workers; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives hereby express their deeply felt individual sorrow at the death of the Honorable Willard F. Agnew, Jr., and extend their sympathy and condolences to his widow, Mrs. Norma Ann Agnew, and to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Agnew, Sr.; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Mrs. Norma Ann Agnew and to Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Agnew, Sr., at their homes.

SENATE BILL No. 869.

An Act amending the act of October 2, 1959 (P. L. 1251), entitled "An act relating to officers and employes of the General Assembly fixing the number qualifications compensation mileage and duties of the officers and employes of the Senate and of the House of Representatives . . ." further providing that one postmaster shall be employed on an annual basis and providing for the appointment of stenographers by the President pro tempore of the Senate.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL NON-CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has non-concurred in the amendments made by House of Representatives to Senate bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 601.

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" permitting motor vehicles owned and used by certain persons engaged in collecting news to be especially equipped with a warning light.

and has appointed Messrs. DEVLIN, STAISEY and WADE a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 601 and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

SENATE MESSAGE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Amended House Bill returned for concurrence No. 1438.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, please do not misinterpret this interrogation, but today was reported out of Rules Committee the sine die resolution and we thought it was going to be offered today. I am just asking the majority leader, will this sine die resolution appear on the calendar, the printed calendar, on Monday, inasmuch as it was not adopted today?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as you recall, when we reported it out it was laid on the Speaker's table. When we returned from caucus after we voted on these bills, it was my intention to bring it up for a vote at any time, but, being occupied with the major bills here, I did not bring it up. I will ask now that it be taken from the table, placed on the calendar and we will vote on it Monday, if it is satisfactory with you, or I will take it off the table on Monday and vote on it, whichever way you desire. We were going to vote today on the sine die resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the respective floor leaders, it is not necessary for this resolution to appear on the calendar. It will lie on the table.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, if the resolution is on the table in proper custody and is not in the hands of a member of the Rules Committee for the purpose of reporting it out, that is perfectly all right, but I think a motion should be made to lay the sine die resolution on the table so that we know somebody has custody of it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The resolution has already passed over the desk and is on the Speaker's table and in the custody of the Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the Speaker.

APPROPRIATION BILL ON THIRD READING

(NON-PREFERRED)

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 773, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of April 1, 1863 (P. L. 213), entitled "An act to accept the grant of Public Lands by the United States to the several states for the endowment of Agricultural Colleges" making an appropriation for carrying the same into effect.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. POLEN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 6 and 7, by striking out "eighteen million five hundred seven thousand seven hundred sixty dollars ($18,507,760)" and inserting: twenty million seven thousand seven hundred sixty dollars ($20,007,760)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS PASSED OVER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that all bills and resolutions on today's calendar not acted upon be passed over.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, August 28, 1961, at 1 p.m., e. s. t.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 4:51 p.m., e. s. t.) the House adjourned.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, AUGUST 28, 1961. No. 94.

SENATE

MONDAY, August 28, 1961.

The Senate met at 2:30 p. m., Eastern Standard time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JACK P. WISE, Assistant Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our Heavenly Father, Thou who art our Creator and Redeemer, we pray that Thou wilt lead each of us in this Chamber to act as whole men. May we not be guilty of divorcing our consciences, our best moral selves, and our own God-given convictions from our activities this day.

We would not be so naive as to ask Thee to keep us from compromise, but may our necessary compromises be made on the highest moral level; on that level which we know will please Thee, and which will be best for the people of our Commonwealth.

As the men of this Senate work together today, may they each seek to know the will of the living God and follow it.

We pray in the Master's Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

GUEST OF SENATE FRED B. ROONEY PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I would like to interrupt consideration of the Calendar for just a minute to introduce a very distinguished guest who just arrived.

The young lady, Mr. President, who I am about to introduce has been my secretary for the past three and one-half years. She came to me when she was a senior in high school. She was a straight A student, and has been my right arm ever since she graduated from high school.

At this time, I would like to present to the Senate of Pennsylvania my secretary, Miss Nancy Brown.

The PRESIDENT. Miss Brown, will you rise, please?

We are very happy to have you with us today, Miss Brown.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SILVERT, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Finance, reported, as committed, HB 1001.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I know that we are confronted with a race for adjournment sine die. However, what I am doing now is something which I failed to do earlier in the Session, and which I feel I am duty bound to do.

This resolution is a tribute to a resident of Harrisburg, who, on January 1st, retired as Acting Executive Director of the Fish Commission of Pennsylvania after serving the State for thirty-seven years.

This man became a legend because of his humility, dedication and continuity of service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Henry Reid Stackhouse is no doubt one of those persons who contributed to the leadership of Pennsylvania in the field of fish propagation. Wherever there are now industries and fisheries maintained for fish propagation, the credit comes back to Pennsylvania, because Pennsylvania is the world leader. It was the service of Mr. Stackhouse which made this possible.

I feel when a person serves the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for thirty-seven years faithfully and well, he has established an example for emulation and it should be our duty to pay him high tribute.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDING HENRY REID STACKHOUSE FOR HIS LONG PUBLIC SERVICE

Mr. STIEFEL, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 3a), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, August 28, 1961.

Henry Reid Stackhouse (affectionately known to sportsmen throughout Pennsylvania generally and to fishermen in particular as "Stackie" and to Pennsylvania's citizenry as "Mr. Fish Commission") retired on January 1, 1961, after almost five decades of continous service, leaving a post he first took in 1913.

His deep anchorage in the finest traditions of Pennsylvania State public service, his inspiring dedication to the cause of Pennsylvania's world-leadership and concomitant dissemination of knowledge in the field of fish culture, his continuous and exemplary attainments in various important positions under every Executive Director of the Fish Commission except one, beginning with the "long ago" of 1923 and ending in 1960 when he was appointed Acting Executive Director, constitutes H. R. Stackhouse (as he prefers to be known), a living legend that should be paid homage by the Senate of Pennsylvania in behalf of the people of Pennsylvania.

A person of profound humility, affable, thoughtful, courteous and considerate, speaking in monosyllables and always self-effacing, Henry Reid Stackhouse comes squarely within Emerson's immortal definition of what constitutes a true gentleman. Those who have met and known Mr. Stackhouse have become richer, for no one could escape the ennobling touch of warmth, charm and dignity with which this fine gentleman was abundantly blessed and endowed.

The high regard in which public servant "Stackie" is held is illustrated by the fact that sportsmen's organizations throughout the State urged his appointment as full Executive Director. The Pennsylvania Fish Commission offered him the top spot in that agency, but he has declined. "I've had a full and compensating life with the Commission; I'm not ambitious; I'm happy as I am," replied unusual public servant Henry Reid Stackhouse.

Having retired after nearly five decades of public service that have witnessed Pennsylvania's steady march in the very vanguard of our Nation's progress, Mr. Stackhouse owes to the people of Pennsylvania a duty of reducing his rich memoirs to a book that could enrich our lives with its inspiring contents.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the Senate of Pennsylvania, on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania, pay homage to a great Pennsylvanian, Henry Reid Stackhouse, whose invaluable public services have contributed over almost five decades to Pennsylvania's progress by enriching our economy and setting an unexcelled example for emulation by our State employees.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of the Senate forward a copy of this resolution upon its passage to Henry Reid Stackhouse, now a resident of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. YATRON, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Agriculture, rereported, as committed, SB 668.

The PRESIDENT. At this time, the Chair is going to turn the gavel over to the capable hands of the gentleman from Centre, Senator Hayes, to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. (Jo Hays) in the Chair.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

HB 1335 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 1335 (Pr. No. 2453)—Without objection, the bill was called up out out of order, from page 11 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED, OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

HB 1335 (Pr. No. 2453)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent to offer a series of amendments to House Bill No. 1335, on behalf of Senator Propert, Senator Stevenson, Senator Kessler and myself.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, first I would like to recall the amendments offered by this same group of Senators when this bill was previously before us for consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Cumberland requests the recall, from the table, of amendments previously presented.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is this a series of amendments?

Mr. WADE. The answer, Mr. President, is yes. There are a series of six amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. These are the six amendments that have been on the table since last week.

Mr. WADE. No, that is not correct, Mr. President.

The first amendment was offered last week and laid on the table. After that, there was no further consideration of the bill. I now want to withdraw that amendment, which was the first of a series of amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment has formally been recalled and you may proceed now with the new amendments, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have no doubt that the Members of this Body recall that it was expressed to this Body that this series of amendments would put in certain mileposts or restrictions in the General State Authority Bill, and that the amendments which were offered and that we propose to offer were to set these forth.

At the same time, I explained to the Members, generally, that if we were to take this bill in toto and all of the funds that the bill would then provide for the General State Authority were loaned, it would require about $52,600,000 in annual rentals to be raised by the Members of this Body and the House of Representatives. Taxes would have to be levied to that extent.

The first amendments of this group, which Senator Kessler, Senator Propert,Senator Stevenson and myself propose, are amendments to change the amount of borrowing power. On page 39 and page 40 of the bill, these amendments would take out the amount of $846,629, which is proposed in the bill for the purpose of constructing driver examination points throughout the Commonwealth.

It is our belief that this is not necessary in the General State Authority Bill. These funds, which are relatively small, could be taken from current funds, considering the amount available to the Highways Department which can be called upon through the Revenue Department where this money is paid.

Therefore, I rise in place, on behalf of the Senators mentioned, and present these amendments, which would eliminate the driver examination points from House Bill No. 1335.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 16 to 18, by striking out all of lines 16 and 17, and "201)" in line 18, and inserting: eight hundred sixty-four million one hundred eleven thousand thirteen dollars ($864,111,013)
> Amend Sec. 2, page 39, lines 5 to 19; page 40, lines 1 to 11, by striking out all of said lines.
> Amend Sec. 2, page 40, line 14, by striking out "XI" and inserting: X
> Amend Sec. 2, page 41, line 6, by striking out "XII" and inserting: XI
> Amend Sec. 2, page 42, last line on page, by striking out "XIII" and inserting: XII
> Amend Sec 2, page 45, line 13, by striking out "XIV" and inserting: XIII
> Amend Sec. 2, page 45, line 15, by striking out "12,178,540" and inserting: 12,133,981

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, for the sake of getting the record straight, we have discussed various approaches to what the Senator is now doing. At the last opportunity I had to confer with the Senator, his amendments at that time would not have removed these from the bill, but rather would have made the provision that they could not be constructed until such time as an agreement was signed by the Department of Revenue so that these construction costs could be paid from highway funds.

I would like now to ask him whether it is true that the first amendment he is offering is no longer on that tack, but rather does actually eliminate these items from the bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the gentleman is correct. That was our original intention. The next amendment which we will offer will provide as he stipulates. It will provide that construction of these driver examination points remain in the General State Authority Bill if this amendment falls. Then the funds for the amortization of the $846,000 would be taken out of the Motor License Fund.

However, these amendments are different. These were created today. These provide that the examination points be taken out of this bill. The Highways Department would then be privileged to go ahead and establish these points of examination without going through the General State Authority.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for his answer.

I now understand what his amendments do. I would like to call to the attention of my colleagues in the Senate that if these amendments as presently offered succeed, there would be no program at all for these examination points.

Since, Mr. President, in my opinion, — and I think in the opinion of many people in the Commonwealth — this problem of highway safety is a very important one and these are considered to be essential aspects of a good highway safety program, I would advise my colleagues, if they are interested in having this program go forward, to vote against the amendments offered by the Senator from Cumberland.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, on behalf of the amendments, I might say to this Body that it is my understanding that the Highways Department could go ahead or the Department of Revenue could go ahead and rent — if not buy — these points for examination of applicants and drivers. They could rent spots and go ahead with the program, without going to the General State Authority.

Therefore, I ask all of the Members of this Senate to support these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there is only one problem that I have and it has caused me great difficulty. If the gentleman can explain it to me I will be happy to hear from him. I am not going to interrogate him. I just think he ought to tell the Members of this Senate the sole purpose of these amendments.

This Act goes back to 1949. If we go over this very carefully, you will find that during that period of time, up until about 1954, the gentlemen on the other side had complete control of the legislative machinery — in the House, in the Senate, and they were even pretty well situated in the Front Office. It seems to me that during all of this time no amendments were offered, no policy changes such as these were made, and the amendments that Senator Wade is offering are all policy changes. Why were these not made at that time? Was it because they were in control? Was it because they were in charge of the machinery?

I would hate to think this is what is motivating the gentleman from Cumberland, because I know him to be an eminently fair man. However, it seems to me at this late date, when for the first time the situation is changed and when the aflairs of the State seem to be moving in a different direction, — and yet, at the very same time, the institutions need this type of help which they can get only from the State in order to help them grow for this population explosion that we are facing — certainly the timing is bad, and the motivation behind it does not seem to be of the highest type.

I would like the gentleman to please advise me why they waited all of this time to do this, when the machinery was completely under their control and they could have done it at will at another time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it is true that these amendments are policy amendments. It is true that the General State Authority Bills were in the control of the Republicans during the past several years.

As a matter of policy, Mr. President, the functions of the General State Authority have been greatly expanded over the past two or three Sessions.

I want to say, Mr. President, that the General State Authority was created primarily to provide buildings and State institutions which the borrowing power of the Commonwealth could not support without the device of the General State Authority. That, fundamentally, is the reason for the existence of the General State Authority.

Now these amendments, Mr. President, — although they are in somewhat different form than I anticipated they would be, and I am glad to know there are going to be other amendments offered — simply relates to structures which could be just as well built by the funds of the Highway and Bridge Authority or out of highway funds themselves.

Mr. President, they intend to build certain examination points, for the safety of the people on the highways, where the examinations can be taken at these buildings and areas which will cover the examination courses. However, Mr. President, I can see no reason why they should be built out of funds provided by bonds issued by the General State Authority when they are for highway safety purposes.

It is for that reason, Mr. President, that I am sure the amendments were offered.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for the statement he has just made in answer to the Majority Leader's question.

To substantiate what he has said, it would seem to me that the Majority Leader well understands that most of the bills that we consider are amendments to other Acts. For example, the next four or five are all amending Acts. When we pass laws in this Body, with the cooperation of the House of Representatives, certainly they are not perfect. Over the eleven years of the history of the G. S. A., we know that many pitfalls or weaknesses developed in that law, and this series of amendments which I propose to offer are all for the purpose of making it a better law and a better agency, affording better service to the Commonwealth.

These particular amendments apply to $846,629 to be used for highway examination points. Certainly it would seem to me to be poor business, in view of the fact that the Highways Department has this year been granted some seventy to eighty million dollars in additional funds. These points could be established out of current funds rather than paying for these examination points over a period of thirty years, — forty years, I am corrected — which is the borrowing time permitted for G. S. A. obligations.

I cannot make a quick calculation as to how much would be paid back by the taxpayers. However, I believe, over a forty year period, they would pay back more than $2,000,000 for this $846,000 that they now want and, no doubt, should have for the re-examination of drivers and for the examination of those obtaining learners' permits.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I could not help but note the coincidence which the Senator still has not explained; namely, that this policy happened to come at the same time when there has been a change in the administration of this Body.

I am sure that the situation, as he pointed out under his first amendment, was as true the very day the G. S. A.

went into existence as it is today. If it is true and applicable now, it certainly was true and applicable then. I fail to understand why it has suddenly come as a shock to this Senate that we have been doing this thing over this period of time.

I might also point out to the gentleman that this is the only way we have of financing these projects. I am sure the gentleman knows that those among us, who are not able to finance on a dollar basis the things that we need now and have to borrow to do so, must pay for that money and we try to buy it as cheaply as we possibly can. I would say that generally that bond issue of recent date, of which I am somewhat familiar, have been rather not only reasonably but I think cheap, in the sense that we speak of the market and buying money as being cheap.

I think this is the basis. The most important thing is to get these buildings constructed so that we can proceed in the Commonwealth with the Commonwealth's business, rather than to try to find some other way or means of doing it which may not work as well or be as expedient.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I remind the gentleman that he has just implied that this is a change from the past policy of the G. S. A.? May I interrogate the gentleman in respect to previous legislation concerning driver examination points? Has he ever known of a bill to be introduced or an amendment introduced to the G. S. A. law for this purpose?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have not made a survey of this. However, as far as may memory serves me, there have been no bills introduced for that purpose. That is correct.

Mr. WADE. I thank the gentleman.

Therefore, Mr. President, we can conclude that this is a venture of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to establish driver licensing points.

My point to this Body is this: Since this is a comparatively small amount of money, — less than $1,000,000 — it certainly would not seem to me to be good business to send it through the General State Authority, which, as was pointed out a few minutes ago, perhaps would require taxpayers' funds to the extent of $2,000,000 to liquidate it over a period of forty years.

I repeat that the Highways Department has been granted very substantial increases for the Motor License Fund this year, and this small item, compared to that increase, certainly should come out of current funds. If you would pass these amendments which have been offered, they would simply do that. They would put it on a current basis instead of over a long, long thirty to forty year period.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise if there have been any of these examination points built with G. S. A. funds during his term in the Senate?

Mr. WADE. No. Mr. President. As I understand it, we have no driver examination points in the Commonwealth at the present time. This is an entirely new venture, as I understand it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, were these projects ever suggested in prior years, other than this year which the gentleman is concerned about?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would be unable to answer as to whether or not they have ever been suggested. To my knowledge, they have not. We have never attempted to set up driver examination points in the Commonwealth.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman further advise us if he has been aware of this present danger in previous times or has it just come to his attention?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we never instituted, to the best of my knowledge and belief, a general re-examination of all licensed drivers in the Commonwealth. On account of our present policy to do that, these drivers examination points become necessary.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. I also want to point out that his last statement is the one that I think is crucial; that these driver examination points are necessary and there is no way to get them built unless we go ahead and do it with the type of funds that are available to us, and by using the credit of the Commonwealth to help move in this direction.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, did I understand the gentleman to say there is no other place where these funds can be obtained except through General State Authority borrowing?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not say that. I said that the reason we want to use these funds is because we feel this is a better way of doing it and financing these projects, along with the other projects being built by the State.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, am I incorrect when I say that I understood him to say that this is the only place where these funds could be obtained?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that the gentleman will find, if he looks at the record, that he is incorrect. I did not say that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, would the gentleman care to enlighten us as to whether or not there are other available funds from which these structures might be built?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there may be many other areas where this money may be obtained; to wit., the Motor License Fund. From my impression of it and from everything that I have seen, I do not think this is a proper place or a good place from which to take these funds. This is based on the fact that we have found that our building projects in the State of Pennsylvania have been successful and we have moved ahead in the making of capital improvements and further completing the various buildings that we need in the Capitol for the capital improvement program of the State through this program that was set up back in 1949. I see no reason to change it unless there is something wrong with this system, or it does not operate correctly, or it does not produce the desired result. This, no one has addressed himself to so far in this discussion.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there the gentleman has stated the fundamental defect in the attitude toward the General State Authority. If we can borrow it through the General State Authority, do not use our present cash on hand to provide what we might need. That seems to be the entire attitude.

Mr. President, I want to go on record publicly as differing very, very definitely with that attitude.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would just like to remind the Minority Leader and Senator Wade that if you take $1,000,000 from the money that is budgeted for building roads for some other purpose, it will mean that we have $1,000,000 less to spend for the purpose for which we have decided we need the money—to build roads. In other words, is he going to take the $1,000,000 away from our primary road program, which matches Federal funds and, therefore, means that we lose—if it is on the basis of nine to ten—$9,000,000 of Federal matching funds? Or does he prefer to take it from our secondary road system, which builds the roads in counties like mine and which is so important because it maintains the secondary type of roads that are needed in our rural areas? Is he going to take the $1,000,000 from that fund?

In other words, both of those gentlemen know, Mr. President, it seems to me, that this money is budgeted for road building. If you take it for some other purpose, you will have less for road building. I think it is up to the gentlemen to specify just what kind of stealing we are going to do from that fund. "Stealing" probably is too strong a word. Therefore, let us say purloining from that fund, the purpose of the fund being to build roads. Which direction does he want to go? Is he going to take it from the secondary roads? Is he going to take it from funds to match Federal funds? Just from where is he going to take it?

It seems to me, Mr. President, in other words, that here we have a project which is a capital improvement project. This is what the G.S.A. has been established for.

It is a legitimate project. It has to do with highway safety, but it is not in the Department of Highways. It is in the Department of Revenue.

If we pass these amendments, as Senator Wade has suggested, we just are not going to be able to build these projects unless we take funds which we have hitherto designated as needed for building the roads that Pennsylvania wants and needs.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe that the objective of these structures is as essential, certainly, as it is to build roads for the same amount of money.

The whole purpose of the General State Authority, I repeat, is to provide structures needed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when no other funds can be made available for that purpose, and that the borrowing power of the Commonwealth was so limited that it was necessary to resort to the General State Authority device in order to provide adequate mental hospitals, adequate surgical and medical hospitals, adequate dormitories in our State Colleges, and things of that sort.

However, here are projects where there is no necessity to go out and borrow the money to build them. The money is there in hand. It is available, and it can be legitimately used for this purpose.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, just so we have the record straight, the gentleman from York made some appeal about the funds we have for distribution or expenditure in the Highways Department this year and the loss of those funds during the current year. I, frankly, am sorry to say before this Body that I never knew the rural roads to need money or need work. They do not need money, because the funds are here.

When you talk about an expenditure of around $500,000,000—which is the present amount of money available to the Highways Department for expenditures in this year, not considering the $300,000,000 increase in the Highway and Bridge Authority—against the sum of $846,000 which is less than the $1,000,000 that he used, then you are talking about one-fifth of one per cent. One per cent of the $500,000,000 would be $5,000,000. One-fifth of that would be $1,000,000. So, you are talking about one-fifth of one per cent of the amount available, not considering the $300,000,000 available to the Highway and Bridge Authority.

It is a very minor expenditure. Certainly the gentleman would not advocate to pass this burden, multiplied by two and one-half, on to his grandchildren. If you vote to keep this in the General State Authority, that is exactly what you are doing because you are requiring the future Members of the Legislature to vote for the rental from year to year, which in toto, if all of the money were borrowed, would amount to some $52,600,000 annually and you would be passing that obligation on to your grandchildren. I am sure that neither Senator Seyler nor any other Member of this Senate wants to do that for a comparatively small expenditure of this kind.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, would allow himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if the gentleman would advise us how he proposes that this fund be used to erect these buildings.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, as we all know, it perhaps was a legislative mistake over the past years, but when we set up the Motor License Fund and the Constitution was amended in 1943, we said that all funds derived from motor vehicles and other methods of transportation of that kind would be isolated. When we did that, we separated it from legislative control. That money is placed in the Motor License Fund and we have practically no control over it.

However, subsequent legislation passes on a certain amount of that to the Revenue Department for certain functions in connection with driver safety, issuing automobile licenses, issuing drivers' permits, et cetera. Therefore, there are funds, as I see it, which are unattached, and could be used for this purpose because, as this bill sets forth, it is for the highway safety program.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. He did not quite answer my question. I will try again. It is probably my fault in that I did not state it very clearly.

How would you go about this? Would you float a bond issue? Would you just use the money right out of the fund and pay for it directly? Just how would you handle this?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not as well informed on the law as the Majority Leader, certainly. However, I do not believe there is any limitation in our present law which would prevent the Highways Department from setting up these driver examination points by either rentals or purchases to continue with the program as suggested in this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will try to ask my question a little more clearly so that I get an answer.

Would you do it by a bond issue, or would you take the money right out of the fund to pay for the buildings when they were completed?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly would not extend a bond issue for a small amount of money like this, considering the fact that we have raised the revenue available to the Motor License Fund or to the Highways Department to some seventy to eighty million dollars this particular year.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. I just want to ask him one other question, if he will allow himself to be interrogated further.

Mr. President, would the gentleman support a constitutional amendment, raising the borrowing capacity of the State so that we would not need this kind of measure or this kind of subterfuge?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we have a measure such as that on our Calendar today, and I propose to vote for it. However, certainly it is not necessary to extend the borrowing power a penny to meet a small expenditure of this kind.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman, and I want to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Majority Leader?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, will the Majority Leader inform the Senate as to whether he considers this expenditure in the nature of highway safety?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would say no. This is in the nature of a capital improvement. When you build a building, you can use it for many purposes, and I am sure these buildings will not be built and set up just for the purpose of highway safety, or eye examinations, or whatever else it is.

Suppose within three or four years, the Legislature decides to amend the action that was taken or to overrule the action that was taken. In some subsequent Legislature, the Members who are here today might not be here, and that Legislature decides no longer to require this type of action and finds that it is not necessary. What happens? You do not go along and tear the buildings down. The Highways Department would use them for some other purpose.

I think we build all of our buildings as multi-purpose buildings. I would hope that we would do this in the interest of good housekeeping, and not just use a building for one specific purpose. Therefore, I think everyone would consider this as a capital improvement and not part of the highway safety program.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would gather from the answer that the gentleman made that his answer was: "No, it was not for highway safety." Is that correct?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would say not primarily for highway safety.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman whether or not the amendment to the Constitution prohibits the use of money out of the highway fund for the construction of such buildings in the interest of highway safety?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have not perused the Constitution. I would like an opportunity to look at it before I give an answer that might not be consistent with the facts.

I would like to put to the gentleman, if I may just for a moment, the fact that we have built buildings around here that contain auditoriums for the use of these departments that might have something to do with this type of facility. We later on find, as the years go by, that there is no longer any use for it and some other department may take it over, or some other area may move into it.

If you ask me if this is allowed or should we have done this, I cannot answer that question because it depends, with good and efficient housekeeping, whether this fits in with the over-all picture and the money expended.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, with all of that dissertation, it is my understanding—and I believe it is the understanding of the Members of this Senate and it is the understanding of the Members of the House of Representatives—that the construction of the highway driver examination centers and points was intended to be a part of the highway safety program or certainly, at least, to be conducive to highway safety in Pennsylvania.

I want to read, Mr. President, very briefly a portion of the amendment to the Constitution, which says that the money shall be ". . . used solely for construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of and safety on public highways . . . ."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on these amendments.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, not having heard my name called, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WADE and were as follows, viz:

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise now to offer a further amendment. Certainly, after our rather lengthy debate on the other amendments, this should not require a long discussion.

This amendment now being offered would simply provide—since the amendments were not approved and this provision is still in the bill—that the Department of Revenue would enter into an agreement with the G.S.A., which would provide that all funds to amortize the rentals or amortize the money borrowed for this purpose would come from the Motor License Fund.

Therefore, Mr. President, I present, on behalf of Senator Stevenson, Senator Kessler, Senator Propert and myself, the following amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment. The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 2, page 40, by inserting between lines 13 and 14:
> The allocation of the proceeds of the increased borrowing capacity for the projects and in the amounts set forth in this item X shall be contingent upon the adoption of an agreement between the Department of Revenue and the Authority providing for amortization of the complete cost of any such project from the Motor License Fund, and as much as may be necessary is hereby appropriated from the Motor License Fund to the Department of Revenue for such purposes

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call vote on this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, these amendments that I shall offer, on behalf of the same Senators, would provide that the Authority shall not undertake any project which has been rejected by the General Assembly.

That is the substance of the amendments which I herewith submit.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will proceed to read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Title, page 2, third from last line of Title, by inserting after "act": prohibiting the undertaking of any project which has been rejected by the General Assembly
> Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, line 6, by inserting brackets before and after "and the" and inserting immediately thereafter: The Authority shall not undertake any project which has been rejected by the General Assembly The

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, these amendments should receive the very gravest consideration by all the Members of this Senate.

It has been the practice—and contrary to my vote as a Member of the General State Authority—for the General State Authority, in executive meeting, to sanction, approve and contract for projects which have been deleted from the bills presented as amendments to the General State Authority Act by the Legislature.

Mr. President, in my opinion, it is a very grave usurpation of the legislative prerogative when an agency, a commission or an authority created by the Legislature itself can and does override the considered judgment of all the Members of the House and the Senate in the consideration, desirability and the necessity for the expenditure of moneys through this authority device. In all sincerity, I would ask the Members of this Senate to consider these amendments with the very gravest consideration, as I believe they should be adopted and become a part of the Authority Law.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, that was a wonderful speech from the Minority Leader. However, I have been around here a long time when the Republicans had control, and I cannot recall the offering of similar amendments when the Republicans had control of the Administration.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I want to call the gentleman's attention to this. In prior Sessions, neither side has ever seen fit to designate or remove from a bill projects which have been suggested. The prior amendments to this Act, Mr. President, have been very brief, by simply increasing the borrowing capacity of the General State Authority.

Here we have projects presented seriatim and in detail, and the General Assembly looks over them and says: "What do we want to do and what do we not want to do?" When we have decided that, the bill goes to the Authority and that is their authority.

However, Mr. President, when the General Assembly has refused to sanction a project, in my opinion,—and I believe it should be the opinion of every Member of this General Assembly—then an agency or commission should not override the wishes of the General Assembly.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I think we will give this the same grave consideration that was given to the very grave question of whether or not we should call a Constitutional Convention, which, in all probability, if a new Constitution were formed would eliminate the General State Authority.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not want to take too much time and I still do not. However, I think the grave issue that we face here today on this bill relates to a desire on the part of the Leader Administration to set out in detail what they were going to do under the G.S.A. Prior to that,—the Senator was absolutely correct and I concur in it—it was just a lump sum that was allocated to the General State Authority, and from that point on the money was allocated however the Authority saw fit.

Beginning with the Leader Administration, they set out not only a capital budget and a capital improvement program, but also listed line by line what they were going to do. I am happier with that type of a situation. I think it is the way things should be done. However, it also causes a great many problems because then, without trying to hurt anyone or without trying to favor anyone, you are bound to leave out some favorite project in someone's home county, and you are bound to do something for someone that needs to be done in various areas.

You will find that over the years the G.S.A. has been in existence, in some areas they have done very well and in other areas they have done very poorly. Therefore, some people have termed this a "pork barrel," which it is not. It has looked that way to many people. This is one of the reasons the thing causes great difficulty, great concern, and people think it is mixed in with partisan politics.

If you look this bill over, you will find as many Republican projects as there are Democratic projects. You will also see that this will remain.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, when the Majority Leader says this was done under the Leader Administration and that all of these projects were set out so that everybody could see what they were, my question is why? They simply ignored what the Legislature did. When the Legislature removed certain projects from a bill, the first thing they did was approve those projects for construction by the General State Authority.

Mr. President, if they are going to set them out in the bill, what for? The Legislature has a chance to look at them, yes, but when they disapprove them, the General State Authortiy goes right ahead and builds them anyhow.

Mr. President, I agree this is not a "pork barrel" proposition. The General State Authority, in its inception, was designed to construct those buildings for which there was necessity and for which the State could not otherwise get the money. Of that I have no criticism. However, now, they have gone far afield in the projects which the General State Authority wishes to undertake. Many of them, some of us feel, are not proper projects for a borrowing agency to undertake.

For that reason, Mr. President, these amendments are offered so that our creature, the General State Authority, may not go ahead and override what the General Assembly says we do not approve.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, so that the record will be absolutely clear, the project about which the gentleman was speaking, and which the General State Authority allegedly overruled, was the building of a forestry camp for delinquent children. This is the only area in which they went beyond what the General Assembly stated.

This was in the bill, but had been cut out by the Members of the Senate—which at that time was controlled by the gentleman on the other side—for reasons best known to themselves.

The General State Authority, Feeling this was such an imminent matter,—that juvenile delinquency was a serious problem and that the people who were involved were not being put in the best areas where they could be retrained or rehabilitated—undertook to go ahead with this project.

I say to the gentlemen that—and it is not original with me—if this be treason, I believe they are making too much of it.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to correct the Majority Leader slightly because I happened to be on the Conference Committee on House Bill No. 2386, in 1959, which deleted some of these projects from the bill. Included in the items were a youth forestry camp program, improvements to Racoon Creek State Park and the Presque Isle Park Marina.

If you check the 1961-1963 Capital Budget, submitted on March 20, 1961, in part 1-A, there are listed capital improvements, projected, committed or under construction, and there we have Raccoon Creek State Park Youth Forestry Camp, $339,438. In addition, the rehabilitation of the beach area for $249,096; Hickory Run State Park Youth Forestry Camp, $339,438; Trough Creek State Park Youth Forestry Camp, $339,438; and Presque Isle State Park Marina, $561,604.

All of those items were taken out by this Legislative Body, the bill was approved by both Houses, and yet the work proceeds just the same. If we are of no concern as a legislative body, why do we bother to meet here? It is the people's money we are spending. It seems to me that we are responsible, and we must decide what G.S.A. is going to do and not G.S.A., itself.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us where the funds came from to complete these projects?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, as I understand it, there is a surcharge of approximately thirty-five per cent on every G.S.A. project, a large portion of which returns to the General State Authority. I can give you the details on it. However, I think you are familiar with it. There are various charges that are added to the actual cost.

Much of this money comes back to G.S.A., and G.S.A. is using those funds for projects which it, alone, determines.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hope the gentleman will correct me if I am incorrect.

Is it not correct, Senator, that we are taking these funds out of moneys that come back to the G.S.A. which have not been allocated by the General Assembly? To put it another way, this is money that has been saved in projects which the G.S.A. has completed, and this is sort of a surplus they are using to carry out these other projects.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, this is not money that has been saved, because the charges are ten per cent for contingency, plus another amount for bond retirement. These are the figures: Architects' fees, six per cent; administration, five per cent; contingency, ten per cent; interest, four per cent; and the load factor, one per cent. Some of that money is required by the bonding agents. However, it would not be used except in real emergency.

The thing that annoys me, Mr. President, is that even though this money has not been spent on projects which have been designated by the General Assembly, it is spent by G.S.A. for other projects and not used to retire the bonds. Also, they do not come back to the General Assembly and say, "We want to spend this money for this purpose," and get legislative approval for it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to remind the gentleman that many times when this comes before the Authority, the General Assembly is not in Session, and they would have no way of coming to the General Assembly or getting anybody to deal with this problem.

If the projects that we have built were a waste of money or were some foolishness, rather than the saving of the delinquent and emotionally disturbed children of this Commonwealth, I would say that the gentleman's criticism was well-taken. However, when you are talking about people who are mentally ill who are posing problems in our communities, and who are sent to a place where they can rehabilitate themselves or be dealt with as sick people are dealt with, I certainly think that this is poor criticism of a project that is well-undertaken.

It might be that in the wisdom of the General Assembly, this problem was not foreseen, and the creature of the Legislature—its arm—undertook to complete this project for it. I think this will bring not only interest on the money, but benefits in the way of saving human beings.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, as I recall, in 1959 when we viewed this youth forestry program in the Appropriations Committee, and also in the committee that was considering the G.S.A. Bill, we had some youth forestry camps that were not filled at that time. The idea was to expand them to increase the capacity. I believe, to fifty persons. However, they were not using the facilities to full advantage.

The Majority Leader always appeals for the underdog and the need for these worthy and underprivileged children, appealing to the emotions. However, let me just point out this fact. Of the approximately $2,000,000 that was spent or allocated, or is in the process of being spent, for projects not approved by the General Assembly, $561,000 is for the Presque Isle Marina, up in Erie. I received in the mail, just the other day, a report from the Pennsylvania Recreation Society. One of the first items states, and I quote:

"Erie. Recently, the city approved a $650,000 bond issue for the construction of a municipal golf course."

Now if Erie needs a marina for Presque Isle, why can they not borrow the money for that purpose, as well as for a golf course, instead of coming down here to the General Assembly to get the money?

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I have two points to make.

There is merit to the arguments we have heard from Senator Kessler and Senator Wade. I do not doubt that. However, I doubt whether or not—in view of the circumstances that have happened during the past few years and that have happened during this Session—there are motives other than those of fiscal responsibility.

I felt very strongly about the need for a new Constitution. I still do and I will continue to do so. I believe it is absolutely necessary that we revamp the fiscal structure of this Commonwealth to bring it in line with modern needs and demands. To have, for example, a $1,000,000 debt limit in our Constitution is ridiculous. Yet, we heard arguments before, when we discussed the question of a Constitutional Convention, to the effect that there is something hallowed about our Constitution, and we should consider it very carefully. Yet, we know that certain of these conditions cry out for a change.

We could eliminate this General State Authority, which was created because there was a need, and where there is a need, some structure always comes to rise. In this case, I consider it somewhat haphazard.

The second point I would like to make is this: If we are so concerned about this question of responsibility now, as I understand it, how come these amendments were not presented in prior years? Why this Session? Why, when the G.S.A. was formed, did you not set forth restrictive amendments?

Now, Mr. President, I would like to make a comment on this Presque Isle Marina. Erie is, of course, building a golf course, and that is the prerogative of the city of Erie. However, as to Presque Isle Park, I would beg anyone to walk around this State from any development and compare the expenditure of this money with any other park development.

Last year, Presque Isle had 3.1 million visitors, which was more than double the number of any other State Park. It is one of the most beautiful parks in this Nation, and it offers a tremendous recreational facility. If the G.S.A. in its wisdom saw fit, I would be hard put, if we were to debate the merits point by point, as to whether that money could best be expended in that fashion or be expended in some other park.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, very briefly, let me remind the Members of this Senate that if this bill were to pass as currently drawn under Printer's No. 2453, it would extend the borrowing power of this loaning agency up to $865,002,201.

Gentlemen, this is not a matter to be played upon the sympathies of the people. It is not for the purpose which the Majority Leader recited a little while ago. These amendments, I remind you, are simply to do this. They are to retain legislative power over the projects. As stated so ably by Senator Berger a few minutes ago, this is to decide whether or not we are to let this loaning agency rise as a monster to haunt succeeding Legislatures, or are we to retain the legislative control given to us under the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The framers of the Constituiton and of our government properly set it up under three branches; the Judicial, the Executive and the Legislative.

Here we propose to or have already passed on much of our legislative power. Here is our opportunity, gentlemen on both sides. Here are amendments that are seemingly somewhat innocent, but are amendments whereby we can retain the legislative power that was given us by our founding forefathers, and very properly so. Instead of just releasing all strings and letting G.S.A. go their way and build whatever they wish, this puts them within the bounds of the instruction and mandates of the Legislature, and very properly so.

Every Member of this Body can easily vote for these amendments, in particular. In doing so, they are only supporting good government.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair plead with the people in this Chamber to keep down their conversations so we may hear the discussions as they take place?

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, let us approach this matter in a very logical vein. The gentlemen here had been voting, up until the Leader Administration, for lump sums to the General State Authority. They could use this money as they saw fit. They could build any project they saw fit. They could do anything they wanted; the sky was the limit.

Here we are today, twelve years later, and the situation is somewhat changed. A review is given to the Legislature of every project that is going to be undertaken. These same gentlemen then come back here today and say: "This is bad. This is a bad way to run it. We are not going to let them do that anymore. We are going to run it with a tight rein, and we are going to sit and decide what the General State Authority can and cannot do."

I am also very happy to hear that Senator Wade is concerned about the amount of money this has come to. I would like to point out to the gentleman that it was the gentleman who was chairman of this committee, who, along with the other members of this committee, moved to remove all of the frills from the bill and bring it back to the way the State Planning Commission handed it to the State.

I hope, Senator, that you will join with us when other amendments are introduced, raising the amounts and introducing new projects to this bill so they will not go in and raise the total amount. I will certainly look for you to vote with us when we vote down these additional projects, because you are aware of the danger that exists in raising this any higher. I appreciate the fact that you have taken the opportunity to advise us that you are aware of this.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to point out that in the early days—let us say, up to and including the Leader Administration—it was not felt that the issuance of bonds against growing hedges and cutting trails or one thing and another was a proper place to put money which had been raised by a bond issue.

Mr. President, I want to explain in connection with these amendments one thing more. There is not any intention on the part of the sponsors of these amendments to require pre-legislative approval of the projects to be built by the General State Authority. They do only this. They provide that when the Legislature has refused to sanction a project, then the General State Authority may not override the Legislature and go ahead and do it anyhow.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I sat here and listened with a great amount of interest to the debate of Senator Wade and the Minority Leader. I would say to Senator Wade that if he had offered those amendments about twenty years ago, I am quite sure he would have received the vote of every Democrat in the Senate.

However, now since the picture has changed, Mr. President, it appears to me that they want to set up regulations which probably should have been set up a long time ago. We, on this side, cannot buy that suggestion.

I would suggest to the Republican Members of the Senate that if there are any projects which they feel are not proper which are constructed by G.S.A., they should enumerate them and next year campaign with that platform in mind. That would be the thing to do.

I have a great amount of confidence in those who now control the General State Authority. For that reason, I urge my colleagues on both sides to reject these amendments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a roll call vote on the amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I did not hear Senator Miller answer to his name. May I inquire as to how he is recorded as voting?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman was in the room. He may now be on the phone. I will get him, but he was present when the vote was taken.

If we may be at ease just for a moment, I will have the Senator return to the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I now rise to present amendments to House Bill No. 1335, which would in substance limit the commitment in any one year to $70,000,000.

For the benefit of the Members of the Senate, let me inform them that the highest amount allocated in any one year, to date, has been in the neighborhood of $45,000,000. Over the eleven-year history of the G.S.A., the annual expenditures averaged about $30,000,000. This would put a limitation of $70,000,000 for any one year on the amount allocated, committed or contracted for.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Propert, Senator Kessler, Senator Stevenson and myself, I offer the following amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were then read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, next to last line of Title, by inserting after "Authority": limiting the amount which may be borrowed in any one year

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 5, by inserting between lines 8 and 9:

The Authority shall exercise its power to borrow money and to make and issue negotiable notes bonds and other evidences of indebtedness or obligations to the limits set forth in this act in a gradual manner and not more than seventy million dollars ($70,000,000) shall be allocated committed or contracted for during the fiscal period ending June 30 1962 nor shall more than an additional seventy million dollars ($70,000,000) be allocated committed or contracted for during any fiscal year thereafter

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, as is known by every Member of this Body, there is a considerable section in this bill which would provide for projects for the Department of Forests and Waters.

The amendment we are now offering would state in substance:

"The allocation of the proceeds of the increased borrowing capacity for the projects and in the amounts set forth in this subdivision A of Item II shall be contingent upon the adoption of an agreement between the Department of Forests and Waters and the Authority for amortization of the complete cost of any such project from funds of the Department of Forests and Waters derived from sources other than State general fund appropriations. . . ."

Mr. President, I offer the following amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will now read the amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 10, by inserting between lines 3 and 4:

The allocation of the proceeds of the increased borrowing capacity for the projects and in the amounts set forth in this subdivision A of Item II shall be contingent upon the adoption of an agreement between the Department of Forests and Waters and the Authority for amortization of the complete cost of any such project from funds of the Department of Forests and Waters derived from sources other than State general fund appropriations

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I request a roll call vote on the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw the request for a roll call.

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I know that you, personally, and all of the Members of the Senate will be somewhat disappointed to learn that these are the last amendments I have to offer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Please give the Senator your complete attention. These are the last amendments, and we appreciate that.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, that is what you think.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am speaking for myself alone, and not for the other Members of the Senate.

Mr. President, these amendments would restore some projects of the Fish Commission of which there are several throughout the State. They would also provide that:

"The allocation of the proceeds of the increased borrowing capacity for the projects"—for these Fish Commission recreational projects—"and in the amounts set forth in"—the bill—"shall be contingent upon the adoption of an agreement between the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and the Authority for amortization of the complete cost of any such project from funds of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission derived from sources other than State appropriations . . ."

Therefore, I offer the following amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were then read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, line 12, by inserting brackets before and after "and lakes on State land."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 3, line 12, by inserting after "lakes:" reservoirs and lakes

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 16 to 18, by striking out all of lines 16 and 17, and "201)" in line 18, and inserting: eight hundred sixty-seven million, six hundred eighty-four thousand, eight hundred fifty-seven dollars ($867,684,857)

Amend Sec. 2, page 13, by inserting after line 19:

II.I Pennsylvania Fish Commission Recreational Facilities Program ($2,548,522)

(1) Baltimore and Ohio Reservoirs Jefferson County (a) Acquisition of Land Construction of Roads Parking Lots Boat Launching Ramps and Sanitary Facilities 271,224

(2) Lily Lake Luzerne County (a) Acquisition of Lake 159,437

(3) Negro Glade Somerset County (a) Construction of Dam 352,009

(4) Hammer Creek Lancaster County (a) Acquisition of Land and Construction of Dam 503,801

(5) East Bangor Dam Northampton County (a) Acquisition of Land and Construction of Dam 226,285

(6) East Branch Martins Creek Northampton County (a) Acquisition of Land and Construction of Dam 327,424

(7) Ohio River Access Beaver Butler and Allegheny Counties (a) Acquisition of Land Construction of Roads Parking Lots and Boat Launching Ramps 148,761

(8) Four Mile Run Dam Site Westmoreland County (a) Acquisition of Land 79,736

(9) Harvey's Lake Luzerne County (a) Acquisition of Land Construction of Boat Launching Ramps Parking Lot and Docking Facilities 37,472

(10) Yellow Creek Indiana County (a) Acquisition of Land and Construction of Dam 442,337

The allocation of the proceeds of the increased borrowing capacity for the projects and in the amounts set forth in this item II.I shall be contingent upon the adoption of an agreement between the Pennsylvania Fish Commission and the Authority for amortization of the complete cost of any such project from funds of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission derived from sources other than State appropriations

Amend Sec. 2, page 45, line 15, by striking out "12,178,540" and inserting: 12,312,674

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the reason for opposing these amendments is not because we do not think these are worthy projects. However, this bill, House Bill No. 1335, was drawn as the result of people appearing before the Planning Commission and presenting their views. This was a very comprehensive type of hearing. It went into all of the details. As a matter of fact, one of the Members of the Senate serves on that Commission. We found that this matter was not presented to them. This came not only as an afterthought, but as something they thought they would like to have.

You can present these and you can put them in the bill. They are not part of the Commission plan, however. We have reduced this bill to the point where the Commission can handle it and where the General State Authority can handle it, based on the hearings that they held. I think to try and stick this into the bill is just as bad as what you were saying to the effect that someone is doing something the General Assembly did not want them to do.

You may overwhelm us in order to put these in, and you may get the amendments through the Senate. However, I assure you that the Conference Committee which will eventually meet on this bill, if and when it passes the Senate finally, will not consider such amendments very favorably.

I ask you to please reconsider your action on this measure.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I have been assured that these projects will be self-amortizing over a period of years for the full amount of money that will be borrowed in order to initiate the projects and start them at an early date.

In many of the areas where these projects have been contemplated, there have already been arrangements made for the projects themselves, and if they are not included in this particular legislation, the projects will fall. It will be many, many years before anything of this nature can be accomplished.

Since they are self-liquidating or self-amortizing, it creates no additional debt or burden upon the Commonwealth in so far as the General State Authority is concerned. Practically all of the projects will be amortized from various license funds and Federal funds. For that reason, I support the insertion of these projects in House Bill No. 1335.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I do not think the Fish Commission has very much money to work with now. This would be, I believe, a further drain on that fund. Therefore, on behalf of the fishermen of Pennsylvania, I would ask for a "no" vote on these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on these amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STROUP and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment to House Bill No. 1335 at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have an amendment to House Bill No. 1335, which will not increase the project. It is just merely an amendment that will spell out what we, as dentists, feel should be done at the University of Pittsburgh.

On page 44, line 16, there is a project for the renovation of Salk Hall for the Schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy. I would like to delete the words "renovation of Salk Hall" and insert the words "designing, planning and construction of a new building."

Mr. President, I was a student at the University of Pittsburgh from 1924 to 1928. At that time, we students were assessed fifty dollars each year for a building fund. Fifty dollars a year, back in 1924, for a guy who was married and who had to work at nights in a laundry, or shining shoes, or as a room clerk, was a little tough. However, we were promised then a new dental school building. Well, it seems for some reason that the School of Dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh has been a stepchild in the healing arts.

At that time, I want to say, Mr. President, even with the poor facilities that we had, the University of Pittsburgh Dental School had the reputation of being one of the finest dental schools in the United States.

I am sorry to relate today that we have slipped terribly.

We have slipped because we have not kept up with the times. I want you to know, Mr. President, that we have some 100 seniors and 100 juniors in the School of Dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh. However, we only have ninety-six dental chairs. That fact is not known generally.

I have letters here from the Educational Committee of the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania, saying that the renovation of Salk Hall will be inadequate. I have a letter from Harry Willetts, who is Chairman of the State Dental Council and Examining Board. I have had hundreds of telephone calls, telegrams and letters from dental alumni who are interested in the University of Pittsburgh so that it will again rightfully have its place in the sun as being a fine dental school.

Mr. President, for that reason, I am offering this amendment, which, as I say, will not increase the indebtedness, but will give the University of Pittsburgh a little bit of leeway in order that we can still use Salk Hall and have a new building for clinical purposes.

Salk Hall is located on a hill and it is called "Cardiac Hill." Most of the patients who come there are people who are somewhat indigent and people who are somewhat aged, and they have to walk up that hill. Incidentally, there are two floors before you get to the first floor of Salk Hall.

We feel very strongly that with the renovation of Salk Hall, we will have rooms for research and clinics for taking care of retarded children's dentistry, for taking care of children's dentistry, orthodontia, prosthodontia and operative dentistry. I hope these big words confuse that Philadelphia lawyer across the way, Mr. President. Maybe then he will vote for my amendment.

Mr. President, I offer the following amendment and ask for its adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The amendment was then read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 2, page 44, line 16, by striking out "Renovation of Salk Hall" and inserting: Designing Planning and Construction of New Building

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Please allow the Chair to make a personal observation which it cannot resist.

I happen to have been a student at Penn State about the same years that you were pouring fifty dollars, presumably, into a new dental hall. We had a suspicion in those days, when it came down to Thanksgiving Day, what had happened to your fifty bucks. This confession this afternoon clears up what happened to the fifty dollars which was supposed to go for that dental hall.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Senator is very persistent for this amendment. The fact is that the school is not interested in it. The Planning Commission has not been interested in it. No one seems to want it. Although this amendment is not putting any more money into the bill at first blush, I think everybody will recognize the fact that once you start erecting a new building, it is going to run into a considerable sum of money, not only in the initial designing and planning, but in the construction as well.

His persistence in doing this thing, despite the fact that the school does not want it and the fact that the school has another plan for building a medical center, does not seem to deter anyone from going ahead and doing it.

I am going to call on my good friend, the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Wade, who is quite concerned about the mounting costs in this bill. I hope he will stand with us.

The Senator's persistence is somewhat reminiscent of the fellow who was a rather poor singer and who went around from place to place trying to get people to hire him.

Finally, the booking agents got tired of hearing him and tired of seeing him, and they thought the only way to cap this man's career was to send him to the top. They sent him to La Scala, in Milan, to sing in the opera. When he finished a particular aria, it was horrible, but the audience rose as one man and called, "Encore, encore." This was unheard of at La Scala. He came back and sang it again. When he finished, the people shouted, "Encore, encore."

He went back to the wings and he did not know what to do because it was unheard of to have not only one encore, but two. He went out for the third time and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am just overwhelmed. Two encores are terrific. I just do not think I can do it again." A voice from the balcony shouted: "You'll sing it again until you get it right."

Senator, that is exactly what you are doing. You keep pressing this thing regardless of whether anybody wants it or not. You are going to get this thing into the bill if it is the last thing you do.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I hope my persistence gets this into the bill. In fact, I am pretty sure, since I have done a little bit of campaigning for this.

I just want to say this to you, Mr. President. The gentleman from Philadelphia says that no one at the school wants this. At the University of Pittsburgh, we have a dentist as a Member of the Board of Trustees. He is not only an outstanding dentist, but he happens to be an outstanding politician. He is a Member of the Board of Commissioners of Allegheny County. He is a very dear friend of mine, even though he and I, politically, are on opposite sides of the fence. He is Doctor William D. McClelland. I want to tell you that I think Bill McClelland knows a good deal more about what will make a good dental school and what will not make a good dental school than a lot of vice-presidents from all over the United States. I did not want to say these things. I was hoping I would not have to. However, Doctor Bill McClelland was never consulted once before these plans were brought before him.

I want to say, Mr. President, when the gentleman from Philadelphia says that no one wants it, practically every dentist, practically every member of the faculty, the old dean, and everybody else knows that we need new facilities.

I do not want to read these letters. However, very frankly, we have proof here from people who know and who want to restore dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh to its rightful place. We know that with modern trends, you cannot go down there and practice dentistry with a foot engine, such as I did, or with a slow moving engine like they have at the University of Pittsburgh at the present time. There are six different elements that go into every one of those units, and you are not going to do it in Salk Hall, which is an old building that the city of Pittsburgh wanted to get rid of. The University of Pittsburgh picked it. Now they do not know what to do with it. They want to give it to their stepchild, the School of Dentistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

You cannot blame me for wanting to fight for it. I love dentistry. Dentistry has been good to me, and I am going to try, while I am in a position to do so, to restore the University of Pittsburgh School of Dentistry to its rightful position.

I want to say to you, Mr. President, in answer to what you said about my fifty dollars, that I hope the University of Pittsburgh did not spend it on football teams. I am sometimes, you know, suspicious because we beat you every year that I was there. We had good football teams. However, we never got the dental school for which I gave my fifty dollars.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I shall be brief because I have a toothache.

Mr. President, I have the greatest respect for the Majority Leader. I think he is an extremely fine legislator. However, I would ask him, as a personal favor, to please not tell stories when Allegheny County legislation is before us. It stands a chance of losing.

Mr. President, we of Allegheny County are going to join with Senator Pechan in support of this amendment on the ground that any investment to restore Salk Hall would be an investment wasted. Therefore, if something constructive is to be done, then, indeed, let us provide the facilities that the growing needs of the times require.

To my colleague, Senator Pechan, I would say this is proof positive that when Republicans propose constructive amendments, there is always Democratic support.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want the record to show that Senator Staisey made a very fine presentation on behalf of this amendment.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, amid the air of hilarity which always accompanies one of Senator Pechan's addresses, I realize it is perhaps difficult to be serious about this matter. However, I think it has its serious connotations. I am not very hopeful of stemming the tide, but still I would like to call these to the attention of the Senators.

The G.S.A., acting for this State Government, has entered upon a policy of assisting institutions of higher learning to meet the needs of our times in caring for the number of students and the program of higher education which is going to be necessary for the next ten, twenty or thirty years. This is a serious problem. I, personally, am convinced that the State Government should do its part in helping the institutions to meet these needs.

However, it seems to me that if we are now going to stand by at the spectacle of turning down the well-considered requests of the legitimate authorities who operate our institutions of higher learning and substitute for their judgment the judgment of an alumnus or group of alumni —no matter how eminent these gentlemen may be—we are entering upon a policy which does not promise well for the future relationship between the State Government and these institutions of higher learning.

It is inconceivable to me, as an alumnus of another institution of higher learning which has profited by State-aid in this respect, that the alumni of this university would ever take a position contrary to the judgment of the president and the board of trustees who are the duly constituted authorities of this university.

I happen to know, as a Member of the Planning Commission—and I was present—that when the regular representatives of the University of Pittsburgh came before the Planning Commission and outlined their needs, they were thoroughly discussed and decisions were made. If decisions so arrived at and desired by the institution's regular representatives are to be upset by the activities of a zealous group of alumni, then it seems to me that the future of the development of higher education in Pennsylvania does not appear in a very good light. Perhaps the apparent service that the State is doing in helping these institutions may turn out in the long run to be a disservice.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, this has been a very enlightening and frank discussion. I did not know a thing about the fifty dollar deal they had years ago.

However, I know that in recent years there have been a lot of young men from Lackawanna County and Luzerne County going to the University of Pittsburgh every fall, and it seems that they not only go for four, but stay on for eight years. In many cases, at the last minute these young men make a choice between going to Pitt and Notre Dame. As a Notre Dame subway alumnus, I would like some assurance from Doctor Pechan that a new dental school out there is not going to alter the drawing power between those two universities for our young men in the hard coal regions.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will proceed to call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just wish to make this comment. There goes the ball game.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PECHAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Miller,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stroup,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Propert,	Taylor,
Confair,	Kromer,	Ripp,	Van Sant,
Devlin,	Madigan,	Sarraf,	Wade,
Ehrgood,	Mallery,	Scott,	Wagner,
Flack,	McGinnis,	Shafer,	Ware, III,
Fleming,	McMenamin,	Staisey,	Wolfe,

NAYS—18

DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Haluska,	Mullin,	Silvert,	Hays,
Kalman,	Murray,		Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the amendment was adopted.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to also offer amendments to this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Hearing no objection, the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President and Members of the Senate. I, too, have been a Member of the State Planning Board for the past three years and participated in setting up this program for capital expenditures.

When the expenditures were listed for the various State Colleges in our Commonwealth, action was deferred by the Planning Board, at the request of the Department of Public Instruction, for a new gymnasium and swimming pool pending the development of the campus comprehensive plan at Clarion State College. This plan has now been prepared and reviewed favorably by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the General State Authority, and the President of Clarion State College.

I am going to be very brief and delineate just a few of the arguments to substantiate this request.

At the present time, in Clarion State College, there are over 1,500 students enrolled, with the prospect that within the next eight or nine years there will be over 3,000 students. The seating capacity of the present gymnasium is 400. Four hundred can be seated out of 1,500 students. Each of these students pay thirty-five dollars into a special activity fund. They do not have the room to accommodate these students in the gymnasium. The floor capacity is smaller than most high school gymnasiums.

The area for physical education classes is woefully inadequate. No separate gymnastic facilities exist for the men or for the women. There are substandard shower and locker rooms and virtually no storage space. There is no existing swimming pool on the campus. There are presently twelve of these colleges out of the fourteen which have swimming pools. Clarion State College is one that does not even have a swimming pool.

I would like to present amendments, Mr. President, which will provide the funds for the planning, design and construction of a field house and gymnasium at Clarion State College and also which will take the athletic field, which they now own—consisting of thirty-one acres, within a distance of six blocks from the college—and convert it into a real field. At present, it is simply used for farm show purposes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were then read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 16 to 18, by striking out all of lines 16 and 17 and "201)" in line 18 and inserting: eight hundred sixty-seven million seven hundred seventy thousand one hundred seventy-three dollars (3867,770,173)
> Amend Sec. 2, page 22, line 12, by striking out "33,455,954" and inserting: 36,223,926
> Amend Sec. 2, page 24, by inserting between lines 9 and 10:
> (g) Construction of Athletic Field 282,856
> (h) Planning Design and Construction of Field House and Gymnasium.. 2,485,116

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I request a roll call on these amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STEVENSON and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,

Haluska,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Hays,
Lane,			Presiding Officer

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I now request unanimous consent to offer amendments to this bill and also to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Hearing no objection, the Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 16 to 18, by striking out "EIGHT HUNDRED SIXTY-FIVE MILLION" in line 16, all of line 17, and "201) in line 18 and inserting: eight hundred sixty-seven million one hundred ninety-seven thousand one hundred twenty-nine dollars ($867,197,129)
> Amend Sec. 2, page 22, line 12, by striking out "33,455,954" and inserting: 35,541,136
> Amend Sec. 2, page 22, line 15, by striking out "(32,571,048)" and inserting: ($34,656,230)
> Amend Sec. 2, page 25, by inserting between lines 14 and 15:
> (d) Construction of Field House 2,085,182
> Amend Sec. 2, page 45, line 15, by striking out "12,178,540" and inserting: 12,288,286

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President, I find myself in the same position as many others. First, I say that in the 1959 Session, we saw fit to contribute X number of dollars to Indiana State College for a recreational fund and a field house. This was set up for the architectural and design work. I now find the field house deleted from the bill.

It is my desire, Mr. President, that this be put back in the bill. I ask, on behalf of my good friend, Senator Pechan, and myself, that these amendments be accepted. I also request a roll call vote on the amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KROMER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent to offer amendments to House Bill No. 1335.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears no objection, and the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, in offering these amendments to House Bill No. 1335, I would like to state briefly what they do.

In the bill, the Department of Forests and Waters is given twenty million, one hundred twenty-three thousand and some hundred dollars, of which eleven and one-quarter million is to acquire land for regional parks and reservoirs. This bill is just for one year. I imagine we will have it up for consideration again. These amendments would reduce that amount from $11,000,000 for the acquisition of parks and reservoirs to $5,000,000.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will proceed to read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 4, line 16, by striking out the words "Eight Hundred Sixty-Five Million" and line 17, by striking out all of said line and inserting in lieu thereof: "Eight Hundred Fifty-eight Million Seven Hundred Thirty-two Trousand Seven Hundred Ninety-eight Dollars ($858,-732,798)"

Amend page 4, line 18, by striking out: "201"

Amend page 6, line 3, by striking out "11,269,-403" and inserting in lieu thereof: "5,000,000"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TAYLOR and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order temporarily at the request of Mr. WEINER.

HONORABLE GLEN R. LAW PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I just noticed in the Chamber a former Senator from Crawford County. He is Senator Glen R. Law, who sat in this Chamber twenty-three years ago.

Senator Law, will you please rise?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On behalf of the entire Senate and guests, we are glad to welcome you, Senator Law, to the Senate Chamber. Please come again.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence HB 1283, 1701, 1807 and 1817, which were referred to the Committee on Education.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate until 8:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 8:00 p. m., Eastern Standard time.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

It is a privilege for the Chair to now greet the Honorable John Morgan Davis, Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth, who has just returned to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

NAYS—1

Miller,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SB 413 CALLED UP

SB 413 (Pr. No. 1169)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 2 of the Final Passage Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 413 (Pr. No. 1169)—And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I am very happy that Senate Bill No. 413 was revived and that it will be possible to vote on it. However, I would like to correct the mistaken impression that was given to the voters of Pennsylvania that the Republican Party, in any way, had stopped the passage of this measure, which increases from one per cent to ten per cent—if I may say—the number of signatures required to place the question of a health unit before the voters of any county.

I merely want to state for the record that the twenty-five Republican Senators of Pennsylvania voted for this measure. The twenty-five Democratic Senators of Pennsylvania voted against it. To the credit of the Democratic Members of the Senate, they revived the bill. However, the impression was given by one of the Members on the other side that we were the ones who had held this up. That is not true, Mr. President.

We have been in favor of this measure. We feel that the amendment, which we placed in it, that would make possible the referendum not more often than once in every five years is fair and equitable. We feel it is a good measure, and we are again prepared to support it. We are most happy that the Democrats have had a change of heart and will now support this measure.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, does Senator Pechan desire to interrogate me?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I have not said a word yet, but I do want to make one or two small observations.

We, on this side of the aisle, have been accused of being anti-good health in Pennsylvania. You all know what happened to the county health unit in Butler County. As I have repeatedly said, it was because of inadequate people at the head of the administration.

I would just like to alert the people of Allegheny County that the same thing will happen in Allegheny County as happened in my county of Butler unless they clean up some of the bad features of the county health unit.

Incidentally, Mr. President, in the county of Allegheny they have had a great experience as one of the original county health units. However, I saw in the Pittsburgh Press where an area was full of rodents. The people in that particular area had called the health department and asked for some relief. The investigator came there and said: "Just put some rat poison in there and you will get rid of the rats."

Then, several months later, it so happened that it got to the administrator and he said: "Well, we did not know a condition like this existed."

In Saturday's paper and perhaps yesterday's paper, I saw where some house was in the process of burning down. Now in Allegheny County, they have a garbage dump that is continously on fire, and when this house was burning down, it was mistaken for this garbage dump that was burning.

Mr. President, unless those things are cleared up, the county of Allegheny is going to do what my county of Butler did and throw out the county health unit.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this measure that we are bringing up here this evening, we are very reluctantly bringing before the Members of the Senate in order to right what we feel was originally a wrong.

The original bill, as passed a number of Sessions back, had a repeal provision whereby only one per cent of the electorate who had voted in the last election was necessary to upset a county health unit. As everyone knows, a county health unit is expensive, and it requires a great deal of effort and energy on the part of the community, as well as the participation of the State in State money.

In Senator Pechan's area, after this had been set up and had been functioning, due to some personality clash, they decided to upset it and render it asunder.

We had originally here, a few weeks ago, a bill known as House Bill No. 1496, which dealt with this very problem and which was a complete repealer. That bill provided that once this went into effect and the county had decided on the ballot, they could not rip it out again. The Members on the other side, to a man, voted against the bill. There were twenty-five Democratic votes for the bill and twenty-five Republican votes against it. The Democrats favored this measure and the Republicans were against it.

I want the record to be perfectly clear that we waited five days, during which time this measure could have been brought back by any one of the people who voted on the prevailing side. The laboring oar to do so was on the other side. Even when the last day came, I stated here that the Members on this side in the Democratic Caucus had taken the position that if anyone wanted to bring back this bill at the time, we would stand aside. We would even let the rules be set aside so that this could be done. We waited in vain and nothing was done.

We also had introduced Senate Bill No. 413, which was introduced by many of the Members who had pushed this other measure forward in the hope of using it as a smoke screen to show that they were really for this thing, but did not want to go that far.

Now we find ourselves, in this late inning in the ball game, with no measure left and where the one per cent ripper remains. I feel that you feel as we do; that this is wrong. This is the wrong way to run a railroad or any kind of an efficient operation of government, or to operate county health units on this basis.

What are you doing here tonight? You are easing your own conscience. You are putting some salve over it and saying that you will go for ten per cent. We, in effect, are adopting this and accepting it, because we feel that ten per cent is better than nothing.

Actually, the one per cent or ten per cent means nothing, gentlemen, because it takes a very small number of signatures on a petition to put this on the ballot, and for the electorate to rip this out after a great deal of money has been spent.

I think you ought to consider this action. I think you ought to join with us in sponsoring an amendment to bring this back to a full per cent,—ninety per cent additional to what we have here in the bill—so that we have a proper measure.

We have no other choice in this matter except to vote for it, because we feel that we ought to protect what we have already gained, and not slip back to what we have had.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, to quote the words of a famous Democrat and former New Yorker: "Let us look at the record." Senate Bill No. 413, which was sponsored by my distinguished Democratic colleagues from Allegheny County and myself, was introduced into this Senate on March 20th of this year. It provided, as the Majority Leader said, a referendum vote, calling for ten per cent of the voters in the last election to sign a petition in order to place before the electorate of any county having a health unit the question of whether or not it would be continued or discontinued.

I would submit then, only for the record, that House Bill No. 1496 was introduced in the House of Representatives on May 4th, almost two months after this bill—which provides for an increase in the number of signatures necessary—was introduced in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

This is not an attempt, on the part of the Republican side of the Senate, to in any way obviate or do away with a bill that was more recently introduced. I would submit to the Membership of this Senate that House Bill No. 1496 was introduced two months later in an attempt to take away from the people of any county affected the right to decide for themselves whether or not they wanted to continue the health unit in operation in their county.

I would submit to you, Mr. President, that the stand we have taken is not our stand alone, but in the county of Allegheny, at least, it is joined by two outstanding leaders of the Democratic Party; the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Doctor William McClelland, and his colleague, John McGrady, who reaffirmed the stand of the Republican side, and said they could see nothing wrong in placing before the voters of any county the right to accept or reject that which had been in operation in their county. They said they could see no reason to take away from the people the right of referendum. In that stand, we completely concur with them, and we are happy they concur with us.

This is not a vote against public health. This is not a vote against any safety for the people. This is merely retaining for the voters of Allegheny County, or any other county affected, the right to decide for themselves whether or not that particular county health unit has been operated in such a manner that it merits the continued confidence of the voters of that county.

Certainly, Mr. President, the people of any county in Pennsylvania have the right to decide for themselves whether or not the type of government they are getting is right and sufficient for them. I think we are on the right track. I think the great majority of the voters of Allegheny County—and I am sure of any other affected county—will agree that the stand we are taking in preserving for them the right of referendum is the proper course to take.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny County, Senator Fleming, speaks eloquently for leaving the law as it is today. If it requires only one per cent to get the question on the ballot to have a county health unit, why should we require any more to permit the people to reconsider their views? To me, it is just like my trying to get a bill through that would require my opponent to get ten per cent more votes than I got in order to be re-elected or contest my position.

I certainly hope my colleagues on the floor here, in all fairness, will keep the law as it is today; that is, the requirement of one per cent of the voters to have on the ballot the question of whether they want a county health unit, and one per cent of the voters to see whether they want to continue such a health unit.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I certainly will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if the gentleman will allow me to pursue the simile that he gave—or the example that he gave—about being elected and his opponent getting ten per cent? May I use that, please?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, you may.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, how about if after you were elected, one per cent of the people in your community could get a petition together to recall you from the job that you were elected to do? Would you consider that fair?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I think it requires 200 signatures of the electors from my District in order to submit my nomination. It would seem to me that if 200 people were to petition that I run in the middle of my term for re-election, I would comply.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise us whether he thinks that is fair? I am not asking him whether or not he would comply. Would he consider that a fair way to do it after he has been here and settled in his position?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have great faith in the people of the Commonwealth and I have great faith in the people of my District. I would trust their judgement. If they want to have one per cent to vote for a county health unit, I will give them one per cent to vote for the removal of that county health unit.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, I wonder if the gentleman has the same kind of faith in the people of the State in allowing them to either vote or not vote on this issue. When you make it such a small level of one per cent, after a great deal of money has been spent in putting this thing together, I think that you are certainly reducing this to the point where many of the counties would be very hesitant about going forward with it and dealing with this type of problem because of the great expense involved and the little effort that would be necessary to overthrow it, which did happen in Butler County.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the time has to come in this Country when we recognize that bureaucrats cannot dictate to the people what they should have or what they should not have.

This is a government for the people, of the people and by the people. When we try to institute laws that remove from those people the right to exercise their franchise for a given period of time, I think we are making a terrible mistake.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I would point out to my colleagues who have spoken before me here that at least ninety-eight per cent of my mail has been in favor of House Bill No. 1496.

When we introduced Senate Bill No 413,—and we got bipartisan sponsorship from all of the Senators from Allegheny County—the very gentleman who is now admonishing Allegheny County to be very careful about how it administers this department for fear that the people will take away its authority, as they did in his county, was the same gentleman who wanted to reduce this percentage from ten to two. Then he was willing to compromise and go for three. Then he made a supreme effort and said "five." Now it is up to ten, and he is speaking for ten.

The point is that the people, as represented by my correspondence, wanted House Bill No. 1496. As our Floor Leader said, we gave the other side every opportunity to rescue House Bill No. 1496 from the oblivion into which they had placed it. We waited the five days. As a matter of fact, we waited six days, and we agreed to waive the rules. However, they made it quite clear—and they did this by statements on the floor of the Senate—that they are not interested in repealing this provision of the law.

Therefore, the people know. The record is quite clear that we are trying to make the law a little less onerous. Although we tried to do away with it entirely, we were unsuccessful because we only had twenty-five votes.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occured:)

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I was waiting to hear from those twenty-five Republicans who were ready to vote for this bill. I did not quite hear that number.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

SB 272 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

SB 272 (Pr. No. 284)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 5 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL RECOMMITTED

SB 272 (Pr. No. 284)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 272 be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I inquire what the objection to Senate Bill No. 272, Printer's No. 284, might be on the part of the Majority Leader?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the difficulty with this bill is the amount of money that might be involved. Approximately $726,000 would be the cost to the Commonwealth. This item has not been budgeted and no money has been set aside to cover this legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have been able to detect on the Calendar some bills which may have had that same characteristic and were not opposed by the Majority Leader.

However, Mr. President, of course, we can do nothing on the motion to recommit. I do wish to point out that this would provide some very badly needed and desirable benefits for people who are in the Public School Employes' Retirement System. Quite possibly, there might be some adjustment made whereby the cost to the Commonwealth could be met and, even though it might not be budgeted, it is my opinion that quite possibly they might find that amount of money somewhere around whereby these people could be benefited by the provisions of this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I feel, as does the Minority Leader, there are many desirable features in this bill. However, there are also some that make it somewhat, I feel, actuarially unsound. Because of the cost and because, from the insurance point of view, of this being unsound, I think that we would be setting a bad precedent to pass this type of legislation, no matter how desirable it might be.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill was recommitted.

HB 298 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 298 (Pr. No. 2632)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 5 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 298 (Pr. No. 2632)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, a few bills on today's Calendar are most provocative. They would lend themselves to a title for a book. They are bills I could never understand, and this is one of them. I would appreciate it if my gracious Majority Leader would explain the purpose of House Bill No. 298.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this is not the first time for this measure. Medical boards are made up of people who are in the medical field, but of different disciplines within the medical field itself. What they are doing by House Bill No. 298 is extending it. For example, you have people who are homeopathic doctors. This group went out of being some time ago, having been absorbed by the medical profession itself. As such, the Board, the way it is constituted today, cannot take in people who are homeopaths or in the eclectic field.

What this does is open the door and allow them to take homeopaths on the Board who long since have given up the discipline of homeopathy, and have now joined the regular medical profession and have been under it for quite a number of years. The homeopath is no longer even known.

This eventually will happen in the other areas of medicine which came along and which are now considered as part of the general, over-all medical profession. This just opens it up and allows them to sit on the Board.

This bill further provides that the five names must be submitted to the Senate and must also be submitted to the different deans of the medical schools to pass upon. Those whom they think are best qualified are brought before the Governor.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Majority Leader, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Senator, is it not a matter of fact that one of the chief lord executioners on the Board of Medical Licensure is himself now a homeopath?

Mr. WEINER. The man who is now the chief?

Mr. STIEFEL. No, no. He is one of the chief executioners. He is responsible for many "flunks."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, whether this doctor is an executioner or not, I do not know. All I know is that he has been qualified as a doctor, and I would assume, having met that requirement, he could be on the Board. If he also is an executioner, this is news to me.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am going to cast my vote in the negative, because this has been a Session which is prolific in the various boards and it is bewildering. They have been parading before us, board after board. It is high time that in the forthcoming years something radical should be done in reorganizing our State so as to eliminate this source of pestering in our legislative work.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hope because this is the Medical Board that the gentleman is not suggesting radical surgery. The man may be a homeopath, but I do not know that he is a surgeon. I certainly would hate to see anything happen to him.

It might be that there is some merit about these boards coming before the Legislature from time to time. Unfortunately, these are our creatures; we have created them. Unless the Senator is suggesting to the Members of this Body that we give up that power and give it to a department head or someone under the Governor's Office, I think we will just have to live with this kind of procedure unless the Senator wants to give up his prerogatives in that area.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the reorganization of the Pennsylvania government is long overdue. One of the areas in which we have to reorganize is the various boards. The time will come when an impartial board, having nothing to do with the professions, will conduct examinations and certify the people capable to be licensed in each profession.

This profusion of boards is out of order. If you compare the boards with the provisions of the Administrative Code of 1928, you will find how far afield we have gone in giving them powers which they never dreamed of.

Shall the bill pass finally?

HB 216 CALLED UP OUT OF ORDER

HB 216 (Pr. No. 2671)—Without objection, the bill was called up out of order, from page 5 of the Third Reading Calendar, by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 216 (Pr. No. 2671)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which the amendments to this bill were adopted on August 22, 1961.

Mr. KALMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Rooney.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Rooney, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROONEY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I inquire of Senator Rooney why it would not be as practical to now amend the bill on Third Reading as it is to reconsider the vote by which the amendments were previously adopted?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, it is purely for economy. The bill, I believe, is a twenty-six page bill. We want to reconsider it on the previous printer's number, Printer's No. 1861. The corrective amendments I have are applicable to Printer's No. 1861.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as I understand the proposal, it is to restore the bill to the same form in which it was before it was amended.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. ROONEY. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I was going to ask my colleagues to oppose the amendments. However, in the interest of saving time, expense, printing and so forth, I will not oppose this motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I now request that these amendments be laid on the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the amendments will be laid on the table.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I have other amendments which I would like to offer, but prior to the submission of them I would like to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, this bill has been before the Senate of Pennsylvania for the past six years. I think it is worth-while legislation.

It will do no more than put the auctioneers of Pennsylvania under the control of the Department of Public Instruction. I think it is a worth-while piece of legislation. Auctioneers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania participate in a multi-million dollar yearly business without any regulation from the Commonwealth.

There are thousands of dollars worth of merchandise sold by auctioneers at random every year on which no sales tax is paid. Stolen goods are also sold at auction sales. Absolutely, Mr. President, there is no regulation.

The bill presently, in view of our reconsideration of the vote by which the previous amendments were adopted, is now in its original form whereby the auctioneers of the State will be under the Department of Public Instruction. I sincerely hope, if the corrective amendments I am about to offer are adopted, that tomorrow when this bill appears on Third Reading in its amended form we can vote for it accordingly.

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer certain amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3, page 4, line 11, by striking out "apprentices" and inserting: apprentice

Amend Sec. 5, page 5, line 13, by striking out "not" and inserting: Not

Amend Sec. 6, page 6, line 19, by striking out "examination" and inserting: Examination

Amend Sec. 6, page 7, line 19, by inserting after "of" where it appears the first time: a

Amend Sec. 8, page 11, line 3, by striking out "of" where it appears the first time and inserting: or

Amend Sec. 8, page 11, line 3, by striking out "coporation" and inserting: corporation

Amend Sec. 12, page 15, line 6, by striking out "license" and inserting: licensed

Amend Sec. 23, page 29, line 3, by striking out "license" and inserting: licensee

Amend Sec. 29, page 36, by inserting between lines 11 and 12: for compensation for any act done or service rendered the doing or Amend Sec. 29, page 36, line 13, by striking out all of said line.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. ROONEY.

HB 1335 TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Without objection, Mr. WEINER called from the table House Bill No. 1335, Printer's No. 2696, which previously was passed over in its order temporarily on third reading, as amended.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1335 (Pr. No. 2696)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we are now considering a bill which would increase the borrowing capacity of the General State Authority in the amount of $243,500,000, at the request of the Lawrence Administration.

Added to the $300,000,000 increase in the borrowing power of the State Highway and Bridge Authority already enacted at this Session, this would increase the indirect debt of the Commonwealth by more than one-half million dollars, without in any way seeking the approval of the people who must pay the bill in the years to come.

The voters of the Commonwealth have been given no opportunity whatsoever to say whether they want the public debt increased in this way and added to the already heavy load that will be passed along to their children and their grandchildren.

I think the public is growing increasingly resentful of these excessive new costs of government and excessive deficit financing, particularly where little attempt has been made to justify the extra cost.

I think you will find, upon examining the General State Authority Bill as offered and supported by the Administration, that it is probably one of the most flagrant examples of pork barrel legislation ever presented to the General Assembly. What possible justification could there be for borrowing money to construct sidewalks, ski facilities, or to build fences, or to construct a loafing shed at one of the State institutions, as appears on page 30, or to build six residences for physicians at one of our hospitals, at an approximate cost of $50,000 each? This seems to me to be extreme, but it is on page 35.

Further, on page 30, there is an item to renovate shower and toilet facilities at a cost of $25,612. Again, on page 30, line 19: "Convert cooler to freezer . . . $12,806." On page 21, there is an item to rehabilitate a stable building at the Williamsport Armory for some $70,000.

Furthermore, I find at least eighteen instances in this bill where money would be borrowed by the General State Authority, to be paid back over thirty to forty years, to pay engineers' and architects' fees for the designing of structures and facilities for which no construction money has been requested. It must be assumed that Governor Lawrence plans to leave it to his successors to obtain from future Legislatures the many millions of dollars that this construction will cost.

As has been stated on the Senate floor during recent days, the annual obligation created by extending this borrowing power would be $42,600,000 a year. It would give the present Administration, by enactment of this bill, some $453,000,000 in new borrowing power.

At any rate, it is almost impossible to understand how the General State Authority will collect rentals from the Commonwealth upon sets of blueprints, laying somewhere in a pigeonhole in one of the State departments.

This, it seems to me, is a clear violation of both the intent and purpose of the General State Authority Law, which was originally adopted to obtain emergency expansion of our overcrowded mental institutions because the usual method of authorizing Commonwealth debt for construction was too slow and too cumbersome.

Although many of the proposed projects are obscure and vague as described in the G.S.A., it appears that Governor Lawrence proposes to spend almost as much money to bird-proof and air-condition three of the main Capitol Buildings as those buildings originally cost. I refer to page 21 and page 22 of this bill, beginning with line 15, on page 21. The amount requested for bird-proofing and air-conditioning three of these Capitol Buildings is $7,339,000.

I should certainly think that we Members of the Legislature would also want to impose more control over the $11,269,403 which would be allocated to the Department of Forests and Waters for land acquisition for regional parks and reservoirs, without any details or restrictions whatever.

Included in the bill also are amounts totaling some $90,000,000 for expansion of State-owned and State-aided colleges and universities. It should be made clear that this $90,000,000, which also must be paid by the taxpayers, is in addition to the vast sums that the Governor's Committee on Education has recommended for institutions of higher learning.

In view of the fact that the General State Authority now has the power, without further recourse either to the General Assembly or to the people, to borrow up to $621,000,000—all of which must be paid for double through rentals stretched out over periods of thirty and more years—very serious consideration should be given to the necessity for this proposed increase of $243,500,000, which Governor Lawrence has requested.

To conclude, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, from the total $621,000,000 which the Legislature has already authorized in borrowing capacity, there remain unissued bonds or unused debt borrowing power of $206,000,000. Another $5,000,000 has been reported in reserve, which now can be used. This bill would increase those figures to the extent of $243,500,000, giving this Administration in its last two years the power to borrow and spend some $454,000,000, fast approaching an increase of one-half million dollars.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I certainly think we should go slowly on expanding this monster that has grown up in the last eleven years and extending this power to spend these enormous sums of money, which must be paid back by our children and grandchildren.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please advise the Members of this Chamber how he would suggest we attack this problem if we do away with the G.S.A.?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not suggesting that we do away with the G.S.A. I have heard from the Senate floor that it is necessary to have this borrowing power. The amount of the borrowing power is the thing that I am complaining about, or calling to your attention.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wonder if the gentleman would advise us what we can do if we do not follow this or we do not do some of these things that he mentions here?

Of course, I think it is a little bit unfair to use the basis of when this building was erected, which is quite a number of years ago, compared to today's prices. I am sure the gentleman today is earning—if his own earning capacity is any kind of a measure—considerably more than he was at the time this building was built, or even at a later date. If he compares those periods of time, he will find the cost of what the dollar can buy and what it can do have varied as well.

If we do not do this and we do not use this system, and we go very, very slow, what would you suggest in place of this?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in the first place, it is almost impossible to hear the gentleman's interrogation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May we have order on the floor? This is important to the Senators who are sitting in this room. The Chair would like to have some attention given to this debate. It is very important to the people of the Commonwealth.

Please proceed, Senator Weiner.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman to tell us what he would use in place of this? He wants us to go very slowly or do this in some other way. Would he please advise me and the Members of this Senate what he would have us do? How would you approach the problem, Senator, to do some of these things that are needed? If you do not want to use this vehicle, how do we go about it?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in the early part of the Majority Leader's statement, I believe he referred to the so-called improvements to three office buildings, involving an item of some $339,000. Is that correct, Mr. Majority Leader?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I did not refer to any amounts, any buildings, or any other thing. My question to you, sir, is: What would you use in place of it, and which project would you like to cut out?

Mr. WADE. I have already answered that I think, Mr. President, by saying that we agree this agency is necessary. However, the fast advance in the granting of additional borrowing power is the thing that I am complaining about most.

I think I have recited to the gentleman—if you will pardon me for giving such a long answer—that the granting of borrowing power which was given to this General State Authority during the Duff Administration was $185,000,000.

Mr. WEINER. What year was that, sir?

Mr. WADE. That was from 1949 on to the conclusion of the Duff Administration. During the Fine four years, it was $155,000,000. During the Leader four years, it was $150,000,000. During the first two years of the Lawrence Administration, it was $148,000,000. Now the request is for some $243,500,000.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise me what the price of milk was back in 1949 as compared to what it is today?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I do not believe there is any provision in this borrowing power to buy milk. I think that is unrelated.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman is absolutely correct.

What was the price of a brick, or bricks, in 1949 as compared to today? Would the gentleman also look in his wallet and see if he has those figures?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not too familiar with the cost of bricks. However, I understand they are a little more expensive now than they were then.

Mr. WEINER. Would you say, Mr. President, that they have gone up five or six times to their present value, compared to what they were in 1949?

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President, I would not agree that they have gone up quite that much.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman advise us how much the cost-of-living scale has gone up since 1949 as compared to 1961? I will allow the gentleman to confer with counsel, if he would like, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I must talk to one of my favorite—

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I think the side remarks of the Majority Leader are out of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Weiner will please proceed with the interrogation.

Mr. WEINER. I will confine myself to the interrogation, Mr. President.

Will the gentleman advise us, Mr. President, how much the cost-of-living index has gone up since 1949? Does he have any idea?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am not in possession of those figures. I think the Majority Leader understands that. I agree with him that the cost-of-living generally has advanced. However, I do believe this. I believe that I heard two young Members of this Senate say on the Senate floor that they expected to be Members of this Body for a long time in the future. I hope they are.

I remind them, and I remind the Majority Leader, that we are building up an obligation for which we will have to tax the people of Pennsylvania to the extent of $52,600,000 annually,—not biannually, but annually—and that is the thing of which I am fearful. I think we are stepping ahead too fast with the General State Authority. I agree that it serves a very useful purpose at times. However, I think we are overusing it, as I pointed out in my prepared speech.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to thank the gentleman for his remarks.

I would like to point out that the cost-of-living, the cost of material, and the wages of a skilled man have also gone up commensurate with the work that will be done here. If we are to keep pace in our schools and our institutions of higher learning and in our government, which has grown in complexity, we must keep pace in keeping the buildings and the other implements that go along with it on that same level.

Should we let our buildings deteriorate? Should we let our schools deteriorate? If we do not provide for these things, it will make very little difference who is here to pay it or not pay it. There may not be anything to pay.

As you well know, other people in other areas have stated that they will be ahead of us within ten years. Therefore, I think we must make haste at all costs, because it will do us very little good to have money in the bank if we have no Country.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this General State Authority Bill contemplates the borrowing of a huge sum of money, which, as Senator Wade has very well said, must be repaid by future generations.

As a Member of that Authority and as a Member of the Senate, I deplore the number of projects that are contained in this bill.

I question, Mr. President, whether many of the major projects which are set out here can be constructed or completed over a large number of years in the future.

However, Mr. President, I am going to vote for this bill for one reason, and one reason only. There are other reasons, but this is a particular reason. The particular reason is that it contains provision for the reconstruction, repair and general maintenance of certain geriatric wards in our State hospitals.

Mr. President, I made a promise to myself when I visited several geriatric wards that no matter what the cost might be, I would certainly advocate the reconstruction and new construction of the facilities which are in some of our State mental hospitals. They are absolutely harrowing in many respects. In one building that I know of, which was constructed in 1886, you would be knocked over to get to the door of it. For that reason, Mr. President, I want to see something done about this.

I do say there are collateral things in here that should never be placed under a bond issue, authorized by any agency of the Legislature or the government of Pennsylvania. However, there are things in here that have to be done. If this is the only way they can be completed, I must vote for the bill.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, we just heard our colleague deploring the fact of the expenditures contained in this bill. Yet, I heard him introduce an amendment here for Fish Commission recreational facilities in the amount of $2,754,000. I believe I heard him vote for $2,600,000 for the Dental School of the University of Pittsburgh, which they do not want. I think I also heard him vote for $2,085,000 for the Indiana State College field house, and $2,484,000 for a gymnasium at Clarion State College.

It seems to me that it is inconsistent to deplore anything about this bill when you are trying to build it up by a sum of $9,800,000.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

THIRD READING CALENDAR

EDUCATION BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 613 (Pr. No. 845)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I want to offer a word of explanation about Senate Bill No. 613. This is the School Authority Bill and grew out of the Governor's Committee on Education.

May I remind you that the membership of the Governor's Committee on Education was not made up of professional educators? I happen to be a Member of it. However, the remainder—with the exception of my colleague, Senator Seyler, who is an active educator—were businessmen and women and professional men and women.

This bill increases two types of ceilings for the Public School Building Authority. First of all, it would increase the per pupil allowance for an elementary building from $1100 to $1200, and for a secondary school building from $1700 to $1800. In the light of increasing costs, this seemed to the members of the Governor's Committee as not an unreasonable increase.

The second departure of this legislation from previous legislation lies in the fact that there is no firm ceiling on the total amount that may be borrowed by School and Municipal authorities. This has been a psychological barrier to our past legislation more than it has been an actual ceiling, because in previous years whenever—and there has always been a ceiling on this in previous years—a ceiling was set, hundreds of school superintendents in the State went into action.

I served as one of those superintendents for some years. As a school superintendent, it was my responsibility to get my project under the wire before my neighbor got his project approved. If I should fail to get mine approved and he got his, this would put me in a lower classification than it would my neighbor. The result could have been that some plans which might have been made better were, perhaps, rushed. The net result was, however, that everytime this General Assembly met, it increased the borrowing capacity and increased the ceiling to take care of everyone.

This bill hopes to remove this phychological barrier. We do not believe it will increase the total amount of borrowing for school purposes in Pennsylvania. In other words, we do not believe that any local board of school directors is going to plan and build school buildings that are not needed in these days.

These are the main provisions I think of Senate Bill No. 613. We invite your support of this legislation.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Centre, Senator Hays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Hays, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAYS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. KESSLER. Senator Hays and Mr. President, I would like to know whether there is an allotment in the budget submitted by the Governor for the additional cost involved here or whether this is supposed to come out of additional taxes.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I am sure there is in the Governor's budget an amount to pay the fair share of such borrowing in the current year.

Mr. KESSLER. Then this is provided in the budget and has nothing to do with any additional taxes that might be enacted by the General Assembly.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I think this is correct.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, is it not true that as we remove the ceiling from the total money that can be borrowed by local municipal authorities for school purposes, we automatically increase the amount of the State subsidy. Therefore, we have no way of budgeting for an ensuing year as to the amount of money that is going to be required to pay those subsidies because we have no concept of how much construction is going on.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I think this is true, in part. These matters, however, are controlled by the State Department of Public Instruction.

May I point out an analogy here, Senator Kessler? We have laws which provide that we must reimburse school districts for the transportation of school children. We appropriate a certain amount of money each year to pay for the estimated amount of transportation. If, as it has happened sometimes, the amount of money appropriated has not been adequate and under the transportation program they are transporting more children than they thought they were going to transport, then the State of Pennsylvania because of existing law must make up the difference and pay, to carry out the laws of the Commonwealth, for every child that has been transported in accordance with State regulations.

Therefore, I think this falls in the same category. The State Department of Public Instruction will make an estimate. I would hope they will not approve any building unless there is a real indication that the children need such a school building.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it is not a question so much of need. As a former superintendent of schools, I am sure that the Senator from Centre must know that they project for two, five or ten years their school population, and they know pretty generally how many children are going to be transported.

Here is a situation where you tell every school district to proceed with their projects. There is no limit as to how many millions of dollars may be designed or contracted for, and yet the following year this General Assembly or a succeeding one is going to have to provide the funds for that subsidy.

And the question recurring,

EDUCATION BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 640, 646 and 658—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

EDUCATION BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 688 (Pr. No. 801)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I also desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I too, wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Hawbaker,	McMenamin,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Hays,	Murray,

Less than a majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative, and the bill was defeated.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there are two reasons that impelled me to vote against this bill. First, I do not know of any precedent in modern annuls of State Government that would vest people with such tremendous powers and for such long tenure of service.

The second reason is that, in my opinion, the institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania are not duly recognized under this measure. I believe they should play a more prominent role. They should be the very vanguard of the movement and the helmsmen of our educational system. They are removed from that position which they now so efficiently occupy.

EDUCATION BILLS OVER IN ORDER

SB 690—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. SEYLER.

SB 769—Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 769 go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Staisey.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Staisey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAISEY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Senator Staisey, since this is a Senate Bill and badly needed legislation, may I ask for what purpose you are putting it over in order?

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I am not delaying it for the purpose of killing the bill. There seems to be some confusion as to whether or not this bill has been approved by the Department of Public Instruction. This I will have straightened out by tomorrow morning, sir.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I am sure Senator Staisey is sincere in his reason. However, may I respectfully suggest to him that he remove his objection, and let it pass the Senate? Since we are possibly going to adjourn on Thursday, and there is objection in that the bill does not meet the requirements of the Department, the bill can either be corrected in the House or it could be killed in the House.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I am rather reluctant to do that because I think I will be foregoing the responsibility that is mine since this bill relates to Allegheny County. Since this Session is at such a late hour, many things happen in the House over which we have no control.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for his answers.

Again, may I suggest to him that I, too, am from Allegheny County. It is of vital importance to our county that this bill is enacted into law. I believe that when we are rushed for time, we must have a certain confidence in the Members of the House that they will, if necessary, correct this bill. We should give it the proper chance of passage.

Mr. STAISEY. Mr. President, I wholly subscribe to the sentiments expressed by my very fine colleague from Allegheny County. However, unfortunately, I cannot accept them.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

EDUCATION BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 914 (Pr. No. 1208)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 651 (Pr. No. 1218)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think this is one of the most important pieces of legislation to come before this Body this Session. This provides for a zoning code, a health code, and a plumbing code in many of the areas of the State that do not now have them.

I think it is very urgent that we have this legislation so that we do not just have a hodge podge of everything coming up in these communities, where they have no rhyme or reason for certain buildings and certain facilities being located where they are not needed. In some places where other things that are more important are needed, there will not be room for them.

I ask that all my colleagues vote "aye" on this bill, as this is important legislation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in the closing days of this Session, I, too, join in this request. I feel this is good legislation.

There has been a lot of work put on this bill. Mr. Pitkin worked very hard on it, and it was also before the Local Government Commission. There were some inequities, and Senator Stevenson made the changes not too long ago.

I think this is good legislation, and I hope it passes the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I was going to vote "aye" on this bill. However, I am afraid the gentleman pretty nearly talked me out of it. Do you mean it is just confined to banks and financial institutions?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir. It can be used by the Government, banks, other institutions of that nature, and other activities of that type.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this bill.

The reason I oppose it is because hidden in this bill is a provision that if a police officer files an information against someone, and for some reason cannot make the hearing or does not appear at the hearing, he is subject to paying a sum equal to the costs, plus a fine. I do not think that is a fair imposition to place upon our police officers.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

SB 895 (Pr. No. 1238) and SB 896 (Pr. No. 1239)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 895 and Senate Bill No. 896 be recommitted to the Committee on Local Government.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, my reason for making this motion is that I have been advised that both of these bills are unconstitutional, due to the limitation placed in the Constitution specifically setting out what real estate shall be exempted.

Although the purpose of these bills is good, and what they are trying to accomplish is worth-while, they are badly drawn.

I have been advised—as has the Governor—by the Attorney General that both of these measures are unconstitutional.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bills were recommitted.

SB 919 (Pr. No. 1221)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 919 go over in its order.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in its order. I want to say in that regard that here is the opportunity which so many of the gentlemen on the other side have desired. They may, by voting for this bill which will remove the debt limitation from the Constitution of Pennsylvania, thus do away with things like the General State Authority and other borrowing agencies, and provide the Commonwealth with just exactly what the gentlemen on the other side have been talking about all evening.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may I point out to the gentleman that we could have done this a long time ago when we had before us Senate Bill No. 23, which came up early in the Session.

Mr. President, the gentleman absolutely refused even to consider this facet of it, which we discussed at the time we discussed Senate Bill No. 23. I think, belatedly, Senate Bill No. 23 has caught on. I would like to bring it back, if the gentleman on the other side want to do so. I think we could then solve all of these problems in one neat package.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the gentleman is absolutely and completely incorrect. Senate Bill No. 23 does not do what Senate Bill No. 919 does. This is a resolution for the amendment of the Constitution of Pennsylvania. The other one was a bill providing for calling a Constitutional Convention to revise the whole Constitution.

Mr. President, it is well admitted that many provisions of the Constitution might be considered obsolete. However, at the same time, Mr. President, it can be amended, and it can be amended by this method to provide for elimination of the debt limitation of the Constitution. If the gentleman are sincere in what they say, they will vote for this bill.

I might point out, Mr. President, that another resolution of this same type was passed in the Senate in 1959 and failed of passage in the House of Representatives.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I fail to see how we can do piecemeal what we are trying to do as a whole group. We started, early in this Session, bringing out a number of resolutions to amend the Constitution to eliminate a lot of silly provisions that are in there and a lot of things that are long since outmoded. We could not get an extra vote to take care of any of those problems.

We introduced Senate Bill No. 23, which asked for a Constitutional Convention to deal with the entire document and deal with all of the provisions and straighten out that matter completely. That also was voted down.

Here, belatedly, in the closing days of the Session, we come along with Senate Bill No. 919. This bill was only introduced just a few days ago, and it is already on our Calendar for us to deal with. It deals with the serious matter of abolishing the G.S.A., the School Authority and so on and so forth. It seems to me that if your position was correct at that time, it is certainly incorrect at this time. Which position are you taking?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if I recall, most of the amendments that were proposed to the Constitution, and which were on our Calendar, were recommitted by the gentleman on the other side. Some of them were voted down. However, by and large, the major portion of those were recommitted.

Mr. President, you cannot throw a smoke screen around this particular bill. It provides for exactly what you have been talking about all evening. You are either sincere in what you say or there is a little bit of insincerity.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I think the Minority Leader is well able to express himself without any help from the sidelines. I think those words were not only ill-chosen, but also ill-counseled.

Might I point out that here is a bill which was just introduced on August 15th? I am asking for it to go over for the first time, and my request is creating this kind of a problem. On the previous page is House Bill No. 911, which has been on our Calendar for over a month now, and I cannot get it moved beyond Third Reading. We had a tough job getting it up to that point.

I certainly think that Senate Bill No. 919 can wait one more day. It will still have time to pass, if it is going to pass.

I would like to get straight in my own mind exactly what you gentlemen are doing and the direction in which we are moving.

The reason we originally sent back many of the bills on constitutional amendments was because we could not get a vote on them, and I would have hated to see every one of those bills defeated. We sent them back to committee for further consideration in the hope that we could gain one of the gentlemen on the other side to go along with us. When that did not happen, we left them in committee.

This is a bill which was introduced on August 15th. Today is only the 28th. The bill was introduced, sent to committee, reported out of committee, passed First and Second Reading, and here it is on Third Reading this evening. This must be very pressing. I certainly would like to give it my full consideration. If we pass it over until tomorrow, nothing is going to happen to it, as we passed over one or two other Senate Bills before we got to this one.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the passing over of this bill. I would like to preface my remarks on the basis that Senator Weiner and his side could have been correct, and that we did need Senate Bill No. 23. With that conclusion, of course, we, on this side of the Senate, are in complete disagreement. However, that day is over. We settled that question some weeks ago. There will not be a Constitutional Convention, at least at this time.

This bill embodies one of the major recommendations of the Constitutional Revision Commission. It has both Democratic and Republican sponsorship. I can only reiterate what the Minority Leader has stated. If the Democratic side is sincere in what they have said all evening about how we get around the method of Authority financing, and how we can possibly do it within the confines of the Constitution, here is the instrument by which we can start.

I would respectfully suggest to the Majority Leader that this is a simple bill. Everyone understands exactly what it does. If we are to adjourn on Thursday—and I hope we do— then certainly we should pass this bill today, send it over to the House of Representatives, and give them an opportunity to vote on it. If, in their wisdom, they feel the bill should be passed, then as soon as possible we can present to all of the people of Pennsylvania the question of whether or not the debt ceiling of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be raised. I think it is a most vital question for the people to decide. I think it is one of the questions that should be decided as soon as possible.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we have a double coincidence here this evening. The first coincidence was that there has been no policy change in the child you fellows brought forth back in 1949—the G.S.A.—until the make-up of the General State Authority changed.

Now we find that we have moved on from that point, and you present a resolution to kill the creature that you created yourself. It seems to me that this is a coincidence also. You could have done this last Session or the Session before that, if you found the G.S.A. was becoming overburdensome or something with which you could not live any longer.

It just so happens when the other Party comes into possession of the machinery, you feel the whole thing has been a bad mistake and a bad nightmare, and we must correct it all at one time. It seems to me that if you are absolutely honest and sincere about it and want to go along with this thing, along with the other problems, you would certainly bring back Senate Bill No. 23, which is the Constitutional Convention Bill. Let us work on that. It is not too late. We can bring it back and it will be on Third Reading tomorrow. We can pass it over to the House, and I would use my good offices to see if we can pass it before the Session is over; that is, if that is what you want to do.

However, if what you want to do is destroy the G.S.A. and destroy the School Authority by this vehicle, I can only conclude that the only reason you are doing it is because the make-up and the political complexion of it has changed. The machinery, as long as it was in your hands, seemed to be perfectly all right. Now, all of a sudden, it has become bad, it has become something that we cannot live with, it has become something that we must put to the people, and it has become something that we must deal with immediately in order to wipe it out of existence because it is very evil.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I am very sincere about this bill. I am equally sincere about Senate Bill No. 461, Printer's No. 1237, on page 6, which is another constitutional amendment.

I certainly submit to the Minority Leader, who made the request to put Senate Bill No. 461, Printer's No. 1237 over in its order, that if there is time for the one bill, there is time for the other. I, myself, would like to see them both move today. However, I intended them to both move together.

Using Senator Fleming's expression, if it does not pass today, it will not be passed and the intent must be to defeat it. If that is so, the sincerity of everyone here is to be questioned and not only any one group.

Both of these constitutional amendments are considered to be good amendments. The Senate passed the equivalent of Senate Bill No. 461, Printer's No. 1237, earlier this year. There was a mistake in it. I pointed out that mistake on the floor, and was told it would be corrected in the House. It was impossible to correct it by amendment, however, a new bill had to be introduced.

I, therefore, draw your attention to the fact that if it is a question of time, both of these bills should move. If it is not a question of time, then we can wait until tomorrow, as was requested on Senate Bill No. 461.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I think the Majority Floor Leader knows that this bill will not go into effect immediately, as he said a few minutes ago. We know it is going to be carried over for two years. It is something about which people can think for two years.

Increasing the borrowing power of the State was one of the major factors which they talked about in Senate Bill No. 23. I really believe this bill should not go over in its order. If we are in favor of good government, I think everyone in this room should vote for this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, referring to Senator Mahady's statement concerning Senate Bill No. 461, it is my understanding that a similar resolution was passed at a prior Session. However, this bill is not identical with that bill. Therefore, Mr. President, this would be ineffective to place the question on the ballot. If I am mistaken, Mr. President, I would like to have the gentleman advise me.

This bill has been amended in the Senate and, if so,—and there was a prior measure passed—it will not be effective to put it on the ballot as was intended with the passage of the other bill.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, the effort is de novo. This is a new attempt to accomplish what we were trying to accomplish. The other bill was defective. As you know, it left the Secretary of Internal Affairs in thin air. We have attempted to remedy that.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland County, Senator Mahady.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mahady, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHADY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, simply for my information,—and I am sure for the information of the other Members of the Senate—I would like to ask the gentleman if there was a prohibition in the Constitution against the Secretary of Internal Affairs succeeding himself.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, as you know, we passed an amendment affecting the term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs so that the term would begin in January rather than in May.

When we did that, we changed the Constitution. When we attempted to amend this the first time, we left out the Secretary of Internal Affairs entirely. We forgot about the first amendment. Therefore, if the first amendment passes on the ballot this fall, which is the amendment changing the term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, then the one that is now reposing over in the House would be in conflict with it.

Therefore, we found out we could not do it by amendment. We came back here and started all over again. I think, if I recall correctly, the vote was 50-0 on that when it passed here originally.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am sure that it was. However, I wish to point out there was no constitutional limitation as to the succession of the Secretary of Internal Affairs. Therefore, why is it necessary to put it in this bill? Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I do not have the section right here. In fact, I do not have the bill in front of me. Nevertheless, the way the Constitution now reads, the Secretary of Internal Affairs is in that section. We amended that section with the original bill to make the Secretary of Internal Affairs take office January 1st.

You will notice in this bill, in addition to succeeding themselves, they will take office on January 1st. It is a housekeeping measure so that we will not be found out on a limb.

As I have said, that is why I favored Senate Bill No. 23. Everytime you try to amend something piecemeal, you get in your own way. We got in our own way legally and technically on this matter.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not convinced that it is necessary to amend the Constitution in so far as the succession of the Secretary of Internal Affairs is concerned. However, if that is the case, I have no objection, on my part, to sending Senate Bill No. 461 on its way because it was our intention to provide for the succession of the Auditor General and the State Treasurer.

Mr. President, I will accept the gentleman's explanation. I will call up Senate Bill No. 461 and ask that it be read for the Third Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Berger, please withhold such request until we have completed consideration of this bill.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I recognize the remarks of the Minority Leader with mixed emotions. I believe I am—as well as a number of my colleagues on this side of the aisle—quite sincere about a belief in the need for fiscal revision of the affairs of the Commonwealth.

However, I would like to emphasize one point here. We certainly were extremely disappointed about the vote on a new Constitution. That may be the end of it this year, but I would like to tell the Senator from Allegheny that it will not be the end of the fight as long as I am in the Senate.

I also want to say this. Politically speaking, it might be better to say that we would oppose this resolution tonight on the grounds that if this amendment were adopted, it would help to weaken the argument for a new Constitution. However, I am willing to recognize the fact that this is a step forward and support it on the theory—as we have said before—that a half or a quarter of a loaf is better than no loaf. In doing this, I am willing to admit that it may be politically somewhat indefensible. However, it is a step in the right direction, and it is done with good intent. If I can be flexible, maybe in the future I can persuade the gentleman from Allegheny or one of his colleagues to be also flexible and look to the need for a new Constitution.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, for the purpose of setting the record straight,—and I am sure the Majority Leader knows this as well as I do—when the gentleman suggests to the Senate of Pennsylvania that the introduction of Senate Bill No. 919 is an attempt by this side of the Senate to throw a smoke screen, I would like to tell him—and I can quote almost correctly I believe from the record of the 1959 Session—that the Senate of Pennsylvania was under the control of the Republican Party and we sent a similar measure to the House of Representatives. The House, in their wisdom, decided not to pass it and not to put it through for the first time. This is nothing new with the Republican Party. We recognize this as one of the faults in the present Constitution, and one which we would like to correct and which we would like to start through now.

If the Majority Party—now the Democratic Party—is as sincere as Senator Weiner has led us to believe, then let him pass this bill this evening. Let it go over to the House where it has a chance to go through. Let it be presented to the people. We want it presented to the people of Pennsylvania. We want the debt limit raised.

Certainly, Mr. President, let no one be under the disillusion, if you please, as presented by Senator Weiner, that this is any attempt—a last minute attempt on the part of this side of the Senate—to put through a bill that we have not thought of before. We thought of it, Mr. President, in 1959 when we were in power in the Senate of Pennsylvania. We passed it in the Senate of Pennsylvania by a bare majority, but we passed it, and for some reason the House of Representatives decided not to pass it.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I do not mean to be redundant or to prolong this discussion. However, I believe the Senator from Allegheny County has misinterpreted my remarks.

I did not mean to infer that you are putting up a smoke screen. All I am saying is this: In the language of the Senator, this is one of the faults and we are attacking one of the faults—one of the major faults—of the Constitution. We have pursued this tortuous process for years and years and years. Because of our fear that we are going to inflict something on the people of Pennsylvania that they do not want and because of other various private interests, who grind their axes most loudly—too loudly—on this Hill from time to time, we are afraid to take it into our hands and go forward and adopt a new Constitution. This seems to me to be, evidently, a distrust of our process.

After all, gentlemen, we, who are the proponents of a new Constitution, are the ones who have the uphill fight. We are the ones who are trying to throw off this sloth of apathy and inertia among the people of the Commonwealth. We are the ones who have to take to them the complicated issue of a new Constitution and try to explain it. You are not going to explain a new Constitution by a slogan. This is going to take work; the kind of hard work that our League of Women Voters has started, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has supported, and other worthy groups have started. You will find that day by day citizens who are enlightened and concerned about their government are going to join this movement for a new Constitution. This movement will continue to grow.

This is only one of the faults. However, why do we have to tag this as one of the faults? Are we going to keep on amending this quiltwork? What I am pointing out is that by getting rid of this one fault, do you think we are going to alleviate this need? Why not attack the problem face on?

If a man is injured, a doctor treats all parts of the body. He does not treat one part and let the rest of him rot. He treats all parts of the body to the best of his ability. So let us, as Legislators, commence this process of treating the body politic.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the Members of the Senate to page 2, lines 13 to 17 of this bill, which seems to me to offer ample reason for delaying action on this bill.

That Section, beginning with line 13 of the bill, reads as follows:

> "Except as herein provided no debt or other obligation shall hereafter be created by or on behalf of this Commonwealth or by any authority or other agency the repayment of which will be made either directly or indirectly from Commonwealth revenues whether by direct payment or through leases or other contractual obligations . . ."

Mr. President, I am advised by competent counsel and I believe that if this should become a part of the Constitution of our Commonwealth, this would bring to an end any support on the part of this Commonwealth for a school building program of a school district, whether by general obligation bonds of a school district or by an authority created for that purpose, because these are agencies and authorities which have contracting obligations involving the use of revenue of the Commonwealth for repayment.

I think this is a serious thing to contemplate. It may be possible, under the first part of this bill, that we could finance such a project if the people in the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania were asked to vote every time a school building is built in Lycoming County, Allegheny County, Lehigh County or Potter County.

This is obviously a riduculous situation to ask the entire Commonwealth to vote every time there is such a project. I am not even sure that would be possible. It may be—I am advised—that under this section, it would be impossible hereafter for the Commonwealth to support any such building programs on the part of school districts or those that are financed through municipal authorities.

I think this is of serious enough consideration to warrant our stopping and thinking about the possibilities of this bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly do not want to prolong this. However, as usual, I failed to have the attention of the Senators. Senator Sesler, for whom I have the highest regard, completely misunderstood my remarks.

I made no reference whatsoever to anything that the Senator from Erie said. My remarks were directed to the Majority Leader, Senator Weiner, who, as usual, decided to pay no attention to what I was saying. That is all right with me.

However, I assure the Senator from Erie that I found no quarrel with anything he said. My fault was found with Senator Weiner.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman wants me to repeat what he said, I will be very happy to do so, and also advise him of our opposition to it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to Senate Bill No. 919 going over in order, the question recurs on the passage of this bill on third reading.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I also desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

SB 461 (Pr. No. 1237)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order, was called up from page 6 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. BERGER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 461 (Pr. No. 1237)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am voting "no" on this bill, and I want to explain the reason why. As a matter of fact, I got up before to explain why I voted against a preceding bill.

I am against piecemeal amendments to the Constitution. We had an excellent chance of calling a Constitutional Convention, which would have mirrored the progress of Pennsylvania. Instead of that, we take a greater boulder and we pulverize it into small pebbles. We will keep on throwing those pebbles in years to come.

The only way to show my position on this matter in so far as extending the term and amending the Constitution—although I am a great admirer of Miss Blatt, and I believe she is a genius and does a magnificent piece of work for Pennsylvania—is to say that I am compelled to stick to my convictions. Even though Emerson said that constancy is the hobgoblin of fools, I, nevertheless, want to be constant.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 1028, 1085, 1259, 1306, 1337, 1338, 1339, 1373, 1422, 1427, 1452, 1453, 1454, 1455, 1456, and 1457—Without objection, the bills were passed over in their order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

BILL RECOMMITTED

HB 1486 (Pr. No. 1819)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1486 and House Bill No. 1487 be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, would the gentleman explain why he desires to have these two bills recommitted to the Committee on Education?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am sorry. I would have explained when I asked that they be recommitted, but I thought we were rushing because of the lateness of the hour.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, would the gentleman be kind enough, rather than making the motion to recommit, to put these bills over in order until tomorrow?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would be glad to explain to the gentleman in about one minute why we are asking that these bills be recommitted. The reason we are doing so is that they are taking people, who are in the real estate business and those who are in the business of the schools which teach these people to do this, away from the Private Business School Law provisions and not putting them in any area at all. These will be left completely without any regulation whatsoever.

The intent of what they are trying to do is perfectly clear to me. This is not the vehicle to do it. These bills are badly drawn. If you will peruse the bills, you will see there will be great difficulty in administering these schools.

House Bill No. 1487 might be a good bill and it might be able to ride on its own. However, I think it is tied in with House Bill No. 1486 and, as such, it should go back and perhaps be corrected.

They are both House Bills, Senator. Perhaps the committee can get them back to us in time to appear on Third Reading, and we might be able to pass them on Wednesday or Thursday.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I have no further interrogation. I merely wish to state that I have no objection to House Bill No. 1486 being recommitted. However, I would like to have House Bill No. 1487 remain on the Calendar because I have amendments to offer thereto, and I would offer the amendments tomorrow. Those amendments might make the bill more acceptable to the Majority Leader. I would like an opportunity to at least present them for his consideration.

I, therefore, respectfully request the Majority Leader to permit House Bill No. 1487 to go over in its order until tomorrow.

Mr. Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection. If the bill can be made better by amendments, I will be glad to see the amendments tomorrow.

Mr. President, I now withdraw that portion of my motion for the recommittal of House Bill No. 1487.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I also withdraw my second to the motion with respect to House Bill No. 1487.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I renew my motion that House Bill No. 1486, Printer's No. 1819, be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the bill was recommitted.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

HB 1487, 1506, 1599, 1601, 1606, 1607, 1622, 1638, 1678, 1683, 1746, 1768, 1771, 1796 and 1811—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that the remaining bills on page 14, all of the bills on pages 15 and 16, and the three bills at the top of page 17, go over in their order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there is a certain bill appearing on page 16, at the top of the page, House Bill No. 1678.

This is one of those bills which is weasel-worded. It is written in such a way that you cannot understand the meaning of it. I think it belongs to that group of bills which need a lot of explanation, interpretation and exegesis because, otherwise, you cannot understand it.

Therefore, I request that this bill go over in order so that I may have an opportunity to delve into the mysteries of this piece of legislation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. As the Chair understands it, the Majority Leader has requested that all of these bills go over in their order.

Mr. STIEFEL. Yes, Mr. President, but this bill especially.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bills will go over in their order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Committee on Education will proceed with its meeting.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence HB 56, which was referred to the Committee on State Government.

He also presented for concurrence HB 1513, which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

He also presented for concurrence HB 1803, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL

He also returned to the Senate, SB 351, with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILLS

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to HB 161, 1178, 1221 and 1438.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, just a word about the present situation on the agreement between Pennsylvania and New Jersey concerning suspension of licenses.

I believe, before the Session adjourns, something ought to be done to curb the way our citizens are being treated in New Jersey. Charges are invented and then our Department of Revenue and the Highway Safety Bureau just accept such charges word-for-word and suspend licenses.

I would suggest that we prevail upon this department to publish statistics showing how many people in Pennsylvania suffered the loss of their licenses because of convictions in New Jersey.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MILLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, at this time, I desire to offer a resolution, on behalf of Senator Pechan and myself, and I request its immediate consideration and adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AND AUDITOR GENERAL TO INVESTIGATE THE STATE WORKMEN'S INSURANCE FUND

Messrs. MILLER and PECHAN, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 4a), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 28, 1961.

It has been alleged there are many claims of long standing which have not been settled by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund. The morale of many persons working for the fund is at an all time low. The financial condition of this agency is reported to be in very poor straits at this time.

Such conditions make it difficult for many persons rightfully entitled to receive money from the fund when it is most needed by them. Confidence of the people is shaken when these conditions exist; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the Department of Justice and the Department of the Auditor General are hereby requested to investigate the State Workmen's Insurance Fund to determine the solvency of the fund, the reason for laxity in the payment of claims, and the causes for the low morale of employes of the fund; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Department of Justice and the Department of the Auditor General are requested to make a report of their findings and recommendations to Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, the Senate Majority Leader, the Senate Minority Leader, and the Governor of Pennsylvania; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Attorney General and to the Auditor General of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to this resolution receiving immediate consideration and ask that it be sent to the appropriate committee. I think the Rules Committee would be the best committee for this.

I have not been advised that these facts are or are not so. As a matter of fact, the resolution begins: "It has been alleged . . ." You cannot go on allegations alone unless there are some affidavits. I think I would like to have an opportunity, in the closing days of the Session, to at least find out what the facts are before we act on this resolution.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, the reason I introduced the resolution is that I have received a great number of letters from people throughout the State—and especially from Beaver County—who have written to me regarding this matter. Evidently, they have had cases before this Insurance Fund for some time.

I have a letter from a lady in Ambridge, Pennsylvania, where her son is a prominent dentist. She tells me that she has had a case outstanding now for the last three or four years. These cases evidently are not being resolved as they should be.

Also, medical people are writing to me about claims they submitted to the State and payments have been very slow in coming to them.

Therefore, I felt this matter should be looked into to determine whether these charges that are alleged are justified or not.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, it is referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. McGINNIS, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Appropriations, rereported, as committed, SB 418.

Mr. HAYS, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Education, reported, as committed, HB 350, 1552, 1560, 1807 and 1817; as amended, HB 1283.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The bills were as follows:

HB 350, 1001, 1283, 1552, 1560, 1807 and 1817.

And said bills having been read at length for the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

HOUSE MESSAGE

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. While the leaders are conferring regarding the agenda for the day, the Chair would like to make a few remarks about decorum.

It is a matter of little personal interest to me as an individual how the House conducts itself, but as Speaker it grieves me when visitors come to me and say, I was in the House the other day, a man was on the floor speaking, and nobody was listening, some members were reading newspapers, other members were traveling the aisles, and nobody was listening to the man who was speaking. Now I say that grieves me because it downgrades our body in the estimation of the public. They expect to see us—if we do not really study legislation—have a studious attitude. That is the only reason the Chair tries to insist upon decorum.

I get along just as well when the House is in tumult, when everybody is talking to each other, quite as well. It would be far easier for the Chair to forget all about order and let the House go its merry way, but it leaves a bad impression on the public.

You know anyone with a long-range camera who takes distance views would spot somebody reading a newspaper and take the picture. You could locate the person where he sits. It is all right to read newspapers while we are in session except that the public does not appreciate that interest in the news.

It is for and on behalf of the dignity of the House, and that alone, that the Speaker asks for order. I want to repeat, it would be far easier for the Chair just to pay no attention to whether people are listening or are not listening. If a member cannot hold his audience, all right, why should the Speaker help him out? But that sort of thing downgrades us in the estimation of the public, and that is the only reason why so often, when I am in the Chair, or the gentleman from Armstrong is in the Chair, or the gentleman from Beaver is in the Chair, why we strive to maintain order. Thank you for listening to me.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1840, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897(P. L. 292), entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" clarifying provisions for imposing collecting and paying tax on deposits and shares of savings banks without capital stock building and loan associations and federal and state savings and loan associations measured by their surplus undivided profits and reserves.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCANN.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1838, entitled:

An Act amending "The General County Assessment Law" approved May 22, 1933 (P. L. 853), providing that reproduction costs shall be considered in arriving at value and providing that factors taken into consideration in arriving at the value of real property and valuations so determined by certain counties under a permanent system of records may continue to be a valid basis for assessments.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 640, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), known as the "Public School Code of 1949" further providing for payments on account of closed schools.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the motion to recommit and submit my remarks for the record to be printed at length.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. WORLEY submitted the following for the record:

Mr. Speaker, the State induced the school district to close one-room schools upon the reliance of a promise to make an annual payment of $200.00. The schools have been closed in reliance thereon, and to stop State payments in 1965 or later is a breach of that agreement on the part of the Commonwealth. The Commonwealth should therefore be estopped from reversing its position to the injury of our schools, and even though estoppel does not work against the sovereign, this General Assembly has the power to prevent this Commonwealth from breaching prior agreements.

Adams County has 173 closed schools. The State pays $200.00 per closed school per year. Therefore, Adams County's public schools would lose $34,600.00 per year. The rural members of this House should move with great caution on this bill. It may even cause your counties to lose more than Adams County.

Now the amendments inserted in this bill by the gentleman from Berks will only postpone this loss to rural areas of Pennsylvania until after 1965 and after the indebtedness is paid. This will cause some rural school districts to be cut off in 1965 and some a little later. The amended bill only picks up more votes for a bill that could not be passed in its original form, and, second, it is now a gradual breach of faith with our rural school districts. The final result, even with the amendments, is to cut off all the money paid for closed schools and cause a complete breach of promise on the part of this Commonwealth.

If you pass this bill now, the next Legislature will probably cut all the money off at once. After the Commonwealth gets its foot in the door and quiets you down, they will then take the whole hog on the next step. I ask you to help me stop this breach of promise to our rural school districts now. I move that this bill be recommitted to the Education Committee to be kept there permanently. I ask for a roll call vote on this motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the majority leader consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated at this time?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, was not this bill part of the Governor's recommendation to the Committee on Education in the final report of the commission?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I believe first that this proposed legislation was a part of the Governor's budget submitted here dealing with the closed schools.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Was it not recommended by the Governor's special committee which spent months on the matter?

Mr. McCANN. This is correct. The gentleman will find it in the Governor's committee report.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Then in moving to recommit the bill you are voting against the Governor, are you not?

Mr. McCANN. I am not.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Has the Governor changed his mind on this issue?

Mr. McCANN. He has not.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. But we are voting to recommit the bill.

Mr. McCANN. That is right.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. It is dead until 1963?

Mr. McCANN. That is what the gentleman said, not I.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Does the gentleman think we are going to be here in October or November to vote on this bill?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would certainly hope that we will not be here in October or November, but I have no assurance as to what will take place with the fiscal session of January 1962.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. In 1962 we can only adopt revenue measures, is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. The constitution provides that such would be the case, but I do not have the answer as to whether there will be a special session running concurrently with the fiscal session.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. That is all.

Mr. McCANN. I move its recommittal, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg, desire to be recognized?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, House bill 640 has been on the calendar for quite a long while and it poses a question which many of us would like to vote in favor of, that is, ending once and for all closed-school subsidies.

It was fairly obvious early in this session when we attempted to amend the bill to make it effective 20 years from now, when that amendment went down, that the main purpose of this bill could not be achieved within a reasonable period of time.

The bill was recently amended to have the closed-school subsidies continue for a period of the life of any bonds that might presently be in life, which visualizes the possibility that closed-school subsidies might continue for another 30 to 40 years in the State of Pennsylvania.

Most recently the last amendment, and the present amendment, which is before us, confounds the situation still further.

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley, rise?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is not speaking on the motion to recommit; he is speaking on the substance of the bill in general. If that is the case then I think the rest of us should be given that privilege, too.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia was endeavoring to substantiate the argument for recommittal, as I understood it.

Mr. EILBERG. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. And up to the present time, giving the background of the bills, the history of the bill in the House is one of the reasons for recommittal in the Chair's judgment. Up to the present time I think the gentleman has been in order.

Mr. EILBERG. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the bill which is presently before us provides that we shall not begin to think about ending the closed-school subsidies until at least the year 1965. In other words, any indebtedness for closed-school subsidies existing up to 1965 shall continue for the life of those bonds which are then in existence. So, we have the incredible situation, Mr. Speaker, with the bill in the form that is presently before us, that we go until 1965 and then we continue with the closed-school subsidies for perhaps another 30 or 40 years thereafter which to me is an absolutely intolerable situation. In answer specifically now to the objection raised by the gentleman from Allegheny, of course the Governor's committee report recommended that closed-school subsidies end, but if the gentleman will look at the report closer he will see that the year recommended is 1965, and that, once and for all, closed-school subsidies as part of a larger program should end in 1965. Now if we were to vote for this bill in the form that it presently is, we are running contrary to the recommendation of the Governor's committee report by some 30 to 40 years in some cases.

I therefore say, Mr. Speaker, in support of our majority leader, that this bill is in such a deplorable state that it should be recommitted and studied closely when we come to special session, which I fervently hope we will have, to study all the problems relating to education.

The SPEAKER. Did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, rise and address the Chair and request a roll call? Is it a matter of record that he so did?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, he did ask for a record roll call.

I ask the members to vote "aye."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. M. H. GOLDSTEIN and WORLEY and were as follows:

Amend Section 4, page 18, lines 1 and 2, by striking out after the word "of" on line 1, the following: "four hundred forty dollars ($440.00) three hundred dollars ($300)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "three hundred forty dollars ($340.00)"

Amend Section 8, page 24, line 3, by striking out the bracket before the word "the" where it first appears

Amend Section 8, page 24, by striking out the bracket after the word "planting" and all the rest of line 5, and all of lines 6 and 7

Amend Section 10, page 25, by striking out after the word "effect" the word "immediately" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this is the socalled bituminous coal stripping bill and members on our side of the House are on their own.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I urge you to non-concur in the amendments placed by the other legislative body to House bill 1438.

As an original sponsor of the bill and drafter of the bill and secretary of the committee from whence it came in the House, I am familiar with the legal terminology in the bill. As a member who has been raised alongside of strip mines all my life, I am familiar with what we are trying to prevent in the future.

We are being told today, "But let us take what this bill now proposes; it seems as though it is the best we can get." But I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen, this bill is as good as no bill at all in preventing further stripping waste. The legislation is not a great improvement or any improvement over the existing law. The only improvement in the bill is raising the bond from $300 per acre to $400 per acre. When we drafted the bill we placed $500 as a compromise measure at that time, thinking it would meet with the approval of all the members of these bodies, or at least a majority thereof.

The minimum bond was placed at $5,000 at that time as a compromise. Now we are asked to further compromise to accept a minimum bond of $4,000. These amounts will not, in many instances, sufficiently backfill even to these weak proposals in this bill.

The backfill requirements, as suggested in the Senate amendments, are a victory for only one person, the "great performer" in the other body. They will not be a victory for the people who live in the bituminous coal mining areas and they will not be a victory for the proponents of the original stripping bill here in this House, I can certainly assure the "great performer" of that.

I might say that there is one provision being placed in the bill which will leave us in an even weaker position than the act of 1945. That is on page 3, where it says therein that when degree is used in the act it shall be subject to a 5-degree tolerance. That means that a fellow can be five degrees higher than is required by the act and still be tolerated.

We also have other proposals in the act which leave us in a very bad situation.

It had been provided that no operation shall begin without registering with the Department of Mines. That has now been deleted to say that an operation can start, but it can be stopped at the option, mind you, of a local mine inspector. Now if he chooses not to stop the operation, it may continue.

Also another important provision we had hoped for that has now been deleted is that backfilling shall provide lateral support for highways and buildings. This has been deleted in this proposal and now the backfill need not do that.

The only thing this will give us is a 5-foot cover over an unlined or open seam of coal and from that five feet of cover go down to an angle of 45 degrees to the bottom of the pit. This might leave us with high walls of 40 or 50 or 60 feet upon which there will be no slope or no cover.

We feel that this bill has been mutilated by a certain member of the other body and we should not be forced for the sake of time to compromise the necessities of our Commonwealth. We have been here, ladies and gentlemen, for eight months. I am sure we can remain eight more days while a proper conference committee works out a finer and better strip-control bill for the people of Pennsylvania.

I might add too that last week those of us who sponsored this bill were practically promised that and now our promise is being denied from us.

You are asked to accept a compromise which I can assure you is not acceptable to the people who live next to strip mines. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I could not agree more heartily with the remarks of the gentleman from Washington. Unfortunately, the request of the majority leader for concurrence in the Senate amendments would seem to indicate that today we are playing the last act of this great drama between the people of this Commonwealth and those who believe that the natural resources of this Commonwealth belong to some private interests rather than to all of those people.

This drama in the legislative session of 1961 can only be characterized, of course, as a comic opera. It has been a comedy of errors and mistakes and misunderstandings since it first came before this House.

I would call the attention of the members to the fact that this House, by an overwhelming majority, rejected the so-called compromises and adopted a good strip mine bill after some confusion and some inadvertence.

The bill in its present form, Mr. Speaker, does not represent compromise; it represents capitulation, and I would ask the members to non-concur in these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on House bill 1438 I have asked the members to concur in the Senate amendments. It can honestly be said that this House has three times passed bituminous strip mine legislation, that in the 1961 session everything that has been said is factual, but I can say one thing that I also believe should be added to the record, that there are many on Capitol Hill who hope that we do non-concur so they can again hang their hats on, shall we say, the final act, in which there would be no strip mine legislation except the 1945 law which you live under at the present time.

I say to you it is a public fact that we cannot get a better bill through the other body than is now before you here in this House. I strongly favored the House version; I voted for it as 154 others did in this House. Today I am asking you that the comedy which has been going on for months be brought to an end whereby we in the House, not that we like what we have got, but that we concur with what we have. Then we can say to the people of Pennsylvania—and the record will stand there for each of us—that we voted once for a strong bill and this is all we could get. I ask that you not let this comedy go to the point in which non-concurrence will occur, for if that happens, you who know every parliamentary move know exactly what can happen in the last few stages, in the last days in which we get no bills.

I ask you publicly, as did the editorials in the newspapers this morning and also on Sunday, even though the sportsmen are asking you to oppose this, I ask you to vote "aye." Those who ask you to oppose it are also the operators. But we have made progress in this bill, not what we wanted, not what we voted for, but today we want to get in the position of sending this to the Governor for signature so that we will have not lost the gains that are in printer's No. 2676.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I cannot deny anything that has been said by the gentleman from Washington, by Mr. Donaldson, by many others who would care to speak, except I say I want you to bear faith with each of us. It has been checked carefully in every way and I do not want to lose this bill. There is nothing more that we can get in this field in the other body, and I ask you to concur and vote "aye" on this bill 1438.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been referred to by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Donaldson, and the majority leader, Mr. McCann, as a "comedy." This is no comedy. This is a tragedy in the legislative processes. For that reason I would like to paraphrase Hamlet at the risk of being called a ham.

To concur or not to concur,
That is the question.
Whether it is better to appease amendments and machinations or to fight unreservedly for conservation,
Such is the issue which faces us today.

The majority leader admits that the bill is merely a pittance of what we should have. He says we should take, as some people have stated, half a loaf. As Mr. Murphy has pointed out, this is not half a loaf, this is just a small crumb.

If the majority leader and the administration is sincerely behind its platform pledges, and I will read platform pledge No. 21 for their recollection, as adopted in 1958:

Conservation and development of all our natural and water resources, including fish and game.

If you can get the votes for taxes, if you can get the votes for liquor bills, if you can get the votes for harness racing, and you are sincerely behind this legislation, let us have a real conference committee composed of men who sincerely believe in the administration's so-called measure in trying to implement the Democratic platform of 1958.

I say, don't give up the ship! Let us have a conference committee and try to get a better bill. For that reason I am voting against concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate someone who can tell me just what the effect of this particular bill might be on seeking to avoid stream pollution and seeking to protect purification of our streams in Pennsylvania.

Is there anybody who can answer that question for me? That is the meat of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Has the gentleman any preference as to whom he would like to interrogate?

Mr. McCANN. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, was a sponsor of the original House version, the present amended version, but there are a lot of gentlemen who can answer that and answer it quickly, including Mr. Murphy and Mr. Breth. I would recommend that they answer the gentleman emphatically both as to the original version and this version.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MURPHY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

I wonder if the gentleman would rephrase his question.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman whether or not there are any provisions in this bill that would enhance, over the existing law, the guarantee that our streams and the purification of our waters would be more fully protected than they are under the existing law?

Mr. MURPHY. So far as stream pollution goes, Mr. Speaker, there are no provisions in this bill to take care of that. That is covered in another act, not in this bill.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman be able to inform me whether or not the different method of backfilling after strip mining has taken place and ceased would or would not more fully protect the streams and underground water supplies?

Mr. MURPHY. No. Mr. Speaker, there is not a sufficient amount of increase in the backfilling requirements to have any protection whatsoever to bodies of streams or even soil erosion.

The law today requires that you cover the seam of coal with three feet of overburden, some type of non-combustible soil. However, that goes down to the bottom of the pit at a degree not to exceed 45 degrees. This does not say that it goes to the high wall, this is only over the actual seam of coal that is being mined. It is now being increased from a three-foot cover to a five-foot cover, two more feet of non-combustible soil.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, would not the extra coverage help prevent oxidation which is, of course, the cause of impurities in the streams?

Mr. MURPHY. It will probably help it, Mr. Speaker, until the first good rainfall.

Mr. AUKER. Does the gentleman say then that the first good rainfall would wash off the extra two feet of backfilling, as provided for in this act?

Mr. MURPHY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I do. I do not think that two feet of cover is sufficient, particularly when it is not based on a proper angle from the high wall down to the bottom of the pit. That is what we were seeking to do. Now, this is merely throwing a couple feet of dirt down to the bottom of the gully. When the rain comes into that gully, it is going to wash down both sides which are clear up to 90 degrees; the rain is going to come down in there and wash off that two foot of cover. We have been attempting to have the slope come down from the high wall at an angle of 45 degrees, which would then do away with the gully.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, when this five-foot backfill goes in on the level, is that to be planted with anything that might help hold the soil to keep it from being washed away?

Mr. MURPHY. Is the gentleman speaking of this bill when he says, "on the level"?

Mr. AUKER. Well, on the extra footage of backfill on the level, which we are talking about?

Mr. MURPHY. The bill now, as it did in 1945, provides for the planting of various shrubs, and so forth.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman go as far as to say that the provisions in this bill with the extra coverage might help in the anti-pollution of the streams and underground water supplies?

Mr. MURPHY. No, Mr. Speaker. I would say one thing in truthfulness, as the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, pointed out, the bill is some help. But I cannot see where this bill will be any help insofar as stream pollution will go.

Mr. AUKER. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote for these amendments. From what the gentleman from Washington said, it seems to me that it is of some advantage, of some help, and somewhat better than what we have under the existing law. It is not going as far as I, personally, would like to see it go.

I am very much concerned about the future water supply of our State and I am reminded of the Bald Eagle Valley that runs along the mountain range from north of Altoona up to Williamsport and beyond. There is a virgin valley, so far as pure water is concerned, that is still good, still absolutely unpolluted in any way, shape or form. I am just using this as an example. I want to make sure that those kind of places in Pennsylvania are preserved and that is why I am asking these questions.

It is not only the strip mining itself that is the immediate danger. I do not believe that the Sanitary Water Board is going thoroughly enough into the fact that underground sources of water in several years' time—maybe not within a year after the strip mining has ceased, but two or three years from that time—when there is a gradual erosion of the backfill, and things of that nature, will cause oxidation to occur, and then you have the ruining of the underground water supply. That is what I am concerned about and that is why I am asking these questions. I feel that this bill may be of some help, not very much, but I intend to vote for the amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clarion, Mr. Varner.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, this version of House bill 1438, printer's No. 2676, is one that I am going to support.

Some people in Pennsylvania are for this and some people in Pennsylvania are against it, but legislation is the art of the possible and, as the majority leader has said, "This is possible." For that reason I would urge concurrence in these Senate amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to clarify some of the questions and answers that were given here regarding pollution and the effects of this amended Senate bill on the pollution picture.

This is a great step forward in preventing pollution because within 750 feet of any settlement of five houses, or cemetery, public recreation area, public buildings, schools, churches, community or institutional buildings, all strip mines must be backfilled 45 degrees from the top of the high wall down. That will effectively prevent the majority of acid mine drainage from those operations.

Now, the other part of it, the great step forward, is the fact that instead of a 90-degree high wall this bill compels the stripping operator to backfill at 70 degrees, plus an extra two feet on top of the seam. This means that you are going to have an overburden, a pushing back of shale and the elements which constitute the effect of acid mine drainage. In other words, there is no question about it, this will, in a great measure, go a long way to prevent acid mine drainage, and, therefore, stream pollution in a great many of our watersheds.

I said before right here on the floor of this House when 1438 was before us, I considered it a punitive measure and it was rather unworkable, engineeringly impossible. This bill before us now for concurrence is not, perhaps, the greatest and most ideal conservation measure that we could ask, but it is the measure that we can have now. As I said before, I am always, and have been in the past, willing to support such measures. I am, therefore, willing to support concurrence in these Senate amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Holliday.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, as Representative from Blair County, I am inclined to vote for these amendments—not that I feel this bill is much of an improvement over the original bill. I believe I would like to have Mr. Breth answer this question: Is there anything in this bill in the way of a penalty for a stripping operator if he pulls away and forfeits his bond?

Mr. BRETH. Ordinarily the penalty for that sort of thing in the past has been that you are prevented from getting another operation permit and that is quite a severe penalty. I do not understand directly what the gentleman's question is about, but it is usually the Sanitary Water Board itself which, through regulations, places those penalties and those restrictions.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. There is a great deal, Mr. Speaker, in this bill about backfilling. I have attended some of these hearings downstairs that Senator Haluska had and if I recall correctly I heard the Secretary of Mines, Mr. Evans, make the statement that where a stripping operator forfeited his bond and pulled out of his operation without backfilling there were many cases where the State, although they had the bond money, were prevented from going in and doing the backfilling. Is that correct?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I cannot say whether that is correct or not, because those are administrative problems, but I do know this, that if a strip miner forfeits his bond and tries to continue in business, the Sanitary Water Board usually does hold that against him and therefore he forfeits his right for future operations. What the gentleman is trying to question me about are administrative things with which I am not entirely familiar. He would have to cite specific examples.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. All that I am doing, Mr. Speaker, is citing the statement made by the Secretary of Mines. He said the farmer owning that property could prevent the State from going in and doing the backfilling.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I have no information or knowledge, and I do not know what the provisions of the law are. I think that would be an administrative problem, not a legislative matter.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. There is nothing in this bill in the way of a penalty, then?

Mr. BRETH. There are the same penalties as there were before, the forfeiture of a larger bond, from $300 to $400 per acre. That is a serious obligation.

I believe the gentleman is asking me questions concerning administration, and I am sure I do not have the answers the gentleman wants unless specific examples can be cited.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. All right, Mr. Speaker, we will drop that.

As far as the Sanitary Water Board controlling that, several times I have spoken on the floor here about the Sanitary Water Board permitting an operator to operate for three years without a permit. There is nothing in this bill that would prevent that?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I think the Department of Mines and Mineral Industries has done a very excellent job in enforcing the provisions of the old 1945 act. I think the Sanitary Water Board has done a very justifiable job, particularly in recent years, in enforcing the provisions of the present act. I do believe, Mr. Speaker, that this will give them more ability and, you might say, more power to go ahead and do a better job for the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOLLIDAY. Mr. Speaker, as I said at the beginning of this, I intend to vote for the amendments and give them a chance to see what they will do with the new provisions of this law. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority floor leader for just a few questions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, in his opinion, considering the lateness of the hour in this session, considering all the conferences that have taken place on this particular bill and the compromises that we understand have taken place, whether or not he would want to express his opinion that if these amendments should fall and the bill go to a conference committee it would have any chance of getting out of the conference committee.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to be very honest with the gentleman.

Mr. AUKER. I would like the gentleman to be honest.

Mr. McCANN. I have been in a series of conferences on Thursday, Friday and this morning beginning at 11 and lasting until 12 in which all parties were concerned, and no place have I been able to gain one inch from the other body that would insure anything. I have been warned carefully time and time again at the end of the conferences that, if I fail to concur and it goes to that stage, I take a gamble on losing everything because the conference committee could do certain things. They could delay, not sign; it takes two signatures from each body, and then if either body fails, we would not fail in the House; the issue is dead.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman. I think he has very adequately explained the situation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

EDUCATION BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1807, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), changing certain definitions changing basis for reimbursement by the Commonwealth on certain accounts consolidating certain provisions further providing for reimbursement by the Commonwealth to school districts providing payments for specialized services and harmonizing language of existing law.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. KRAMER, M. H. GOLDSTEIN and CAULEY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2501), page 6, line 3, by inserting after "($6200)": "Any provisions herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding, in the case a school district whose market value per district teaching unit is the sum of six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000) or in excess of the sum of six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000), the basic standard reimbursement fraction shall be computed for the school year 1961-1962 and for each school year thereafter by subtracting from six thousand two hundred dollars ($6,200) an amount to be determined by multiplying such school district's valuation per district teaching unit by four and three-eighths one thousandths (.004⅜) and dividing the difference so obtained by six thousand two hundred dollars ($6,200)."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kramer.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, this is a rather simple amendment. I believe I can explain it to the satisfaction of the minority leader.

The bill merely keeps the millage rate, which is used to determine the local effort, at 4⅜ mills for all school districts having a market value for teaching units of $600,000 or in excess thereof.

Mr. Speaker, to adequately explain this amendment, I believe I do have to delve into the basic philosophy to which this whole education program gears itself. It is a wonderful philosophy. It is an attempt to provide an adequate and equal education for every Pennsylvania citizen.

I want to say right here and now that I personally am in favor of that 100 percent, but I want to include the Pittsburgh School District within that definition.

Now, in order to accomplish this basic philosophy, our educators or the proponents of this formula have devised this formula whereby they attempt to take from the rich school districts and give to the poor school districts, and how can you argue with that sort of reasoning? After all, we were all taught that Robin Hood was a great man.

The thing that I really disagree with is what the proponents of the formula call a rich school district. I am getting irritated with the reference to my school district being called a rich school district, and I propose here and now, today, to put an end to that kind of perfidious thinking.

In order to prove my point, I propose to submit to this House a hypothetical case. In this hypothetical case all the market values have been set by the Tax Equalization Board. In the two school districts which I will describe—for obvious reasons we call them school district A and school district B. Each has three teaching units, approximately 90 elementary school children, and in each of these districts there are 30 homes in which these children reside. Now, in school district A, we find that the school district could best be described as an industrial area. That school district has one large mill, a steel mill, if you please, which has a market valuation of $2,000,000.00, and the thirty homes that we talked about in school district A surround this mill. Now, if you have driven through one of our steel areas, like the place where I come from, you know that these homes surrounding the mill are very humble homes; they are small with the usual party wall; they have a front yard that stretches from the wall out to the street covered with cement; they usually have a backyard big enough to hold the garbage can and rubbish pile, and rarely have even a garage. For the purposes of this hypothetical case, these thirty homes have an average market value of $3,000.00, so that the total market value in school district A is $2,090,000. Now this the proponents of the school subsidy formula would call a rich district.

Let us take a look at school district B. As I said, it also has thirty residences, but the president of that mill lives in school district B, in a large split level home. Over in school district A, split level only means a broken bricklayer's tool, but over here the president has this beautiful home, he has three acres of lawn, shrubbery, flowers, maybe even a swimming pool; the vice-presidents of that mill live in school district B and they have $30,000 homes; the superintendent of the mill lives over there in that district. For purposes of my hypothetical case, the average value of these thirty homes is $20,000, so the total market value in school district B is $600,000.

Now, the proponents of this formula base the local effort and the state's subsidy on these figures and here is what happens. In school district A, we divide our $2,090,000 for the three teaching units and find that we have a market valuation for each teaching unit at $696,666. Then we multiply that by the millage, 4⅜, talking now about the present law. We find that the local effort for school district A is $3,047.91 and that the state subsidy is $2,752.09. School district B, this so-called poor school district using the same formula, has a local effort of $875.00 and the State provides by way of subsidy $4,925.00 for this poor school district with its beautiful big homes.

Now, in the event some of you may think I am stretching a point here, I call your attention to a school district that is right across the Allegheny River from Pittsburgh. I will go outside of my own school district. In that school district there are two mills and that is all and I do not think any of the homes in that particular school district surrounding those mills would be worth more than $3,000, $4,000 or possibly $5,000. In that school district Mr. Speaker, they have a market value for teaching units of $1,152,000. I guarantee you, please take my word for it, that is not a wealthy or a rich school district. Those mills, both of them, have been closed for some time and there are literally thousands of workers within that school district out of work, destitute; and in that particular school district I am referring to it is a good thing that we have a minimum because they cannot even qualify for the $1,000.

Somewhere along the line, somebody has convinced the proponents of this formula that real estate is the greatest wealth. Well, that may have been true a hundred years ago but it is not so true today. Out in some of our rural areas, you can buy a 300-acre farm for $5,000, but you cannot even till the soil without an $8,000 tractor. Where is the wealth that is tied into this real estate? You know on the inside cover of every one of the monograms that was put out by the Governor's committee on education they had a circular graph and if you take the time to look at that graph you will find that under the side of where the money comes from you will find that only 38 percent of all the money that goes into State education in this State comes from real estate. Now, by logic only 38 percent of this formula ought to be based on real estate; certainly not 100 percent.

Lets go back to my hypothetical school district A and school district B under House bill 1807. There, you will recall, the increase in the local millage for determining the local effort went to .00468 and that increased the maximum to $6,200. Now, everything that I have read about this says that the purpose behind that was to increase the subsidy to each and every school district. Are we going to help education? Well, Mr. Speaker, following my hypothetical case and using this same formula, we find that school district A actually has its State subsidy decreased even though the maximum was raised $400. We find school district B jumping from $4,900 to $5,200 in State subsidy. Now what we are proposing in this bipartisan-sponsored amendment is to leave the millage for local effort at the 4⅜ mills, which would leave us in the same position we were before House bill 1807 was considered. In every other area the bill remains the same.

Now I have talked to people in the halls of this House about this amendment and the usual comment to me is, oh, you come from a rich school district and therefore you ought to make a greater local effort. But the thing they forget, Mr. Speaker, is that we in the city of Pittsburgh are relying on just one tax alone, the sales tax, over $25 million, all for education in this State, and our State subsidy is around $6 million. We are paying out $4 on that one tax to get $1 back.

We are used to this sort of thing. I guess that is one of the evils of coming from a metropolitan area. We do it in other regards. For instance, we have a zoo but we will find the zoo is in the country. I have driven past that zoo many times and have seen school buses from all over the western part of Pennsylvania and even from New York, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland that come into our zoo, and we are happy about it, but, Mr. Speaker, when we are putting out $4 to get back $1, then we ought to take a good look at where our money is going. It is just not right to use our money for the frills that are being put on these new schools that are being built. I mentioned here two weeks ago the football fields with the grass and everybody laughed. Well, a funny thing happened. The weekend after I made that statement I was driving past my own high school, Peabody High School, and they had a bulldozer out on the football field and I said, good grief, did I make a mistake, are they growing grass? I called Dr. Gross, the superintendent of schools, and I said, "Doc, are they growing grass at Peabody?" He laughed and said, "No, we are just trying to taper it off a little bit so the rain water will run off and we can get rid of some of those big rocks."

That is what we are living with. They have their night lights, tennis courts, swimming pools, cafeterias, air conditioning, TV, Hi-Fi, dance pavilions, rifle ranges, and it is not right to use our money for that sort of thing. We are for education; we are willing to pay more than our share; we have been doing it for many years.

We have in the city of Pittsburgh 110 schools. Ten of those schools have been condemned. The fire department has termed those buildings combustible. They have told us that they will not be responsible if any child loses his life in a fire in one of those schools. I had a boy in one of those schools last year and I want to tell you I was pretty shaky the whole year for fear that some goof might just throw a cigarette or a match in the wrong direction. We live under that sort of thing.

We make a local effort. Let us take that $25 million. That is a pretty good local effort, I would say, in this day and age. Then they say to me, the proponents of this formula say, yes, but look at all those guys you have got on relief out in Pittsburgh. How ridiculous can you get? How do great numbers on relief indicate that we are a rich, wealthy school district?

Then they argue, well, we still have one-room schools in this State, and I know that very well. I come from a long line of school teachers. My grandfather was a school teacher in this State; my mother, my brother-in-law taught in one-room schools. We cannot eliminate them, but, Mr. Speaker, we have been trying to eliminate them since 1911. They just do not want to be eliminated. So that argument falls on deaf ears with me.

One legislator had the nerve to say to me, why don't you join up, get in one of these jointures, merge. We tried that in 1951, Mr. Speaker, and we were told that sort of thing was never intended for a first class school district. Later on, in 1956, you took care of it very nicely by an amendment to the present code which completely eliminates us. So we cannot get any of these $200 or $800 extras you are giving away per teaching unit.

There is nothing sacred about this formula and I refer you to page 49 of the final report, where I say if there is something evil or bad about this formula, then let us change it. That is what we propose to do here today.

All this amendment does is offer to school districts such as mine a token recognition for all that we do for State education in this Commonwealth. This amendment, certainly, is not the answer to all our problems, but we do need a little help.

I call your attention to the fact that this amendment will not cut one dollar from any other school district, not a dollar. The money will not be paid out before September of 1962.

Mr. Speaker, I prophesy that changes are coming in this direction. Some day, somehow and in some way, these changes will come to pass, and here today we have the opportunity of making a step in that direction.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kramer, has made a very exhaustive and sincere statement of the problems involved insofar as the city of Pittsburgh is concerned, and I am quite certain insofar as the city of Philadelphia is concerned.

This has been a bone of contention in my mind ever since 1955. As he says, the formula is not sacred. Now, like the great Democrat, Al Smith, said, "Let's look at the record." Let us look at facts and figures. During the course of my attendance at the meetings of the Special Select Committee on Education, an expert came into our committee. I asked him, or he volunteered, I forget which, what would be the taxes and what would be the tax burden for an individual who had a $20,000 home in an adjoining county to Dauphin County. He said approximately $120. Then another expert appeared before the Republican body and he was asked the same question, and he said, the entire tax burden was $115. I recall, without giving any credit to the press, there was a gentleman of the press who lives in an adjoining county, and I think he must have been a good newspaperman because he had a home that had a market value of about $20,000. He advised me that his total tax burden was around $110, 115.

Now in the city of Pittsburgh in Allegheny County, the tax burden for a home of that character would be $300 to $400.

The plain fact is this: The present subsidy measure does not work out right. It is very difficult to explain the system, but let us say the maximum subsidy was $6,000 and the market value is $200,000, and the local effort is four mills. Then you take $800 from $6,000, which gives you $5,200 for that district. Now take a district which, for example, has had its local millage increased to five mills, and increased the maximum subsidy to $7,000, then you take $1,000 from $7,000, so this $200,000 district gets $6,000 from the State.

What is the situation with an $800,000 market value district? You start out with $6,000 for the maximum subsidy, you take four mills of $800,000, you get $3,200, you have $2,800 left for yourself. Increase the $7,000, and four mills on $800,000 is $4,000, so you have $3,000. The $200,000 district picks up $1,000 and we pick up $200.

Now I say that we devised this particular system many, many years ago and it was just like an individual trying to help a child get on his feet. We helped these districts to get on their feet. We say that we will keep them at a certain level and, frankly, there is some "pie allowance," and we in Pittsburgh want part of that pie. Now when I say I am speaking for Pittsburgh, I am also speaking for some of my cohorts who do not live in the city of Pittsburgh, but Allegheny County. Let me give you a recital of the districts in Allegheny County which would benefit by this amendment:

No. 1, the city of McKeesport will benefit;

No. 2, Bellevue will benefit; Brentwood will benefit; Castle Shannon will benefit; Clairton will benefit; Dormont will benefit; Duquesne will benefit; Etna will benefit; Forest Hills, Fox Chapel, Harrison, Homestead, McCandless, Millvale, Mount Lebanon, Mount Oliver, North Braddock, Rankin, Ross Township, Scott Township, Sewickley Borough, Shaler Township, Sharpsburg Borough, and I can go on and give you some more.

The reason for that is because we, in Allegheny County, have a realistic market value and I say to you that the market value set up in the assessed valuation as set up in these outlying districts is not factual, is not realistic. I will give you some of the outstanding figures you have for the percentage of assessed valuation to market value for some outlying counties: Adams County 23.6 percent; Centre County 14.8 percent; Monroe County 19.6 percent; Northumberland County 18.4 percent, and York County 18.9 percent.

All we want is part of the pie; we want a square deal and we say that you should vote for these amendments. Help out the big city districts that need some help.

Incidentally, I want to call this to your attention on 1807: the city of Pittsburgh gets $378,000 out of this bill. Our total budget is $30 million, about one percent. I would never vote for a tax measure that gives us only one percent out of 100 percent. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cauley.

Mr. CAULEY. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, I rise in support of this amendment as well. I join Mr. Goldstein, I join Mr. Kramer, I subscribe to everything that they have said here.

This district of Pittsburgh, the school district, is on its knees. In Pittsburgh where you have State employment, while you say that over the area of the State the tax differential is 38 percent, in Pittsburgh we are paying 55 percent. Our load for our other taxes is 24 percent, which includes the wage tax. This is unfair.

Under the climate which was set up by the committee that studied here, and I subscribe to everything that they have for the education of our children, I say that any school district in excess of 600,000 should be glad to accede, glad to accede to the aid of these little districts. We have to rely on them. What is involved here is the tax differential or return, which is only three mills, less than three mills. It means to Pittsburgh an additional $600,000 under this plan which has been subscribed under this amendment. All these members here know exactly what this means to their particular district. I tell you, you have to recognize the distinction between a large school district where realistic real estate values are on the assessment rolls and on the unrealistic rolls, and when you have a school district in excess of $600,000 per teaching unit with a realistic assessment, you have to help these big districts, and Pittsburgh needs help. I subscribe to everything that Mr. Kramer has said about our school districts back home in Allegheny County.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, in his remarks, attempted to speak for the city of Philadelphia. I think that the city of Philadelphia can speak for itself and certainly any members from Philadelphia who feel so inclined are welcome to speak in behalf of the city of Philadelphia.

Let me say that as sympathetic as I am to the remarks that were enunciated by all the previous speakers, there are certain bald facts that we must face. Certainly I am in favor of revising the formula so that the city of Philadelphia gets its fair share of the educational pie, but I do not think that this is the way to do it. I asked one member of the House, how much is this amendment going to cost? He said, $4 million. I asked another member, another sponsor, how much is this amendment going to cost? He said, $7 million. I asked someone whom I regard as an expert down in Philadelphia, how much is this amendment going to cost? He said, $17 million. Mr. Speaker, where is this money coming from? Now I say, let us provide the tax money first and then let us consider ways and means of amending the formula.

My friend, Mr. Kramer, of Allegheny, referred to a particular case of a steel mill worth $2 million and an area where there were 30 homes with an assessment of $3,000 apiece. All right, that is a good example, but what about the truly rich school district, the truly rich school district where the average district market value is over $600,000? This amendment, Mr. Speaker, would benefit the truly rich district and this seems to me that this would be inequitable and absurd conclusion. I say, Mr. Speaker, that the cardinal point here is, let us get the tax money first, let us consider then the ways and means of developing a fair distribution of the educational tax money. Therefore, I feel that the amendments should be voted down, regretfully.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kramer.

Mr. KRAMER. Mr. Speaker, I must answer the charge that this amendment will cost $17 million. First of all I would like to point out that in all the statistics that the Governor's committee on education gave us, and you will recall booklets full of statistics, they did not give us the pertinent statistics from which we could work out an accurate figure. They gave us market values per pupil, which means nothing. You must have market value per teaching unit to do anything; you must also have the number of teaching units. In all those statistics that they gave us, that is completely missing. But we estimated, from the figures that we did have, what we thought it would cost, and it is our best estimate that it would not cost more than $4 or $4.5 million to take care of this whole thing that we have in this amendment.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as much as I hate to ask the membership of this House concerning this situation, for we have heard sincere debate as to what this will do, I ask the membership to vote "no" on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kramer.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am rising, of course, to support this subsidy bill, but I believe there are some things about the bill that, with the meager information we have, I would like to point out.

This bill is destined to put, as we understand it, approximately $18.7 million more money in the coffers of the school districts of Pennsylvania. A sheet was handed out the other day, as I understand, prepared by the office of administration and I am looking at it casually. For instance, here is the county of Cumberland. It says if the maximum subsidy had been $6,200 during 1960-1961, Cumberland County would have received $293,385. The inference of this sheet that was handed out is that had this bill been the law in 1960-1961, Cumberland County would have received this sum of $293,385. Cumberland County would have received that sum of money, as we see it, provided the freeze clause was in force, which it was during 1960-1961. Now I have a sheet here which we received in 1959, a summary which was prepared by the State school directors' association, and it would appear that Cumberland County would, during the period 1960-1961, lose $182,810 unless the freeze clause had been the law of Pennsylvania.

As you know, in 1959 we put in the freeze clause, which meant that for 1960-1961 Cumberland County did not lose the $182,810. In other words then, project that now into this particular bill. We have lost the freeze clause according to an opinion of the Attorney General to the Governor. The freeze clause, which had been written into the general appropriations bill, was an unconstitutional addition to the general appropriations bill. Therefore, if we did not pass any bill at all today, and these figures are reasonably correct, Cumberland County could lose $182,000. If we understand these figures now, without the freeze clause, Cumberland County will get $293,385, but subtracted from that, the $182,000 which they will lose by reason of not having the freeze clause, Cumberland County will get about $110,000 under this bill rather than, as inferred, the $293,385.

Now let us take another county, Northumberland County. Northumberland County, under the freeze clause, gains $100,000. In other words, Northumberland County would have lost $100,000 unless we, in the 1959 session, put on the freeze clause. We put it on so they got, or saved, $100,000. Under this sheet that was sent to us by the administration, Northumberland County would stand to get apparently $234,000 additional if this bill passes today. However, they have lost $100,000 by reason of losing the freeze clause, so their take will be about $134,000. I may be wrong on these figures, but while we are getting $18.7 million, if we are losing approximately $9 million, the net increase in revenue for the school districts would be about $10 million. I am pointing this out because all over Pennsylvania we are getting letters that say what a tremendous school-education program is on this calendar. I do not know whether the people of Pennsylvania realize that actually what is on this calendar here is that $18.7 million increase in school subsidies, minus the freeze clause which they enjoyed this current year. It is not a colossal program; it is not the huge program that it is made out to be; it is merely $18.7 million.

In the 1959 session we, on this side, furnished enough votes for the 4 percent sales tax with the idea that the school districts would get $28 million more. We were told that after everything was added up the $28 million had vanished and the school did not get the money. Now they are getting a measly $18.7 million, less the freeze clause. I think the people in the State should realize this so that if we adjourn sine die this week, and you people go back home to your people and they find out that all we are doing is giving just a modest increase in subsidies here, and with all the ballyhoo that has been in the papers about this tremendous program that is on our calendar, the people should know what small tax revenues we have been able to increase here in the dying days of the session, so that about $10 million more money is available within the contents of this bill.

I could be wrong and, if I am wrong, I would like it to be pointed out where we are wrong. Naturally, we are going to support this subsidy bill. It is a step in the right direction and I am asking all the members on this side to vote for it with the admonition that they do not go home with this sheet in hand and say you are going to get $234,000 more dollars. You are not because you are losing the freeze-clause money.

On the question recurring,

EDUCATION BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1701, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), changing the per pupil unit cost reimbursement for elementary and secondary school construction authorizing reimbursement in the year of acquisition for school building sites purchased in advance of their need and harmonizing provisions related thereto and extending the provisions for reimbursement or preliminary payments on account of approved building construction to include the State Public School Building Authority and Municipal Authorities and abolishing the cost limitations on school building projects for reimbursement purposes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1702, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), providing for the creation establishment and operation of community colleges granting certain powers to the State Council of Education and the Department of Public Instruction * * *

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. REIBMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by inserting after "districts" county boards of school directors

Amend Title, page 2, first line of Title, by inserting after "districts" where it appears the second time: county boards of school directors

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2601-A), page 2, line 10 by inserting after "municipality" or a county board of school directors

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2601-A), page 2, line 11 by inserting after "municipalities" and county boards of school directors

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2601-A), page 2, line 13, by inserting after "community" where it appears the second time college

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2603-A), page 8, line 3 by inserting after "jointly" In all counties except those of the first and second class, school directors from school districts of the second, third and fourth class, located in two or more counties may meet in convention and by majority vote of those present and voting approve a community college plan for submission to the State Council of Education.

In a county of the second class, such community college plan shall be approved by a majority vote of the school directors from school districts of the second, third, and fourth class present and voting in convention. The community college plan in a county of the second class may include part or all of a district of the first class A at the request of the board of public education of such school district in which case the board of public education may participate in all convention actions.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2603-A), page 8, line 14 by inserting after "created" and

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2603-A), page 9, line 7 by inserting after "sponsor" except in a county of the second class

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2603-A), page 9, line 7 by inserting after "or" in the case of the creation of a community college district

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2603-A), page 9, by inserting after line 19:

(f) The county board of school directors in a county of the second class and two or more county boards of school directors in counties of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class may prepare a plan for establishing a community college and branches thereof, if required, for submission to a convention of school directors from school districts of the second, third, and fourth class within the county or counties. Such plan shall indicate the school districts to be served by a community college and each branch thereof. The county board or county boards shall call a convention of school directors from school districts included within the proposed area of a community college or any branch thereof to consider: (1) the proposed plan. (2) the question of authorizing the county board or county boards to establish a community college or branches thereof. (3) the share of the cost of establishing and operating a community college and its branches, if any, to be borne by the school districts, and (4) the manner of prorating the costs among the school districts.

Following such consideration, the school directors in each convention may by majority vote of those present and voting approve a plan, authorize the county board or county boards to establish and operate a community college or branch thereof subject to the approval of the State Council of Education, and to determine the share and formula for sharing operating expenses, capital outlay, debt service, or lease payment to be borne by the school districts. School directors from the districts not desiring to participate in the establishment of a community college are not eligible to vote on any questions placed before the convention.

Member districts' share of the cost of establishing and operating a community college and branches thereof shall not be less than two-thirds of the operating expenses of a community college, less reimbursement paid by the Commonwealth.

A member district's proportionate share of the operating expenses may be determined by multiplying the number of resident pupils in full time equivalents attending the community college by an amount which shall not be less than two-thirds of the operating cost per pupil, or the proportionate share of each district may be determined by multiplying the assessed value of real estate by a uniform tax rate set by the convention.

A member district's share of capital expenditures, debt service, or lease payments may be determined by multiplying such capital expenditures, debt service, or lease payments by a fraction, the numerator of which is the market value of real property of the district and the denominator the market value of all the sponsoring districts, or a member district's share of capital expenditures, debt service, or lease payments may be determined by multiplying a millage rate set by the convention by the assessed value of real property within the school district.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2604-A), page 10, line 3 by inserting after "district": except in a county of the second class

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2604-A), page 10, by inserting between lines 5 and 6:

In the event the governing bodies are school districts of the second, third or fourth class, the boards of school directors from such school districts within a county of the second class or within two or more counties of the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth class may meet in convention and designate a county board or a committee of members of two or more county boards as the board of trustees. Members of a board of trustees, composed of members of two or more county boards shall be elected by the majority vote of school directors of member districts present and voting in convention.

In counties of the second class, the county board of school directors may be the board of trustees with respect to districts of the second, third and fourth class and may be the board of trustees with respect to part or all of a district of the first class A if requested by the board of public education of such district.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2604-A), page 10, line 13 by inserting after "trustees": except in counties of the second class

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2604-A), page 11, line 5 by inserting after "filled": except a board which is a county board of school directors or a committee of members of two or more county boards of school directors

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2604-A), page 11, line 7, by inserting after "their": actual and Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2606-A), page 13, line 9 by inserting after "determine": Notwithstanding the limitations on the number of assistant superintendents imposed by law, the county superintendent in any county of the second class, establishing a community college, shall have an additional assistant superintendent who shall be president of the community college and branches thereof. Qualifications for such assistant superintendent shall be established by the State Council of Education.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall make available to a board of trustees which is a committee of members of two or more county boards from funds appropriated for the minimum salaries of county superintendents and assistant county superintendents eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500) per year which shall be part of the salary of the president of the community college operated by such board.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2608-A), page 14, lines 11 and 12 by striking out "and one-third (1/3) of its annual" in line 11 and all of line 12

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2608-A), page 15, line 2 by striking out "students" and inserting: student

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2609-A), page 16, line 4 by striking out "standards" and inserting: standard

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2609-A), page 16, line 9 by striking out "districtc" and inserting: district

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2609-A), page 17, line 3 by striking out "of" where it appears the second time, and inserting: or

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2612-A), page 18, line 18 by inserting after "Payments": and Advance Payments

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2612-A), page 19 by inserting between lines 8 and 9:

(b) Advance Payments. Annually before the first day of July, each board of trustees which is a county board of school directors or which is a committee of two or more county boards operating a community college, shall submit for prior review and approval by the Department of Public Instruction an estimate of the cost of operating the community college and branches thereof, if any, during the ensuing school year. On or before the first day of August, the Commonwealth shall pay to the board of trustees a sum equal to one-third of the estimated cost, and on or before the first day of January shall pay an equal or adjusted sum as may be shown to be necessary by an adjusted budget based upon expenditures during the first half of the school term. In the event that the State Council of Education approves operation of summer classes, an estimate of the cost of such classes shall be submitted to the Department of Public Instruction on or before the first day of April for review and approval. The Commonwealth shall pay to the board of trustees an amount equal to two-thirds of such estimate on or before the first day of July. At the end of each school year, all unexpended funds shall be credited to Commonwealth payments due for the succeeding school year on account of the operation of a community college, or upon the direction of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be returned to the Commonwealth. All funds returned shall be credited to the account from which the advance payments were made. For each student enrolled in a community college or branch thereof operated by a county board or a committee of members of two or more county boards the school district in which the student is a resident shall pay to the Commonwealth an amount equal to the difference between the total cost per student as hereinbefore defined and a sum obtained by adding the State payment per student and the tuition and other payments made by each student. In order to facilitate payments by the several school districts, the Department of Public Instruction shall withhold from any moneys due to the district out of any State appropriations except from reimbursement due on account of school buildings, rentals and sinking fund charges, the amounts due by the school district to the Commonwealth. All amounts so withheld shall be credited to the account from which the advance payments were made.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2612-A), page 19, line 9 by striking out "(b)" and inserting: (c)

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2612-A), page 19, lines 12 to 17, by striking out "the local sponsor's or the" in line 12, and all of lines 13 to 17 and inserting: the capital expenses by fifty one hundredths (.50).

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2612-A), page 19, line 18 by striking out "(c)" and inserting: (d)

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2612-A), page 20, line 2 by striking out "approval" and inserting: approved

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2615-A), page 21, line 19 by inserting after "of": a

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments just offered today for the community college bill assure that the recommendations of the Governor's committee on education will be more fully satisfied because these amendments, in addition to making various minor corrections, are intended to accomplish two objectives: one, to eliminate the feature which would have caused each student to pay tuition based in part upon the capital expenses of the college for the year, on account of which tuition is paid. That has been corrected. The bill was further amended to permit a county board of school directors of a second class county or county boards of school directors of counties of third and eighth classes to act jointly to sponsor a community college district. This bill widens the concept of who may sponsor a community college program.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. May I interrogate the lady, please?

The SPEAKER. Does the lady from Northampton permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. REIBMAN. I do.

The SPEAKER. The minority leader will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, did the lady explain to the House why she is taking out of the tuition the charge for capital expenditures so that the House will know that.

Mrs. REIBMAN. The bill before it was amended said that the tuition charged the pupils should be computed by including one-third of the cost of capital expenditures. Now, I do not know of any college that includes in its tuition charge the cost of capital expenditures, that is, the cost of constructing the building. That would price the tuition of students way out of reach, and so we have eliminated that feature of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 351, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "Liquor Code" authorizing licensed establishments to sell until two o'clock antemeridian on Sundays.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, was going to offer amendments to Senate bill 351, printer's No. 370. It is my understanding he will offer these amendments to Senate bill 435, printer's No. 1214, on page 9. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask that Senate bill 351 proceed for the purpose of a vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Foor.

Mr. FOOR. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak against the bill.

Mr. Speaker, this is one of three liquor bills presently on our calendar. During this session the House has passed a number of bills which will further encroach on Sunday, our day of worship. This bill, if passed, would allow all bars in Pennsylvania to remain open until 2 a.m. on Sunday. Proponents of this bill claim it is unfair for bars to be forced to close at midnight on Saturday while private clubs may remain open.

Many people in Pennsylvania feel it is wrong for clubs to be open on Sunday, hence the passage of this bill. Creating another wrong will not make a right. It cannot be established that two wrongs make a right.

Mr. Speaker, certainly all of us here feel it is the function of this House to pass only legislation which will bring about a better way of life for the people of Pennsylvania. Certainly it is difficult to see how passage of this bill will accomplish this. Rather it will tend to further separate families and leave children alone in their homes for longer hours.

It seems to me that we would be creating a better way of life for our people if we were to enact legislation to close all places dispensing alcoholic beverages at midnight on Saturday rather than allow more places to remain open on Sunday.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask all members of this House to consider this proposed legislation carefully and to vote "no" on this bill.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1818, entitled:

An Act amending the "Unemployment Compensation Law" approved December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897), redefining State and modifying certain provisions as to eligibility of individuals while in training or when permanently separated.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAPANO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman explain the one provision of the bill dealing with the so-called training and retraining program? Precisely how does that propose to amend the law?

Mr. CAPANO. I presume the gentleman has reference to section D on page 5.

Mr. BOWMAN. No, I have reference to the new material on page 4.

I am going to interrogate the gentleman on either of the two major changes, so whichever he chooses to speak on will be satisfactory.

Mr. CAPANO. The section to which you have reference is on page 4, whenever an employe receives a severance pay of $100 or less it will not be charged toward his unemployment compensation and will not be deemed as a remuneration for the period for which that was made available. Say he has received the sum of $800. That would be allocated for a period of eight weeks or less and would be eligible for unemployment compensation. Was that the part to which you have reference?

Mr. BOWMAN. Do I understand the gentleman to say then that, for example, if an employe received $1,200 in separation pay for 12 weeks and 12 weeks only, he would be ineligible for unemployment compensation?

Mr. CAPANO. No, he would be eligible under this if his weekly rate would be less than $100; $100 or less.

Mr. BOWMAN. In other words, the $100 is not considered then in his remuneration with respect to his eligibility.

Mr. CAPANO. That is correct.

Mr. BOWMAN. Does the gentleman know how much this would cost?

Mr. CAPANO. I do not.

Mr. BOWMAN. Do I understand the gentleman to say that he has no idea whatsoever how much this would cost the compensation fund, let us say, for a one-year period?

Mr. CAPANO. I do not.

Mr. BOWMAN. Does the gentleman know of anybody who can give us an estimate on this cost?

Mr. CAPANO. I am not sure whether Mr. Polen would have the figures available on that or not.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Washington indicates that he does not have the figures.

Mr. BOWMAN. Does the gentleman from Washington have an estimate of the cost of this program?

Mr. POLEN. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOWMAN. Can the majority leader enlighten us as to the cost of this program?

Could anybody enlighten us as to the cost of this program?

Apparently, Mr. Speaker, nobody can enlighten us as to the cost of this program.

I would like to further interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CAPANO. I am informed that there is no method of determining that cost in adavnce.

Mr. BOWMAN. There is no method? Then it could be $5 million a year.

Mr. CAPANO. Well, there is no method until you actually have the situation. The only one on which we could possibly determine would be the Chester plant, which is now closed and, since that is not in force right now, we have no method of telling.

Mr. BOWMAN. Do I understand the gentleman then that he has absolutely no idea by estimate or experience how much this program would cost?

Mr. CAPANO. That is correct.

Mr. BOWMAN. I would further interrogate the gentleman as to how much the job-training program would cost in a one-year period.

Mr. CAPANO. I have no figures on that either.

Mr. BOWMAN. Does the majority leader or the chairman of the Appropriations Committee have any such figure?

I see Mr. Polen is nodding his head that he does not, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. I do not, Mr. Speaker. This is a special fund and I have no figures available to me.

Mr. BOWMAN. I thank the gentleman.

Now, would the gentleman please explain to me precisely how this so-called job-training program works in relation to eligibility to compensation?

Mr. CAPANO. The method that would be used would be that any one is trained preparing for some other type of job, or some other job, some other skill, that during the period for which he is training he is eligible for unemployment compensation, unless some suitable job is offered to him in the same category; then he must accept it, otherwise he will not be eligible for unemployment compensation.

Mr. BOWMAN. Do I understand the gentleman then to say that he must register and if a job is offered to him consistent with the present standard he must accept that job?

Mr. CAPANO. That is right.

Mr. BOWMAN. Then where are the needs for the amendment?

Mr. CAPANO. Well, the way it now stands, if he is going to school or taking some training, he will not be eligible. If he is going to school it denies him compensation.

Mr. BOWMAN. Non-compensated training, is that eligible for unemployment compensation?

Mr. CAPANO. That is right.

Mr. BOWMAN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would respectfully disagree with the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano, as to the interpretation or explanation of this provision. As far as I am concerned, and I think I am correct, if a person is doing training in a non-compensated position and has registered, he is eligible for unemployment compensation notwithstanding the fact that he is in training, so long as he accepts suitable employment if and when it is offered.

Frankly, I do not see the need for this amendment the way it is worded, and I seriously doubt whether the amendment is doing what it is proposed that it should do.

I want to point out once again, however vain it might be, that we have here two amendments in which not a person in this House can so much as give us an estimate of the cost of each of these two major programs, these two major changes. It was acknowledged by everybody, I think, that the fund is now bankrupt, or in very serious difficulties financially. It is equally true that the unemployment compensation rate of employers in Pennsylvania is the highest in the Nation.

Now if anyone wants to pay more than lip service to fiscal responsibility, this bill should be voted down.

Mr. CAPANO. In view of the recent passage of the Federal Area Redevelopment Act, pending federal legislation for expansion of vocational training programs and recommendations pending in the State legislature for expanded vocational and technical training in Pennsylvania, there is need for legislative action to protect the eligibility of unemployment compensation claimants who participate in training or retraining programs in order to improve their present skill or to acquire new skills. Several States have enacted provisions in their laws relating to this subject, and it is considered timely that a similar provision be incorporated in the Pennsylvania law.

Unemployment compensation claimants who, as trainees, remain as bona fide members of the labor force should be distinguished for eligibility purposes from persons who temporarily withdraw their availability for employment to take vocational or technical training, and regular students who are continuing their education without real attachment to the labor force. The proposed revision will provide such a distinction, but will not disturb the basic requisites of availability and ability for employment now required of all unemployment compensation claimants. The proposed amendment, while protecting a claimant from automatic disqualification upon entering such training program, would not give exemption from disqualification if suitable job opportunities were available and the trainee were referred to them, or if such a trainee were recalled by a former employer and refused to return to work.

Within recent months automation and the abandonment of obsolete plants have resulted in the unemployment of thousands of Pennsylvania workers. For many of these persons the permanent loss of all employment rights and benefits has been a personal and financial catastrophe, particularly for those with obsolete skills or abilities for which a ready market does not exist in the locality in which they live. Examples of such occurrences have been forcefully brought to public attention by the shutdown of the Ford assembly plant at Chester and abandonment of the Phoenix Steel plant in Harrisburg. Each of these two plants employed 1,000 or more workers.

Under the present provisions of the law, lump-sum separation payments or dismissal allowances have been allocated on the basis of the worker's fulltime weekly wage to weeks immediately following his separation from work. For example, a worker who normally earns $120 a week and who had been given a separation allowance of $1,200 would have this payment allocated to the ten weeks immediately following his separation. As a result, the unemployed worker would be ineligible to receive any unemployment compensation benefits during this period. Inasmuch as permanent separation from employment oftentimes involves heavy additional expenses in searching for and obtaining new employment, relocation of household effects and additional transportation and other expenses, the present provision can work a hardship on the normal industrial worker who is dependent solely upon wages as his major financial revenue source.

It is proposed that present provisions of the act be modified to provide that where a person is completely and permanently separated from employment and loses all pension, re-employment and other rights as the result of such separation, that deduction shall be made only of the allocated amount of separation or dismissal allowances in excess of $100 a week. This provision would mean that any worker who earns up to $100 a week when fully employed would not have any deferment or reduction of unemployment benefits upon a permanent separation from work. The more highly-paid worker, however, who earned in excess of $100 a week would have this excess allocated and deducted from his weekly benefit amount. Under the proposed revision a worker paid at the rate of $152 a week, or more, would draw no unemployment compensation benefits until his entire allocation period had expired.

I believe this is a timely and needed amendment to the act and I urge the House to support this amendment to bill 1818.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I listened with a great deal of attention to the interrogation and to the reply of the gentleman from Washington on the so-called merits of this bill.

It is admitted that we do not know how much it is going to cost. It could easily and probably would mean an extra percentage of unemployment tax which would have to be paid by the employer.

Now we had a couple industries shut down in this State. Whether that was part of the package that made them shut down, I do not know. I can well realize that it was. I have statistics here in my desk showing Pennsylvania does pay the highest unemployment rate of any State in the Union. That is a heavy tax. That is a tax that has to be considered in the cost of an article which manufacturers manufacture in this State. It is a cost that has to be considered to try to put them in competition with manufacturing industries in other States.

I still reiterate, Mr. Speaker, that what we need in this State is more employment and more opportunities for employment, and you cannot have employment unless you have opportunities for employment. You cannot have employment unless you have the manufacturing and the industrial concerns that are going to employ people, no matter how many you train. The training is good and we ought to have it. But what is the good of training these people in Pennsylvania if we are not going to be able to employ them in Pennsylvania.

I suggest to you, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, if we keep on passing legislation such as this, we are going to continue to drive people out of this State, industrial concerns out of this State. And that is just going to worsen the picture. It is just going to make the wheels keep turning in the opposite direction from which we want them to turn, in the reverse.

We have sat here, Mr. Speaker, and we have appropriated money, millions of dollars, to help to attract new industry into this State, and then we turn right around on the other hand and enact laws which make it that much harder to attract industry into the State. That does not make sense, it is not logical and it just is not good common horse sense and is not good legislation, and it certainly is not good fiscal, industrial economic responsibility on the part of the majority party if they pass this legislation tonight. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Wilt.

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to draw your attention to section 10 on page 5. To me this is bringing something pretty close to home. I happen to be an employer since 1934.

If you read this section, it tells you that if you own 50 percent of your business and you have anyone of your family employed by your corporation or organization, they are not entitled to unemployment compensation.

I want to say to you here and now that I have members of my family employed in my corporation and have had them employed for the last 20 years continuously. Every year I receive a plaque from the Unemployment Compensation Bureau for an outstanding record.

I employ approximately 32 people with a payroll of over $300,000 yearly. My corporation is strictly a union corporation, and now you are telling me in this bill, if this legislation is passed, by October 1, 1961, they will be no longer entitled to unemployment compensation.

I want to say here and now, although no employe of mine has ever drawn unemployment compensation in the last 26 years that I have been in business, I think this is absolutely wrong, after paying into this fund all these years. I have sons on my payroll who have three small children and you come along and tell me now that after October they are not entitled to unemployment compensation if misfortune should befall them. I think it is absolutely wrong and I want to say, after paying this money into this fund, I think we are entitled to receive some benefits if this should occur.

I think this section should be deleted. I think this is a department program and not legislative program. I feel that if somebody has been dishonest, we do not arrest everybody who is walking the streets. We put in jail just the one who is dishonest, and not harm the people who are trying to get unemployment compensation.

Therefore, I am asking the members on both sides of the House to vote against this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Capano.

Mr. CAPANO. Mr. Speaker, I just want to reply to Mr. Wilt.

Now that one feature is true, that where it is a family-owned corporation, 50 percent or more, they would not be eligible. That is one of the changes. This is found to be a source of considerable abuse in the unemployment compensation law and it is in order to stop the abuse or the drain on the fund that this feature has been introduced.

However, if a family employe were to secure employment somewhere else and have the minimum requirements for eligibility, then that employe would be eligible for unemployment compensation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 413.

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304), entitled as amended "Local Health Administration Law," changing the number of signatures required on a petition to dissolve or withdraw from certain departments of health, changing the time for circulating petitions in certain cases and changing the form of the question to be submitted to electors.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1803, entitled:

An Act relating to certain charitable organizations requiring the registration of such organizations regulating the solicitation of moneys and property by or on behalf of charitable organizations establishing a Commission on Charitable Organizations and an Advisory Council on Charitable Organizations and placing duties upon the Department of State.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I want to debate this bill and I would respectfully ask the members of the House to be as quiet as possible so that possibly those who do not understand the full impact and the full provision of the bill can get some enlightenment on it. I, in my humble way, will try to give it to them. I know the hour is getting late, but the longer we take on these delays, the longer it is going to run and it is awfully hard to talk with a hum and a buzz of loud conversation going on around one.

Mr. Speaker, we are considering House bill 1803, known as the charitable organization registration act. As I understand it, the act was originally introduced to try to get at the people who are so-called charity gyps, that is, in the way of contributions from the public at large to charitable purposes, who misrepresent themselves or charge large exorbitant fees, or sometimes none of the money may go to the charitable organization, if they are real gyps, or in some cases as high as 50 percent of the money collected, or more, will not go to the charity organizations where there is regularly conducted public fund drives.

We have an act on the books, Mr. Speaker, known as the Solicitations Act of 1925, which this act, of course, repeals. I really say sincerely I had hoped that this kind of an act would have come out early in the session. I want to say in debating this act that I am not taking a partisan stand whatsoever on it, although, possibly, due to events of the last four or five weeks, it could be interpreted in various circles that I would be speaking partisanwise, but I am not.

I believe what this bill does is to create a giant to slay a child. In my opinion, it is better to start off with something small basically in such a matter as this, because it is a new idea in Pennsylvania, this kind of legislation, and then build on it as we see fit in years to come, rather than to create a giant such as this bill seeks to create and then possibly in years to come, or in the sessions to come, due to opposition that is bound to arise from various organizations and groups over the State to amend the act down to a proper size and a workable size.

Mr. Speaker, in the beginning of the bill charitable organizations are defined and it is all-embracing. It means any benevolent, educational, philanthropic, humane, patriotic or eleemosynary person, or one holding itself out to be a charitable organization, and this I want to specifically note, or one which receives a tax exemption from the United States Government. That particular part of it embraces every veterans' organization and it will embrace every fraternal organization throughout this State.

There are exemptions in the act and one of them is religious institutions, and I want to read that part of it because I do not know who is going to interpret or how you are going to interpret that part of it.

Now, this is exempt under the act, "Religious organizations and religious societies and organizations and institutions affiliated therewith which are under the supersion or control thereof." I do not know who is going to get into the theological end of this thing and interpret what organizations are controlled by religious bodies and what organizations are not, and I do not know anybody in this State who is wise enough to do so.

Then, Mr. Speaker, besides the specific exemptions as stated in the act, those who are not exempted would be every organization with assets of a million dollars, or over, whether they solicit funds from the public or not. Now keep that in mind. That could take in possibly the Buhl Foundation in Pittsburgh, the Mellon charitable organizations in Pittsburgh, the various Masonic organizations, Shrine organizations, various religious organizations.

It also provides, Mr. Speaker, that any organization that has assets of $5,000 and solicits or receives from the public $2,000 in public funds in a year's time will have to register under the act, and register annually. Now, these organizations would have to register annually even though they do not solicit any funds from the public and have to furnish full financial statements, and in this bill are three or four pages of the financial statement they have to file. They have to file, also, an involved statement of all their investment security transactions and that is a terrific hardship, especially on a charitable organization which does not even solicit funds from the public. So I say to you that part of this bill is not even germane to the problem that it is trying to be attacked, it is enirely foreign to the act and should not be in there.

We had a hearing on this bill and that hearing went into 111 pages of testimony. That testimony should have been thoroughly digested by the committee and gone over and torn apart. There are any number of organizations whose objections to the act have not been met. I would like to name a few of them.

This was in the testimony, Mr. Speaker, and members of the House:

The John Rich Company, which is one of the most outstanding and most respected fund-raisers in this State, and there has never been one bit of criticism as far as I know of leveled at them. They raised the objection that has not been met, and no excuse has been given by the actual sponsor of the bill, the Justice Department of the State, of 15 percent allowed as a fee. I myself heard Judge Alpern say at the hearing that she would not give on the 10 percent, that that was enough, and she did not substantiate it with any factual data whatsoever.

Also, Joseph McLaughlin, who represents the Philadelphia Public Relations Associations, and I do not know how many different associations they represent, but certainly I think many in Philadelphia, and they are against this bill in its present form. They feel that it is going to hurt many, many small charitable organizations and will work a considerable hardship on them and harrass them so that they probably will not be able to raise the funds that heretofore they have been raising.

The Heart Fund Association, which files an annual audit, is not satisfied with the bill.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation of Pennsylvania is not satisfied with the bill and they have made objections and no effort has been made to meet the objections of these people.

The veterans' organizations' objections have not been met, and that takes in all the veterans' organizations.

So you see that the many people who are objecting to this bill is very, very far-stretched and very wide in some cases, very wide.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that possibly we do need some kind of a bill to attack this problem. I believe we need a bill that will make these professional fund-raisers and professional solicitors register with the State, get a permit, file a bond, and possibly, also, every charitable organization that raises funds through a professional fund-raiser should be made to register with the State. I could not find much fault possibly with that, but certainly this bill is a monstrosity in its very implications. It is going to do more harm than it will do good. It reminds me, Mr. Speaker, of the bill we have been talking about in this session to protect those people who own homes and who are possibly somewhat gullible and become victims of these home-repair gyps. We have tried to attack the problem various times, not only in this session, but in other sessions, and we cannot do it without materially hurting innocent people and, therefore, nothing has been done. I say this bill is somewhat analogous to that, because in passing this bill I feel that we are going to do as much harm, if not more harm, than good.

Mr. Speaker, we still have time. I am not saying, defeat this bill and we are not going to have anything passed. There has been a bill passed by the other body. I have had time to glance at it, not to thoroughly analyze it, but I believe it is the kind of a bill that can be passed in this House and I feel sure it would be passed in this House if it were brought out of committee. We still have time to pass it. It is possible that this bill could be reported out of committee yet this evening and, if it needs amendments, it could be amended tomorrow, if it needed any amendments at all, and still reach final passage by the final date set for adjournment. I say that is the bill we should have. That is a good workable bill, that is a bill that will not cause harrassment to legitimate charities throughout Pennsylvania, and it is a bill that will practically remove all the objections of these people who testified at the hearing. That is a bill I think we should pass. I do not believe if you pass this bill tonight that you will get this bill enacted into law, and we will adjourn this session without having any bill passed at all. In that respect we are analogous to the strip mining bill. Let us take what we are sure we can get. Let us do some good, at least, and I say that this other bill which has already passed the Senate and is over here in the House, but has not been reported out of committee, according to the Senate history, is a good bill. I believe we can pass that bill in the House.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I respectfully submit and I ask the members on both sides of the aisle, everybody in the House, to vote against this bill. Then let us get the other bill out and pass good remedial legislation on this solicitation problem and not on registration of charity organizations whether or not they solicit funds and put them to the harrassment of filing all kinds of financial statements, which they have no business filing when they are not even asking contributions from the public.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I rise in support of House bill No. 1803. I submit to the membership of this House, and I refer in particular to the history of the House of Representatives on House bill No. 1803, that House bill No. 1803, introduced on June 22nd, moved through this House, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations and was then referred back to the Committee on Welfare for the purpose of a public hearing. This same public hearing was held in the House Caucus Room on July 18th.

Mr. Speaker, the chairman of the Welfare Committee conducted the public hearing, attended by a minimum of at least 100 individuals interested in this type of legislation. I submit to this House, Mr. Speaker, it was one of the finest public hearings I have ever had the pleasure of attending. It further ensued at this public hearing, Mr. Speaker, that this bill was submitted with certain reservations, and these reservations were studied by the Committee on Public Welfare. Amendments were attached to this bill and it was re-reported for a vote. It received support statewide in this area.

This is an area, Mr. Speaker, that needs the attention of this General Assembly, for it has been pointed out time and again by various foundations that have made an analysis of the charitable solicitations, not only in this State, but throughout the country, and it has been found that millions upon millions of dollars intended for public use have gone astray.

Mr. Speaker, the majority leader and myself have sponsored this legisaltion because we felt that in this area there was a great need for a regulatory measure wherein moneys intended for public use were not sufficiently regulated, wherein they would be put to the particular use for which they were contributed or left in trust.

After the public hearing, Mr. Speaker, the proponents of this bill accepted every amendment that it was possible to accept within the confines of continuing to keep before this body a proper measure. To this the record will attest.

Now, Mr. Speaker, what is wrong with this bill? The gentleman points to a bill that is coming from another body that would, in effect, be simply a registration act. In this area there can be no control, there can be no honesty in controlling these funds that were intended for public use, unless we have some registration. Let us survey this point. In this area what is asked of these people who are entrusted with public money? There are basically three requisites, and not one of them is onerous.

The number one thing that you must recognize in this area is a disclosure of that which is intended for public use. Number one, disclosure, gives the official the basis of operation for action. What further is asked in disclosure? In disclosure we have one for the enforcement officials in this area, a basis for action. Let me elaborate on this just for a moment: Let us take the recently publicized editorial which indicated that this is not necessary, but let me point out to the membership of this House in the case of the Barnes Foundation. No one would have known how much it was, unless this very same newspaper had indicated and brought to the attention of the Attorney General that there was a need of action here because those trusts that were left and intended for the public use were being subverted and not used for that particular purpose. Only in this manner was the enforcement official able to proceed and open up this area that it was intended for—the public use, and today is for the public use.

A basis for action is all we ask for money that is left for the public use. The report is made only once every three years. Certainly this is not a trial and tribulation, because practically every one of these foundations has an accountant with figures that are readily available to anybody. It takes nothing more than a matter of a half hour or an hour to complete the form and receipt it. Now why do you want to hide money that was intended for public use? Are we to assume that you want, and those people would want, the trustees, or whoever it may be, not those who do not do this, but those who have been known to use those moneys, to manipulate in stocks and bonds, money intended for the public use? There is nothing wrong with this bill. What have you got to fear? It appears to me that just recently this very same paper that today is writing an editorial ran three special items on a weekly basis indicating the great need for just such legislation.

Ladies and gentleman of the House, Senate bill 791 that purports to enter this same area that we are trying to look into here has no teeth in it. The present act upon which we are operating has no teeth in it. You can do nothing here. Who, if anyone, would dispute the fact that this bill 1803, under the printer's numbers was, time and again the subject of conferences with people of the various charities who have made every objection, and have given my colleague, Mr. McCann and myself, every right to say they have withdrawn the exceptions they have had about this bill because of these amendments, and today, at this late hour, you say that this is too stringent? Certainly I know that on both sides of this House each and every one of us wants to protect those funds that are left for public use to be used for the purpose for which they were intended, whether it is a foundation or whether it is a contributor to a charitable campaign for funds. You know and I know that this bill will eliminate the people who have evidenced the situation in professional fund-raising that have taken as much as 98 percent of the funds that were supposedly to be used for a public purpose and used them for their professional campaign drive and sales and expenditures. This will cut this out. Senate bill 791 has no such limitations. This is a bill that is truly tailored to meet the needs of today.

I am asking the membership on this non-partisan issue on both sides of the House to vote for this measure because of the tremendous need for the bill that is before us, because those charities, those institutions, that we believe in will get the charitable dollar that has been going astray. So, I say to you in behalf of the sponsors, and the charity in your hearts, this is a move in the right direction. I ask the members on both sides of this House to vote for the measure.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Piper, desire recognition?

Mr. PIPER. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland. Mr. Speaker, does this bill require all those little rural fire companies to apply for a permit before they solicit in their little localities?

Mr. PETROSKY. It requires anybody who solicits for a charitable purpose to be registered.

Mr. PIPER. Does the gentleman think that local fire companies or volunteer fire companies are charitable organizations?

Mr. PETROSKY. Yes, sir.

Mr. PIPER. Then they are required to apply for this permit?

Mr. PETROSKY. This is so.

Mr. PIPER. Does the gentleman require the Girl Scouts of the local community to apply for this permit, or the Boy Scouts, for their charitable projects?

Mr. PETROSKY. The registration is for any of those that come within the meaning of the definition of those that solicit contributions from the public for public use.

Mr. PIPER. Then there is no intention of a statewide license or bond or a permit? Every little local organization must apply for this.

Mr. PETROSKY. No, the amendment that has been inserted into this bill would not require 67 county chapters to register. The statewide organization would register and the reports from the 67 individual organizations would go to the state organization and then it would register under the requirements of this act.

Mr. PIPER. I thank the gentleman. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill because I feel that it would work an undue hardship. Many of our local fire companies are plain volunteers who do this work for nothing, who have no one to keep their books and every cent they get they tell them to buy fire equipment or do some good in the neighborhood. I also rise to oppose the bill because our local cancer society of Berks County says "Bonding requirements advocated in House bill 1803 will rob legitimate organizations of much needed funds used to carry on life-saving programs within the State of Pennsylvania. On behalf of the board of directors of the Berks County Unit, American Cancer Society, I respectfully urge your negative vote on bill 1803. John P. Scully, M.D., president board of directors"

I have the same type of letter from our local Berks County Heart Association, Inc., and the same type of telegram from the Tuberculosis and Health Associations of Berks County. On this basis, gentleman, I urge everybody to vote against passage of this bill. Thank you.

Mr. PIPER submitted the following for the record:

BERKS COUNTY HEART ASSOCIATION, INC.

10 July 1961

Mr. William Piper
State Representative
House Office Bldg.
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
Dear Mr. Piper:

Our attention has been called to a House bill No. 1803, and other bills, pertaining to charitable solicitations. We are concerned about the fact that local chapters of our Health Organizations may be required to register and fill out forms. This would naturally be costly at the expense of funds raised for research, education and community service. We suggest that one registration by the state office listing its chapter should suffice.

We urgently request that in the public interest you try to have this provision included.

Sincerely yours,
Irving Imber, M.D., President

Wording of House Bill 1803 poor could be misinterpreted page three section two-five and six could be interpreted to mean program workers and clerical workers working on fund raising. Page eight section five could limit all fund raising costs to ten percent without specifying what costs are to be included. Page eleven section eight gives broad powers to the department could work againts agencies the bill should protect. We agree to the intent of the bill but oppose the wording.

Richard J. Essick, Secretary
Reading Berks Tuberculosis and Health Association

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so that there is no misunderstanding, I will specifically correct what the gentleman from Berks has stated. The Berks County Cancer Unit would not be required to register. It is part of a statewide organization and the society of Pennsylvania agreed to this and stated so. The Berks County Tuberculosis and Health Association would not be required to register, and even though you have a telegram and a letter to that effect, that is in error. The Berks County Heart Association would not be required to register if they are a part of the Pennsylvania Heart Association, and that organization has agreed to this. Therefore, so there is no misunderstanding, these statewide representatives were here and agreed to this and that must be misinformation that you have in your possession.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Chairman, this is a very brief statement in the way of rebuttal to Mr. Petrosky, the gentleman from Westmoreland County. I have read Senate bill 791, and I want to reiterate to the members of this House, with all due respect to the sponsors of this bill, that Senate bill 791 will do the trick and do the job that they are trying to do without causing undue hardship or harrassment to hundreds of fraternal organizations and other organizations throughout this State who do not agree to the provisions of this bill. That is the reason I am making this statement now. I say that Senate bill 791 is the best bill under the circumstances.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—8

Ashton,	Knecht,	McCormack,	Mihm,
Esler,	Lippincott,	McInroy,	Royer,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 1841, entitled:

An Act amending "The General Appropriation Act of 1961" approved May 25, 1961 (Appropriation Act No. 5-A), changing certain amounts appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Revenue and making an appropriation to the Department of Public Instruction for community colleges.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, desire to be recognized?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this is an amendment, as I understand it, to the general appropriations bill, is it not? This bill is an amendment to the general appropriations bill?

Mr. POLEN. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, on page 4, beginning on line 4, it says: "in addition to this amount"—that is $5,308,-232, which is applicable to the State Council of Higher Education, the State Council of Education—". . . all moneys received from the Federal Government or from any other source as contributions for this program shall be paid into the General Fund and credited to this appropriation." Now which appropriation does that refer to, the one for Council of Higher Education and the Council of Education or to the general appropriations bill, or the Department of Public Instruction, or what?

Mr. POLEN. It refers to the Department of Public Instruction for general governmental expenses.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me how much money is calculated will be received from the Federal Government for the program?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, at this time we have no information as to any new Federal monies which will be received other than what we are receiving under the various programs of the National Defense Education Act and the school lunch program and such as that.

According to newspaper reports I read, I believe we will receive a substantial sum if the Federal aid to education bill would go through, but we cannot—

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell me, if that Federal aid passes, how much money might be involved from the Federal government?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have heard various amounts ranging from $30 million to $45 million. I think the accepted figure is something around $32 million. That is a pure guess at this time because we have no definite information, but, based on the formula that we have heard of, it would be between $30 million and $40 million.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, how much money do we receive at the present time on the program which the gentleman has suggested?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have that information here before me. I did not know the gentleman would want it or I could have got it. I could not offhand just give you the amounts that we do receive under the Federal program.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman does not know right now how much we are receiving under the present program?

Mr. POLEN. We know, Mr. Speaker, and I have the figures in my office, but I just cannot off-the-cuff give every figure that someone might ask for. I might say they will go into restricted accounts. They are not used for any purpose other than that which the Federal Government has allocated to them. School lunch programs will go into a special account. They are restrictive receipts accounts. They can only be used for the purpose for which they are given by the Federal Government.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would that money go into the general fund and then be re-allocated to this, or what?

Mr. POLEN. It goes into the general fund as what is known as "restrictive receipts." It can only be used for the purpose for which it was given by the Federal Government, or allocated by the Federal Government.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, the bill also speaks of money received from any other source as contributions. Are any monies received from any other source at the present time for this particular program?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, we do get in, for instance, in connection with professional licensure.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I am sorry. I did not hear the gentleman.

Mr. POLEN. In connection with the various special boards in professsional licensure we get in the various fees; and there are many programs for which fees are paid and they go into the general fund.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, Mr. Speaker, does the money from professional licensure—I thought they were earmarked. Are these funds under this educational program or does it go into the particular fund for which these fees are paid?

Mr. POLEN. Money that is received from professional licensure goes into the general fund. Appropriations are made for the various boards from the general fund and the money received and credited is paid into the general fund and becomes a part of the general fund.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, then, Mr. Speaker, that would not be another source of funds for this particular program, would it?

Mr. POLEN. No, but that is the language that is necessary in the bill, that those funds shall be paid to the general fund.

If any money is received under the school construction program that we read about, under the Federal program, it would go into the general fund.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, the gentleman is mixing up Federal funds with funds from other sources. I am talking now about funds from other sources.

Mr. POLEN. The funds from other sources is what I just mentioned, such as professional licensure.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Well, are there funds from other sources other than professional licensure?

Mr. POLEN. There are a number of funds into which fees are paid to the department. They are not particular funds but there are fees, charges made, for examinations and things like that. The amount received from these fees is not of any great amount but that is what we are referring to in this bill. This is not new language in the bill; it is the language that is in the present general appropriations bill and has been in the appropriations bills as long as I can remember.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this is an amendment to the appropriations bill for the fiscal year of July 1, 1961, to June 30, 1962. I would like to know if perchance they pass the Federal aid to education and there should be, let us say the gentleman has given, a minimum of $30 million up to as high as $41 million—I do not know what the amount might be, but, let us say there would be $30 million come in from the Federal Government—would that money go into this year's counting and be applied to the educational programs for this fiscal year?

Mr. POLEN. If the money was received during this fiscal year, it would go into the general fund for this fiscal year.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Would it be re-appropriated and used for educational purposes?

Mr. POLEN. It could be used, as I said before. Anything of that nature coming from the Federal Government is called restrictive receipts. It would have to be used for the purpose for which the Federal Government issued and allocated it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, could that money be used to pay off any portion of the deficit?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the money could only be used for the purpose for which the Federal Government had allocated it. For instance, if it was given for school construction, it would have to be used for school construction.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And that then would release $30 million out of the general fund that is not marked for that purpose to help pay off the deficit, is that right?

Mr. Speaker, if perchance the Federal aid to education should pass and we get $30 million during this particular fiscal year, that would come into the general fund and be applied toward the educational program?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. But it can only be used for the specific purpose for which the Federal Government has allocated it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. And when that would occur then there would be $30 million excess in the general fund which could be used to pay off the deficit, is that right?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is pretty hard to say. It could not be particularly used, specificaly used, to pay off the deficit, but I think what the gentleman is wanting to know is, if we receive $30 million from the Federal Government, would that release $30 million of funds. If it were for a school construction, it would definitely release $30 million of moneys which we have or should have appropriated towards school construction. And under our program I think we have enough that it would release that amount for other purposes. I think that is what the gentleman wants to know.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, it is, Mr. Speaker. I am trying to get at just what is going to happen here should that stuff come through. I thank the gentleman.

I hope the Federal Aid bill does not pass because to get that money it would cost us about $1.48 for every dollar we got back. It goes along the same lines as some of the arguments we heard from the floor this afternoon. But that goes to show you how some of these things are being tied into this situation here and a very clever device for the purpose of trying to raise a lot of additional revenue, through the back door for the purpose of trying to eliminate the necessity for taking care of these other projects for the coming year. I have no particular objection to the stuff being done, but I think it is very much of a back door approach to try and lick this situation. I am very happy, however, to find out that these moneys will have to be applied to education. We have nothing against the bill generally otherwise but I wanted to clarify some of these points.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 191, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" including additional buses within the provisions relating to school buses further providing for the operation of school buses and lights located thereon and providing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WORLEY asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "AVAILABLE" further regulating the use of red lights on certain vehicles

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, lines 18 and 19, by striking out "CLAUSE (9) OF SUBSECTION (B) OF SECTION 840" and inserting: Section 814

Amend Bill, page 4, by inserting between lines 2 and 3:

Section 814. Red Light Visible From in Front of Vehicles.—No person shall operate or move any vehicle or tractor with a red light displayed to the front thereof, except school bus, fire department, fire patrol apparatus, police department vehicles, ambulances or the private vehicles of those chiefs of fire or police departments, assistant chiefs of fire or police departments or fire marshals who, in accordance with a statement filed with the Pennsylvania State Police prior thereto, use the same for answering or returning from fire, police or emergency calls upon a highway.

Penalty.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this section, shall, upon summary conviction before a magistrate, be sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars ($10.00) and costs of prosecution, and, in default of the payment thereof, shall undergo imprisonment for not more than five (5) days.

Section 2. Clause (9) of subsection (b) of section 840 of the act, amended December 10, 1959 (P. L. 1749), is amended to read:

Amend Sec. 2, page 5, line 16, by striking out "2" and inserting: 3

Amend Sec. 3, page 9, line 12, by striking out "3" and inserting: 4

Amend Sec. 4, page 14, line 1, by inserting out "4" and inserting: 5

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the majority leader rise?

Mr. McCANN. Can the gentleman from Adams quickly explain the amendments in the brief form rather than the long form?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Adams.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have offered these amendments at the request of the Adams County Fire Police, whose secretary has informed me, by telephone conversation, that the Adams County Fire Police want me to amend section 814, as provided in my amendment to Senate bill 191. The purpose is to have the privilege of using a blinker light in front of fire department vehicles on returning from a fire or emergency in order to protect the lives of our firemen who frequently are required to ride on all parts of these fire vehicles, on returning as well as going to a fire. Under the present law, the firemen can use a blinker light in front while going to a fire, but they cannot upon returning from a fire or an emergency. This amendment will protect their lives upon returning because they still may have to ride in a dangerous location on the fire vehicle, and possibly in great numbers thereon. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. There ultimately will be a roll call. For what purpose does the majority leader rise?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley, pertain to fire trucks which use the red blinker upon returning, not going to. This is now in the law. By the amendment they would use this on returning. There has never been any request of the organized firemen's association asking for this across the State. If you are a member of a fire company, as many of us are, when a fire is over the equipment returns the same as all other traffic to its proper destination, fire shed or wherever it may be located. We have never asked for this; we only ask for the present law which provides for that which is now in the law, the use of the blinker while going to a fire or emergency. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to vote "no" on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments are not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KING asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, last line of Title, by inserting after "thereon": defining and prohibiting the use of speed traps and prohibiting the use of evidence obtained thereby

Amend Bill, page 9, by inserting between lines 11 and 12:

Section 3. The act is amended by adding, after section 1002, a new section to read:

Section 1002.1. Speed Traps Defined and Prohibited.—

(a) A "speed trap," for the purposes of this section, shall mean a particular section of highway measured as to distance and with boundaries marked, designated or otherwise determined in order that the speed of a vehicle may be calculated by securing the time it takes the vehicle to travel such known distance.

(b) No officer or other person shall use a speed trap in arresting or participating or assisting in the arrest of any person for any alleged violation under section 1002 of this act, nor shall any speed trap be used in securing evidence as to the speed of any vehicle for the purpose of an arrest or prosecution under this act

(c) No evidence as to the speed of a vehicle upon a highway shall be admitted in any court upon the trial of any person for an alleged violation of section 1002 of this act upon when such evidence is based upon or obtained from or by the maintenance or use of a speed trap.

Amend Sec. 3, page 9, line 12, by striking out "3" and inserting: 4

Amend Sec. 4, page 14, line 1, by striking out "4" and inserting: 5

Amend Sec. 4, page 14, line 3, by inserting after "1002" and the provisions of section 1002.1

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman explain his amendments?

Mr. KING. I will explain them, Mr. Speaker. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, tonight I rise to offer an amendment which I honestly believe has no political issue. This amendment would eliminate an evil that 99 percent of your constituents abhor. The amendments that I offer would define and prohibit speed traps on our highways.

I could elaborate on all the bad points of speed traps, but you people have heard all the arguments against them. With the advent of radar in our State, I see no necessity for speed traps. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, will you do the motorists of Pennsylvania a favor and vote for this amendment? Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the members vote "no" on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Butler, Mr. King, to Senate bill 191, printer's No. 1225.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Motor Vehicles for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the membership oppose the recommittal motion so the bill may be voted on.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Dennison.

Mr. DENNISON. Mr. Speaker, I make this motion for this reason: This bill is not in conformity with the national vehicle code and therefore would cause considerable confusion to out-of-State motorists when they come into Pennsylvania and attempt to pass a school bus. It will also have a tendency to cause more accidents than we now have because these drivers who are approaching a school bus, knowing they have 250 feet in which to make a stop, will immediately speed up and try to get past that school bus before it gets stopped, thereby causing a number of perhaps fatal accidents.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich, desire to be recognized on the motion to recommit?

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the members of the House to support the motion to recommit. This is a real fuzzy bill; I think it should be recommitted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. DENNISON and GOODRICH and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the membership is wondering what time we are operating by. I see we have not covered the bills that were announced before the supper hour. What are the majority leader's plans for the rest of the evening, so the membership will know?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed officially that the time is that on the clock as you see it on the wall, eastern standard time.

I have four committee meetings that must be called. There is Senate bill 667 and all the concurrences, and I must do this before that clock strikes 12 under eastern standard time. I have wasted two and one-half hours on bills that could certainly have been debated in another vein or easier, or, perhaps I should say, they could have been debated a little sooner, but I would say to you that at this point I am going to call up Senate bill 667. There are four committee meetings that must meet off the floor to report the Senate bills in their possession, the Committee on Welfare, Committee on Law and Order, Committee on Cities—Third Class, the Committee on State Government, and the Senate has sent over a series of other bills. I ask that we operate until that time because this will give us an opportunity to be a little freer tomorrow.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 667, entitled:

An Act creating and establishing a continuing career system for technical and professional personnel in or assigned to the Department of Highways establishing and vesting certain powers in the Highway Technical and Professional Personnel Board and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CIOFFI asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, first line of Title, by striking out "technical and"

Amend Title, page 1, next to last line of Title, by striking out "Technical and"

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 6, by striking out "technical and"

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 12, by striking out "Technical and"

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 14, by inserting after "all" persons holding

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 18, by inserting after "ONLY" persons who have obtained a degree from an accredited college or university or who have had experience equivalent thereto who now or hereafter hold

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, by inserting between lines 8 and 9:

(XI) cartographers
(XII) draftsmen
(XIII) surveyors

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, lines 10 to 19; page 4, lines 1 to 9, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 10, by striking out "Technical and"

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 11, by striking out "Technical and"

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 14, by striking out "technical and"

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 16, by striking out "technical and"

Amend Sec. 4, page 5, line 1, by striking out "technical and"

Amend Sec. 4, page 5, line 4, by striking out "technical or"

Amend Sec. 4, page 5, line 7, by striking out "technical or"

Amend Sec. 5, page 5, line 9, by striking out "technical or"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Cioffi.

Mr. CIOFFI. Mr. Speaker, this amendment strikes out the technical personnel and includes only the professional. Briefly, it strikes out on page 4 all those listed from line 1 to line 9 and includes in the professional line the names under the technical list, those listed as photographers, draftsmen and surveyors. This amendment does not in any way affect the efficiency of the department, but places the professional people in a category in which they should have been many times under civil service.

I request a roll call vote, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if there are going to be any other amendments to this bill if this amendment carries? I am still not clear on the other amendments to be offered. Are there going to be any from any member to Senate bill 667?

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, rather than ask for a roll call, if it is satisfactory, I will agree that the amendments go into the bill for printing, unless there is objection.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy. For what purposes does the gentleman rise?

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Cioffi, on his amendments, for a moment.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Cioffi, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CIOFFI. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that these amendments take out some technical employes now covered by the bill?

Mr. CIOFFI. That is right.

Mr. MURPHY. What technical employes would be removed from the bill?

Mr. CIOFFI. All with the exception of those listed under the technical, with the exception of cartographers, draftsmen and surveyors. Those three are placed under the professional list.

Mr. MURPHY. Do I understand that right-of-way agents are being taken out of the bill?

Mr. CIOFFI. That is right.

Mr. MURPHY. And you are taking construction inspectors out of the bill?

Mr. CIOFFI. That is right.

Mr. MURPHY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to oppose the amendments as proposed. I think the purpose of the bill is to provide all our technical and professional highway employes under civil service coverage that will provide our Department of Highways with a better working system. These men will know they have tenure in office; they will know that we can attract men for these positions and I request a roll call.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I again have the pleasure of calling to the attention of the Democratic majority leader and the Democratic members the Democratic platform of 1958, paragraph 13, which reads "Tenure in State jobs requiring special professional skills." If you vote for this amendment, you are voting against the Democratic platform. I am voting "no."

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I want to clearly have the gentleman again read the platform. That is where I got into this problem,—professional employes tenure. I certainly was trying to work this bill into a position to be voted, and it carries professional and technical. If you will read the platform again you will find just what you read a moment ago. That is the problem I have run into. Professional, technical, all these people are supporting the platform on professional employes. They will not support unanimously the platform which does not carry that pledge on technical employes. That is the problem and that is why the amendments.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I am carrying a summary in my hand of the Pittsburgh Press for September 15, 1958. My recollection is that if you turn to page 75 of the Legislative Journal when the platform was read out in full, if you want to wait and have somebody from Mr. Ominsky's office bring it up, I am quite certain it read "technical and professional employes" and certainly these items which have been deleted by the proposed amendment are technical employes and I think it is contrary to the spirit of the proposed platform of the Democratic Party, and I think you are getting awfully technical over your platform.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Williams.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. I would like to request a roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. McNally.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the amendments made by the gentleman from Lawrence. These amendments striking out the word technical in the program, I think, are very well placed.

They have in here construction inspectors. They have in this right-of-way assistant engineers. I believe the spirit of the gentleman from Lawrence is well-placed, and I also feel they have in the amendments offered today that in order to qualify to be in a professional status you must have a college degree or the equivalent. That does not mean you have to freeze out the present employes who never went to college, but it does mean that you have to have the equivalent of a college degree.

I very well trust our present Secretary of Highways, but we are putting a bill in here for the future and it is not too difficult for somebody in the Secretary of Highway's office anything they so choose. I believe it is a bill in the right direction and I urge members on both sides to support the amendments. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. CIOFFI, MURPHY and A. D. WILLIAMS, Jr. and were as follows:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1852, entitled:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Election Code," approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), further regulating the form of the official primary ballot.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the members, particularly on this side of the House, we were against the companion bill to this bill which was recommitted recently, and this bill was brought out of committee the same day; the other was recommitted. We think this is not good legislation. It will not inform the elector-ate as to the identification of a candidate. We repeat that it is not good for the citizenry of the State and we ask everybody to vote against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would request that the members remain for very important committee meetings.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 11, appropriation bills on concurrence in Senate amendments.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to debate these bills at such time as they are called up.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 775.

An Act making appropriations to the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania, for the general maintenance and operation of the University, for the School of Medicine, and for the School of Veterinary Medicine.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 3, page 2, line 14, by striking out after the word "of" the following: "Six hundred fifty-three thousand, five hundred eighty-nine dollars ($653,589)," and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "six hundred ninety-three thousand, five hundred eighty-nine dollars ($693,589)."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this bill and all bills on page 11, with the exception of House bill 1564, will require 140 votes, is that right?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we concur in this particular amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, may I briefly interrogate the chairman of the Appropriations Committee?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, with the consent of the House I would like to ask the gentleman a question about all the bills on this page. Am I correct, Mr. Speaker, that the combined increase in these appropriations approximates in excess of $300,000?

Mr. POLEN. $361,648.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman inform us whether or not the money is available for this increase in appropriations?

Mr. POLEN. It is not, Mr. Speaker, under my estimate of revenues that I have.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I understand there is a move afoot, if you will, to concur in the amendments placed in these bills by the Senate, pass them and send them to the Governor, and let the Governor selectively determine which appropriations will be met and the extent to which they will be met.

The only thing I object to is that this seems to me to be an abdication of legislative responsibility. I think, under the circumstances, Mr. Speaker, and I regret being in the position that I have to recommend this, but I do feel that we should non-concur in all of these bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Erie. We are here being asked to appropriate an additional $400,000. I understand that these amendments were placed in these bills by the majority leader of the other body who well knows that the money is not available, as our Appropriations chairman has stated. I feel that if we non-concur, we will inform the other body that the appropriations are not here, the money is not here. I do not feel that we should place this duty upon the Chief Executive to strike out line by line, or strike out what he may. It is the duty of this body to set the appropriations, and, therefore, I ask for a roll call and ask the members to non-concur.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, the constitution requires a roll call.

The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, so the record will be straight, as to House bill 775, printer's No. 2638, the amendments to this bill were offered by Senator Kessler.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams, desire to be recognized?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the position of the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf. I do not believe we have the right to throw around money that we do not have and that we are trying to hold down the taxes on.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1709.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out after the word "of" the following: "seventeen million two hundred fifty-nine thousand one hundred twenty-five dollars ($17,259,125)" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "seventeen million three hundred three thousand one hunderd twenty-five dollars ($17,303,125)"

Amend Section 1, page 4, line 19, by striking out after the word "Philadelphia," the figures "81,000" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "125,000"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this increased appropriation to the Department of Welfare increases the appropriation to the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia from $81,000 to $125,000 and that is the only increase involved in the bill.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1961. No. 95.

SENATE

TUESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1961

The Senate met at 11:00 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Benjamin R. Donolow) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JACK P. WISE, Assistant Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, Thou Who art the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords, we praise Thee this day that Thou art concerned about each of us and that Thou art a personal God who cares. Thou art interested in what happens to us and what we do. For this, we give Thee thanks.

But, our God, we confess that right at this moment we are not too anxious to think about Thee. Forgive us our haste to get to our business.

May we each pause for a moment in the light of Thy presence. May we draw from Thee the spiritual and moral strength we need if we are to do our job in the best way. May we then step forth to serve Thee and our people with vigor and conviction. May we find that we have sought Thy guidance before we have acted rather than asked Thy blessing upon the things we have already done.

We pray in the Savior's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am about to offer a very important resolution. All resolutions are important, but this one is very interesting and timely.

The resolution deals with the demands made in my Senatorial District by numerous physicians who, time and and again, came to me in delegations, asking for opportunities to pursue the postgraduate study of medicine. As you know, my Fifth Senatorial District is the backyard of the great Temple University. The Medical School of Temple University is one of the outstanding schools in the Nation. The physicians in my District clamor for a night school in order for them to be able to come, after a day's work, and proceed with graduate work at night in order to keep abreast of new developments.

Mr. President, this resolution directs the Joint State Government Commission to study, before January of 1962, the feasibility of establishing a night school for the graduate study of medicine, under the aegis of Temple University.

I now offer this resolution on behalf of Senator Chapman and myself, and request its immediate adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO UNDERTAKE A STUDY OF FEASIBILITY OF A NIGHT SCHOOL FOR GRADUATE STUDY OF MEDICINE AT TEMPLE UNIVERSITY.

Messrs. STIEFEL and CHAPMAN offered the following resolution (Serial No. 5a), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 29, 1961.

The science of medicine offers today to its researchers and students unlimited horizons and endless challenges. Thus, students of medicine who complete their undergraduate studies today may find themselves within a year or two far behind the spectacular advancement of medical research and the resultant cures for diseases that only yesterday were baffling scourges of humanity.

It is self-evident that many physicians, who want to keep abreast of the progress of medicine, must pursue graduate studies during the hours of their leisure, if they so desire. Such graduate studies can be pursued only during the evening hours, after the office hours of a physician are ended.

In the Fifth Senatorial District, which embraces the north-central part of Philadelphia, numerous physicians have been clamoring during the recent years for an opportunity to pursue graduate work in medicine at night.

It is indeed symbolic that Temple University, which lies in the very heart of north-central Philadelphia, should figure prominently in the physicians' request for opportunities to pursue postgraduate studies in medicine at night, for was it not the immortal Russell Conwell who built the great Temple University on "Acres of Diamonds" by initiating higher education for the "toiling and moiling" during their hours of leisure at night time.

The School of Medicine of Temple University, by mobilizing its facilities and recruiting members of its faculty, among whom we are fortunate to list some of the outstanding luminaries of medicine in the world, could indeed establish, with the aid of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a Night School for Graduate Study in Medicine, thereby serving the needs of the physicians in north-central Philadelphia for postgraduate work in medicine. Such a project, if implemented, would not only be a pioneering undertaking in America but would also serve as an example for emulation by other Schools of Medicine throughout the Nation generally and in Philadelphia in particular.

Be It Therefore Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission undertake an immediate study of the feasibility of such a Night School for Graduate Study of Medicine under the aegis of Temple University, with an express directive that the report of such a study be submitted to the Regular Session of the General Assembly in January of 1962.

The Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania further appeals to the President of Temple University, the Dean of its School of Medicine, and the faculty thereof to cooperate in the aforesaid study by the Joint State Government Commission.

And Be It Further Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate forward copies of this resolution, upon its enactment, to Dr. Millard E. Gladfelter, President of Temple University, and to Dr. Robert Bucher, Dean of the School of Medicine of Temple University.

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

The resolution was adopted.

RECESS

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request a one hour recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Democratic Caucus and a Republican Caucus, to be held in the respective Caucus Rooms.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? Hearing no objection, the Chair declares a one hour recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

CALENDAR

BILLS ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

SB 96 (Pr. No. 1224)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 96.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Bell,	Hays,	Mullin,	Stalsey,
Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Camiel,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Propert,	Stroup,

Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,	Yatron,
Hawbaker,	Miller,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

SB 867 (Pr. No. 1241)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 867.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I object to this motion for concurrence and I would like to offer amendments to the amendments placed by the House in Senate Bill No. 867.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 867.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 5, line 9, by inserting after "class": third, fourth, fifth, sixth
Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6, line 3, by inserting after "THE": third, fourth, fifth, sixth

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I just would like to call to the attention of the Members that the effect of these amendments, as I see it, would be to totally eliminate any effect which this bill might have on more adequate redistricting. This would strike out, in addition to the seventh and eighth class counties, the third, fourth, fifth and sixth class counties. This would mean that most of the school districts and most of the schoolchildren in the Commonwealth would be included in the districts which are to be exempted from the bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, these amendments, in my opinion, would destroy any utility that the bill might have in improving the district organization in Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it appears to me that it is rather late in the day to add additional amendments, thereby further weakening or tearing down the purport of this reorganization.

I think if basically we agree on the philosophy of school reorganization, we should go through with it. The further watering down of this type of measure would only leave us where we now are. I think that is to be abhorred. We have found it to be bad. The Governor's Committee has studied this and found it to be bad. I think we should do something about it and today is as good a day as any, without any further watering down or tearing down of what we are trying to do.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EHRGOOD and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

Bell,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Berger,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Wade,

Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Kalman,	Mullin,	Shafer,

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I also desire to offer amendments to Senate Bill No. 867 at this time.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 5, line 9, by inserting after "class": sixth
Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 283), page 6, line 3 by inserting after "THE": sixth

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, these amendments would except the sixth class counties from the 2,500 district limitation. This would enable the sixth class counties to be considered under the reorganization plan, so that those particular districts which might have a pupil population of less than 2,500 could do so without considerable interference with topographic and transportation problems, which seem to be causing so much difficulty in those counties.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to give serious consideration to these amendments because I think they are ones which would be quite acceptable to many of our rural areas.

Mr. President, I also ask for a roll call on these amendments.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would merely like to say that these amendments too, would exempt the sixth class counties from the purview of the bill. To that extent, they again would defeat the purposes for which the bill is intended.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, in reply to Senator Seyler, these amendments would not defeat the purpose of reorganization whatsoever. They would, with a little more care, help to implement the purposes of reorganiaztion. They would give consideration to certain rural topographical and transportation problems and would permit reorganization for districts which might have less than 2,500 pupils.

Therefore, I think these amendments do not defeat the purpose of reorganization. We still have reorganization as an integrated part of the legislation, which is the philosophy and theory of the whole reorganization program. However, with the sixth, seventh and eighth class counties excepted, we have a better plan of reorganization and I am sure it will be better for the entire Commonwealth.

Again, Mr. President, I, therefore, ask my colleagues to give serious consideration to these particular amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. A roll call having been requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STROUP and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

SB 312 (Pr. No. 1254)—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the Report of Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 312, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 24, 1913 (P. L. 965) entitled "Commodities Weight and Measure Law" requiring additional markings on certain packages.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

GUEST OF SENATOR WILLIAM G. SESLER PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like to introduce to the Members of the Senate a very distinguished guest.

Sitting in the front of the Senate is Mr. Charles J. Heimberger. He is President of the First National Bank of Erie, Pennsylvania. He is well-known throughout the northwestern area of the Commonwealth as a man who is greatly interested in philanthropic and civic activities.

It would be my pleasure if the Chair, at this time, would introduce Mr. Heimberger to the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. Would Mr. Heimberger please rise?

The Senate is very happy to greet the distinguished gentleman from the northern section of Pennsylvania. We are very happy to have you with us.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR JOHN H. WARE AND CHIEF CLERK OF THE SENATE, DENNIS J. MULVIHILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, at this time, I would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate the birthdays of two very fine gentlemen; namely, the freshman Senator from Chester, Senator John H. Ware, and the Chief Clerk of the Senate, Mr. Mulvihill.

Senator Ware is enjoying his birthday today. However, I do not know how old he is. He is almost as bald as I am, but he told me he is only thirty-nine years old.

Also, seated at the desk in the front of the Senate Chamber is another person who is enjoying his birthday today—Mr. John Mulvihill.

The PRESIDENT. You have changed his name, but we will—

Mr. PECHAN. What is his first name?

The PRESIDENT. His first name is Dennis.

Mr. PECHAN. Oh, "Dennis the Menace"; that's right.

However, Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, I would like to extend to both of these gentlemen a very happy birthday. As two freshmen, we have taken to them as though they both have been here as long as I have. Some people on the other side of the aisle think I have been here too long.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Pechan.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, so that the record might show there is no neglect, we have prepared a surprise resolution for Senator Ware. However, it will no longer come as a surprise.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Van Sant. I am sure it will be very acceptable.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, you can readily see that the Minority Whip generally louses up the situation.

The PRESIDENT. I am sure the Majority side also fits into the picture.

We are certainly happy to have these two gentlemen celebrate their birthdays with us. We are glad that they could spare the time in order to spend their birthdays with us.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

EDUCATION BILLS RECOMMITTED

SB 640 (Pr. No. 1256), SB 646 (Pr. No. 746) and SB 658 (Pr. No. 760)—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. LANE, and agreed to, the bills were recommitted to the Committee on Education.

EDUCATION BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

SB 690 (Pr. No. 1243)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this bill was a companion bill to Senate Bill No. 688. However, the purpose of Senate Bill No. 688 was to create additional members on the State Council of Education and also to provide for a subcommittee on higher education.

Since Senate Bill No. 688 failed of passage, then one presumes that the result will be that the State Council of Education will be constituted as it is at present.

However, Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 690 is an appropriate bill, whether the Council is changed in its form and size or whether it remains in its present form. The purpose of Senate Bill No. 690 is to make the State Council of Education more effective by limiting its function to policy-making rather than having it carry on the many time- consuming administrative tasks which, from time to time, perhaps through inadvertence or perhaps for other reasons, have been given to it. In other words, if Senate Bill No. 690 were passed, the present Council would still be in effect. However, it would be relieved of many functions which are not proper to a policy-making body. On the other hand, it would be given policy-making functions, some of which are now found in the Department of Public Instruction and which more properly belong in the State Council of Education.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate that regardless of the fate of Senate Bill No. 688, and regardless of the fact that we are apparently desirous of continuing with the present form of the State Council of Education, this bill is appropriate and would improve the situation of the State Council of Education and make it more likely to be an effective agency for policy-making in the educational affairs of the Commonwealth.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would urge my colleagues to vote for this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I missed my turn in speaking against Senate Bill No. 758. I would like to explain, for the record, the fact that I voted "no" on this bill because I think it is very bad legislation.

Even though the Supreme Court of the United States did not seem to agree with my position in 1959 on the Sunday Sales Bill, I still maintain that the only way this legislation could be made any good would be by deleting the words "meats, produce and groceries," as well as the word "Sunday." Otherwise, it would have been a fine bill.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 911 (Pr. No. 2672)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BELL, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 6, lines 3 and 4 by striking out "NONPROFIT."
Amend Sec. 3, page 6, line 4 by inserting after "HOME": whether profit or non-profit

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, the amendments I have offered are very simple amendments. The bill, as it is presently written, excludes from the minimum wage law nonprofit nursing homes. These amendments would extend this exclusion to all nursing homes.

I have looked into this matter and I find that a great majority of those people who work in nursing homes are older citizens and people who are on Social Security. If these people, by our legislation, have their wages increased, it means one of two things for the profit-making nursing homes. They are either going to have to cut down on some of their other services, such as food or medical care, or they are going to have to raise their rates. Presently, in Pennsylvania, the nursing home charges are high enough as they are. This is not because of the fact that there is a great profit from these nursing homes, but it is because of the services rendered.

I believe if we do not exclude all nursing homes from this bill, we are going to penalize the older citizens who eventually will utilize the nursing homes.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this kind of reasoning is the kind which is usually offered when we are trying to hurt or emasculate a bill further than this one has already been hurt.

I believe people who work in nursing homes, and give of their time, effort and energy in this field, should be compensated the same as everybody else. All this is doing is setting a floor. The way it operates, in most cases, it is a ceiling. If these people who work in these areas are not compensated along the same basis, I think you are going to limit the number of people who are going to be interested or willing to do this kind of work. You will not obtain the services of the kind of people who should be doing this type of work and should be dedicating themselves to this task.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am very sorry that the Majority Leader got a little personal by charging that I was emasculating this bill. Gentlemen, this bill has already been emasculated. According to the newspaper accounts, this bill applies to only 35,000 workers in Pennsylvania. I do not know how many people there are in the labor force of Pennsylvania. I would assume there are somewhere around 3,500,000 or 4,000,000. This so-called minimum wage bill applies to less than one per cent of the labor force of Pennsylvania. For people to go around and call this a minimum wage bill, I think is a misstatement of fact. That is a polite word for it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if we continue to accept amendments, we are going to end up with nothing more than the title of this bill. I agree that we have accepted a lot of amendments. However, with reference to these amendments, I feel that those people who work in nursing homes have the right to secure a wage by which they can live decently. They are entitled to that.

Therefore, Mr. President, I feel we should reject any more amendments to this particular piece of legislation. Senate Bill No. 911 was reported out of committee some time ago and then recommitted. Then, there was a subcommittee reviewing the problems with reference to excluding certain groups from the bill. I think we have gone too far. I believe we must pass this bill in its present form.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I request a roll call vote on the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. A roll call being requested, the Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, not hearing by name called, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,

Kalman,

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Messrs. WARE, STROUP and HAWBAKER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 3, page 6, by inserting between lines 8 and 9: (6) Employed in any industry presently covered by a minimum wage order or covered by a contract resulting from a collective bargaining agreement

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have heard no request for a roll call. I believe the vote can be taken by a voice vote.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a roll call.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I will be happy to request a roll call, also.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will now call the roll.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, before the roll call is taken, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Chester, Senator Ware.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Ware, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WARE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise us why we need this amendment?

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, it would improve the bill to the extent that it would exclude those people who are, indeed, already covered.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is the gentleman concerned that the people who come under this measure would receive less or would they receive more under the present bill as compared to their collective bargaining agreements or contracts?

Mr. WARE. I am sorry, Mr. President. Would the gentleman please repeat that question?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if we were to insert the gentleman's amendment in this bill, would it help the people or hurt them?

Mr. WARE. My intention with this amendment is that it would help the people, Mr. President. Obviously, those people who are covered under a labor contract and are satisfied with the terms of the labor contract would prefer not to have their position altered by this legislation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman further advise us whether this would mean more to the man who works for a living or would it mean less to him, if this amendment were adopted?

Mr. WARE. If the amendment is adopted, I would not see how it would change his or her status, if they are covered by a labor contract.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman.

I would like to point out, however, that I believe if this amendment were inserted in the bill, this certainly would not be for the benefit of the people who work for a living and who we are trying to help by this measure.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. BERGER and HAWBAKER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Madigan,	Stevenson,	Ware, III,
Flack,	Mallery,	Stroup,	Wolfe,
Fleming,

NAYS—25

Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Seyler,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Ripp,	Stalsey,
Donolow,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Stiefel,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Weiner,
Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Kalman,

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I request unanimous consent of the Senate to now offer amendments to House Bill No. 911.

The PRESIDENT. Hearing no objection, the Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 19, page 26, line 15, by striking out "19" and inserting: 14

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I would like to speak on these amendments, and I will try to be as brief as possible. However, in view of the fact that these amendments are rather extensive, it may be a few minutes.

This bill has been widely publicized as being a minimum wage bill, and it is generally accepted that this is a bill that would guarantee all of the workers of this State, except those which have been amended out of the bill, a minimum wage of one dollar an hour.

I think anyone who has read this bill carefully would immediately recognize that it does no such thing. This is not really a minimum wage bill at all. This is a wage control bill. This is a bill that would establish a wage board under the Secretary of Labor and Industry. This board would have unlimited authority to prescribe wages, hours, working conditions, bonuses and all of the other things that go with it. There is nothing at all to restrict the activities of this board.

I think it is about time that we took cognizance of the fact that in this Session of the Legislature, we have constantly been delegating the authority of the Legislature to the Executive Branch of Government. This is another case in point. We have been increasing the authority and the power of the bureaucrats in government. I think it is fair to say that if we continue for another five years at the pace we have been going for the past eight months, there will not be any need to convene the Legislature at all. We will have transferred all of the responsibilities of the Legislative Body into the hands of the Executive.

This is a case where people who have been employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania—the hired hands, if you please—are insisting upon taking over the responsibility of legislating in Pennsylvania. Indeed, the servants of the people are insisting upon being not servants of the people, but their masters.

There is little wonder that we have been having difficulty in balancing the State budget, because we have been constantly adding boards, bureaus and all sorts of employment to people who, in reality, are legislating and making the laws of Pennsylvania.

I think this legislation is highly unfair, and I think it is a great departure from our concept of minimum wage laws, as we have known it up to now. The Federal Minimum Wage Law, as you know, is very specific. The original wage law was enacted away back in the Thirties, and Congress did not delegate this responsibility to some board or bureau. It very specifically stated that the minimum wage would be forty cents an hour. From time to time, Congress has seen fit to raise that minimum from forty cents to seventy-five cents, then one dollar, and now a dollar and a quarter.

However, Congress was very careful to retain for itself the power and authority to make these changes.

This bill removes that responsibility from the Legislature of Pennsylvania, henceforth and from now on. From now on, if this bill becomes law, the Legislature will have no authority whatever over minimum wages in Pennsylvania. This will be completely in the hands of the Secretary of Labor and Industry. It is fair to assume that if he were to convene a wage board, he would select men to serve on that board—at least a majority—who would be favorable to his point of view. Consequently, that board would be biased for labor or for employers, as the case might be, depending upon just who happened to be Secretary of Labor and Industry at that time.

I think another thing which is important in this connection is that wage boards—the people there who are going to be charged with the responsibility of fixing wages —will, in all probability, be composed of people who have had no experience whatever in the problem of converting a man's labor into a marketable commodity or a service, and then attempting to sell that service or commodity at a price which the consuming public is willing to pay.

I think it is all very easy to say that such and such a class of people should be guaranteed a certain wage. However, it just is not as simple as that, because any employer who pays wages on any scale is, in reality, not the man who pays the bills. He must convert a man's labor into a commodity which the public will buy. If he is unable, because of certain bureaucratic regulations, to do this, there is only one thing he can do and that is close his doors. This will certainly not improve our employment situation in Pennsylvania.

The great number of people who are going to be affected by this minimum wage bill are certainly not the huge corporations or the large industries of Pennsylvania. The people who are going to be adversely affected by this bill are the very people on whom the future of this Commonwealth depends. I mean the small businessman of Pennsylvania. It seems to me that we should recognize the fact that the most important contributing factor to the success of our future is that we encourage small business.

We need to encourage young men, coming out of school, to go into business for themselves. We have in this Commonwealth today tremendous unemployment. I would suggest to you, Mr. President, that there are two ways in which a man who is unemployed can secure employment. One is to find himself a job. The other is to go into business for himself. I would like to suggest that if we had laws 50 or 100 years ago that were as restrictive and as punitive on small business as some of the laws we have on our books today,—and which we are continuing to put on our books today—big corporations like Swift, Kellogg, General Motors, Westinghouse, and all of the others would never have gotten off the ground. It is about time we began to realize that if this Commonwealth is to have economic growth and full employment, we must encourage these small businessmen to go into business, and those who are in business to stay in business. We will never accomplish that this way.

We must start taking into consideration the fact that these men must be encouraged to stay in business or to go into business. Unless we reverse the trend of constantly persecuting, regualting, frustrating and harassing these small businessmen, we certainly are not going to find employment for the people of future generations.

I would remind you, Mr. President, that you just cannot have employment unless you have employers. This sort of thing is certainly not the thing that is conducive to employment. This whole thing reminds me of the old farmer who was walking behind his plow and he had a nail in his shoe. The nail caused him to have a sore foot. He knew exactly what to do for a sore heel. He had a home remedy that would cure anything. When he returned home in the evening, he took off his shoe and applied some of the home remedy to his heel, and went to bed.

The next morning, he felt pretty good. However, he put on that same shoe and went back out to plow. The next evening, he again had a sore foot and he repeated the process. This continued for a period of a couple of weeks, until he finally died of blood poisoning.

This, Mr. President, is exactly what we are doing here. We recognize the fact that there are a considerable number of people whose level of employment and whose wage level is somewhat lower than would be desired. However, instead of working at the cause of this situation, we are doing just like the farmer with the nail in his shoe. If he would have had a brain in his head, he simply would have sat down, taken out the nail, and nature would have cured the problem.

What we are doing here in dealing out a lot of patent remedies—a lot of bureaucratic patent medicines—to try to cure a situation; treating the effect of the situation and completely ignoring the cause.

I would suggest to you, Mr. President, that if we really are interested in raising the income standards of our people, there is only one practical way to do it. There is to create a situation whereby we have more employment available than we have eligible employees. This, Mr. President, is the only way under the sun we will ever raise the standard of living of our American people. The only way you can do that is to encourage people so that instead of going out of business and into the labor market, they will go out of the labor market and into business. We are going to have to get away from this thing of insisting that we do it by patent remedy methods.

I would remind you again—in the vernacular of the Pennsylvania Dutch farmer—that you can lead a mule to water, but you cannot make him drink. You can force people to pay a mandatory minimum wage, but you cannot force them to employ people at a figure they cannot afford to pay.

Consequently, I do not think this thing is workable. I certainly am violently opposed to delegating the authority of the Legislature to any board of the Executive Branch of Government, and issuing them a blank check and saying: "You take it from here."

In case any of you are not familiar with just how much authority we are delegating to this board, I would refer you to page 11, Section 6, line 17. The Board has the following authority:

> ". . . to recommend regulations covering among other matters definitions rates applicable to learners and apprentices their number proportion or length of service also piece rates or their relation to time rates overtime or part-time rates bonuses or special pay for special or extra work deductions or allowances for board lodging apparel or other items or services supplied by the employer and other special conditions or circumstances and such other regulations as it may find appropriate . . . Nothing in Section 5 of this Act shall be deemed to prevent a wage board from recommending and the department from approving minimum wage rates in any amount found to be proper . . ."

Mr. President, this certainly cannot be construed as a simple little bill, guaranteeing our workers one dollar an hour. This is anything but that.

I submit, Mr. President, that this is the type of growing bureaucracy which this Legislature would do well to curb and to curb immediately. It is important that this bill, in its present form, not be passed.

If we are going to pass a minimum wage law, let us pass a minimum wage law, but let us pass a law that is just that, and not a complicated, unrestricted, unrestrained, bureaucratic wage control law, as we now have before us.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments. My reason for doing so is to prevent the gentleman from driving that nail back into that shoe.

We have had a great many problems ever since the Industrial Revolution took place. I thought that everybody was in agreement that child labor and people misusing and exploiting other human beings for their own gain had long since been abolished, and that it would even be a waste of time to talk about it here. Apparently, however, that is not the case. Apparently, there are some people who are still of the mind that you do not control apprentices and you do not control learners. Some people are of the opinion that whatever you give them is perfectly all right. If you give them nothing, it is O.K., according to some people's thinking, and, while they are learning their trade, they can live or sleep in a barn someplace and hope that the employer will be genteel with them and also feed them occasionally so that they do not fall apart.

In Pennsylvania, we have had a Wage Board since 1937. It is most interesting that nobody ever thought about ripping it out during all these years. Apparently, it must have been doing a good job. There are orders which they have in effect that cover many, many industries. Many of them have been living under these wage orders for a long period of time. They have not only found them to be equitable, but they have found that they can continue on in business and that the employees and the employers are happy with what is going on. They have found that they have less labor strife or dispute which causes this type of difficulty.

If we were to follow the gentleman's amendments, there would be nothing left of this bill. I doubt whether even the title would be left the way it is now set up. These amendments would rip out a board which has been doing a good job and which can sit as a judge and jury. If you are saying that we are delegating this power, it is true that we are delegating it. However, would you like us to sit here in Session and listen to every employer who comes here and who has a grievance or some problem, and have us decide each of these problems? We would never get anything else done. I am not so sure that we could decide them correctly. It possibly would be done along partisan lines.

Therefore, I say to you that you have a board here which is surrounded by administrative procedure and administrative protection, whereby they cannot go beyond what they are supposed to do. This board protects not only the industry, but the man who works for a living.

The gentleman should bear in mind that every human being has a certain limited amount of productive years in which to work and produce, and once these years are gone, he can never regain them. As a matter of fact, you get no credit for it as far as depreciation or depletion is concerned. However, this is even allowed to your resources and animals which work for you, or an automobile that you have. What does this human being have? He has the amount of hours in which he can spend in the day in order to earn a livelihood to keep himself and his family. He has all the wants and desires that you and I have. This is the only way in which he can arrive at this thing, with the hope that somebody will pay him a fair wage. You are insulating the human being against anybody moving against him, in order that he will receive a fair wage.

Do you think that a dollar an hour is a great deal of money? If a man works forty hours, he has forty dollars left. When you deduct taxes, his rent, his cost of living and all the other incidentals which are necessary to human beings, there is not much money left. If you think that is fair and the correct amount to pay him, I would certainly ask that you review that in light of your own income and in light of the experience that you have had with people earning a livelihood and working for a living. I am hopeful that people will use this as a guide and as a floor and will rise above that. People find great difficulty in getting along, with the cost of living as it is today, on even a minimum of one dollar an hour.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think we should at least see how this minimum wage works in the Commonwealth. We can come back here two years from now and face this problem. I do not think we will have any difficulty with it. I do not think we will have to do anything about it because I am sure that industry and the people in the industries will adjust themselves to it, if they have not already done so. I think they will provide a fair living wage for all these people.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, in reply to the remarks made by the Majority Leader, I would just like to say that I certainly am not opposed to anyone earning a fair wage. I surely do not think that one dollar an hour is too high for anyone to be paid. I have no quarrel with that. However, I am quarreling with the fact that we, as Legislators, are not accepting the responsibility of fixing a minimum wage ourselves, and we are delegating this authority to someone else.

I would also like to say that while I am concerned with the welfare of employees, I am also concerned with the welfare of the employers. Just the other evening, on the way home from Harrisburg, I stopped in at a little restaurant for a sandwich. It was then just about ten o'clock at night. The little restaurant was being operated by a man and his wife. He told me that it was about closing time and I asked him what time he opened in the morning. He told me he opened at six o'clock. I said: "Do you mean to tell me that you are here from six o'clock in the morning until ten o'clock at night?" He said: "Yes, sir." He told me that he had been there for three straight years and that he had not had a minute off except for three hours on Christmas Eve, two years ago.

Mr. President, I am interested in raising the standard of living of employees. However, I submit to you that if we are going to subject our small businessmen to this type of living, in order to earn for themselves a living, then there is something wrong with our system. If you will examine the situation throughout Pennsylvania, you will find that anybody who decides to go into business for himself is biting off for himself quite a substantial obligation. It is not any wonder that when you look at the two choices, a man who goes into business for himself, starting from scratch, can expect to work not forty hours a week or even eighty hours a week, but as much as 100 and, in the case of this man, 120 hours, to be exact. You must continue that year after year. You must skip your family. You must forego vacations and holidays. If you should happen to be injured in the course of your work, you are not covered under workmen's compensation. If you should happen to go bankrupt and find yourself unemployed, you are not covered under unemployment compensation. If you should happen to get old and not have any money on which to live, you do not even have a retirement program.

Is it any wonder, Mr. President, that we do not have businesses starting up such as Swift, Kellogg, Westinghouse and all the others? When people contrast this with the relative security of employment in a corporation where you have a substantial wage and you have unemployment compensation, workmen's compensation and a substantial retirement plan, it is not any wonder that we do not have employment in Pennsylvania. We do not have employers. We must do something for these people in order to encourage employment in Pennsylvania. We are losing three Congressmen this fall because we have not kept up our growth. If we continue this sort of thing, Mr. President, ten years hence, we will be losing half a dozen Congressmen. We cannot have population unless we have employment. We cannot have employment unless we have employers, and we cannot have employers unless we have circumstances under which they can operate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, after listening to Senator Hawbaker, I am beginning to think that Herbert Hoover was a liberal and McKinley was a radical.

I saw the Ford Motor Company, of its own accord, raise the level of wages of their workingmen in a competitive market. On the other hand, I saw a big corporation, like Philco, offering thirty-five cents an hour to thousands of people outside their gates and asking them to take less. It was not too much later when we saw the employers of America trooping down to Washington, asking the government to step in and do something to protect them from the cutthroat competition and the destruction of the labor force in America. They passed a law at the request of industry, called the National Industrial Recovery Act. Again, it was not too much alter when the Supreme Courts—a very conservative, holdover Supreme Court from the previous era—declared that law unconstitutional. Subsequent to that, we passed the National Labor Relations Act which rescued industry in this Country and brought it up to the standards of today, so that all the large corporations and industries in America are living under its rules.

What would happen if we were not to have a minimum wage law? What would happen to the legitimate employers —I am talking about small employers—if they were to compete on a low wage scale? You would not have any legitimate, small businesses. They would be competing for the lowest wages available. Therefore, this is a protective bill and I think these amendments should be voted down.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I was delighted that the gentleman mentioned unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation. I am sure that if he will go back into the record, he will find that the same arguments which he was making against this measure here today were probably made against those measures; namely, that it would drive people out of the Commonwealth, that they would run away, that they would not be for this type of legislation, and so on and so forth. However, we have progressed. We have gotten beyond this time.

For example, take the field which the gentleman knows well; that of the farmer. What has happened to the small farmer? He is slowly but surely leaving the farm and coming to the city because he can do better. The whole farming industry has changed. It has become a different type of business. It has become big business. This is one of the other reasons why it has driven these people into a different area and a different type of activity.

What has happened is that most of the people are moving into your large cities. Your cities are gaining in population and your rural areas have been losing population right along. The gentleman should face up to this fact. There is a paradox in what he is saying and I would like to know just what he really means. He said that he would like us to set the amount of the wage scale, although we really set the floor. By the same breath, he said that he is against some bureaucracy knocking these people out of the box or just dealing with them and not having an opportunity to do anything. What opportunity would they have if we set up the wage scale? The people who administer this would merely have to enforce it and nothing further. They can now bring their cases before the wage board. There have been cases where there has been less than the minimum and where the industry and the people have demanded it or it has come out to be that type of a situation, due to the over-all picture which existed in that industry or community.

I think the gentleman should make up his mind as to which he would like us to do. I think the fair way of doing it is by having a board that can hold hearings and hear everyone concerned and decide on the merits of the case, rather than just flatly administer a law which they know nothing about and cannot do anything in order to change it if it needs changing.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, Senator Hawbaker's amendments, which would strike out the wage boards, point up a problem which has been disturbing many of us for a considerable period of time, and that is the tremendous amount of power which we vest in these arbitrary boards.

If we were to review the action of the wage boards, under the Department of Labor and Industry since 1957, we would find that these boards started to initiate not hearings, but meetings. At these meetings, in various sections of Pennsylvania, they invited representatives of labor, of industry and employers. However, one must look at the complexion of the boards in the first instance. On many occasions, these boards were pretty well stacked, and I think I call it clear. The public members of the board were those who were known for their leanings. The labor members of the board were certainly prejudiced and biased toward their own particular attitudes of mind. Only the employers had any representation which might at all —one-third of them—be able to hold the line and make any suggestions of their own for the protection of industry. To a great extent, therefore, we find the boards very much fundamentally prejudiced.

In addition to that, when the meetings were held and the records were made, the records of the entire amount of facts which were gleaned were not to be found there. These were not in anywise legal procedures. As a matter of fact, Mr. President, there was no legal procedure until the final hearing before the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry. There was never any permission for cross-examination. There was nothing whatever legal about the whole thing. The only appeal—and this is the important thing to you, gentlemen,—that you have against the power of these wage boards is on a legal question only. They find the facts and the facts as they find them must stand. If you can find some legal error, if you can find data to cross-examine, or if you can bring in some failure of due process, you might get into Commonwealth Court here in order to accomplish an objective and to get some proper consideration for industry and for the employer as against these wage boards.

It is signicant that of the wage orders which were handed down by that board, five of them went up in appeals and four appeals were sustained. Consequnetly, on legal questions, those particular orders had to be changed. I think it is high time—and I certainly endorse Senator Hawbaker in his attitude— for this Legislature to start to control the destinies of the people, without delegating its powers and its responsibilities to arbitrary boards who then foist upon segments of our population, as they see fit, rules and regulations under which they must live and continue to exist.

These are excellent amendments which the gentleman is offering. If we are interested in providing a minimum wage for employees, let us come back and look at the picture again at another Session of the Legislature. We set one dollar an hour, and that dollar an hour should stand there. If there is to be more or less, then let us look at it tomorrow. However, let us not delegate this power to arbitrary boards.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, apparently the soil of Adams County and Franklin County breeds eminent orators. Ever since the time of James Buchanan, who in this Chamber defended old Judge Franklin, from Lancaster County, in an impeachment proceeding, time and again brilliant orators have come from that county.

Senator Hawbaker is an orator who always commands my attention. He is also a magician. However, today, he injected a certain element which I must contest, and that is his expression of losing Congressmen. Pennsylvania is not losing Congressmen because Pennsylvania is going backwards. It simply is losing Congressmen because of trends in the movements of population in the United States which nobody can stop. This has happened in New York, Illinois and many other great States. Simply, new States, such as Florida, California and some other States in the West, have taken Congressmen from us. Therefore, the loss of Congressmen should never denote retrogression in Pennsylvania. One has nothing to do with the other. This myth has to be put to sleep. With each decade, there is a certain myth which comes to the surface.

Twenty years ago, there was a myth about the migration of industry from Pennsylvania because of taxes. The great John Dent, at that time, appointed a committee and I was a member of that committee. We spent six years in studying the movements of industry. It was established once and for all that the movements of industry have nothing to do with the burdens of taxation. That myth was then exploded. I hope again that we never hear any more about the loss of three Congressmen having anything to do with economic retrogression in Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Benjamin R. Donolow) in the Chair.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and Mr. STROUP, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wagner,

Hays,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron.
Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Donolow,
Lane,			Presiding Officer

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer one further amendment.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no objection to any additional amendments being offered. However, I would like to inquire if this is the last amendment that is going to be offered in this group.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Yes, Mr. President, it is.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Subsection f of Section 5, page 11, line 8, by inserting the word "not" after the word "may."
> Amend Section 5, between lines 9 and 10, by inserting the following: (G) The provisions of Section six (6) and Section eight (8) shall not apply to Subsection (6) of Section 3

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I will yield to the gentleman from Franklin County if he desires to make any remarks on these amendments. I think he is entitled to that courtesy.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I would just like to say that these amendments simply restrict the wage board in that it may not rescind any requirements which are spelled out previously in the bill.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I would like to speak in favor of these amendments.

I have heard the remarks from both sides of the aisle and there is really much good to be said of both viewpoints. Often, one who attempts to take a moderate course of action is buffeted by pressure from both sides. However, I think it is important that we try to analyze these situations to the best of our ability. After all, we do hold a trust here.

As to these amendments, Mr. President, I think they simply are being consistent with the purposes of the bill. First of all, from a technical viewpoint, this bill says that the wage board will not interfere with the exempted areas. In other words, they will have no control where we have included these exemptions previously amended into the bill.

If we are to be consistent with our purposes in the bill, it would be foolish that we, in our legislative wisdom, insert these exemptions and then say that the wage board can do anything it wants. Basically, I think that the powers given to the wage board are too great. At this stage, I am not prepared to say that the wage board should be exempted. However, I believe that bureaucratic control has been inserted into this board, and it has been done without giving comparable benefit. For example, on Page 11, lines 15, 16 and 17 of the bill, it states as follows:

> "If on the basis of information in its posession with or without a special investigation the department is of the opinion . . ."

The bill further goes on to say that it can make a finding, and that type of finding can relate to everything, such as extra hours, wages, bonuses, and so forth.

The bill states clearly as follows:

> "If on the basis of information in its possession with or without a special investigation . . ."

In other words, this board can, with or without any investigation, go ahead and make its findings. This is the type of encroachment which I do not think benefits anyone. I am in favor of labor as much as any liberal. However, I also do not believe in this type of control. I think we should make a start here and I believe the start should be along the Federal pattern, which is to set a basic minimum wage.

Gentlemen, if we find that these exemptions produce inequitable results, and if these employees are being cheated of a fair, decent wage because they cannot enter into collective bargaining or for other reasons, then we, in our wisdom, can come back here and correct that situation. I, for one, am willing to stand here and take out any exemptions or any other minimums that we are going to need. However, I, for one, as a Legislator who expects to be here for a few years, would rather let us retain some of this power. I do not think we should continue to delegate, on the basis of flexibility, all of this authority to this wage board. In doing so, I think we are going to give up precious prerogatives which are important to preserve. The concentration of influence is really detrimental to the best interests of our democratic process.

Therefore, Mr. President, in this spirit, I would like to support these amendments and I urge my colleague to do likewise.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—27

Bell,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,

SB 932 (Pr. No. 1249)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to ask Senator Weiner whether, on page 67 line 17, that amendment means this question can be brought up in any county once in four years, and specifically in Allegheny County, where I reside, where it was rejected last year by the voters? Does this mean that at the end of a four-year period, it can again be brought up for a vote?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman revert to that page again? What was the page number?

Mr. FLEMING. Page 6, line 17.

Mr. WEINER. That would be correct. In other words, after a four-year period if someone desired to have it placed on the ballot, they would be able to do so. Of course, you would have to have the necessary number of signatures in order to put it on the ballot.

I would just like to point out that this is better than what the county health people get because they need a greater number of signatures.

Mr. FLEMING. How many signatures are required to put it on the ballot?

Mr. WEINER. For what, sir? Are you speaking about the County Health Code or this?

Mr. FLEMING. I am speaking about this matter.

Mr. WEINER. As I remember it, in the original bill which was enacted, you needed approximately twenty per cent of the electorate which voted in the last election.

Mr. FLEMING. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. President, I certainly rise to oppose this bill. When the bill was originally passed permitting the referendum vote on pari-mutuel betting,—which was a radical departure in Pennsylvania by the fact that for the first time we legalized gambling, a step which was certainly not in the public interest— we were given assurances at that time that once this measure was voted on in any county, then it was gone, forgotten and would not be revived. Yet, here we find, only two years later, an attempt being made to permit the question to be brought up every four years. Other sections of the bill are likewise not good, but particularly am I opposed to that provision which would permit it to be voted upon time and time again.

I want to say to you, Mr. President, and to the Members of the Senate that any attempt to legalize gambling and to further the legalization of gambling in Pennsylvania cannot be in the public interest and cannot be in the public good. It cannot make for a better community in which to live; it cannot make for a better community in which to raise children. The arguments, both for and against this measure, I think were very ably and capably presented two years ago. I think those arguments are fresh in the minds of all the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania. They are surely fresh in the minds of the people of Pennsylvania.

Again, Mr. President, I say that we in the Senate of Pennsylvania will be doing a distinct disservice to all the people of Pennsylvania if we give countenance to this attempt to further liberalize the legalization of gambling in Pennsylvania. This is something which definitely, again,—and I repeat myself—cannot be for the public good and cannot make for a better community in which to raise our children and in which to live.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this measure came into being because of comments made and because of the words of Justice Bell when he heard this matter before him. He stated that these corrections which we have made in this bill, with the exception of the four years, which the gentleman pointed out, were necessary and should be done. You will get no one to build a track or to make any kind of an investment of that type. This is quite a substantial investment, and an investor would not make it if he knew that within a year it would be done. I am sure the gentleman, being a prudent man, would not take that chance and I am sure many other people would not either. This just follows the comments which he made when this case was heard by him, and we are covering that eventuality.

There is nothing in here about gambling, there is nothing in here about setting up gambling, and there is nothing in here stating that there will be any gambling, as far as I or anybody else knows. It may come into being after the track is in operation. These things usually follow. However, there is nothing in this bill that deals with that problem. There is nothing in this bill that even sets up any type of gambling.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think the gentleman is presupposing something which has not already happened. I am not saying that it will not happen. There are chances that it might happen. However, the gentleman is already worrying about an eventuality that is not before us here today.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, my question which I intend to ask, if the Majority Leader will permit himself to be interrogated, is along a different line.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would ask the gentleman whether the independent administrative commission, which is to be approved by this bill, will be a different commission than that which has already been formed and has been approved by the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would hope that it might be a different commission in the sense that maybe we can obtain people who are more congenial and who can work together. Under this measure, the commission will remain the same unless new names are sent over by the Governor, thereby changing them.

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. President, it would appear that the intention of this bill is to rip out the existing commission, the members of which have been nominated by the Governor and approved by the Senate. It would permit a new commission to be named by the Governor or a so-called independent administrative commission.

Mr. President, I can see no great advantage in having this accomplished. I would suggest that the membership of the commission, which has received Senate approval, has not been long enough in office in order that its effectiveness might be tested to the fullest.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there is nothing magic about the commission or this board being within the Department of Agriculture. It could have been in any number of departments. The fact that it is an independent commission and an independent operation to deal with this particular problem,—and it is very similar to other boards and commissions that we have in Pennsylvania—I do not think that changes the purport, the administrative procedures, or the objective of what it is supposed to do. I think that by merely removing it or putting it in one area or another does not change its objectives or what it can do.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask for a vertification of the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made to have the roll verified. The Clerk will proceed to call the names of those recorded as voting in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Camiel	Mahady	Ripp	Staisey
Chapman	McCreesh	Rooney	Stiefel
Devlin	McGinnis	Sarraf	Taylor
DiSilvestro	McMenamin	Sesler	Weiner

Kalman	Murray		Presiding Officer

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to know how Senator Rooney voted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the gentleman from Northampton vote?

Mr. ROONEY. I voted "'aye," Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. I would further like to ask whether the gentleman was in the Senate when the roll was called?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, both of those gentlemen were in the Senate, but had stepped out because of telephone calls. However, they are in the Chamber and if you will give me a moment, I will bring them back to this room.

Mr. FLEMING. I only asked about one gentleman; namely, Senator Rooney. I do not know who the other gentleman is.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Rooney was here.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no corrections, the affirmative roll will stand as verified. The Clerk will now proceed to call the names of those recorded as voting in the negative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Bell	Hays	Mallery	Stroup
Berger	Keller	Pechan	Van Sant
Confair	Kessler	Propert	Wade
Flack	Kromer	Scott	Wagner

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXPRESSING APPRECIATION TO LOCAL POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN AND ABINGTON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL FOR UNSELFISH SERVICES RENDERED IN COPING WITH PROBLEMS RISING FROM THE CRASHING OF A NAVY JET AT HORSHAM

Messrs. PROPERT and KELLER, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 6a), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, August 29, 1961.

On Sunday, August 27, a tragic incident occurred in Horsham Township, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania wherein a Navy jet pilot was killed and about a score of persons were hurt.

Hundreds of firemen and local policemen, the Pennsylvania State Police and naval rescue squads were immediately at the scene to render what assistance was needed to prevent further property damage and care for the injured.

The staff and personnel of the Abington Memorial Hospital were equal to the occasion and unselfishly rendered aid and medical attention to the victims.

The performance of the services by the police, firemen and those attached to the hospital in a period of such emergency was without parallel.

Most noteworthy was the display of calmness and restraint in a time of tragedy and disaster by the public at large and the persons immediately concerned with the incident, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expresses its appreciation to the local policemen and firemen for their efforts in coping with problems arising from the crashing of the Navy jet at Horsham; and be it further

Resolved, That the Abington Memorial Hospital be commended for the courageous and unselfish service it rendered to the victims of disaster; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Abington Memorial Hospital, Abington, Pennsylvania.

RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. MULLIN, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on State Government, reported, without amendment, House Concurrent Resolution, entitled:

Commending the Attorney General and the Philadelphia Inquirer in Bringing to a Successful Conclusion Their Campaign in Causing the Gallery of the Barnes Foundation to be Open to the Public.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution will be laid on the table.

Amend Bill, page 14, by inserting after line 19:

Section 306.1 [If an employe who has incurred (through accident or otherwise) permanent partial disability through the loss or loss of use of one hand one arm one foot one leg or one eye, incurs total disability through a subsequent injury causing loss or loss of use of another hand arm foot leg or eye he shall be entitled to additional compensation as follows:

After the cessation of payments by the employer for the period of weeks prescribed in Clause (c) of section 306 for the subsequent injury additional compensation shall be paid during the continuance of total disability at the weekly compensation rate applicable for total disability This additional compensation shall be paid by the Commonwealth only upon an award by a compensation referee or the board All claims for such additional compensation shall be forever barred unless the employe shall have filed a petition therefor with the board within one year after the last payment made under Clause (c) hereof out of the general fund in the State Treasury

The sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) is hereby appropriated to the Department of Labor and Industry for compensation payable by the Commonwealth under this section for the biennium one thousand nine hundred and fifty-nine—one thousand nine hundred sixty-one]

If an employe has incurred a substantial partial disability (through accident or otherwise) and if he shall be injured by a subsequent accident in the course of his employment so that the resultant disability is substantially and materially greater than that which would have resulted from the second injury alone the employer or its insurance carrier shall pay for all resultant disability and obtain contribution from the Second Injury Reserve and Rehabilitation Fund for that part of the compensation not attributable to the second injury in and of itself

All claims for such contributies shall be forever barred unless the employer or its insurance carrier shall have filed a petition therefor with the board or entered into an agreement for the payment thereof with the Second Injury Reserve and Rehabilitation Fund within sixteen months from the time that his or its obligation to pay compensation to the injured employe shall have been established by an agreement or award

The Department of Labor and Industry shall be charged with the conservation of the assets of [said appropriation] the Second Injury Reserve and Rehabilitation Fund in furtherance of this purpose the Attorney General shall appoint a member of his staff to represent the Commonwealth in all proceedings brought to enforce claims against the [Commonwealth] Second Injury Reserve and Rehabilitation Fund In its award the Workmen's Compensation Board [of the Department of Labor and Industry] shall specifically find the amount the injured employe shall be paid weekly [the number of weeks compensation which shall be paid by the employer the data upon which payments out of the State appropriation shall begin and if possible the length of time such payments shall continue] by the Second Injury Reserve and Rehabilitation Fund and the amount to be paid by the employer all payments to cease upon the death of claimant

Any benefits received by any employe or to which he may be entitled by reason of such increased disability from any State or Federal fund or agency to which said employe has not directly contributed shall be regarded as a credit to any award made against the [Commonwealth] Second Injury Reserve and Rehabilitation Fund as aforesaid excepting those benefits received by an employe by reason of service connected physical injuries incurred during any war between the United States of America and any foreign country

Amend Bill, page 32, by inserting after line 9:

Section 4 Section 315 of the act amended February 28 1956 (P L 1120) is amended to read:

Section 315 (a) In cases of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [sixteen months] two years after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within [sixteen months] two years after the accident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [sixteen months] two years after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within [sixteen months] two years after the death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of [sixteen months] two years from the time of the making of the most recent payment prior to date of filing such petition Provided That any payment made under an established plan or policy of insurance for the payment of benefits on account of non-occupational illness or injury shall not be considered to be payment in lieu of workmen's compensation and such payment shall not toll the running of the Statute of Limitations unless it shall conclusively be proven that the employe was led to believe that such payments were in fact made in lieu of compensation

(b) In cases of eye injuries or accidental injuries due to radium poisoning or due to radioactive properties or due to Roentgen rays or in cases where the injury is due to radio-active emissions whether primary or secondary the period of limitations contained herein shall not begin to run until the injury shall have manifested itself by compensable disability

(c) If the employer does not file an accident report as required in the act of July 19 1913 (P L 843) entitled "An act requiring employers to make report to the Department of Labor and Industry of accidents to employees and prescribing a penalty for non-compliance therewith" the period of limitation shall not begin to run until the act shall have been complied with

Section 5 Section 319 of the act amended December 28 1959 (P L 2034) is amended to read:

Section 319 Where the compensable injury is caused in whole or in part by the act or omission of a third party the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe his personal representative his estate or his dependents against such third party to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer reasonable attorney's fees and other proper disbursements incurred in obtaining a recovery or in effecting a compromise settlement shall be prorated between the employer and employe his personal representative his estate or his dependents [The employer shall pay that proportion of the attorney's fees and other proper disbursements that the amount of compensation paid or payable at the time of recovery or settlement bears to the total recovery or settlement] Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation heretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe his personal representative his estate or his dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future instalments of compensation

Where an employe has received payments for the disability or medical expense resulting from an injury by accident in the course of his employment paid by the employer or an insurance company [hospital medical osteopathic or dental service corporation employe or fraternal welfare or benefit association] on the basis that the injury and disability were not compensable under this act in the event of an agreement or award for that injury the employer or insurance company [hospital medical osteopathic or dental service corporation employe or fraternal welfare or benefit association which] who made [any] the payments shall be subrogated out of the agreement or award to the amount so paid [without deduction for attorney's fees or otherwise] if the right to subrogation is agreed to by the parties or is established at the time of hearing before the referee or the board

Section 6 Subsection (a) of section 320 of the act amended February 28 1956 (P L 1120) is amended and the section is amended by adding after subsection (a) a new subsection to read:

Section 320 (a) If the employe at the time of the accident is a minor under the age of eighteen years employed or permitted to work in violation of any provision of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age or compensation either in the case of injury or death of such employe shall be one hundred and fifty per centum of the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed The amount by which such compensation shall exceed that provided for in cases of legal employment may be referred to as "additional compensation"

(a.1) If the accident and the injury is caused or materially contributed to by a violation on the part of his employer of safety statutes or safety rules applicable to the employment in which the employe was injured compensation either in the case of injury or death of such employe shall be one hundred and fifty per centum of the amount that would otherwise be payable to such employe The amount by which such compensation shall exceed the compensation payable had there not been a violation as herein provided may be referred to as "additional compensation"

Section 7 Section 410 of the act amended December 28 1959 (P L 2034) is amended to read:

Section 410 If after any accident the employer and the employe or his dependent concerned in any accident shall fail to agree upon the facts thereof and the compensation due under this act the employe or his dependents may present a claim for compensation to the board

Whenever any claim for compensation is presented to the board and is finally adjudicated in favor of the claimant the amounts of compensation actually due at the time the first payment is made after such adjudication shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the day such claim is presented and such interest shall be payable to the same persons as the compensation is payable The claimant shall also have the right to reimbursement for the reasonable costs of procuring the attendance of necessary witnesses in such amount and upon complying with such conditions as the Workmen's Compensation Board shall by rule provide

In case any claimant shall die before the final adjudication of his claim the amount of compensation due such claimant to the date of death shall be paid to the dependents entitled to compensation or if there be no dependents then to the estate of the decedent

Whenever any claim for compensation is presented to the board or a referee and the injury and accident are not denied and the only issue involved is the liability as between the defendant or the carrier or two or more defendants or carriers the referee or the board shall forthwith order payments to be immediately made by the defendants or the carriers in said case After the referee or the board render a final decision the payments made by the defendant or carrier not liable in the case shall be awarded or assessed against the defendant or carrier liable in the case as costs in the proceedings in favor of the defendant or carrier not liable in the case

Section 8 Section 413 of the act amended February 28 1956 (P L 1120) is amended to read:

Section 413 The board or a referee designated by the board may at any time review and modify or set aside an original or supplemental agreement upon petition filed by either party with the board or in the course of the proceedings under any petition pending before such board or referee if it be proved that such agreement was in any material respect incorrect

The board or referee designated by the board may at any time modify reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award upon petition filed by either party with such board upon proof that the disability of an injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or that the status of any dependent has changed Such modification reinstatement suspension or termination shall be made as of the date upon which it is shown that the disability of the injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or upon which it is shown that the status of any dependent has changed Provided That except in the case of eye injuries no agreement or award shall be reviewed or modified or reinstated unless a petition is filed with the board within two years after the date of the most recent payment of compensation made prior to the filing of such petition And provided further That any payment made under an established plan or policy of insurance for the payment of benefits on account of nonoccupational illness or injury shall not be considered to be payment in lieu of workmen's compensation and such payment shall not toll the running of the Statute of Limitations And provided further That where compensation has been suspended because the employe's earnings are equal to or in excess of his wages prior to the accident that payments under the agreement or award may be resumed at any time during the period for which compensation for partial disability is payable unless it be shown that the loss in earnings does not result from the disability due to the injury

The board or referee to whom any such petition has been assigned may subpoena witnesses hear evidence make findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in the same manner and with the same effect and subject to the same right of appeal as if such petition were an original claim petition

The filing of a petition to terminate or modify a compensation agreement or award as provided in this section shall operate as a supersedeas and shall suspend the payment of compensation fixed in the agreement or by the award in whole or to such extent as the facts alleged in the petition would if proved require Provided That if an employer does not file such a petition to modify or terminate the agreement or award within twenty days after he has ceased making regular payments of compensation the filing of the petition shall not operate as a supersedeas prior to the date of filing the said petition and compensation shall be payable as theretofore provided until the date the petition is filed Where an employer shall file a petition to terminate the payment of compensation or modify the payment of compensation to a lesser amount than that payable under the agreement or award theretofore existing each such petition shall be supported by a statement of an examining physician setting forth whether all disability due to the accident has terminated or whether the disability has diminished and if the latter the extent of partial disability that remains Each such statement shall specify briefly the examining physician's findings on which he bases his opinions Where some degree of partial disability remains payments of compensation for such partial disability shall be payable weekly during the pendency of the proceedings If no such statement by an examining physician is included with the petition the employe shall be paid the maximum compensation payable for partial disability until the petition shall be finally determined

Section 9 The first and second paragraphs of section 428 of the act amended December 28 1959 (P L 2034) are amended to read:

Section 428 Whenever the employer who has accepted and complied with the provisions of section three hundred five shall be in default in compensation payments for thirty days or more the employe or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the entire balance payable under the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Where the compensation so payable is for a total [and permanent] disability the judgment shall be in the amount of thirty thousand dollars less such amount as the employer shall have actually paid pursuant to such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Wherever after an accident any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with an employer who has not accepted or complied with the provisions of section three hundred five or shall file a claim petition with the board against such employer he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as judgment against the employer and where the amount so stipulated or claimed is for total [and permanent] disability such judgment shall be in the sum of thirty thousand dollars If the agreement be approved by the department or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, these voluminous amendments would restore the bill in all respects to the way it was before it was amended in committee.

Therefore, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments. I also ask for a roll call.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the reason for bringing this bill back to its original version is that we feel it is a much stronger bill. It would also make it much easier to administer. It would make it a better bill in the sense that the provisions that were in it in the House dealt with the heart of the problem and contained many provisions which we think should be in there.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this measure.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now turns the gavel over to the Lieutenant Governor to preside.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will please continue with the calling of the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BERGER and were as follows, viz:

The PRESIDENT. There being a tie vote on the adoption of these amendments, the Chair, as President of the Senate, will vote in the affirmative. The amendments, therefore, are adopted by a vote of 26-25.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

HB 1638 (Pr. No. 2692)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL REREFERRED

HB 1796 (Pr. No. 2377)—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. LANE, and agreed to, the bill was rereferred to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILL OVER IN ORDER TEMPORARILY

HB 1811—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order temporarily at the request of Mr. WEINER.

SB 769 CALLED UP

SB 769 (Pr. No. 917)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 2 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

EDUCATION BILL OVER IN ORDER

SB 769—Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now request that Senate Bill No. 769 go over in its order.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from what purpose the bill is being put over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Department of Public Instruction is not in favor of this measure. They feel this is a poorly prepared measure in so far as what the bill is attempting to accomplish. The purpose of the bill seems to be all right, but the Department feels this is the wrong way to go about it or handle this situation.

In Allegheny County, there already is a setup to take care of this particular problem, dealing with handicapped children. They feel this is unnecessary. If the gentleman would like to bring it up for a vote, I will be delighted to do so. I will not quarrel about it and we can dispose of it in that fashion.

Mr. FLEMING. I want to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Likewise, I do not wish to quarrel about this matter. This is badly needed legislation in Allegheny County, where I think we have made great advances in the schooling of handicapped children. In nothern Allegheny County, it is badly needed. I certainly must bow to the wisdom of the Department of Public Instruction and to the Majority Leader. If the bill is faulty, certainly there is nothing to do except send it back to committee. I can only hope that at some future date we will be able to implement the School Code in order that this situation, not only in Allegheny County but all over Pennsylvania, can be more adequately handled.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

A motion was made by Mr. DEVLIN and Mr. LANE,

That the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session for the purpose of considering certain nominations made by the Governor.

Which was agreed to.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. DEVLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nominations made by His Excellency, the Governor, which were just reported from committee and read by the Clerk.

On the question,

Will the Senate advise and consent to the nominations?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Bell,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,
Camiel,	Kessler,	Propert,	Stroup,
Chapman,	Kromer,	Ripp,	Taylor,
Confair,	Lane,	Rooney,	Van Sant,
Devlin,	Madigan,	Sarraf,	Wade,
DiSilvestro,	Mahady,	Scott,	Wagner,
Ehrgood,	Mallery,	Sesler,	Ware, III,
Flack,	McCreesh,	Seyler,	Weiner,
Fleming,	McGinnis,	Shafer,	Wolfe,
Haluska,	McMenamin,	Silvert,	Yatron,
Hawbaker,	Miller,	Staisey,	Donolow,
Hays,	Mullin,		Presiding Officer

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if I may, I would like to make an observation. We have just confirmed a very, very great friend of mine, and an old friend of mine, in the person of Mr. James H. Adamson, from Charleroi, Pennsylvania. Mr. Adamson will now be a member of the Board of Trustees of California State College.

We know Mr. James H. Adamson as "K.O." Adamson, one of the top amateur boxers in western Pennsylvania during his day. Mr. Adamson is also a graduate of State College and at one time served as president of the Alumni. He happens to be a very close, personal friend of mine. I might say that as long as I have been a Member of this Senate, this is the first time I have had one of my best friends confirmed as an official in State Government. Therefore, to "K.O." Adamson, I say that I wish him all the luck in the world. I know the people at California State College and the people in State Government will be, indeed, happy and they will be well satisfied with the services of "K.O." Adamson.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, advising that the following Senate Bill had been approved and signed by the Governor:

SB 875

NOMINATION BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

ALDERMAN

August 29, 1961.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Henry R. Ryan, 7438 Race Street, Pittsburgh 8, Allegheny County, for appointment as Alderman in and for the Thirteenth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, to serve until the first Monday of January 1962, vice Mrs. Sarah R. Kirk, resigned.

COMMITTEES OF CONFERENCE APPOINTED ON HB 1277 AND HB 1335

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair announces, on behalf of the President pro tempore, the appointment of Committees of Conference on the part of the Senate to confer with similar committees of the House (if the House shall appoint such committees) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to the following bills:

House Bill No. 1277—Messrs. LANE, HALUSKA and VAN SANT

House Bill No. 1335—Messrs. WEINER, LANE and BERGER

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE SUBMITTED

Mr. MAHADY submitted the Report of Committee of Conference on HB 1407, which was laid over for printing under the rules.

HB 1811 CALLED UP

HB 1811 (Pr. No. 2470)—Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 13 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1811 (Pr. No. 2470)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which this bill just passed third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VAN SANT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

> Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 14, by striking out "scheduled" and inserting: initial
> Amend Sec. 7, page 10, line 8, by inserting after "Commonwealth": provided however that no form or rate in effect upon the effective date of this act shall be disapproved or reduced by order of the commissioner
> Amend Sec. 7, page 11, line 6, by inserting after "review": Notwithstanding any other provisions of this act any rate or form in effect upon the effective date of this act may be continued during the period of any hearing by the commissioner and thereafter during the period of any appeal and until such appeal is finally adjudicated by the court having ultimate jurisdiction including appellate courts

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I would like to oppose these amendments. Credit life and credit accident insurance in Pennsylvania is a multimillion dollar business. I believe there are over 3,000,000 policies in effect in Pennsylvania today, with absolutely no regulation whatsoever. Pennsylvania is one of the few leading States in the Nation that does not have the regulation of credit life, accident and health insurance. The amendments which have been submitted by Senator Van Sant will have a disastrous effect on the merits of this bill. I hope that my colleagues will vote against them.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, the amendments, offered by Senator Van Sant, would keep in effect a rate which might be unreasonable at this particular time. I cannot see any reason at all for doing that. If the rate would be unreasonable, bad and discriminatory, I do not believe we should go ahead and keep that in effect by amendments such as this.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to get into the midst of these orators on this bill. However, there are several flaws in the amendments as offered by the gentleman, and they are as follows:

You are asking that the Insurance Commissioner be bound by rates which, number one, were never submitted to him; number two, by rates which he has never had an opportunity to look at; and, thirdly, you are saying to him that whether these rates are good or bad, we are asking him—the Insurance Commissioner—to approve them because they were in effect on the date when this measure went into effect.

Suppose, between today and whenever this bill goes into effect, these rates were raised. The Insurance Commissioner would be blanketing in these rates and the very purport and purpose of this bill would, in effect, be lost. I am sure this was not intended by these amendments.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, part of the amendments provide that these people who are in this business would also have the opportunity to appeal to the courts. As I presently understand it, when the Insurance Commissioner is presented with a fire and casualty rate, then he has the privilege of accepting or rejecting the rate. If he rejects it, the people concerned have the right to appeal to the court.

For that reason, Mr. President, I think these amendments should be inserted in order to protect a business which in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, is a big one. This bill will affect seventy-five per cent of the smaller companies and permit the larger companies to usurp the business which is now being shared at the local level by many of the writers of credit life insurance.

Mr. President, may the Senate be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I just want to state that under Section 13 of the proposed bill—House Bill No. 1811—it provides for an appeal under the procedure set forth in the Administrative Agency Law, approved June 4, 1945. This, in effect, means that an appeal can be taken to the Common Pleas Court of Dauphin County, as under any circumstances provided for in the Administrative Agency Law.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. VAN SANT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—10

Bell,	Mahady,	Stroup,	Wade,
Flack,	Miller,	Van Sant,	Ware, III,
Madigan,	Scott,

NAYS—38

Berger,	Kalman,	Murray,	Silvert,

Fleming,	McCreesh,	Sesler,	Wolfe,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Seyler,	Yatron,
Hawbaker,	McMenamin,	Shafer,	Donolow,
Hays,	Mullin,		Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VAN SANT, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

> Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 15, by inserting after "debtor": or group of debtors.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I rise to speak against this amendment in view of the fact that it provides for inserting the following after the word "debtor": "or group of debtors." The rule of interpretation would be that the singular includes the plural and there would be no necessity for this amendment to be offered.

For that reason, Mr. President, I would ask the Members of the Senate to defeat this amendment.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I rise in support of the amendment. I agree with the statement made by Senator Ehrgood, but not with the conclusion which he has attributed to it. The debtor may include a group of debtors in the ordinary sense, but not in this bill.

The whole crux of this legislation rises out of the fact that many people who opposed this bill the last time are now in favor of it. This is because of the fact that the three leading people in this field now secure group insurance. The group insurance rate is not available to the ordinary, single operator or the little fellow.

If this amendment is adopted, it insures that this bill also covers the group and the group insurance. No longer will individual policies be issued. Group insurance is covered only by a master policy. Therefore, the difference between the master policy and the group is the purpose of this clarifying amendment. Even if you were to assume their premise, as an abundance of caution, we want to make sure that the man who writes group insurance is also going to be bound by this legislation.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I cannot understand the statement made by Senator Mahady about the little man. The man about whom we are talking here is the loan company. Before a loan is granted to an individual, the loan manager, or whoever takes the application, explains to him that he can have credit accident and health insurance and he can have credit life insurance. The loan company is not selling this insurance in order to protect the borrower. They are selling the insurance in order to protect the loan company. If, in 1963 or 1965, the loan companies are not making enough money, maybe it is up to this legislative Body to increase the interest rates. However, I cannot understand the correlation between insurance and loans. I think this is the finest piece of legislation that we will have an opportunity to vote for during this Session for the consumer—for the man on Main Street. That is the man whom we represent here in Harrisburg.

I ask all of my colleagues to vote against this amendment and vote in favor of the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to concur in what has been said by my distinguished colleague, Senator Rooney.

It seems that everybody is talking about the lender or the businessman. Nobody is thinking about the small consumer. Some years ago, I sponsored legislation for the small loan companies whereby we increased the amount they could lend from $300 to $600. At that time, when I did that, some of the very opponents that we presently have were opposed to that type of legislation. They argued that they would be run out of business. Let me tell you, Mr. President, that they have never had it so good. One of the reasons why they are objecting to this bill is because they are receiving as much as two dollars for $100 and they do not want anybody to regulate them out of it.

The banks charge you something like thirty-eight cents per $100. As I understand it, the large companies, which are being referred to, charge fifty cents per $100. There are some of these little fellows who are charging for life insurance as much as two dollars per $100.

It is about time that we think about the little guy once in awhile and try to help him.

When I did introduce the measure which increased the lending from $300 to $600, we also decreased the amount of interest that the consumer had to pay.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, Senator Pechan has referred to the fact that this does not help the little fellow. If I buy an automobile and I were to be killed in an accident and the automobile were financed, the remainder of the cost of the automobile would be paid up. Is that correct? Is it also correct that my widow would have a clear title to that automobile?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes. If you had your insurance paid up and something happened to you, your wife—

Mr. VAN SANT. It is assumed that my insurance would be paid up.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes.

Mr. VAN SANT. Is not my wife a little person and is she not receiving the benefit of this?

Mr. PECHAN. I cannot understand what your wife is doing with a small loan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Armstrong is out of order.

Mr. VAN SANT. Senator Pechan, the difference between your financial business and my financial business is none because we are both down in the mouth.

Now, Senator, this is a great potential because during the last Session out in your very District, I learned of a newspaperman who had bought an automobile and was in an accident. If he had not had the insurance, then his widow would have been expected to pay that debt. This insurance is good for people.

The gentleman pointed out another thing when he said that these large group companies, referred to by Senator Mahady, can write this insurance at fifty cents per $100 under the group plan. Therefore, I think they would be in unfair competition with the little fellow, like the gentleman who wrote this letter. He is an automobile dealer and has his own finance agency, the same as many other dealers throughout the Commonwealth. This would put them in unfair competition.

For that reason, Mr. President, I would request that my colleagues vote for this clarifying amendment and that the words "or group of debtors" be included in this legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—12

Bell,	Flack,	Miller,	Van Sant,
Berger,	Madigan,	Scott,	Wade,
Confair,	Mahady,	Stroup,	Ware, III,

NAYS—36

Camiel,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Shafer,
Chapman,	Keller,	Murray,	Silvert,

Haluska,	McCreesh,	Sarraf,	Wolfe,

Hawbaker,	McGinnis,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Seyler,	Donolow,
			Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAHADY, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 8, page 13, lines 5 to 13 by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is the crux, to a great extent, of the impact of this bill upon the loan companies. I do not intend to dwell on the bill. I have previously restricted myself to the amendments. However, because of the answers which have been given in relation to the other amendments, there are a few things that I must say.

At the present time, Mr. President, the maximum rate is limited to one per cent, or one dollar. The Banking Department very rigidly enforces that. In their audit, they also audit the refunds where policies are cancelled and the money is given back. Let us distinguish between this bill so that the proponents of it may be clear in their own minds. The Banking Department regulates the loan companies. The Insurance Department regulates the insurance in connection with the loan companies. There seems to be some misapprehension or misunderstanding upon that point.

The fact is that the group rate is fifty cents and not thirty-eight cents, as was said here. Let me also say that I think Senator Pechan, by his remarks, has a beclouded memory. He is not old enough to have a clouded memory, which is only for people who are much more advanced in years. The bill he was talking about is the one which he introduced to raise the small loan business from $600 to $800. That is the bill about which he was talking, and the bill which the Governor vetoed. He vetoed it because it would have destroyed the individual operator and would have been the end of the small loan companies.

Mr. President, you will note that we are trying to eliminate 8 (e), thereby eliminating the giving of commissions to companies. That is the matter under discussion and the meat of the discussion at the moment. There are two landmarks in this bill. Life insurance has never been regulated. It has been free on the open market and has set its own rates. They were not set by arbitrary action, but by the mortality tables and by the actuaries who worked out the science because of the lives and the deaths and what could be afforded on the market.

If this bill is passed, it will be the first time that life in any form has ever been regulated and the free market will disappear. That is one of the dangers of the bill. However, getting to the heart of 8 (e), no loan company today is allowed to get anything except interest. For the first time, so that the people who have group insurance can put that commission in their own company and have an additional increment beside their interest, they have included 8 (e). That was the deal: You give us regulations, and we will give you the right to put that in your own company.

The idea of this amendment is to remove one of those hurdles. That is the hurdle which is there; that you can put the money into the company and you will find that the commissions will go into the company for the first time, rather than to the agent.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate, but there has been so much misinformation about this matter and so much bad feeling. I do not want to go into it, but I do want to correct Senator Mahady.

I never introduced a bill raising it from $600 to $800, which was vetoed. Where the gentleman got his information, I do not know. I sponsored a bill which raised the ante from $300 to $600 and it is presently the law. I do not know where Senator Mahady gets all his misinformation. However, let us not go back to what happened two weeks ago or I am liable to break down and cry for keeps this time. I do not want to do that.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I do prefer to address myself to the amendment which was offered, instead of going into the merits of the bill at this time.

Speaking on the amendment that was offered to Section 8 (e), page 13 of the bill, there is presently a doubt—and the law needs some clarification—as to whether commissions on credit life insurance can be legally accepted by the individuals or the companies writing that insurance. This provision in the bill now provides that. So, there is no question under the Small Loan Act that these commissions can be accepted.

In answer to Senator Mahady, I would ask the gentlemen of this Senate whether it is not better to have the commissions go to the company itself, rather than under the table to various individuals who have been using them for other purposes.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask the gentlemen to defeat this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ROONEY and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—9

Bell,	Kalman,	Stroup,	Wade,
Flack,	Mahady,	Van Sant,	Ware, III,
Hays,

NAYS—37

Berger,	Kessler,	Murray,	Shafer,
Camiel,	Kromer,	Pechan,	Silvert,
Chapman,	Lane,	Propert,	Stevenson,
Devlin,	Mallery,	Ripp,	Taylor,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Wagner,

Fleming,	McMenamin,	Scott,	Wolfe,
Haluska,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Hawbaker,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Donolow,
Keller,			Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendment was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I assume that we are now speaking on the bill itself. Is that correct?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong the debate much longer, but I would like to point out something very important to the Members of the Senate.

We get so enamored, perhaps, with the idea that this bill only affects credit life insurance in connection with small loan companies, which is entirely incorrect. For example, anyone going to a bank and obtaining a loan to purchase a car and then has, as Senator Van Sant pointed out, the car insured—including life insurance on that individual—that is also involved in this case. That can go up to $3,000, for example, if you borrow $3,000 on a $4,000 car.

The problem here is that you have involved in credit life insurance something like one billion and three-quarter million dollars in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania alone, and something like thirty-one billion dollars over the United States as a whole. As I understand it, Pennsylvania ranks fourth in the Nation in the amount of this credit life insurance.

Mr. President, when you are talking about one and three-fourth billion dollars in Pennsylvania alone, you are getting into real money. When you start thinking about the commissions on one and three-fourth billion dollars, even at a few cents, you will understand the amount of money which is involved here.

As Senator Rooney so aptly put it, "Who are we protecting here?" We are protecting the consumer. The consumer is the individual who we want to be sure is receiving a fair rate and something which is reasonable. The difference between fifty cents and one dollar, for example, can be tremendous on the amount of insurance that is written.

I touched on the point that perhaps it is a great thing that these commissions start going into the company itself, where they show up on the books, and everyone is aware of what is going on. The Insurance Commissioner has the power to regulate something like this under this bill. Is it unreasonable to give the Insurance Commissioner the power to regulate something like this under this bill. Is one and three-fourth billion dollars? Apparently, I think the answer is no.

Let me point out one other thing. Of course, there has been a great deal of comment and discussion about how the Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate, in 1955, looked into this problem. It may have applied merely to Kansas; that, I do not know because I did not study it that far. However, there certainly were found to be abuses in this field. This bill is to protect—I do not like to use the words "little fellow" because the little fellow is not involved in this any more than anyone else. If I go to a bank and have to finance my automobile, I am the same as anybody else. I believe we are all involved in this case. Every major State—I am talking about New York, Ohio, Illinois, and so forth—has such a bill as this. Thus, I think we are not going ahead and trying to introduce something new. Incidentally, there has been an objection made that we are trying to favor out-of-State companies over the local companies. Of course, that is incorrect, Mr. President. What is occurring is that the Insurance Commissioner would have the power to regulate the rates no matter what company, and to see that they are reasonable. For example, what would be reasonable for one company may be fifty-five or sixty cents whereas, for another, it may be forty cents. Is that not to the benefit of the individual who goes in and gets a loan? That is the thing which I think we should keep in mind in voting on this bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I was a little bit in error in my reply to Senator Mahady.

Senator Van Sant brought me the History of the 1959 Session, showing that Senate Bill No. 868 was sponsored by Senator Pechan and Senator Ruth, the Minority Whip on the other side. I see by the Senate History that this bill passed, which increased the indebtedness to $800. The bill passed the Senate by a vote of 39-11. It went through a long history of Conference Committee Reports. It was passed by the House and then was finally vetoed by the Governor on December 3, 1959.

I want to say to Senator Mahady that I am sorry, but I had completely forgotten about this. However, I did know it had nothing to do with insurance. I am not a sponsor of the bill we are presently debating. I am merely interested in it because I think it is a good bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to ask my colleagues to support House Bill No. 1811.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I did not intend to belabor the point. I would not have pursued it, but I appreciate clearing the record.

Mr. President, this bill seems to revolve around a plea for the small man. All right, let us make that plea.

There is no question about what Senator Rooney said when he said: "If necessary, we will raise the rates." If it is necessary to raise the rates, there must be some reason to cause them to raise the rates. Therefore, let us put that on the tables.

The small loan companies pay their managers by permitting them to be the insurance agents. They receive the commissions. In that way, they obtain capable men and they are able to stay in business. There is always a plea regarding every bill that they will go out of business. The proponents say: "Produce proof of it." All right, Mr. President, I shall produce the proof.

The consumer discount people already have a bill in the Banking Committee of this Senate to raise the service charges for the companies, in order to meet the bad effects of this bill. They are already pushing the Members of the Banking Committee to get it out on the floor and to get it out fast in order to raise these service charges so they can make the money up the other way. Therefore, if it is six of one and a half-dozen of another, and you are robbing Peter to pay Paul, what do we accomplish by this bill?

Senator Ehrgood said that the biggest danger is under-the-counter transactions. In the same breath, he said that this applies to banks. What bank, in its right mind, can you accuse of accepting money under the table? That is not done in banks. It cannot be done and they cannot show it on the books. The banks which do the volume in this, in the amounts about which the gentleman spoke, are so big that they would not dare, nor would any employee dare to accept it under the table.

Let me say that I know speeches do not change votes; that your minds are already made up. However, for the record to be clear, I shall speak about the Judiciary Committee of 1955. We already spoke about the action of the Banking Department in making the maximum one per cent on each $100, or a maximum rate of one dollar, and that is well policed. In Kansas, in 1955, they found abuses. Many of them have been corrected, even in Kansas. However, those abuses to that extent were never found in Pennsylvania. Again, we find the number zone of cloudiness of thinking which does not distinguish between the Banking Department's jurisdiction, and it is the Banking Department that will have to police the evils. They do this and they do a good job, and the men are setting rates.

Again I say to you—and particularly to my colleagues across the aisle who have always said they stand four-square against regulations—that you are taking the first step toward regulating life insurance which has ever been taken. You are interfering with the free market in something that has never been regulated before. Why? Is it to make a record which will show that we want to regulate it? Under the Banking Department, the small loan industry and those companies which come under its jurisdiction are already regulated. In the Consumer's Discount Bill, you have a paragraph which does this and you have it in the Banking Code. It is followed through in every respect.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I say this is the biggest evil that we have found. A Justice once said that the power to tax involves the power to destroy. The power to regulate also involves the power to destroy. However, when the giants come in and use the power to regulate in such a manner as to determinedly and actually know that they are going to destroy their competition, then we should not lend them a hand.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no" on this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Delaware will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

Chapman,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Silvert,
DiSilvestro,	Kromer,	Propert,	Taylor,
Ehrgood,	Lane,	Ripp,	Wagner,
Fleming,	McGinnis,	Rooney,	Ware, III,

Berger,	Madigan,	Sarraf,	Stroup,
Camiel,	Mahady,	Staisey,	Van Sant,
Devlin,	Mallery,	Stevenson,	Wade,
Flack,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, there has been so much talk here about the little man in the last half-hour that I think this would be a good time to introduce a birthday resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO SENATOR JOHN H. WARE, III

Mr. VAN SANT, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 7a), which was read, considered and adopted:

In the Senate, August 29, 1961.

Today marks the fifty-third birthday of John H. Ware, III, one of the newest Members of this distinguished Body. Senator Ware was born on August 29, 1908. In 1930, he was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and in 1940 he married the former Marian R. Snyder. Today, they are the proud parents of four children.

The good Senator from Chester County was elected to the Senate in 1960, and if he continues to represent his District and the people of Pennsylvania in the excellent manner that he has evidenced during his first term, his presence in the Senate Chamber will be felt for a long time to come. Very seldom does a man make such a distinguished mark in his first term as a Member and it is significant to note that this is the first time that John ever ran for a State office.

On this occasion, we want to wish John Ware a very happy birthday and wish him many more; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate now be at ease for a few moments so that we can all wish John H. Ware, III, a happy birthday; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be given to Senator Ware.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair congratulates the gentleman from Chester, Senator Ware, on his birthday. May he have many, many more birthdays in the years to come.

HOUSE MESSAGE

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 129, with the information that the House has concurred in the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the resolution, as amended.

The resolution, as amended, was read by the Clerk as follows:

ADJOURNMENT SINE DIE

In the Senate, August 22, 1961.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That this regular session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die on Friday, September 1, 1961, at 9:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

SENATE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 129

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I might say that it will be very much earlier than 9:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, when we adjourn sine die.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a ten minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a ten minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, August 29, 1961

The House met at 11 a. m., e. s. t.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Eternal Father and Protector, we look to Thee in the beginning of this day's session fully recognizing Thy presence in the life of each one of us. We are aware that past experiences and practices have many times caused us to stray from the way in which Thou wouldst have us walk; and we are aware that some early fixations have led us into behavior not in keeping with our station in life. So, O God, we humbly pray that we may not be swayed by power, prestige, or the love of money; but lead us as Thy humble servants to walk in the way that is pleasing to Thee: through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Thursday, June 29, Monday, July 10, Tuesday, July 11 and Wednesday, July 12, 1961? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform the membership that we want, after the committees report, to vote on H.B. 773 on page 7, H.B. 1702 on page 7 and the concurrences that are noncontroversial and agreed to. Then we want to break for lunch and caucus. The cafeteria will be open for our membership at that time, so we will have those roll calls before we break. This will perhaps not be too long.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

APPROPRIATION BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE
(NON-PREFERRED)

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House bill No. 773, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of April 1, 1863 (P. L. 213), entitled "An act to accept the grant of Public Lands by the United States to the several states for the endowment of Agricultural Colleges" making an appropriation for carrying the same into effect.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Fulmer.

Mr. FULMER. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, it was my intention to offer amendments to House bill 773 at the proper time. Now it seems that the proper time has not come and will not arrive.

I have been advised by those responsible for university programs that it would be inadvisable to offer any further amendents to House bill 773.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, permit me to say that my efforts were made in good faith. At the same time it seems to me that it would be most unfair to ignore the wishes of those responsible and run the risk of further jeopardizing the position of the university and its many loyal employes.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, my amendments will remain silent for the present.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on behalf of the administration, the staff and supporting personnel of Penn State and myself, allow me to express our appreciation for your understanding of the needs of Penn State. All of us are hopeful this understanding may be enhanced in months to come. All of us know that with proper understanding will come proper and adequate support.

Mr. Speaker, I know we want to get on with the day, and therefore I would like to file the rest of my remarks for the record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's remarks will be spread upon the record.

Mr. FULMER submitted the following remarks for the record:

Mr. Speaker, members of the House, it was my sincere hope that at this time the Governor through his leadership in the House of Representatives would have supported the requests for funds made by the Pennsylvania State University.

In March, I introduced House bill 1073 with the cosponsorship of Representative Reibman. This bill was introduced at the request of the university. The bill would have provided the sum of $23,100,000 which the Pennsylvania State University requested. This is the sum Dr. Eric Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, stated was needed to provide the faculty, staff and supporting personnel with a fair and reasonable increase in salary and to provide funds needed to carry out the increased demands made upon the university.

At a later date, June 29, 1961, I, along with Representatives Hamilton, Stone and Whittaker, introduced another bill, House bill 1823, which spelled out how the increased monies would be spent. It is particularly important that the following provisions of the bill be set forth:

(9) For the use of the School of Agriculture for expenditure by the Agricultural Experiment Station for research and investigation of mastitis in dairy cattle the sum of fifty-two thousand dollars ($52,000).

(10) For the salary increases and to cover the cost of admitting additional studies the sum of four million dollars ($4,000,000).

(11) To offset rising costs of operating present program the sum of two hundred seventy-five thousand one hundred forty-nine dollars ($275,-149).

(12) For research in treating detergents in sewage disposal systems the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000).

(13) For applied research in the control of smoke caused by burning coal culm banks the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000).

(14) For research and development of farm seeds the sum of three hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($325,000).

(15) Research for the controlling of contamination of streams by coal acids the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000).

(16) To furnish new classrooms and laboratories the sum of six hundred forty-four thousand dollars ($644,000).

It was our hope that the Select Committee on Education would give serious consideration to this bill. Unfortunately, for one reason or another the committee never had the bill before it, officially at least.

It is regrettable that the present administration has seen fit to disregard both of these. It is unfortunate because according to Dr. Walker these monies are needed if the university is to meet its obligation to its employes and to the people of the Commonwealth.

It is my understanding that the Pennsylvania State University through its facilities at University Park and its Commonwealth campuses at Allentown, Altoona, Erie, DuBois, Hazleton, McKeesport, New Kensington, Ogontz, Pottsville, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Wyomissing and York is prepared to assume increased responsibilities in the academic pursuits both formal and informal classes—both undergraduate and graduate study—both for credit and non-credit course work, in basic and applied research, in agriculture and other extension work provided that sufficient funds are made available.

It is interesting to note that the university has increased its enrollment by 1800 students since 1959 and at the same time the budget submitted by the Governor is the same on an annual basis as it was in 1959. In this connection it should be stated that because of the limitations only 5,000 of the 26,000 who expressed an interest in attending Penn State will be admitted this fall.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me it is important that we remember that the Pennsylvania State University belongs to the people of Pennsylvania. It is important that we bear in mind that the Pennsylvania State University has a responsibility to the people of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, what is needed is support from the Governor and his administration.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1531.

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" further providing for the disposal of surplus materials salvaged from State highways and bridges.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the amendment.

The clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend bill, Section 1, page 3, line 19 by inserting after the word "Supervisors" the following: boards of township commissioners councils of boroughs and cities and boards of county commissioners.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on House bill 1531 the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Flynn, has met with the Department of Property and Supplies regarding the administrative problem we had on this bill. At first in our caucus it was discussed that this could not be handled administratively as the amendments were placed in House bill 1531. I have been informed this morning, after a conference, that it can be handled and, therefore, I am going to move that the House do concur in the amendments placed in House bill 1531 by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority whip.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, we are very pleased with the information the gentleman has received, because we also concur in the amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendment made by the Senate?

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the court of common pleas in the fiftieth judicial district and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in the position of having to oppose a bill that I introduced.

This bill creating a second judgeship in Butler County was agreed upon by leaders of both parties in our county and introduced with the provision for an election in November of this year. This bill was introduced in May and the final date was August 8; it would have had to be passed by that date in order for us to have an election this fall. Since that date is past, I now ask all the members to vote against this bill. We have got along up until now and we can get along for a few more years without it. Thank you.

Esler,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 667, entitled:

An Act creating and establishing a continuing career system for professional personnel in or assigned to the Department of Highways, establishing and vesting certain powers in the Highway Professional Personnel Board and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. McNally.

Mr. McNALLY. Mr. Speaker, in Senate bill 667, the purpose of the act is to establish a career system for professional personnel which will attract and retain qualified people. The recruitment of engineers and professional people in the department over a long period of years has suffered, particularly in going into engineering universities and so forth, where they had to take the bottom of the class simply because they could not give any security in future years to a professional person.

At the present time the district engineers all over the Commonwealth are approximately 60 years old and the department has nobody in its own ranks to any great degree who can fill these positions.

The bill is self-explanatory. It is on your desk. I would request everybody on both sides of the aisle to support this piece of legislation. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1603, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for a training area and armory site in Somerset County.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Stiteler.

Mr. STITELER. Mr. Speaker, this is a purely nonpartisan measure if ever there has been one in this House. Somerset County has a valiant history in all the wars of our Country, in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, in the Civil War, when 4,000 boys went out from Somerset County and one out of ten never came back; and in the Spanish American War. In World War I, three companies from Somerset County were shot to pieces, and in World War II, their record was equally distinguished.

This was an infantry outfit until just recently. It has been converted into a tank outfit and the boys there find themselves in the position of a cavalry troop without horses. It is as though a submarine tries to maneuver in the middle of the Sahara Desert.

I want to pay tribute to the Military Affairs Committee for unanimously reporting this bill out and the members of this House who were gracious enough to come there and look the ground over and see what the conditions are. The purpose of this bill is to provide means for these boys to train to protect their Country. We are talking about $10,000. Thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1818

Mr. SCARCELLI. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House bill No. 1818, printer's No. 2679, entitled:

"An Act amending the 'Unemployment Compensation Law,' approved December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897), redefining State and modifying certain provisions as to eligibility of individuals while in training or when permanently separated."

was defeated on final passage Monday, August 28, 1961, be reconsidered.

Mr. CAULEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scarcelli, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. SCARCELLI. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cauley, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. CAULEY. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, after the roll call I would like to request a personal privilege to speak.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will recognize the gentleman.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to vote "aye."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. BOWMAN and FETTEROLF and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BOWMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it has always been my practice to play the game as fairly as possible. However, the events that have just occurred, while I do not question the procedural propriety, I very seriously take exception to the technique employed.

At no time was I advised that House bill 1818 would be immediately voted upon after being brought back for reconsideration. I was advised that the bill would be reconsidered, and, wrongly or rightly, I assumed that the normal procedure in these cases would be employed, namely, that it would be postponed and put on the calendar again. This did not happen. I voted with respect to the motion to reconsider and I fully expected to be afforded the privilege, either before the bill was voted on today, or expecting, rather, that it would be voted upon tomorrow, to be given that opportunity. In the rush of events that opportunity was denied to me.

I merely point this out to say that in these closing days I recognize the problems, I recognize the pressure we are under, but I think that we should also all recognize that rights and privileges which one accords to another should be reciprocated, and I hope that as we close this session we will not have repetition of this experience which I had today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to say that in any motion to reconsider the question that recurs is, "Shall the bill pass finally?" In the absence of any other motion to postpone or to place on the postponed calendar, the Chair could only put the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

Mr. BOWMAN. I request the privilege to make one further statement.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is in order and will proceed.

Mr. BOWMAN. I am not dealing with technical procedural rules; I am dealing with fundamental privileges accorded to a member. It was not accorded to me.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I say that at no time did I have any discussion on this situation with the gentleman who just spoke. It was the intention of the two gentlemen who sponsored the reconsideration resolution that last night it would be reconsidered and placed on the calendar. This was going to take some time and, as you know, we ran clear to, I believe, almost after 12 o'clock, daylight saving time—12 midnight.

Had I known that there was any question involved in this situation, I would have consulted him. May I assure him that I did inform various people that when the reconsideration resolution would be brought up, it would be brought up straight for a vote. I apologize to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, that I did not inform him. Perhaps in the 10,000 things that I try to do in each 24 hours there are many that I may miss. And now I make this public apology to you, Mr. Bowman, and I certainly should have done that very thing. I do not try, at any time, to play this game of politics except above the board, where you know each move I am going to make as well as the move you intend to make.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the Sine Die Resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House the report from the Committee on Rules which the clerk will read.

The resolution was read by the clerk as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

SINE DIE ADJOURNMENT

The clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 22, 1961.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring) that this regular session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die on Thursday, August 31, 1961, at 9 p. m., e. s. t.

Ordered, That the clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. McCANN offered the following amendment:

Amend line 3 by striking out "Thursday, August 31, 1961, at 9 p.m., Eastern Standard Time", and inserting in lieu thereof: "Friday, September 1, 1961, at 9:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the question that I have asked carefully, this amendment to the sine die resolution provides that this general session of the General Assembly of 1961 will adjourn sine die Friday, September 1st, at 9 p.m., e.s.t., The one question that I have continued to ask and have gotten a favorable answer to is, that the House can adjourn any time prior to 9 p.m., e.s.t., with the agreement of the other body.

I am asking the members to vote in support of the amendment to the sine die resolution, which has been offered, and then for the adoption of the sine die resolution as amended.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. STIMMEL and ESHLEMAN and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate as amended?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I cannot influence the tide of events, but I can, for the record, maintain a traditional position.

I believe that suicide is a capital crime and I do not believe that a live legislative body has any more right to commit suicide than does a live human being. There is a difference between being in session and being in being.

I believe, and it has been my traditional position for 30 years, that it is the business and the duty and the obligation of this General Assembly to remain in being and in recess when the circumstances permit.

Now there is another reason that figures in the situation we face, and that is the problem of moral obligation. It would appear if the General Assembly adjourns sine die as of the present time, it will have walked away and it will have refused to face a critical issue, congressional reapportionment.

A sine die adjournment, with no congressional reapportionment bill passed, will be a gesture signifying the victory of personal ambitions and personal spite over legislative responsibility. It is bad enough to confess that as a General Assembly we are unable to cope with legislative reapportionment problems that confront us but it is infinitely worse to confess to all the world that congressional reapportionment is an issue which we must needs sweep under the legislative rug and try to forget. And we cannot forget however much we try.

Now I imagine the Pennsylvania public eventually will refuse to permit us to forget, but it will remember all too vividly what we do when we march away from our responsibilities.

Is it true that unless we serve personal ambition that we cannot redistrict the Senatorial districts?

Are we so enmeshed in partisan controversy that we cannot make a fair apportionment, a reapportionment of the districts of this House? Has partisan rivalry and personal strife triumphed over us to that extent?

Either this sine die resolution, if passed, as it quite likely will, is a colossal bluff, or it is the sign manual of the inability of our parliamentary system to cope with the ambitions of particular individuals and the sign that the fires of partisanship burn with such intensity that our General Assembly dare not face them.

One wonders if after all, those of us who have planned for an increased measure of legislative responsibility have been in error, if there is to be no congressional reapportionment. If there is to be eventually, why not be about the business now?

Are our committees incapable of action? We have committees. We do not have to sit back and wait for any high command to frame the conscience of this body. And if there is no congressional reapportionment, I say to you all that those who sow the wind will reap the whirlwind, and the party upon which responsibility for a failure, if such failure comes, to effect a congressional reapportionment, will be left without a single Congressman from Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, desire recognition?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, it is a serious question that is presented to us today, whether or not we shall adopt the sine die resolution.

I will speak first on the suggestion by the Speaker that we should not commit suicide, as it were, as a session and continue in the form of a recess. The last session, the 1960 session, we were firm in that belief. While we did not have much to do in the 1960 session, because of alleged vote frauds and the other things that were going on around the State, we on the Republican side felt that we should stay in session so we would have committees available to go all over Pennsylvania, where these vote frauds were creeping up and were alleged in the papers and where there was lack of grand jury investigations and so forth.

I am sorry to say that because of the sincere efforts on our part in 1960 to keep this session alive to do a job that we felt should be done, we were seriously impeached by all the newspapers in Pennsylvania as a "do-nothing" session, and what is wrong with you Republicans keeping that session going, and so forth.

Personally I have had, and I know a lot on our side have had, their fill of this business of keeping a session going in recess just for that purpose. We are willing to quit sine die if the Democrats are willing to quit sine die.

Yesterday I received a call from the other house saying, Mr. Johnson, you are the one who is preventing Mr. McCann from adjourning sine die on Thursday. I said, no, we are not. There are bills being let out of committee here today, some that you want to pass on Friday, and should pass, particularly the one having to do with extending enlistments in the National Guard. We are not holding up sine die.

I wish you people on the Democratic side would get together. Do you want to sine die or do you not? Senator Weiner wants you to do it; the Governor wants you to sine die. If you are willing to get out of here by Friday, we are willing to sine die. We feel that we have had enough of this session with all these bills that are in committee now that come out to harrass every facet of community life and business life in this State; it is time that we quit and get rid of these bills and go home to face the people. Now I realize that there are bills over in the Senate. We do not know if they are going to pass them or not, but you can send this sine die resolution over there and then it will be up to the Senate whether they want to adopt it or not.

But I think you people should get together. Do you want to sine die or do you not? You are in the majority and we will take our nod from you people.

Now, let us talk about reapportionment. Of course, we are going to try to fix the blame on somebody, some faction, somewhere about reapportionment. We on the Republican side will say we have been acting in good faith. You people will say that you have been acting in good faith. We have had many meetings. You say we are unreasonable in saying that Philadelphia should only have five Congressmen and not six. Bill Green insists, although he says that he does not insist, but he does, I mean, actions speak louder than words, he insists on keeping his six Congressmen. As long as Philadelphia does not have the population he would like to reach out and take neighboring counties so that you can multiply six by 419,000 and get 2.5 million, which you would need for six Congressmen.

We say reapportion Philadelphia with five and we will start elsewhere in the State, and we Republicans will agree to lose one Republican Congressman in mid-Pennsylvania, and then we will sit down with you and create a swing district that could go either way. But we do not seem to be able to agree on that. Last night we sat down. There was a lot of bantering. The Democrats said, you put your plan on the table, because when we started we said, you show us where you lose one Democratic Congressman and we will show you where we will lose one and then we will get together on a swing district where it will be doubtful. But we could not seem to get anywhere on that question.

I know the Speaker is right. It seems we ought to be able to agree on that. But we are thinking of the people down in Montgomery County, Delaware, Bucks, Chester, and through there. They have vehemently said that they will not have any part of Philadelphia reaching over into their counties, and we feel that we have a mandate from those people to stick to our guns. They feel that because of the mandate from Bill Green that they have to stick to their guns.

You say we ought to be able to solve it. I know we ought to be able to solve it. I say the way to solve it is to run them at large and let us find out what the people of Pennsylvania think about it.

We feel we have acted in good faith and we think that right is on our side. As I say, it is up to you folks. If you want to adjourn sine die, I have talked to our caucus about it and we are willing to go along with you on it and send that over to the Senate.

There are some in our caucus who do not agree and it will be up to them on a roll call to register their approval or disapproval. I think you ought to get together. I do not like to get calls from the other body saying that we over here are holding it up, because we are not.

I know you can finish your work here by Friday, get these bills over to the Senate and get them out of committee. But I hope we do not get out of here and try to have a lot of recriminations about who did this or who did that. We feel that on reapportionment we are in the right; you feel that you are in the right. It seems that it is a situation that almost cannot be solved at this point, but that is another question.

So as far as many of the members on this side are concerned, if you want to present this sine die resolution today, we will vote for it. I say there are some who will not, but it is up to you people to make up your minds what you want to do because you are in the majority.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have presented the resolution for sine die adjournment because we are asking our membership to vote "aye" in adopting that resolution. We have amended the resolution to read 'Friday" because there are bills on the present calendar, House bills, which you and I know, particularly one dealing with military affairs, must be enacted into law to extend the term of the National Guard because of this world situation and crisis we are in. This can only be done on Friday to complete it.

I say to you that we have been in these meetings on congressional reapportionment and we certainly are not sweeping anything under the rug, because you have been present with your committees in those meetings. It is the same old simple answer. You show me the three Congressmen who are now serving, who have been elected, who want to give up their seats. I am sure you will be amazed at how willing they will be, the same as you in being asked to give up your seat in a reapportionment. But it must be done, and it will be done, and we in Pennsylvania know that we do not want Pennsylvania's 27 Congressmen running at large; we want them running from congressional districts of this Commowealth.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, these meetings will go on, as you know quite well they will, and we want, and we hope, and we believe that we will have a congressional reapportionment bill. I ask the membership to vote "aye" on the sine die resolution and enact it here at this time and send it over to the Senate. I talked to the Senate leaders last night, informing them that I would amend this today in this manner and send it over and explained why Friday is the proper date. Therefore we are in that position and I ask your support on this sine die resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I had intended to make a lengthy speech, but I assure you I will cut it quite short.

I was surprised at Hi Andrews' speech, although I recall that last week, toward the latter part of the week, he came out with a memorandum, and perhaps he had to eat his words as such because he expected us to adjourn by Thursday. He knew right well we had a congressional reapportionment committee meeting, with George Bloom, Otis Morse, myself, and a few others. He knew it would be considered and considered Monday evening, and he should have known by mere inquiry that under no circumstances while there were hopes this week of introducing and passing a congressional reapportionment bill, and that could have been done, if you figure out the legislative days again, and even on Friday morning at 2 a. m., if we had come to an agreement by Monday evening, under no circumstances would any adjournment resolution be passed in this House on Monday, or accepted by this House on Monday, while there was still hope on Monday evening of coming to an agreement.

I was further surprised at Hi's remarks because he himself out of the contingent fund is sending different people to different States, and one of the States he has recently sent people to was the State of New York, where after, I think, three months they have adjourned and under no circumstances or stretch of the imagination have they passed any congressional reapportionment bill. They do not intend to pass one at this time and they do not intend to consider any until at least after Labor Day.

I have the highest regard for him, but I am sure if he had considered his remarks twice before speaking he would not have used such expressions as "colossal bluff" and things of that kind, because he should have known better.

I say to Mr. Johnson that if we wanted to shove a bill down your throat as the majority party, perhaps we could have done so, but we have not endeavored in any way, shape or form to do so. We have had three meetings with the leaders of both the Democrats and Republicans, acting in a very informal but fine manner. We have made progress, and I think Mr. Johnson will admit we have made progress. At the meeting on Monday evening we made greater progress than ever, even though George Bloom, who promised to be present Monday evening, for some reason, sickness or otherwise, could not show up.

The attitude is "take one out of Philadelphia." Why pick on Philadelphia? I do not know, but we shall have a fair reapportionment bill as long as this committee that has acted and is making progress will continue sitting down. We have time until February 15, but we shall not wait until then. This committee will meet from time to time. If you consider congressional reapportionment, and I am talking for myself, not by word of mouth of any leader from Philadelphia or otherwise, on the basis of what should be considered, on the basis of population, I do not give a darn, if you will pardon the expression, whether Philadelphia has four, five, six or ten, or Delaware, Montgomery or any other county has a similar number, consider the matter properly on the basis of population, consider it on the basis of districts, and you will come up with a fair, equitable reapportionment bill, and it will be done in proper time for this House to act upon it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, what I say now is entirely my own personal view and in no way reflects any party position.

I have, for a good number of years, been an advocate of recess instead of adjournment. As the Speaker said, there is a great difference between the General Assembly being in session and a General Assembly in being. You may think that my views as I am stating them now are in opposition to the effort we have had to try to shorten the time of our sessions. The time of our working session is a great deal different than a General Assembly in being.

I am not going to use the words of suicide, but I am going to say this: that when we adjourn this Assembly sine die, we are in effect creating a benevolent dictatorship in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We no longer stand in the position of a coordinate branch of the government, because we have no power to act. A General Assembly not in being is just no General Assembly at all. Why we cannot work this thing on the basis of recess so that we may be in being at the time of need, and we have found out this week, just yesterday in connection with the National Guard bill, that events are moving in the world that may require us to be present and in being.

Why we should adjourn sine die, I do not know.

There is a bill languishing in one of our committees today, a constitutional amendment, which would give the General Assembly the power to call itself into special session if the need arrived. On a sine die adjournment in the State of Pennsylvania we are absolutely stripped of all power. We have no vestige, not one little bit of power whatever. We are dependent entirely upon the whims and the wishes of the Governor of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We saw some of the evils of that back in 1955 and 1956 and in 1957 and 1958 when things were going on that, had we been in session, we could have stopped a lot of them and perhaps stopped a $141 million deficit in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. But we had no power. We stripped ourselves of power by having adjourned sine die.

I, for one, have been an advocate of having the General Assembly in being so we can act when the necessity arises instead of depending upon the Governor as to whether or not he sees fit to call us into being.

For that reason I am going to vote against sine die adjournment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate as amended?

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. PRENDERGAST, FARABAUGH and SCHAAF. Resolution No. 103.

In the House of Representatives, August 29, 1961.

A bill has been introduced in the General Assembly which would provide for the humane slaughter of livestock.

There is a great deal of controversy over this problem, with the proponents of the bill stating that a new law is necessary and the opponents stating that the present method of slaughtering is satisfactory and humane.

In order to properly determine all the aspects of the situation a study should be made of the methods of slaughter; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to investigate the problem of slaughtering livestock within the Commonwealth with particular attention being paid to the methods now being used, the improvements that can be made and the economic aspects of the problem; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the House of Representatives its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect, as soon as possible.

Referred to Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 345, entitled:

An Act regulating sewage disposal systems in the interest of preserving the health of the people of the Commonwealth requiring permits to be issued to persons installing sewage disposal systems imposing certain duties on the Department of Health and on municipalities and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit this very necessary bill.

I know that I am not allowed to debate the merits of this bill under the motion to recommit. Maybe that is why the gentleman from Cameron made the motion to recommit, for fear that there may be a little light and a little truth shed upon this misrepresented bill.

In all fairness, I ask this House, on both sides, to vote down the motion to recommit. Let us debate the bill, then if the membership decides to vote against the bill, all well and good. But let us have a chance to give this bill the proper hearing it deserves. Please, on both sides of the House, vote down the motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 604, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further providing for director representation in union or merged districts under certain conditions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Could we have the chairman of the Committee on Education please explain this bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 604 provides that a district voting on a union or merged district may include as part of this question on the ballot, a proposed plan for school board representation, other than one elected by and from each district, so long as the number of directors do not change. It just gives the voters voting on a union or merged district an alternative way of electing school directors to represent the merged district other than that already provided in the law.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the lady further?

Mrs. REIBMAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mrs. Reibman, is this the bill which would make it possible to concentrate, for instance, three of the directors in one large city to the exclusion of a township, say, that was a private district?

Mrs. REIBMAN. What this actually means is that if the people so decide on the ballot to change the director representation that actually they may elect the school directors all at large to represent the entire merged district.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the lady, what is the present law with respect to election of school directors?

Mrs. REIBMAN. The present law is that each municipality within the merged district is entitled to a director representative.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the lady.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not change that law. If the people voting on the merger question decide that they do not want to have it that way, but rather they would prefer to have them all voted for at large, they can so change it by putting it on the ballot. It only gives the school districts another way of changing their representation on a merged board, if they so desire, as long ts they do not change the number of representatives to which they are entitled. Is that clear.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the lady.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, I hope I do not misunderstand this bill when I speak in opposition to it, but, as I understand what this bill could do, it means that if five school districts merged, all five directors could possibly come from one of the merged districts. Now, in saying that this would be on a referendum or choice basis of these districts, we must remember that in a prior bill of this session that this House passed—I do not recall whether the Senate has passed upon it, but the bill passed this House—that bill says that a merged district shall be created when a majority vote of the entire proposed merger area votes in favor of the merger. Now, supposing you have a politically strong district they could then force a merger of the entire district and force that all directors would be elected from that one single district in the entire merger. Now I think the present system, as Mrs. Reibman has described it, of one director coming from each of the component districts, probably is the best method of representation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, the present method is not changed by this bill. All this bill does is to provide another method, if the school districts going into the merger decide that they would prefer to have all of their directors elected through some other method than one from each component district. This is really local option. The theory behind this bill is that many people who want to represent a merged district want to come in with the idea that they represent the entire area, not just a municipality within this merged district. It is quite possible that some directors might come from only one particular municipality; it is quite possible that they will not; but that is up to the people to decide for themselves on this referendum, if that is the way they want to do it.

Mr. Speaker, this is purely local option and it really is a good bill. In many cases this would hasten voluntary merger or union of districts, because in many cases a large district hesitates to go into a merger or a union with other small districts because in many cases they might be out-voted on questions regarding school policy, and this is just providing another way for people to decide for themselves how they want to be represented in a merged or union district. It is a very good bill, and I would ask that it be supported on both sides of the aisle.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, would the lady from Northampton, Mrs. Reibman, submit to interrogation?

Mrs. REIBMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, indicated that the law presently might be that a union or merged district could be formed by the vote of the total proposed districts rather than on agreement that each municipality comprise a district. Could you explain how the present law is? Do you follow the question?

Mrs. REIBMAN. I cannot hear your question.

Mr. GOODRICH. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, suggests that we passed a law, and he does not know whether the Senate passed it or not, or whether it has been signed by the Governor, that would permit the formation of a union or merged district by the total vote in the proposed district. Now, the present law, as I understand it, is that each district to comprise a union or merged district must approve the plan. Could you tell me what is in fact the law at the present time in the formation of union and merged districts?

Mrs. REIBMAN. Well, as I understand it, it is voted upon by all the people in the area, that is, by a majority of the vote.

Mr. GOODRICH. It does not have to be approved then by each individual district that is to comprise the new district?

Mrs. REIBMAN. I do not believe so. I do not know.

Mr. GOODRICH. Now, I do not understand it that way and, if that is true, I would have to oppose the bill. If the other is true, where each individual school district must approve the merger or union districts, then I would agree that this bill would not be objectionable. This is a very important question, Mrs. Reibman.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Mr. Speaker, each district going into a merger or union district must vote on going into this.

Mr. GOODRICH. If a district goes into it, that particular merged district must approve it by referendum, is that correct? Each individual district?

Mrs. REIBMAN. Yes, by referendum.

Mr. GOODRICH. Well, then I cannot see anything objectionable about this bill because each individual district could vote down any plan which required the election of the directors at large.

Mrs. REIBMAN. Yes, each district would have that right to vote on it.

Mr. GOODRICH. I thank the speaker. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy.

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. Speaker, that was the objection I raised, if you will so inform Mr. Goodrich, that we have previously passed a bill in this House, during this session, —I do not know whether it has become law or whether it will in the next three days—that indicates that a majority vote in the total area to be proposed, that is, if you have six districts and one district out-votes the other five, that one district may then force the merger. I do not know the history of that bill but I do know that it passed the House because I forwarded a copy to various school directors in my legislative district. I have not followed it up since that time.

Now, I might also say that the wording of this proposal in Senate bill 604 stipulates that, when the matter is submitted to the electorate by various component school boards, they may previously agree on something different. But I question this. Supposing the question is submitted to the electorate by the county school board or the county superintendent of schools, as it has been done in my county, the local school board did not want it on the ballot, but the people in the large district who wanted to form the merger requested the county superintendent to place it on the ballot, and it was thusly placed on the ballot without any action of the local school board; it was placed on the ballot as a mandate by the county superintendent, as it may be under the school code. Now suppose the county superintendent forces that issue on the ballot for these six districts which we are speaking of and you have one heavily political district, and then he forces, or that political district forces, the other five into a union with no action by the other five boards whatsoever. Now, I know we are accomplishing what Mrs. Reibman has been striving to do for the past several years in forming new school districts, but I do want the members to know that this could occur.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader please?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Murphy, has brought out a very important question pertaining to this bill. I wonder if the majority leader would permit this bill to be passed over temporarily for fifteen or twenty minutes so we can clear up a point?

Mr. McCANN. Absolutely.

Mr. GOODRICH. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate bill No. 604, printer's No. 692

was passd over temporarily at the request of Mr. GOODRICH.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 811, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90), entitled "Liquor Code" removing the prohibition against Sunday sales of liquor or malt or brewed beverages by public service licensees.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1181.

An Act creating an Anthracite Mine Law Study Commission for the purpose of making a study and investigation of all laws relating to underground anthracite coal mines and the preparation of a modern code relating thereto.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 3, by striking out at the beginning of the line the word "seven" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "nine"; line 4, by striking out after the word "Industries" the word "three" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "four"; line 5, by striking out after the word "and" the word "three" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "four"; line 6, by striking out after the word "operators" the following: "including one anthracite mining operator whose employes are not represented by the bargaining agent"; line 9, by striking out after the word "least" the words "three five" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "seven"; line 10, by striking out after the word "Commonwealth" the following: "and a panel of two names submitted by anthracite mining operators whose employes are not represented by the bargaining agent"; line 14, by striking out after the word "least" the word "five" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "seven."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do concur in the amendments placed in House bill 1181 by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority whip.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Heffner.

Mr. HEFFNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to concur in the Senate amendments to House bill 1181. This bill passed this House with only one negative vote. I believe the vote was 198 to I. When it passed this House, I sincerely believed that this bill was fair and realistic and I fully supported it. Today, however, due to the Senate amendments, I equally believe that this bill is now unfair and unrealistic. Briefly, the House version of this bill provided for a nine study commission to make a study of the laws pertaining to underground mining in the anthracite area and to make recommendations to this session of the General Assembly or the session of 1963. This commission, under the House bill as it passed this House, consisted of seven members; three to represent the collective bargaining agents, and I have no quarrel with that; three to represent the mine operators, and it provided this language:

> One of whom shall include an operator whose employes are not represented by the bargaining agent.

The other member was to be the Secretary of Mines.

Mr. Speaker, the Senate increased the membership of this committee from seven to nine; four to represent the collective bargaining agent four to represent the anthracite mine operators and, also, the Secretary of Mines. However, the Senate of Pennsylvania struck out the language which required that one of the operators should be appointed whose employes are not represented by the bargaining agent.

Mr. Speaker, I find the omission of this language to be discriminatory, unfair, unjust and unrealistic. I fear most that it fails to recognize the independent mining industry in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania. In so doing, it fails to provide a group study which would be representative of all segments of the anthracite underground mining industry.

Mr. Speaker, this industry certainly deserves representation on any mine study group in Pennsylvania. This industry employes approximately 5,000 to 7,000 thousand individuals and grosses approximately $50 million a year. Let me repeat that: This industry which employes 5,000 to 7,000 individuals and grosses approximately $50 million a year is provided no representation.

Mr. Speaker, this industry also mines, mind you—let me emphasize this—mines 50 percent of the underground anthracite coal in Pennsylvania. This industry certainly is vital to the industrial and economic life of the anthracite region, a distressed area in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, certainly any industry which has contributed so much to the economy of Pennsylvania and mines 50 percent of the underground coal mined in Pennsylvania should have a part of any study of underground mine laws which would directly affect this industry.

Mr. Speaker, I emphatically state here today that any mine study and recommendation to the General Assembly for new laws pertaining to the underground anthracite industry is incomplete without any representation by the independent mine industry. I do not believe that asking for one member out of nine of the mine study commission to be representing this industry is an unreasonable request.

In conclusion I say this: In this session of the General Assembly we have had the privilege of voting for better education, better housing legislation and many other acts which would break down the discrimination which exists in our society. I ask you today to vote for a fair mine study commission that would bring forth a fair anthracite underground mining code in Pennsylvania by simply giving representation to an industry, to all facets of industry, in the anthracite industry. I therefore respectfully request that both sides of the aisle vote "no" to non-concur so this bill can go to a conference committee where we will work out a fair and impartial and just bill. Thank you for your consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the minority whip desire to be recognized?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Vote "no."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rovansek.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most important pieces of legislation for the hard coal area. Just a few months ago we passed House bill 1222. This is the identical legislation. The only wordage in this is that instead of being "bituminous" it is "anthracite." At the present time the gentleman who just spoke briefly mentioned that we have voted on legislation pertaining to education, and others, and I say to you members of the House that it is about time to protect the anthracite area, and that the anthracite area should be protected in this manner. There are thousands upon thousands of tons of coal being mined in the anthracite area and being mined by members of the United Mine Workers of America.

I am asking you members for the sake of the protection of the miners who work in that area that they should get into the study of this matter as it has been studied up to this present date. I ask the members to concur on the amendment on this House bill regarding the anthracite coal area.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we are going to ask for committee meetings from the floor of the House and I ask that the members of the following committees be available for the meetings: Education, Motor Vehicles, Agriculture, Law and Order, Appropriations, Rules.

Mr. Speaker, all the members of those committees will meet one at a time so they will not conflict, and I ask that the various members remain so that certain bills may be reported out. The House will remain in session so the bills may be reported out and read for the first time where they are not amended.

There will be no further roll calls today, but this House will convene tomorrow at 11 a.m., daylight saving time. Mr. Speaker, at this point I will ask for committee meetings.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mrs. REIBMAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. LIMPER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Motor Vehicles to meet during the session of the House.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate bills numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 96.

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways with the approval of the Governor to construct a highway and to erect and maintain a bridge over the Kiskiminetas River in Westmoreland and Armstrong Counties and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways empowering counties to pay certain damages.

SENATE BILL No. 867.

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further classifying school districts and providing for the reorganization of school districts.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. FARABAUGH asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. WELSH asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Law and Order to meet during the session of the House.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1407

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 1407.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER(Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mrs. S. A. ANDERSON from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate bill No. 814, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for educational broadcasting and authorizing agreements relating thereto.

Mrs. ANDERSON from the Committee on Education, reported as committed Senate bill No. 815, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further regulating the establishment and operation of audio-visual libraries and instructional materials centers.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 814, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing for educational broadcasting and authorizing agreements relating thereto.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 815, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" further regulating the establishment and operation of audio-visual libraries and instructional materials centers.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, to be laid aside for second reading.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, rise?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Before this bill is read. Mr. Speaker, I object to the first reading of Senate bill 758 today in accordance with the rules of the House.

The SPEAKER. The clerk will read the report.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. I want to protect the record.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. GIBB from the Committee on Law and Order, reported as committed, Senate bill No. 758, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code" prohibiting certain business activities on Sunday.

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I now object to first reading of this bill in accordance with the rules of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and under the rules the bill cannot be read.

For what purpose does the majority leader rise?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform the House why he objects to the normal procedure, which we have used all session on a bill that is not amended, to its being read for the first time?

Mr. M. H. GOLDSTEIN. For the reason that it is a very important bill. It is a matter which should have been brought up early in the session and I want to have time to study the bill.

I want to call to the attention of the House that when the rules were amended, this was the very procedure I objected to—having bills rushed through in two days. If we are going to be here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, I want the sentiment against this bill to be crystallized. Therefore I am acting in accordance with my rights as a member when I think it is in the interest of the people I represent.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Rules to meet during the session of the House.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. McCANN from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution No. 103.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1961. 145th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 38. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1961. No. 96.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1961.

The Senate met at 9:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Joseph D. Ripp) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. JACK P. WISE, Assistant Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Our living Lord, Thou from Whom all power and all authority is derived and to whom each of us must one day answer for our actions, we look to Thee at the opening of today's business for Thy guidance.

From among the many voices clamoring for our attention, may we hear the still small voice of God. Though many seek to influence our actions, may the greatest influence be that of Thy Spirit. If we must be "yes men" may we be "yes men" for our God.

May we be perceptive enough today to see where our God and our faith in Him bears on each piece of legislation we consider, and then may we act on behalf of our God.

We pray in the Name of the Christ, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WEINER and Mr. LANE, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

HB 337 (Pr. No. 2524)—Read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WARE, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendments:

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, by inserting between fifth and sixth lines of Table of Contents: Section 8 Marketing Order Review

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, sixth line of Table of Contents by striking out "8" and inserting: 9

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, seventh line of Table of Contents by striking out "9" and inserting: 10

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, eighth line of Table of Contents by striking out "10" and inserting 11

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, ninth line of Table of Contents by striking out "11" and inserting: 12

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, tenth line of Table of Contents by striking out "12" and inserting: 13

Amend Table of Contents, page 2, eleventh line of Table of Contents by striking out "13" and inserting: 14

Amend Bill, page 10 by inserting between lines 17 and 18:

Section 8 Marketing Order Review—Every three years the Secretary of Agriculture shall call a referendum to determine whether or not a majority of the apple producers still desire a marketing order

Amend Sec. 8, page 10, line 18 by striking out "8" and inserting: 9

Amend Sec. 9, page 11, line 10 by striking out "9" and inserting: 10

Amend Sec. 10, page 12, line 17 by striking out "10" and inserting: 11

Amend Sec. 11, page 13, line 6 by striking out "11" and inserting: 12

Amend Sec. 12, page 13, line 15 by striking out "12" and inserting: 13

Amend Sec. 13, page 14, line 3 by striking out "13" and inserting: 14

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, the amendments which have been offered to House Bill No. 337 would simply specify that a marketing order, once having been approved by the apple growers, would be subject to a referendum every three years. This is the way the wheat referendums are handled. They are voted upon every year.

The bill, as it is presently drawn, would require ten per cent of the growers to sign a petition in order to request a referendum.

These amendments would make it mandatory that the Secretary submit the question to the growers involved every three years to determine whether or not they desire to continue the marketing order in effect.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HAWBAKER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Bell,	Kalman,	Murray,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Keller,	Pechan,	Stiefel,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Without objection, the bill, as amended, was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WARE.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

HB 382 (Pr. No. 2532)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the bill we are considering, House Bill No. 382, is a repealer bill, which would repeal two sections of an Act, both of which were passed before the turn of the century in the days when the type of labor strike which was engaged in was much different than the strikes of today, and at a time when government was not loathe, occasionally, to take sides and usually against the side of the workers.

These sections have both outlived their usefulness. They are very discriminatory and are unnecessary in the light of modern labor practices.

For that reason, Mr. President, I think we should erase them from our law. I would ask my colleagues to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, may we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 382 go over in its order on final passage.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order on final passage.

HB 1318 (Pr. No. 1538)—Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Senate has just defeated the previous bill, House Bill No. 1317. This bill is a companion measure to it. I did not think it was necessary for me to say anything on House Bill No. 1317, because I think the principle of workmen's compensation is almost fundamental in this State.

Having taken the position which they have, I would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate House Bill No. 1318, so that some of them may reconsider their action and help bring the other bill back. House Bill No. 1318 would do the same thing in the occupational disease field that House Bill No. 1317 would have done in the workmen's compensation area.

For instance, where a worker who is receiving occupational disease benefits dies from a cause unrelated to the cause of compensation, the widow and the survivors receive the balance of what he would have been entitled to. This actually provides for the burial expense. There is some question about whether certain diseases are related to some act or some area. For example, there have been many papers written in regard to persons who received a blow on their arm, their chest, or some other place, and cancer has resulted. Whether this has been the result, or whether this has caused cancer, has been a subject for conjecture for many, many years. In view of the fact that doctors are not sure, I, or any other lay person, would have some difficulty determining this.

Actually, what you are leaving here is the opportunity for the widow and the survivors to get some of this money because this man has been unemployed for a long period. It will aid in paying his burial expenses.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the explanation of the Majority Leader is all right as far as it goes. However, he put his finger on the fault of these bills when he stated that when the person who had been receiving compensation dies from causes not related to the injury or employment, he is able to continue to have the payments made to the survivors, which is completely contrary to the concept of workmen's compensation or occupational disease compensation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, soon after August 22nd of this year, I received a communication from the Borough of Lewistown, Pennsylvania, which, to me, raises a very vital point of interest I think to every Member of the Legislature. With the permission of the Chair and the Members, I shall read the contents of this letter, dated August 22, 1961, from the Borough of Lewistown:

> "Our Borough has, from time to time, done work cleaning up the banks of the Juniata River and Kishacoquillas Creek in an effort to make Lewistown a healthier and more attractive community.
> "Earlier this year, we were faced with several major problems.
>
> "The past winter increased our costs substantially for snow removal and street repair. At the same time, many of our citizens were out of work, or working part time, and our Council did not feel that it would be wise to increase taxes. Due to the economic situation, our revenues that were dependent on commercial activity decreased.
> "Our Council was aware that there were many citizens of the Borough who were on Public Assistance, some of them receiving more than they could have earned at any work for which they were qualified. It seemed logical to the Council that the persons on Public Assistance could be used on the stream bank project, thereby returning some benefit to the community for the public funds being expended.
> "After making a request to the Mifflin County Board, they were amazed to find that there were only 19 men from the Borough who could be used on the project, and only for a limited time each week, so that the total time available was equivalent to only two and one-half full time workers.
> "Miss Charlotte Steinbach, the capable executive director for the Board, explained that this was because those persons receiving aid from Federal funds cannot be used on projects such as we planned, and the only way they could be used would be if they received aid from State funds, and then only in proportion to the amount of State-aid.
>
> "Our Council was very much perturbed with this situation, since our people who are working are helping to pay the Federal taxes that furnish the money to keep these people. Council feels that it is especially serious, since they have found that we have in our community a third generation of some families living on public assistance who are resistant to any efforts to get them to work at any occupation.
> "At their regular meeting, held on August 14, 1961, Council directed me to write to you, asking that you, as the elected representative of this municipality, do all in your power to correct this condition, which, like a cancer, is helping to destroy the initiative and sense of responsibility of many Americans."
> /s/ "Bernard F. Smith,
> "Borough Manager"

Now, Mr. President, I think this presents a problem that is of vital interest, as I said before, to every Member of this Senate; as a matter of fact, to every Member of the Legislature, both in the House and Senate.

Therefore, with your kind permission, I wish to present this resolution and ask for its immediate consideration.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE SECRETARY OF PUBLIC WELFARE TO INVESTIGATE THE PROHIBITION OF USING PERSONS ON PUBLIC ASSISTANCE TO WORK ON PUBLIC WORKS PROJECTS

Mr. WADE, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 8a), which was read as follows:

In the Senate, August 30, 1961.

There are many able-bodied unemployed persons within our Commonwealth presently receiving public assistance who could perform much of the urgent work which the overburdened local taxpayer is unable to finance. It is in the public interest to keep such unemployed persons from as much idleness as possible, and also to make full use of the capable services they are in many instances able to render.

Many of these unfortunate persons would be happy, indeed, to contribute their time and efforts in the furtherance of worthwhile projects. There are others, of course, who are reluctant to do any work unless sanctions of one type or another are brought to bear.

The Act of June 27, 1939 (P. L. 1184) was enacted with this goal in mind. This act requires all employable persons receiving public assistance, with certain exceptions, to perform certain work when called upon to do so, or be refused further assistance. It now appears, however, that said Act and the rules and regulations of the Department of Public Welfare are not adequately carrying out their intended purpose.

As a prime example, the Borough of Lewistown, in Mifflin County, recently attempted to utilize the services of persons on public assistance on a project to clean up the banks of the Juniata River and Kishacoquillas Creek in an effort to make Lewistown a healthier and more attractive community. Upon requesting the local board of assistance to assign men to the project, it was determined that only a few men could be so assigned and then only for a limited time each week, the reason being that persons receiving aid from Federal funds could not be used on such projects, and if they received State-aid they could be used only in proportion to the amount of such State-aid. As a result of said determination, this praiseworthy project, which would have made possible a considerable financial saving to the municipality involved, could not be carried out as planned.

This is but one specific example of a condition which exists throughout our Commonwealth, a condition the continuance of which should not be tolerated; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Honorable Ruth Horting, Secretary of Public Welfare, to immediately investigate this problem, and to give a full explanation of why a situation such as this should exist in Pennsylvania, with a view toward changing the pertinent laws, rules and regulations so that the services of persons who are being supported by public funds may be used for public improvements and other worth-while projects; and be it further

RESOLVED, That Secretary Horting is hereby requested to make a report of her findings, together with such recommendations as she may deem necessary for legislation to correct the subject situation, to this body as soon as possible, but not later than the commencement of the 1963 Session of the General Assembly; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Ruth Gregg Horting, Secretary of Public Welfare.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, after hearing the resolution, I have no objection to it being acted upon. However, I would like to inform the Members of the Senate that we have a number of types of assistance programs here in Pennsylvania. We have, of course, the Old Age Assistance, as you know, the Aid to Dependent Children, the General Assistance, and the Blind Pensions, which are a part of that set up.

I have been informed that the Department of Public Welfare is now in the process of requesting the Federal Government to permit those who are receiving Federal funds to participate in work projects. As most of you probably know, the officials of your political subdivisions, such as boroughs, townships and cities, have the right at the present time to inaugurate public works programs, and those who now receive General Assistance have the right to participate in those work projects. In most cases, they work out their relief and, therefore, they are not subject to the bonding feature.

Senator Wade made several points here. It is surprising to me that in this Borough of Lewistown, there are only nineteen persons who are eligible to work on this project. It seems to me, Mr. President, that it is not too unfair. I say that in all probability what has happened there is that quite a number of persons were on Old Age Assistance. That being the case, they were not eligible for these projects.

Mr. President, Senator Wade, of course, has a right to make his comments with reference to this resolution. I might also say that there is nothing extraordinary about this because, the economic conditions being what they are today, it seems to me that we have a very good Public Assistance Program. I feel that the Office of Public Assistance is doing a marvelous job at this particular time.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I believe this is a matter which deserves consideration by one of the properly appointed committees. It also deserves some discussion before we vote on it. Therefore, Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I was very encouraged when I heard Senator Lane say that he would have no objection to considering this resolution at the moment. We all know that we hope we are in the last few days of the Session.

I do not think this is a political matter at all. I do not think it has any political implications or any reflection on either political party. I think it is a problem in which Senator Lane, Senator Seyler and every Member of this Body should be vitally interested.

I am informed there is no aid from the Federal Government on General Assistance. These other categories of assistance, as Senator Lane so ably expressed, are subsidized by Federal funds.

I think that every Member of this Body should want to know—and does want to know—just what we can do in the way of constructive work with these folks. When I am talking about that , I mean many of the folks, themselves, would much rather work at some public project, something for the benefit of their community, and do something that would occupy their time than just to be handed their relief checks.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am sorry to learn that my good friend from York objects to this resolution being given immediate consideration.

I have throughout these many, many years fought for the underdog, so to speak. I certainly concur in toto with the resolution presented by my friend from Cumberland County. It is not political.

We do have people who are entitled to relief. We also have people who, because they are on relief, would turn down a day's work. This has happened time in and time out, and they could be utilized in local projects. However, unfortunately, many of them go to a doctor and get a letter, stating they are unfit and unable to work. These things should all be scrutinized carefully.

I believe now is the hour—not tomorrow—to pass this resolution. I would like to have action on it before 1963. In 1962, let us have a report to see what can be done about this most important issue. We have thousands upon thousands on the relief rolls. The list is growing every day, and some people just think we owe them a living.

I trust that Senator Seyler will withdraw his objection so that we can pass this resolution right now.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in reply to Senator Wade, I have at no time indicated that I have a lack of interest in the matter.

In reply to Senator Haluska, I have at no time indicated that I object to the matter. I simply have said that I believe this is a matter which deserves the consideration of a committee and some discussion by the Members before it is voted on. For that reason, I renew my objection.

I would like to say this: I did not hear Senator Wade say at any time that he referred the matter to Secretary Horting. I think it is quite probable that if he did, he would receive cooperation.

I realize that since the Newburg matter, in New York, this sort of matter is likely to draw newspaper attention and, perhaps, publicity of a sort for anyone who takes the initiative. However, it seems to me that a less dramatic and more effective way might be to simply call upon the Secretary, tell her about the situation, and let her take action to do something about it.

Mr. SESLER. Mr. President, I was conferring yesterday, or the day before, with Commissioner Tollen. I have some figures here that might be of interest since we are currently discussing this subject.

The last complete report, made in March 1961, indicated that at that time there were 425,000 people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on Public Assistance or receiving A.D.C.—Aid to Dependent Children. Of these, it was determined that 43,282 people were employable. Those employable break down into two categories; those who are partially handicapped and those who have no physical disability. It was estimated that the nonhandicapped at that time were 25,377. As you can see, the large bulk of the people on public assistance, first of all, are people who are not employable, such as the blind, dependent mothers, children, and so forth.

Some of you may not be aware of the fact that the Pierson Act of 1939 requires that all able-bodied persons on public assistance are to be placed at work on public projects. These projects are the kind that are started by a municipality, municipal authority, or nonprofit organizations, such as a library. At the present time, or as of June 1961, there are 293 relief projects.

The biggest problem we have on the utilization of people on relief projects in Pennsylvania at this time appears to be the fact that there are only a few employables in any one county, and it is difficult to get the municipalities to enter into these projects. Take Fayette County, for example, which has as many people on public assistance I think as any county in the Commonwealth. In June 1951, they had 20 projects underway in that county, utilizing, however, only 57 people.

Let me illustrate one of these cases. To someone who is on public assistance, we could say that he should go to work in a library and be a janitor or something like that. However, the people who hire him have to provide workmen's compensation, et cetera. They also feel it is temporary. As a result, people have been reluctant to utilize such persons for these projects.

Therefore, it would seem to appear, Mr. President, that we have two approaches. The first is to encourage people to use these persons on these projects, through the counties, because there are many areas where the number of employable people is not very great. The second thing is that we may have to implement larger projects, which would require appropriations. So, we should study this to determine whether or not we can utilize them in a mass group.

Another problem is going to be the approach that we are taking on one of the bills today which is on our Calendar. This is the amendment to the U.C. Law. This, for example, provides that when a person is on unemployment compensation and while he is receiving his compensation, he can undergo rehabilitation and training, if necessary. This does not cost anything because he is going to receive his U.C. anyway. If we find a necessity for retraining, then we will be able to utilize his skills.

This same thing can be done with P.A. If we utilize this, together with the Clark program, I think we can make a concerted study. However, the problem is not simple and it is going to require effort. We ought to recognize the fact that we are attempting to utilize these people right now with these 293 projects we have underway in the State at the present time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this problem, as presented by Senator Wade, is not a new one nor is it a problem that we can solve during this Session or within the next year or so.

One of the basic problems which has always come up is that when you are giving somebody money, they ought to do something for it. The moment you employ these people and put them to work, you have lost the democratic system and it becomes a form of slavery—subsidizing people who are unable to take care of themselves. The first thing you know, you have people who are interested in the free enterprise system saying that you are using slave labor when you could be using the free enterprise system.

Then they go on to the next attack; that this puts people out of work and that there is not enough work for the able-bodied men who are willing and able to do a job. This used to be true, if you remember, when they used prison labor to make furniture, costumes and clothing for people who worked for the State. This became such a harsh problem that we passed legislation, through this Body, prohibiting prison-made goods and prison-made furniture to be used by the State when it could be bought in the common market.

We are back to that again. I ask Senator Wade if he would like us to order these people to do this kind of work. Would he want us to order human beings, who are unable because of some unfortunate circumstances, to do this kind of work or do that kind of work? I am not so sure that is the solution to the problem.

The people he is speaking about are mentally sick. Any human being who does not want to work, does not want to earn a living, or does not want to take care of himself certainly is not well. I think that something ought to be done about them, but not in the range of forcing them to do a job or turning them out to be hungry. The other alternative is this: These people then became part of your prison population, which is the next step, and we only go on supporting them at a much higher cost than what it costs to keep them under the Department of Public Assistance.

I admit there are abuses. There are always abuses in every kind of thing. However, when you look at the fractional amount that its costs to keep these people—as opposed to keeping them in a mental institution or keeping them in an institution where you have to keep them locked up and feed them regularly, and where they do not perform any kind of useful work—I think this is the lesser of the two evils.

It is to be hoped there is some way whereby some of the people who deal with our mental institutions or with outpatient treatment can take up with these people and try to help them. I do not think that a resolution or any harsh approach to the problem would solve it.

I respectfully suggest to the Senator that an approach along the lines of a psychiatric approach to these people, or perhaps a sociological approach, would certainly be a better approach to this problem than to just harshly cut them off and say, "Go out and starve."

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in view of the objection, I suggest that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules.

However, I must say this to Senator Wade and to the Members of the Senate. In reviewing his statement that there were only 19 able-bodied people who could work on this project in Lewistown, it appears to me there are not too many people on public assistance in that particular area. With reference to Old Age Assistance, of course, that is in a different category altogether, along with aid to the blind and Aid to Dependent Children.

It is not a question of peonage, in my opinion. I would say that in southwestern Pennsylvania, they have a number of projects whereby certain people who receive public assistance are able to work. They work on the streets, or paint and clean up the borough buildings, or sometimes they work in the school districts. That has been going on for years.

Of course, there is the argument, from a large segment of the population, that those people now on public assistance who are working on these projects are displacing people who could possibly earn a living. In a great number of cases, some of our coal miners who are on General Assistance, due to circumstances beyond their control, would rather do work for the borough or the school district in order to eliminate any bond feature against their real estate.

Therefore, Mr. President, in view of what Mr. Lourie told me just a few moments ago with reference to an inquiry with the Federal Government as to the possibility of permitting those receiving Federal assistance to work on these projects, I believe that sort of brings about a proper conclusion to the whole problem.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, certainly, under our rules when an objection is raised, I would have no objection to the resolution being referred to a proper committee. I am only sorry—for the benefit of myself and all of the other Members of the Senate—that this communication did not reach me earlier, because I think it is proper and right that we look into a matter of this kind, which comes from a public body, the Borough of Lewistown.

I liked the statements made earlier by Senator Lane, who I think follows much the same philosophy in this connection that I do.

However, I do take issue with some of the statements made by the Majority Leader, Senator Weiner, who I do not believe read the resolution very carefully. He is now on the telephone. I hope—as Senator Taylor has said so many times—It may be with the Governor's Office and the Junior Cabinet."

However, Senator Weiner got into entirely different areas, such as those who are mentally deficient. As a matter of fact, he got close to the entire mental program of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That is not what we are talking about.

This problem, I do not raise for myself. It has been brought to me by the borough of Lewistown, the official governing body of that municipality. When they raise a question of this kind, Mr. President, I say that it is the duty of every Member of this Senate to look into the matter in order to improve our State and local governments.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this discussion on this matter has lasted far too long, because the resolution is going to be referred to committee. However, I cannot let pass the words of the Majority Leader, which seem to express the thinking of a large segment, apparently, of our population and, particularly, of officials in that every time somebody commits a crime or gets into difficulty, the poor fellow is mentally ill or he is sick.

I wonder if any of the Members happened to turn on television this morning and hear the psychiatrist, who has been retained by the Kefauver Committee, discussing the theft of a very valuable painting. The interviewer asked: "Do you suppose that whomever might have taken it was mentally deficient or mentally ill because he took it, or was he obsessed by something?" The psychiatrist said: "No, there is too much of that. The man was simply a thief."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to point out to the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Wade, that although I was on the phone while he was speaking, I did pay attention. I have also read his resolution. I also want to say that the remark which he attributed to Senator Taylor, I am under the impression was complimentary and was meant in that vein.

I want to point out to him that although the conversation I was having did not particularly concern any legislation at the moment, it was bringing me up-to-date on how legislation was moving in the House. In order for us to keep moving, that is the only way I can keep informed. However, I listened very carefully to the gentleman's words of wisdom, as I usually do.

I also would like to point out to the Minority Leader, Senator Berger, that anybody who is simply a thief, certainly does not have a well mind at work. There are many people, whom you and I know, that do not do these things, and they certainly are people we know are well-adjusted or adjusted in most areas, and they just do not do these things.

I think it is a sick mind at work when somebody wants to steal something that does not belong to him, or possess something that belongs to somebody else, or wants to hurt or maim somebody. I agree that perhaps some of those people do belong out of society and should be taken out of society.

However, to simply give them the classification of being a thief, and say that solves the problem, I am afraid is too easy an answer to a complex problem.

At one time, we used to cut off the hands of people who were pickpockets. We do not do that any longer because we are somewhat enlightened. We also found that this does not stop people from committing the crime of picking pockets. One of the things that has come down through the years, which is well known to everyone in this room, is that at the hanging of thieves or robbers, the greatest amount of pocket-picking took place when the crowds gathered. Actually, it was not a deterrent on that basis. The sick mind was still at work.

Mr. CONFAIR. Mr. President, I was interested in the contents of the letter that Senator Wade read, which said there were some people in the third generation on public assistance.

I attended a public assistance meeting in Danville, Pennsylvania, and was told of a case where a young boy had just been graduated from high school. His grandfather and grandmother had been on public assistance. His mother and father had also been on public assistance. He graduated with honors from high school, he was married and the day after he was married, he went down to get his public assistance. I would say there are a lot of capable and intelligent people on public assistance who would like to have a job and earn their money on public assistance if they were given the opportunity.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, we were discussing the problem of persons who are on public assistance due to circumstances beyond their control. I dislike very much to hear the word "thief" allocated to such a debate, because those people cannot help themselves. It is a social problem. We have it; it is here with us.

We have a number of very fine people in southwestern Pennsylvania who today are unemployed and who would like nothing more than the opportunity to earn a decent livelihood, but they are now receiving General Assistance. I will guarantee you, Mr. President, they are not thieves. They are good citizens, and they are ready to work.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, it is referred to the Committee on Rules.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION TAKEN FROM THE TABLE

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I call from the table the House Concurrent Resolution which was reported from the Committee on State Government yesterday and laid on the table at that time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Clerk will read the title of the resolution.

The title of the resolution was then read by the Clerk as follows:

Commending the Attorney General and the Philadelphia Inquirer in Bringing to a Successful Conclusion Their Campaign in Causing the Gallery of the Barnes Foundation to be Open to the Public.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in this resolution.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, would it be in order for the present Presiding Offier to hand-carry a copy of this resolution to the former Attorney General?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The present occupant of the Chair is going to hold the Bible on the day of the swearing-in. The Chair thinks that is sufficient.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

HB 1789 CALLED UP

HB 1789 (Pr. No. 2666)-Without objection, the bill, which previously went over in its order temporarily, was called up from page 8 of the Third Reading Calendar by Mr. WEINER.

BILL ON THIRD READING, DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

HB 1789 (Pr. No. 2666)- Read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we are now considering House Bill No. 1789. This is perhaps the most vicious tax measure that the Members of this Body have ever been requested to vote upon.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Wade, will you excuse the Chair for a moment?

Will the Senate be in order? This is a very important bill we are going to debate. The Chair asks for order on the floor. Will the guests please stop entering into conferences? Will the Sergeant-at-Arms clear the floor in the rear near the door?

The Gentleman from Cumberland will please proceed.

Mr. WADE. I repeat, Mr. President, widows and retired persons, who are dependent on a few dividends for their essentials of life—I mean bread and butter—are particularly fearful of the effect of this tax, especially as new figures from the Federal Government show that the cost-of-living index has gone up again for the second month in a row, and increasing inflationary pressures are evident on every side as a result of the Kennedy Administration policies.

It has not been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the citizens of the Commonwealth, I believe, that this new tax is necessary. When it is remembered that under two Democratic State Administrations, the number of permanent salaried State employees has been increased by 15,000 in a seven-year period, we can point out that if only one-third of these additional jobs were abolished, an average of $5,000 each per year, per employed, would be saved, and there would be sufficient money— $25,000,000—to meet any really essential needs of education

Furthermore, if only two per cent of the proposed expenditures of Governor Lawrence from the General Fund in the current fiscal period were not made, there would be $20,000,000 available for education or other needed purposes.

Mr. President, I do not think it is necessary for me to quote from the editorial in The Philadelphia Inquire of August 25th, which presented the case I think very ably and made some excellent points. I, personally, have received almost a dozen copies of this from folks living in my Senatorial District.

With your permission, Mr. President, let me read an excerpt from a letter received from deputy of one of the largest departments of State Government. He was not a deputy a long time ago, but was a deputy through the Leader Administration. I quote from the letter as follows:

> "There has been no effort to institute savings or to economize anywhere in the operation of State Government. Rather, the emphasis has been on greater spending.
> "The appellation of 'unearned income' is a decided misnomer as far as the majority of people affected by such a tax are concerned In most cases, funds set aside for earned income are the result of economies in living and of money saved the hard way. Many have done without many little things to build up some capital, the income from which would help to meet continued rising costs and inflation. The income thus received is decidedly 'earned', as unquestionably it is in the case of a majority of the people who would be affected by this proposed tax bill."

Mr. President, the bill, in effect, would impose a selective income tax. By reason of the amendments placed in it, it is even more selective than when it was originally proposed in the House. Very obviously, the bill would impose a tax upon the income of some individuals, and not on the income of others. It would also tax some part of the income of some individuals, but not the remainder of their income.

Since the tax was intended to raise money for educational purposes, its imposition upon only a segment of the Commonwealth's citizens is distinctly unfair. Educational purposes concerned all of the people, and that should be provided for on the basis of a broader tax

The tax, as originally introduced, was of questionable constitutionality because it did not uniformly tax all income. As amended, this possibility of unconstitutionality is greatly enhanced. The taxation of capital gains, which the bill would impose, is particularly inequitable and unfair. The bill taxes capital gains returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government. This means that the State is attempting to tax gains which may have accumulated from as far back as 1913, or almost entirely accumulated before the effective date of this bill.

I know, Mr. President, that any Member of this body could rise and talk for hours against this bill. Let me conclude by quoting a letter received from my District this morning, dated August 26th. It is from Mr. Lewis T. Scoch, Newburg, Route 1, Pennsylvania, and reads as follows:

> ". . . as my wife and self are soley dependent upon the dividends of our stock, which under present conditions is insufficient for our livelihood. We are both over seventy years of age, and we must depend on a couple of small savings investments.
> "We feel this tax is unjust and most discriminatory against such old people in our circumstances."

Mr. President, he encloses, as many others have, the editorial of August 25th from The Philadelphia Inquirer.

Because of this and many other things that I could say, and I presume others wish to say, I am going to conclude my statement regarding this tax. I repeat, Mr. President, that I believe this is one of the most vicious tax measures ever presented to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, what would the gentleman say that a stock bears as a dividend percentage-wise, and I am talking about a first-class stock like American T. and T? What would this bring?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the current dividend, I understand, is 3.99 or around four per cent.

Mr. WEINER. Four per cent; all right, let us use that. That is an easy figure, is it not?

Now how much stock would you have to own in order to get a decent dividend on which to live?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I do not know that I understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will rephrase the question. It is my fault.

How much of a capital investment would you have to make in order to get a four per cent dividend that would give you what you would need to live on? Let us use the basis of $5,000. How much of an investment would you have to make in order to get $5,000 a year?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if the gentleman is referring to what would be required for myself and my family to live on, that might be one thing. However, there are those, like the Senator from Philadelphia, who live on a much higher level or scale. Therefore, it would require more money.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman wants me to get into his personal income, I will be glad to do that. However, we do not want to get into that today. Let us just stick to the example I gave you.

Suppose a man received $5,000 a year—that is a little less than $100 a week—in dividends. How much of a capital outlay or investment would he have in order to get that kind of a return?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think the gentleman can calculate that for himself.

I know it is not a good practice to extend into a long answer. I think the gentleman is entitled to a short, concise answer. However, I am afraid—and I am extending this answer too much—that he is acquainted with those who have much higher incomes than are enjoyed in my District, where we have many people with limited incomes and many retired people who try hard to live on a few savings which they have built up over the productive years of their lives.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman will stop crying for just one moment and try to answer the question, maybe we can got on.

Would it not be about $125,000 that a man would have to invest in order to get approximately a $5,000 return?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, will state it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, when an inquiry is made of a Senator, the person making the inquiry has no right to interrupt the answer, and the answer may be extended as far as the person to whom the inquiry is made cares to extend it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not intend to get off into these side issues. All I ask is that the gentleman respond to the questions asked.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will Senator Weiner repeat the question to Senator Wade? Senator Wade, if he wishes, may answer it.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, being a man who is learned in actuarial tables,—I understand you are an expert in that field—suppose I invested $125,000 in stock and I got a four per cent return. How much would that bring me?

Mr. WADE. That would bring in the neighborhood of $5,000, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Now, Senator, under this tax,—and let us take it on the basis of a short term capital gain, for the sake of this discussion—if the tax were two per cent, how much money would that man have to pay?

Mr. WADE. Two per cent of $5,000 is $200, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman do a recalculation?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, that is a demonstration that the gentleman's interrogation is out of order when he referred to me as being acquainted with actuarial tables. That proves that I am not.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this is only one of the areas that we are probing at the moment in which the gentleman may be not well informed.

You would say then that the person would have to return $100 to the State. Is that correct?

Mr. WADE. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. These people about whom you are quite concerned and for whom you were demonstrating so visibly just a moment ago, what do they get in dividends on which they have to live?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would say that the average retired folks in my District—and I think this applies to the rural districts much more than the cities—have homes for which they paid perhaps $2,000 or $3,000. Maybe they paid even less or even a little more, but they have those homes paid for. They have also stored up a little income from which they get their bread and butter, their bare living expenses, as the days go by. They do not have much leeway in that income against their living expenses. What little leeway they may have is being constantly eaten up by inflation or higher living costs, as enumerated by the Federal Government.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman please try to answer my question? Then I will be glad to answer his questions.

How much of this income of the people, about whom you are so concerned who are being harassed, comes from invested capital which is the subject of this tax?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, it is impossible to answer a question of that kind. In order to do so, a complete interrogation would have to be made over the entire District.

However, I would like to say to the gentleman that I am not only interested in the folks who live in my District. I am interested in the elderly folks, the retired folks, and the folks of limited income all over the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman then answer that he does not correctly know the income of these people, or whether they are going to be harassed or whether they are going to suffer at all? Is that correct, sir?

Mr. WADE. It is correct, Mr. President, to this extent. The large number of letters I have received—and I think this applies to almost every Member of this Body—indicate that this is a vicious tax. This hits in a most vital spot, which is the income of these folks who have been frugal in the past and have laid up a little bit of something that they hope to enjoy in their declining years.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman repeats that one more time, I am sure he will have himself convinced.

Will the gentleman please advise us if he has ever voted against a measure on which he has received a great deal of mail, or voted for a measure on which he has received a great deal of mail which did not favor the measure?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the answer to that question would be "yes," I believe, because over a period of twenty-four or twenty-five years in this Body and the House of Representatives, we have all—I, personally, and everyone else—received a lot of mail. However, never to my knowledge have I received mail of such a distressing tone as I have received on this legislation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to go back in the record. I could read the same speech the gentleman just made and the very remarks he has just made the day we passed the sales tax here. I can read the same remarks that he has made on other occasions when we have had other tax measures before us.

Does the gentleman wish to advise us if there is any tax measure we ever had to pass in the General Assembly on which everyone wrote favoring such legislation?

Would the gentleman please advise us if he ever voted on a tax on which anyone wrote him and asked him to favor?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the question is rather long. Early in his interrogation, the gentleman stated that he could read speeches similar to the one I am now making. May I ask him to do so?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if the gentleman will allow me, I will send down for the Journals of past Sessions when we have had the very same situation and where the same people that the Senator is now being concerned about were involved, and he came forth and said almost the identical things.

Mr. WADE. I would be very happy, Mr. President,—since he is so willing to do that—to have him do it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please be responsive to my question?

The people about whom we are talking in your District and about whom you are concerned, do they have $3,000 a year in income from dividends or capital gains?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the gentleman did ask me that question before. I think I have answered it as best I can.

I cannot go from house to house and make a poll of all of the folks. I can only decide by the amount of distressing mail that I have received. I think the mere fact that many of the State-wide newspapers have written editorials against this vicious tax, and much other comment has been made, is an indication of the kind of tax it is; a tax that we should not even be considering, let alone debating.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it is not true that the bulk of the income of the people about whom the gentleman is so concerned either comes from Social Security, pension programs, or fringe benefits they had when they were employed? Is that not correct?

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President, that is not true because, as the gentleman well knows, I represent a very rural area and many, many of those folks do not have Social Security. The only possible regular income many of them would have is from savings, an annuity contract, or something of that kind which pays them in that manner. Many of them do not have Social Security because they were not in employment that was covered by Social Security.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise then whether or not it is correct that if these people do not get $5,000 net income from this area, then they do not even have to pay $100 because from the example that we took here, they would have to pay $100 and anybody earning less than that would pay less than $100?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I think that is correct. There are few people in the area that I am privileged to represent who would have an income of that kind from investments.

I am not talking about the folks who have a large income. It is the people who have an income of $5,000 or less who are going to be hurt the most by this legislation.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman further advise us if he thinks it would be a hardship for people who receive $3,000 from investment capital, as a dividend, to pay sixty dollars a year to the State?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President, I fully and firmly believe that is a hardship, since $3,000 is their entire cash income for the year and there are two of them, perhaps, to live on that income. I think that is a real hardship.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, I have received a great deal of mail from the usual professional people who oppose any tax measure, especially in this area. When they start bleeding and crying for the poor, little man, I am immediately moved to suspect their motives.

The little man is not hurt here at all. The man who really bears the brunt of this tax is the one who is best able to pay it.

Mr. President, this discussion that we are having here today on this bill and the purpose for which it is indicated —for education—is mumbo-jumbo. I think we ought to bring it out in the open and be very candid with each other as to exactly what we are talking about.

Not too long ago, Mr. President, a gentleman who does not reside in this Country, and who represents another Country, stated publicly that he would bury us. He also stated that in 1970, his Country would surpass us. Not only has he stated this, but they have already had a man circle the earth in space, and we have not even begun to do any of these things.

Might I point out, Mr. President, to the gentlemen and the other people sitting here today that in Russia, they subsidize scholars and they subsidize students not only for tuition, but for their living costs and for their families. What is this doing? What is it doing to this country? We are talking about what we are going to take away from this little man, or that little man, or stocks and bonds. However, no one here has mentioned the children, who are really the people involved. What is going to happen to the people who go on to higher learning and higher education if we keep burying our heads in the sand and saying that this does not exist, we do not have to do this, and we are against this? Where are we going? What is going to happen? What good will these stocks and bonds do any of us if we are not able to keep up or compete or, at least, maintain our own position in the world today? Where are we headed?

Here we are, one of the largest States in the Nation, quibbling over dollars and cents for education. What are we talking about? We are talking about $22,000,000. Who is going to bear the brunt of this thing? The answer is people with invested capital.

If a man invests $125,000, and he gets back $5,000 and has to pay the State $100, is that not a tremendous sum to pay towards education? Is it proper that we should be out here fighting this and doing everything we can to beat down this horrible tax?

How silly can we get? How nonsensical can our reasoning be that we follow this line? What are we talking about? We are we crying about? We are talking about people who have $250,000 invested and $1,000,000 invested. Are they the people we are concerned about? They are well able to take care of themselves, and we are asking a mere pittance from them.

What do the people in this Country spend for cigarettes and for liquor? What do they spend for swimming pools? We have become so rich in this Country that we are able to have two homes, not just one home. This is par for the course, and I do not want to see that changed. However, by the same token, I do not want to shortchange some of the people who are going to come up and carry on the buden and carry on the democracy we know in this Country.

We are sitting here today quibbling, fooling around, and worrying about putting a two per cent tax—in many cases, one per cent—on somebody who has invested a sizeable amount of capital.

What good is this all going to do you? We are talking about building bomb shelters. There were bills on this Calendar which would exempt people who built bomb shelters. Are we going to cover these bomb shelters with American T. and T. stock certificates? Is that going to help us? Is it going to help us to educate people who have intelligence and brains, and to further husband this kind of a resource which we can use?

We worried here during this Session about strip mining. There were more headlines in the newspapers about that than the matter even needed. It was blown out of all proportion. Here we are facing a task that concerns the very basic resources of our Commonwealth and its people, because without its people, we are not going anywhere. We are not concerned about whether we put a tax on this piece of paper or that piece of paper, or some other thing. We are not going after little people. We are not going after people who have put away their savings. That is nonsense, and you know that it is nonsense. It is even silly. I think it is an insult to our intelligence even to mention that, because if a person can invest $125,000, get back $5,000 a year and give $100 a year toward the education of the people in this Commonwealth, it is really nothing. We are talking about peanuts.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to have the Majority Leader inform us whether or not this tax is imposed upon the earnings received from an ordinary partnership.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would say that it is not imposed on the ordinary partnership, unless that reflects itself as a dividend.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on page 11, line 19, I read from the bill:

> "Taxable Return of Partner (a) Distributive Share The taxable return of a partner shall include his distributive share of the taxable return of the partnership whether distributed or not . . ."

Mr. President, if I read that correctly, I find nothing in the bill which says that the ordinary partnership is exempt.

The definition of a partnership in this bill reads as follows:

> "A syndicate group pool joint venture or other unincorporated organization through or by means of which any business financial operation or venture is carried on for profit by two or more individuals and which is not within the meaning of this act a trust or estate . . ."

Mr. President, if I read that correctly, a person engaged in a business partnership with his brother, or in partnership with anybody else, operating a retail store, a candy store or anything else, is liable for the tax upon the amount of money he makes in that partnership.

Will the gentleman inform us whether or not I am incorrect?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman is correct as far as he goes. However, he did not go far enough.

If you will look on page 11, it reads as follows:

> "Partners Subject to Tax A partnership as such shall not be subject to the tax imposed by this act Persons carrying on business as partners shall be liable for the tax only in their separate or individual capacities . . ."

Mr. BERGER. Very well, What does that mean?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, it means they would be the same as any other person or any other corporation.

As you well know, Senator, many people have gotten around the tax laws by operating as a partnership, either as a limited partnership or a partnership for some purpose. The general course of that is that they form a partnership to acquire land. The partnership then may sell the land to the corporation. These same people may exist in both of these areas. Many people have used the partnership. This is one of the reasons why the Internal Revenue Service has been trying to close this loophole which has existed for quite some time. The partnership is used as a means of escaping the tax.

Under the partnership, the person will be able to get all of the benefits they get under a corporation. In other words, you cannot say that because a person happens to belong to a partnership, they would not be subject to any dividends that this might pay. In many cases, the partnership will declare a dividend, but not call it a dividend. In this event, this tax covers this area.

Might I point out one other thing? I would be remiss in my duty if I did not point this out. House Bill No. 1789 is patterned after the Federal law and the Federal tax. As a matter of fact, you make this out the same as your regular Federal Tax Return. The reason this was put in is because it is also in the Internal Revenue Code.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the gentleman is eminently correct. That is right. A partnership files a return under the Internal Revenue Code, and the partners are taxed for their distributive share, whether or not it is distributed

However, I may be incorrect on this, and I certainly hope I am. Under this bill, anybody operating a small partnership is going to have to pay two per cent on his entire income from it.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, the bill is clear that the tax is imposed upon income from dividends, royalties and capital gains. There may be a partnership where stock is owned in partnership, and this partnership may realize $10,000 a year from the dividends. They may also have other business. However, the only thing to be taxed will be the one-half share—assuming they are equal partners—that is received from dividends, royalties or capital gains. Any other business is not taxed under this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, will the gentleman point out in the bill where that is stated?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, in the first place, the title of the bill states that this Act imposes a two per cent tax on dividends and capital gains from investment capital. That is the title.

Certainly, there is nothing in the title which would indicate this to be a tax on a mercantile business. There is no question about that.

Mr. BERGER. That is right. I do not wish to interrogate the gentleman further. However, Mr. President, I do wish to continue with a very brief remark concerning this tax.

Mr. President, that appears to be one of the things which is quite dangerous in this ball.

There is no use repeating the argument that Senator Wade made that this is an unjust imposition upon the persons who receive supplementary income—possibly to their Social Security and so forth—from a small amount of investments, but which income is very important in eking out a necessary living.

However, Mr. President, this is a selective income tax. Call it what you will otherwise, it is an income tax. It is a flat tax upon income received from royalties and dividends. Dividends, of course, are well understood, but I am not so clear on what type of royalties it might be payable. Certainly, there is no allowance for depletion or shrinkage of the subject matter of the royalty from which the tax must be paid. However, Mr. President, call it what you will, it is still an income tax.

I am going to make a statement which probably you will be surprised to hear. I feel that at some time in the not too distant future, there will have to be an income tax—a broad base tax—in Pennsylvania. I do not know why the Administration was reluctant to impose a tax of that character upon all income in Pennsylvania. It would be a very minor percentage but, nevertheless, I believe that sometime we are going to have to come to it.

This, however, Mr. President, is not the way; by picking out a couple of items. They started out with interest and they started out with rents, and included royalties and dividends.

Mr. President, no matter how many isolated subjects of taxation might be named, it is still a selective income tax—a tax upon particular types of income—on the people of Pennsylvania. As such, in my opinion, it is a vicious tax, a bad tax, and a tax which ought not to be imposed upon any class of people, no matter how laudable the purpose as stated for the use of the money which is to be derived from that tax.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, we all know that more than a year ago, the Governor appointed a Committee on Education which came through with their report in April of this year, indicating that Pennsylvania is behind in education, and indicating the need for a real program to bring this State up and give an opportunity to the children of the State of Pennsylvania to receive a decent education.

Now in the beginning, it was the Administration's idea that education and the problems of education are neither a Democratic problem nor a Republican problem, but they are problems of this Legislature. Therefore, the idea was suggested of creating a Select Committee on Education, both in the House and Senate. This Select Committee was purposely arranged to have equal representation. In the Senate, there were three Members from the Democratic side and three Members from the Republican side. In the House, there were four Members from each side.

The purpose of this so-called Select Committee was to try to arrive at an agreement as to what should be done. However, particularly, its real purpose was to see whether this Select Committee—composed equally of Republicans and Democrats—could come through with an agreement for taxes for this coming year.

The Democrats suggested two forms of taxation. One was a personal property tax, and this was voted down by the committee. The other tax suggested by the Democratic Members was this two per cent tax on income from dividends, royalties and capital gains. The theory behind this tax, of course, was to tax those areas where it would be paid by people who are able to pay. This tax was voted unanimously by all Members of the Committee.

I will concede that the Members of the Committee agreed that while they were agreed to this tax, it was not binding on the respective Caucuses in the House and Senate. We also had the understanding that if this tax was not acceptable to the Republican Caucuses in the House and Senate, they were free to suggest their own tax and offer a bill. Rather than see education swept under the rug, we might agree to a tax suggested by them. However, no tax of any kind was introduced in the House to show that the Republicans really wanted this education program or that they wanted a different type of tax.

At this stage, two days before adjournment, to come up and say we are not satisfied with this tax, without any other tax being available at this time, cannot be interpreted as anything other than a desire to kill—and all it will do is kill it—this present program for education for the next year.

There is a whole lot more I could say. However, I do not want to take too much time just now. I say that we feel this tax is selective, and it is true. There are only ten or twelve per cent of the people in the United States—and proportionately in Pennsylvania—who receive dividends, royalties or have capital gains. However, that ten or twelve per cent, generally speaking, are the richest ten or twelve per cent in the Commonwealth.

When you talk about widows with incomes of $1,000, $1,500 or $3,000, we must also remember this. Of the $22,600,000 that will be raised by this tax, I would safely say that eighty-five to eighty-eight per cent of the tax will be paid by people of means.

If you people had a better tax to suggest, you should have done so.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise, certainly, to oppose this tax. I listened with a great deal of interest to some of the remarks by the previous speakers.

I recall in the 1955-1956 Session when former Governor Leader proposed his classified income tax,—and at that time, I believe dividends were to be taxed at the rate of about four per cent—we did considerable research into this field. The best available figures then were that the average return to persons securing dividends was around $1,400. That is the average, Mr. President. I am ready to accept that this has gone up some in the last five or six years. I would be willing, for the sake of argument, to say that it has gone up fifteen per cent, which would bring that average up to possibly $1,500 to $1,600.

However, I would like to accentuate, and I would like to emphasize, the point made by Senator Wade that many people on fixed incomes are dependent on the extra money they secure from dividends which they have coming in. They are people who are on retirement and people who have this $1,400, $1,500 and $1,600 a year coming in from dividends from money they have invested over the years. They have no way of recovering, they cannot get an increase in the dividend, they cannot get an increase in pay, and they cannot get an increase in their pensions. They are definitely on fixed incomes.

Yet, here we are in the Legislature today, saying to that group of people—and there are many, many of them; retired couples, widows and widowers, who have no chance of recouping in any way at all—that you, as a group, are being singled out to pay this tax and to supply this money.

I would say, on the basis of fairness, this is one of the worst taxes that we could impose. I would certainly say it is an attempt to open up the door that was so successfully closed in 1955 and 1956 to the classified income tax, because if this goes through today, make no mistake, gentlemen of the Senate, there will be an effort made in the next Session to open up the other avenues that Governor Leader had proposed in his classified income tax.

So much for that. I would submit to the Membership of this Senate that this tax is not needed. I would submit to the Membership of this Senate that just in the last several weeks when we passed the amended version of House Bill No. 1663, we have supplied to the Governor of Pennsylvania in his accelerated collection of taxes some $30,000,000. Then we reached in and took away from the merchants of Pennsylvania the two per cent that they were permitted to have for the collection of the sales tax, and took away something in excess of $6,000,000 from them. It was estimated to be $8,000,000, but certainly they had gotten it for several months of the year and that figure would have to go down to something in excess of $6,000,000.

I would suggest to the Senate, and I would suggest to the people of Pennsylvania, that there is ample money now to take care of any phase of the educational program that will be passed, and I am hoping that we do pass the raise in subsidy from $5,800 to $6,200. I would suggest that we have the money now. I would further suggest that if we give this extra $22,000,000 or $23,000,000 to this Administration, it will go into—I do not know exactly what to call it; I do not know if "slush fund" would be a good expression or not—a fund which will permit this Administration to put on thousands and thousands of extra employees in the election year next year. That will be done, and that I charge.

We do not—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe that we should at least speak on the bill and the aspects that are germane to it. I believe the gentleman has departed from that area.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Fleming will continue. Speak on the bill only, please.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would submit that if a tax is necessary, we will again be in Session—a fiscal Session—in January 1962 when we can raise taxes, if necessary, and when we can appropriate more money. I think probably we would be well off, and the people of Pennsylvania would be well off, if for the remainder of this year, at least, we go on the premise that the accelerated taxes which have now been passed and given to the Governor in the amount of $30,000,000 and the other $6,000,000—or $36,000,000—can amply pay for any program that we will pass between now and Friday of this week.

I would certainly earnestly request and urge all of the Members of this Senate to vote down this attempt to open up the door to a classified income tax, which certainly was repudiated by the 1955-1956 Session of the General Assembly, and which I believe would be repudiated completely by the people of Pennsylvania if they had the opportunity to vote on it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Finance Committee, Senator Silvert.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SILVERT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Silvert, with reference to this tax we are discussing here today in House Bill No. 1789, I would like to ask you this question. Are these taxes deductible from your Federal income tax?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I would say that any State tax paid by an individual or corporation is deductible. The deduction, of course, would be anywhere from ninety per cent of the tax paid, which is the maximum Federal income tax, down to twenty per cent. In other words, a person paying $100—it would depend upon what bracket they are in Federally—could save twenty per cent, which is the lowest figure, and they could save as much as ninety per cent.

Mr. LANE. Senator Silvert, do you agree that probably those people who are in the lower income brackets, and are depending upon investments for their livelihood, would have the advantage there and in most cases would receive the ninety per cent deduction? Is that correct?

Mr. SILVERT. No, I would say that it would depend on their entire income. You see, someone may obtain, say, $2,000 in dividends, but may have $18,000 from rents, which are exempt under this bill. He may have a total income of $20,000. That person might be in the forty per cent or fifty per cent bracket. If they received $2,000, the tax would be $100, and if they are in the fifty per cent bracket, it would mean they would have a deduction for fifty dollars out of the $100.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I would like to repeat my question. I said those that are in the lower income brackets.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, lower income brackets would be limited to twenty per cent.

Mr. LANE. All right. I would like to ask you one other question.

Should capital gains from real estate be derived by the individual, is this taxable under the provisions of this Act?

Mr. SILVERT. I would say, Mr. President, that the answer to this is on page 3. It may not have been intended. However, on page 3, line 5, the definition of "Investment Capital" is as follows:

" 'Investment Capital' All intangible personal property . . ."

Since real estate is tangible, I would say that under this bill, capital gains on real estate are not subject to the tax, nor are cows, horses, or any personal property that is tangible.

I would say that under the bill, dividends, royalties, capital gains from the sale of stock and capital gains from bonds are intangible personal property. Some of you people may think there cannot be capital gains from bonds because they fluctuate very narrowly. I say to you there are some convertible bonds that have doubled and tripled in value in the past two or three years. I would say they would be subject to the tax under capital gains.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, coming back to the original question, Senator, your statement makes it specifically clear that any capital gains under real estate would not be included in this Act.

Mr. SILVERT. That is correct.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, when I first entered this Chamber in the spring, I was rather interested as to why we were adopting a budget and why we were furnished revenue estimates at the very beginning of the Session. Being naive, I did not think to ask.

Since then, I have been wondering what the Democrats were up to. I have in front of me the History of the House, which shows that the first round on taxes took place in February. I will not go into detail. However, new taxes were levied in a number of fields and, apparently, it was to balance the budget. Well, that was in February and March.

I am not going to embarrass my very fine friend, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, by asking him questions. However, I am going to make this as a statement. To my knowledge, since February, the Finance Committee of the Senate of Pennsylvania has not made any interim studies of the revenue coming to the State of Pennsylvania. We have been acting in this Senate as if we were puppets on a string. We have been fed figures by the front office, and we have had to digest them.

That is not the job of a separate, deliberative Body. We should be constantly analyzing what are the revenue possibilities of this Commonwealth.

Two weeks ago today, on this floor, when the Majority Party took away the two cents the merchants take on the sales tax, I stated that the revenue forecasts we are using—I said it then and I will say it again today—are as phony as a three dollar bill. These revenue forecasts are being fed to this Body by the front office, and are what they want us to believe. I have not had furnished to me any revenue forecasts for the revenue of the State of Pennsylvania which have been gathered together on a date later than July 25, 1961. I think that is a very important date, because that is the date when President Kennedy declared a state of limited national emergency. The minute this Country embarked into a different type of national budget and were buying the sinews of war, this had a profound effect on the economy of Pennsylvania.

Yet, we are here today, hearing people cry that we need money to educate our pupils when we, as the Senators of Pennsylvania, do not know whether we need the money or not. I say, until such time as this Body is fed accurate and current estimates of revenue forecasts, for us to vote a new tax on the people of Pennsylvania is to commit a fraud on the people of our Commonwealth.

I am not impressed with this business of the people only paying $100, because if you take $23,000,000 and divide it by $100, it means there will be 230,000 taxpayers in this Commonwealth who have dividends and interest income of $5,000 a year. I think that argument is also phony.

This tax is going on the people, and it is a broad base tax. It is going to tax the person who has $100 on deposit in a savings account in the bank as much as it is going to tax the millionaire.

Gentlemen, if you think this tax is only going to sock the rich, you are not thinking the way I think. That is my speech, and I can sum it up in case the Majority Leader did not hear me.

Again, Mr. Majority Leader, you have presented a problem here today in demanding additional taxes, based on phony revenue figures.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to correct the gentleman on one of the pleas that he made, which I think is incorrect. If he will peruse the bill for a moment, he may find that he may have overlooked it when he was looking at the bill. Interest is not included in this tax. If you have a savings account and you get interest, you are not included in this tax at all. We are not going into that area at all.

I am sorry that Senator Fleming stepped out of the Chamber, because I would like to ask him a question or two. When he is present, I wonder if he would allow himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I believe the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, has just returned. Will the Senator permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe I understood the gentleman, when he was speaking, to say that the people he is concerned about are the people who get about $1,400 a year in dividends. Is that correct, Senator?

Mr. FLEMING. That would be correct, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Now that would mean that they get about twenty-eight dollars a week or approximately that figure. Is that correct?

Mr. FLEMING. That would be correct, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, let us take that figure for a moment. How much tax would they have to pay a year on $1,400?

Mr. FLEMING. Twenty-eight dollars, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. That is correct, for the total year. How much would that amount to per day? Is that about eight cents a day? Would you say that is correct?

Mr. FLEMING. I would accept your figure.

Mr. WEINER. All right, sir, if you say eight cents is correct. How much do we spend for a pack of cigarettes a day?

Mr. FLEMING. Twenty-eight cents.

Mr. WEINER. Therefore, we are asking somebody to give eight cents a day for education as opposed to twenty-eight cents a day for a pack of cigarettes. Most cigarette smokers—I do not happen to be one myself—usually smoke a pack or a pack and a half a day. Is that correct, sir?

Mr. FLEMING. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, in your opinion, is that a great deal to expend for education per student?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would say that is not a great deal to pay. However, I would suggest to the Senator that all of those people about whom I am concerned are already paying the other taxes which all of us are paying to carry on not only education, but all of the costs of government. Then we have turned around with this bill and singled them out as a separate class to pay this additional $23,000,000—a most unfair thing to do. Is should be spread, if it is necessary, and, again, Senator, I do not think it is necessary. However, if it is necessary, then it should be spread out on all of us, and not just this small group of people.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. I also want to report to him and to the Members of the Senate that if this tax measure does not pass—someone suggested here that we ought to have a separate staff. However, you will note, every Member has on his desk a budget that comes to him. He also has a run-down of what is happening each month in the budget, he also has the expenditures, and also has somewhat of the estimated revenues. I do not know how many of you read these very carefully or go through them. In any event, I think you will have an opportunity to be concerned about them if you will look through them and, at least, use them as a basis for either being for or against this measure.

To just say there is money in the budget or there will be money in the budget, without giving us any facts or figures, I think, as all of you might well imagine, is just a lot of foolishness. Unless you can substantiate this, I think what you are doing is saying, "This is the reason that I am against this because I think there is something better," without knowing if there is or not.

I want to apprise you of one other factor so that no one can say that I did not say it. The position of the gentlemen on this side is that if this tax bill fails, we will drop from the Calendar House Bill No. 1807,—now on Second Reading—which is the reimbursement of $18.6 million to the schools and which raises the subsidy from $5,800 to $6,200. We will drop House Bill No. 1817, which is the Faculty increase of $620,000 for the State Colleges. We will drop House Bill No. 1702, which is the Community College Bill and which has $400,000 in it. We will drop House Bill No. 1773, which has one and one-half million dollars in it for increasing Penn State salaries. We will drop the other measures that go with it, such as raising the ceiling on elementary schools from $1,100 to $1,200 and the ceiling on secondary schools from $1,700 to $1,800. That is how serious we are about this tax measure and what it implies.

I can assure you that these measures will be dropped from the Calendar. If by some freak accident they should get through this Body, I can also assure you that the Governor will not sign them. They will not become law.

I think when you are faced with that kind of a proposition, you can pretty well understand what our concern is in the field of education. You can also pretty well understand what our concern is about not paying the bills at a time when there is no money to do the job.

You can add these sums I have given you and look at what this will do in your particular areas. I will go through some of the areas and tell you what the increase would be if we passed House Bill No. 1807.

Take, for example, Armstrong County. There would be a gain there of $214,751. Take, for example, Blair County where the increase would be $333,729. Take the area of Butler County, where the increase would be $260,475. Take the area of Chester County, where $376,251 would be the gain. In Crawford County, the increase would be $208,540. In Cumberland County, the increase would be $293,385 if we pass House Bill No. 1807.

I can go through all of the counties, but there is not a county represented by the other side or this side which does not stand to gain by the increase in subsidy. However, if you do not need this increase in your county or you do not want it or it is not necessary to your school district, we will have to agree with you and also help to vote this measure down. If the rural areas do not need this increase, it is perfectly all right with us. As a matter of fact, I have stated here on the floor on many occasions that if you left the area of Philadelphia alone, speaking from a very selfish point of view, the Philadelphia school district could take care of its own problems in many other ways without any difficulty at all.

A great deal of the money now comes from one-fifth of the people who live under the formula or formulae established here. You will find that the large areas, the urban areas, come out on the short end of it. If you think it is all right for the large areas to go down the drain under your formula which has been keyed to the way you set these things up, it is perfectly all right with us. However, just do not vote for this measure, and we will drop the other measures from the Calendar without anybody voting. I do not have to advise you that this is not a threat, but I want to tell you that it is a solemn promise that we will take care of this situation in that fashion.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly do not want to prolong the discussion, but I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, among the different items the gentleman proposes to drop from the Calendar,—and I tried to listen very carefully—I believe he mentioned the sum of $233,000 in Cumberland County. I earlier made a suggestion—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the amount was $293,385 in Cumberland County.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for correcting me.

I earlier made the suggestion of dropping one-third of the 15,000 permanent employee-increase during this and the previous Administration. Does the gentleman propose to recommend to the Governor that he drop these extra 5,000 employees?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hardly see how firing people out of their jobs would help the school situation. However, if the Senator wants to present that here and will give me the names of the persons whom he wants fired, and will include some members of his own Party who still happen to be on the State payroll, I will be happy to join in asking that these people be fired.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I take it that the gentleman is not in accord with dropping these employees, from his rather lengthy answer, and I am not trying to put words in his mouth.

I received permission to interrogate the gentleman and I assure you that this will be all. I wonder if the gentleman has recovered the speech I am supposed to have made several years ago and is ready to now read it into the record?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, we are going to come back here this evening and I will be delighted to read it. He might be shocked to find that he is still reading the same old speeches.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I will be satisfied.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, when I came here in January of this year, being a newcomer to the field of politics, one of the early discussions that we became involved with in this Chamber was a matter which dealt with the field of discrimination. I must say that I was very much impressed by the attitude of the Majority Party in this Chamber with regard to this particular subject. Needless to say, my impression since that time has been considerably shattered.

Up until now, we have had come before us numerous tax measures, totaling some $105,000,000, and every single tax bill which came before this Chamber in this Session has been highly discriminatory; that is to say, they applied to only certain individual groups of people, and this one tops them all.

As has already been indicated, this tax will affect a mere ten per cent of the population of this Commonwealth. Now $22,000,000, Mr. President, is certainly not a lot of money, and I will be the first to admit that the cause for which this money is proposed is a very worthy one. However, I suggest to you, Mr. President, that this $22,000,000 represents only two dollars for every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I also suggest that every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is entitled to pay his two dollars and we have no right or reason to expect only ten per cent of the people to shoulder this responsibility.

Now another phase of this tax which I find very, very tough to swallow, as far as I am concerned, is that this tax—in spite of what the Majority Leader said with regard to the people who have a $125,000 investment—is one which will be imposed on the segment of our population which is least able to pay. There is no way of getting around that fact. The vast majority of the people in this Country who own stocks and bonds and have invested income, as we all know, are the women and they are, for the most part, widows. As a matter of fact, the only people who have any unearned income—or a substantial portion of their income is unearned—are the people who no longer have earned income or earnings. These people are elderly and retired, and they have already been robbed of half of their savings through the process of inflation. I think it is highly unfair that we should ask them once again to be the goose and call upon them to support public education in Pennsylvania.

It is becoming increasingly clear, Mr. President, that this is the policy of the master politicians behind this scheme to tax the elderly people, many of whom no longer are physically able to get out and vote. This is a scheme to tax the people who are too young or too old to vote. This, I submit, is a master plan in politics and this is why the Administration does not have the courage to tax 11,000,000 people in this Commonwealth but simply picks out those, for one reason or another, who are not likely to vote them out of office. This, I submit to you, is reaching a new low in political maneuverings.

Yesterday, I was made sick on my stomack when we were discussing the General State Authority Bill. The gentlemen on the other side, one after another, gloated over the fact that they now have the political pork barrel in their possession and, gentlemen, they were going to make the most of it, giving no consideration at all to the tremendous burden this thing was going to impose upon the defenseless people who are still too young to vote, and many of whom are unborn. You are on safe ground politically because they certainly are not going to retaliate at the next election.

Now, Mr. President, if I were to vote for this tax bill, my conscience would not let me sleep at night. I am a man of forty-five, in the prime of life, living in a period of prosperity, and perhaps at the peak of my earnings, representing the people of the Thirty-third Senatorial District of Pennsylvania. If I were to vote for this bill, I would be voting for a bill which would not cost me one red cent. On the other hand, my father, who must depend on unearned income for every nickel he has to live on, will be taxed on every penny of his income. Now, Mr. President, as I have already indicated, if I endorse this kind of a proposal, my conscience would not let me sleep at night.

My father, as is the case with most of our fathers, had pretty tough going. My father, and the fathers of a great many of us, lived through three wars and two major depressions. My father and the fathers of many of us have already paid the bill for our education. They have already sustained the schools when we were children in school. I am proud to say that they did not pass on to us a legacy of debts.

When I was a boy in the eighth grade, I was graduated from a one-room country school to a brand-new consolidated school building in 1928, and it was modern in every detail. Ten years later, that building was completely paid for. I would remind you that this was during the worst depression this Country has ever known. Our fathers paid their bills as they went. They did not impose taxes on their fathers or pass debts along to their children. Yet, for some reason, we discover this sort of technique is a tremendous political expedient and we are using it more and more. I think it is absolutely preposterous that we, in this enlightened generation, permit this sort of thing to happen.

I would remind you, Mr. President, that while my father was paying for that school building, his average daily earnings were one dollar a day, and yesterday we were arguing about paying people one dollar an hour. My father, fifty years ago, taught school for forty dollars a month. Here we are today, insisting that out of the meager savings my father and mother were able to accumulate, we are now going to impose on them a tax to pay the salaries of school administrators and bureaucrats, if you please, in the Department of Public Instruction, whose income today amounts to as much in one day as my father earned in a month.

Can this be described as in any way fair? Here again we have used this term very loosely in this Session of the Legislature. Just about every bill that comes along has something fair attached to the title. However, this, I submit to you, is the most unfair thing that has ever come across this Chamber. There is nothing about it that can, in any way, be considered fair or proper. I think we are certainly on weak ground just because this Administration does not have the courage to go to 11,000,000 people and say: "Give us two dollars for badly needed education." Instead of that they are going to the people, who are defenseless at the polls, and saying: "You pay the bill instead."

The Majority Leader pointed out a little while ago that the people who have this vast horde of invested capital are quite able to pay $100. I would like to point out to him that the thing which is actually happening, of which he is probably blissfully unaware, is that these people are now trying to live—the vast majority of them in my District—on what little income they receive from investments and this does not reach. They are praying that they will not outlive their savings because they are constantly whittling away at them. Not only are they living on their income from savings, but they are chopping away at the principal and they are just hoping their life expectancy will not catch up with their savings.

I would like the Majority Leader, or anyone else, to explain to me how I could go back to my District, after having voted for this monstrosity, and say to my people that I have been fair to all concerned. Admittedly, educationally, we do need improvements. I would like to say, as has already been pointed out here, that all we need do in order to get the money to sustain our schools is to simply fire the parasites from the public payroll.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman who just spoke was of interest to me because only a few weeks ago with respect to some of the people he was quite concerned about and who could not defend themselves at the polls, he was perfectly willing to overlook and he voted against a measure which would have given them a decent living place other than to live in box cars. If he went home to his nice, warm house and nice, clean bed and was not concerned about that and could let these people sleep on straw, I do not see how his conscience can bother him on this measure.

I think also that the gentleman is misinformed on a number of counts. I venture to say that the cost of the suits the gentleman buys is equal to what his father earned during that month referred to when he taught school. I know that things have changed in fifty years. We do not sit in this room with big fans going. We have air-conditioning. We do not sit here with gas light. We have electric light. You do not walk or ride a horse and buggy to get to Harirsburg. You ride in a nice, big, brand-new car.

These are the things that have changed in fifty years, and I think that you, along with the rest of us, ought to recognize that change and be willing to live in these times, not back fifty years ago.

One of the other important things, which I think you are not aware of, is that in American T. and T., there are over a million stockholders, and these are not all people of great wealth. Wealth has been diffused in this Country. Many, many people are stockholders today. It might come as a shock to you that one-half of the people who are sixty-five years or older—these are statistics that have been put out by the Department of Commerce —earn less than $2,000 a year.

I did not realize that these people were defenseless at the polls. You do not lose your right of citizenship or the right to vote just because you happen to be sixty-five years or older.

These are the people who are not being touched by this because most of them live from a pension program, which I am sure that you were opposed to when they first talked about such programs because you probably thought this was socialistic. There are also people living from the fringe benefits they got as working people, which I am sure that you would oppose. These are the people who are not bothered by this tax and not covered by it.

However, the people that you are so concerned about and so worried about pay so little under this tax that they are not even concerned. I think you have not really stated who you want to protect and around whom you are building a fence. If you are very candid with us, you will tell us that.

The only people who are really concerned about this tax and who will get a big whack out of it are people who earn $20,000, $30,000 or $40,000 a year from dividends. These are the people who really get whacked by this thing. What is the whack that we are taking at them? It amounts to $400 or $500. It varies also depending on whether it is a short-term or long-term capital gain, and whether it is net to them as a gain, as opposed to a long-term or a short-term gain. These are the people you are concerned about. When you get into that class or that bracket, we are talking about people who have millions invested in capital, or at least three-quarters of a million dollars invested in capital, because we are talking about people who have blue chips investments.

If those are the people you are concerned about or worried about, I do not think they will ever find themselves on old age assistance. I think they can always apply for Social Security if their situation gets very bad, because the only group not now covered by Social Security is the medical profession, and that is by choice on their part.

I think those people also vote and they can make themselves heard at the polls, not only in the way of voting but I think they are affluent enough to make themselves heard in your Party circles. They have been heard.

I would suggest to you, sir, that you give this problem a long, hard look as to what this will do to your county and not to the people about whom you continue to talk, who really are not the mass of people, but the people who have children who cannot afford to send them to school, who cannot afford scholarship help for them, and who must turn them out to do some other kind of work and waste the brain power they have, any one of whom might provide a solution to many of our problems.

There was a poor young man, who lived in this community, who profited by going to school in our community, and who helped find the way to cure polio. This was a young mind that somebody husbanded, somebody looked over, and somebody provided for. This man is not a rich man. This man is a poor man and remains a poor man until this day.

If we had followed the precepts as you set them down, this man would have been lost by the wayside and we would not have this type of thing. This is only one case of which I am well aware because it is in modern times. However, this has been repeated thousands and thousands and thousands of times over.

Just because a person does not use wisdom in choosing his parents and he happens to choose poor parents, you are not going to continue to punish him for the rest of his life. You must give him some help. Our society has become so complex and many of the university fees, because of the cost-of-living, have become so high that unless we do something to help these people, we are going to lose one of the greatest natural resources we have in this Commonwealth.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Hawbaker.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Hawbaker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAWBAKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Hawbaker, you made the statement that this two per cent on dividends, capital gains and royalties hits the people least able to pay. Am I correct in that?

Mr. HAWBAKER. I did, sir.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Hawbaker, would you say that people on relief and people on public assistance, of whom there are 500,000 in the State of Pennsylvania, are people who are least able to pay?

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, in reply to that question, I would simply like to state that we have untold thousands of people today on public assistance whose incomes far exceed that of my father and mother.

Mr. SILVERT. Of course, I cannot agree with you. However, did you not, Senator Hawbaker, vote for a four per cent sales tax, which people on public assistance are paying today?

Mr. HAWBAKER. Please repeat that question, Senator.

Mr. SILVERT. Did you not vote for a four per cent sales tax in the 1959 Session? I do not recall whether you were here.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I never voted for any sales tax. I was not here.

Mr. SILVERT. I beg your pardon, Senator.

I make the statement, Mr. President, that the Republican side and the Democrats voted for a four per cent sales tax that falls upon people on public assistance, who are really the people who are least able to pay, and you cannot compare the people on public assistance with the people who receive dividends and capital gains.

Mr. HAWBAKER. Mr. President, I cannot accept the gentleman's statement that people on public assistance are least able to pay because, as I have already indicated, we have untold thousands of people who are forced, for no other reason perhaps than their own personal pride, to live on their savings, and their total realized income—thousands of them—is much less than the amount paid under public assistance.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I realize the hour is getting late and all of us are getting hungry. However, I would like to make an observation or two, if I may.

As I understand it, Mr. President, the tax we are discussing today is one that was selected by the Select Committee on Education. The sum involved, Mr. President, of $22,000,000 or $23,000,000 is the figure that was given to us. Therefore, here we are and we are either going to vote for or against this tax.

Mr. President, there was a bipartisan committee set up I believe to take care of this particular problem. We, in both Caucuses, I believe, have been guided by their recommendations. Therefore, Mr. President, it seems to me that we have to do one thing; either vote for these taxes or disapprove them.

Mr. President, I want to inform the Members on the other side that I served here under the Leader Administration when the Republic Majority made guinea pigs out of the Members of the House when it came to taxes, because all revenues must originate in the House of Representatives.

I am not happy about this tax. If I could, I would exempt those in the lower inome brackets from the provisions of this bill. That, of course, is unconstitutional. Therefore, we must proceed along this line.

I want the Majority Party to know this. I have decided to vote for this tax because of the recommendations of the Select Committee on Education, and because I feel that we must follow through with the recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Higher Education as well.

Should this tax fail, I want the Membership on both sides to know that I am not going to vote for any other taxes—any other form of taxes—at this Session of the Legislature.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this is certainly my last word on this subject. It has been debated thoroughly and vigorously.

Mr. President, I cannot let pass the remarks made by the Majority Leader in reciting the bills which they intend to drop from the Calendar if this tax measure is not passed. There has been more than a strong suspicion that this Administration is not too concerned about education in any event.

Mr. President, it has been stated, and well stated, that this Administration should not find it necessary—and I am of the same opinion—to impose an additional tax in order to produce the money which might be required during the period until we come back into Session again to take care of the increased subsidies to our school districts.

I want to say this, Mr. President. The recital of what they intend to do with these bills if this tax does not pass has no effect whatsoever, because I want to state publicly that we will not be blackmailed, and we cannot be bought by this threat.

Mr. President, passing now to another technical aspect of this bill, I have already pointed out what I believe is the fundamental weakness in the bill or an oppressive section of it. I want to say that I will not interrogate on this subject. However, I want to say that as the bill is written, it will tax the income from all of the charitable foundations and the investments of charitable societies in Pennsylvania. Unless the Majority Leader can explain that one away, it is sufficient reason for me to vote against this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman advise me how he feels charitable organizations will be taxed by this measure?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on page 8 of the bill, Section 206, relating to investment income, it is described and defined as that which is: ". . . 'returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government' . . ."

> ". . . The term 'returned to and ascertained by the Federal Government' means (a) submitted to the Federal Government on the applicable form of tax return or schedule thereof for the taxable year . . ."

Of course, charities are excluded. They do not have to file. However, the bill continues as follows:

> ". . . (b) which would have been submitted to the Federal Government on the applicable form of tax return or schedule thereof if the individual had made a return to the Federal Government for the taxable year . . ."

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not believe this covers the very same area about which the gentleman was speaking. I do not want to go into that technical part of the bill at the moment.

However, I would like to point out to the gentleman that we are not only concerned about education. If he wants to test our sincerity, all he has to do is to vote for this bill, and he will see how quickly we will pass all of these other bills that follow that I have indicated and which are money measures.

Our only reason for not carrying these bills through, or voting on them or passing on them, is based on the fact that there is no money to do it. We just are not going to pass measures that expend additional revenue. This measure would bring in $22,600,000, and the bills I have indicated come out to about $22,600,000. We just are not going to do that.

If the gentleman wants to find out how sincere we are about education, all he has to do is look at our record on the reorganization bill, for which we voted almost solidly, and look at our record on these bills, after we pass this tax bill providing the money for them.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, once again the gentleman wants me to be a sort of seer, because I cannot peer into a record which they have not made yet.

However, Mr. President, if there is sincerity in the matter of assisting the school districts of Pennsylvania, it has been stated, and can be repeated again, that the subsidy bill and the increased relief to the various school districts can be passed because, Mr. President, I have a letter written by one of the rather prominent members of the Administration, stating that they could not provide any increased money for school districts because the Republicans had not produced a single vote for House Bill No. 95, but if they could get that money, of course, they could take care of whatever needs the school districts might have.

Mr. President, they have that money. Now I say, let them perform with it.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I heard the Minority Leader say that charitable foundations would be subject to this tax. As I read the bill, the tax is only on a natural person.

I do not think a foundation is a natural person. Page 5 of the bill, Section 201, line 12, states: "Tax on Residents"—every resident. On the opposite page, page 4, the bill also states:

> "'Resident' (a) A natural person domiciled in the Commonwealth . . ."

The same thing applies to nonresidents; every natural person not a resident. Therefore, I do not think that objection is well taken.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I will take just a moment.

First, I would like to correct a statement that has been made. There never was any tax—particularly this tax—which was recommended by the Select Committee on Education.

Certainly, the tax came up for consideration, and the tax was voted upon by the Membership and, as such, came out for consideration. However, there was no recommendation on this tax. I want to be sure that the Senate understands that particular point.

Mr. President, there is a feature in this bill which disturbs me. As I look at it,—I made some notes here—a fiduciary is defined as a trustee or any person, whether individual or corporate, acting in any fiduciary capacity for any person or trust.

Then "person" is defined on page 4 as every natural person or corporation. When we look at Section 301, we find that it provides that the taxable investment return of any kind of property held in trust shall include, and I will quote from the bill:

> "Investment return which is to be distributed currently by the fiduciary to the beneficiaries . . ."

Under these definitions,—and I hope the Majority Leader will pay attention to this—it seems to me that colleges and universities could be held to be taxable on income from trust funds held by them for their own benefits, whether such income is retained in trust or distributable to the college to be used for current purposes. It seems to me also that the same thing would be true of churches, of hospitals, and of similar organizations, which act as trustees of funds for their own benefit.

This is just one of the errors in the bill. There are others to be pointed out I think on close inspection, and I think the Minority Leader has called attention to some. The bill needs more careful perusal than it has been given, and more careful preparation. It is, of course, an inequitable classified tax, imposed upon a small segment of our people.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, as a Member of the Select Committee, I would like to say that it is my remembrance and my impression—and I think the records of the committee might show it—that the committee first considered a number of taxes. We first considered a personal property tax on stocks and bonds of one per cent. This was voted down by the Select Committee. Then we considered the tax that is now under consideration, and recommended it for the consideration of the General Assembly. Then we considered a third tax, a tax on trade-ins, and this was recommended for the consideration of the General Assembly.

I believe, however, regarding the tax on trade-ins which was recommended for consideration, there was never a bill presented in the lower house to carry out this recommendation.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. President, I regret that I must take issue with my good friend and colleague, Senator Hays, for whom I have the highest regard. I know he speaks what he thinks is correct. I take issue with him because such is not our understanding at all.

It is our understanding that when this particular tax came up for consideration, we voted upon it, and by a certain vote it came out for consideraton of the various Caucuses, and for consideration, ultimately, as it is here, if such would be the determination.

We did not recommend and we did not put a stamp of approval on this tax. I want to be certain this is understood.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I think the record will show that I stated three minutes ago that we recommended these two taxes for the consideration of the General Assembly.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Washington will be so recorded.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—22

Camiel,	Mahady,	Murray,	Seyler,

SB 668 (Pr. No. 778)—Upon motion of Mr. WEINER, seconded by Mr. LANE, and agreed to, the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 670 (Pr. No. 2484) and HB 749 (Pr. No. 2713)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

SB 761 (Pr. No. 1217)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that this bill go over in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to Senate Bill No. 761, Printer's No. 1217, going over in its order. I think it ought to go up to Third Reading and we ought to vote on it one way or another tomorrow.

I am well aware of the fact that this bill cannot pass. However, I think we ought to at least get a vote on this measure. If we do not do anything on it during this Session, it may be possible before the year is out, or early next year, to act on it, and we will have this as a guide line.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection has been raised to the bill going over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BELL offered the following amendment:

> Amend Sec. 1, page 3, lines 5 to 10 by striking out "Aldon Brook—" in line 5, all of lines 6 to 10, and inserting: Brookhaven Chester Heights Eddystone Marcus Hook Media Morton Parkside Prospect Park Ridley Park Rose Valley Rutlegde Swarthmore Trainer and Upland and the townships of Aston Bethel Birmingham Chester Concord Edgemont Lower Chichester Middletown Mether Providence Newtown Ridley Springfield Thornbury Tinicum Upper Chichester and Upper Providence in the county of Delaware

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. Oh, absolutely, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise me if we include the different areas that he has listed here,—approximately thirty-five boroughs which he is adding now to his District—what would be left for the other Senator from Delaware County?

It says: "the residue." What residue would be left other than the railroad track?

Mr. BELL. Twenty-three boroughs and townships, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman please advise what the population of the residue would be?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, perhaps to expedite the matter, I could give a statement as to what this amendment does.

Mr. WEINER. I would appreciate it, Mr. President.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 761—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May we have order on the floor? We cannot hear what is going on.

Mr. BELL. Let us all vote "aye," then.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Bell has words of wisdom. Please continue, Senator.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, the original Senate reapportionment bill, as submitted by Senator Seyler, from York County, cut up Delaware County into two Districts. The way he cut it up, of course, is not acceptable to my Party and, according to the newspapers in Delaware County, it is not acceptable to the Democratic Party. Therefore, that means it is only acceptable to Mr. Seyler. I understand there are some other Districts that feel the same way.

The District that he sets up—the Ninth District, which I represent—on the map looks like Santa Claus in a sleigh,—it actually does—with the runners of the sleigh running up and down the Delaware River. This is not a proper distribution of our county.

I have studied this county, being its Senator and for six years as one of its Representatives, and having lived there all of my life. I believe this plan divides the county into two groups, one of which is what is known as suburbia Philadelphia. Senator Weiner is well aware of that group because they are the people who do not want to be annexed into Congressman Green's Congressional District. They are the people who do not like the wage tax, and they are the people—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe we should confine our discussion to this bill. I would like to point out that the gentleman does not know his geography. Congressman Green is nowhere near Delaware County.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The point of order is well taken. We will not discuss the wage tax of Philadelphia.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I think Congressman Green is trying awfully hard to get out there.

Seriously, I will say what Senator Weiner wants to say: "What are you up to?" What I am up to is to divide the county into two areas with common interests. This is a proper division of the county.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the way the bill is set up now, the total number of people living in Delaware County is 553,154. Senator Seyler, in his bill, has divided the county into two Districts of 274,220 and 278,962, which is about as even as you can possibly get them and still maintain the borough and township complex.

To divide it the way the Senator has in his amendment, which I am going to ask my colleagues to oppose, is to upset that completely, and leave the residue—the way the other District is set up—with very few people left. If the Senator feels there should not be two Senators,—and we have been using 250,000 or close to 250,000 people as a ceiling or a point of departure for picking out a District—I would like him to advise the Members of the Senate why this should be so in this area when we divided everybody else on the basis of 250,000 people.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I am very happy to answer the Majority Leader, who has a very clear question.

Senator Seyler is playing the old numbers game again. This divides the county into two Districts. I do not have my figures here, but they are districts with a variance of around 30,000 or 40,000 in size. However, Delaware County is having tremendous growth in the outlying townships. Within a few years, these two Districts will be equal in population.

For Senator Weiner's information, this is a fair distribution of our 553,000, and I do not have that odd-number which he has in his book. However, we have probably today close to 560,000 people.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not know how the gentleman knows what the surplus will be—

Mr. BELL. We have a birth rate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You are out of order, Senator Bell. Senator Weiner has the floor.

Mr. WEINER.—or the addition that has taken place. Unfortunately, it depends on what we are talking about. When we talk about other types of reapportionment, Philadelphia is immediately losing all of these people. We are dwindling down to nothing. When we talk about surburbia, it is immediately rising up and they are having a tremendous birth explosion in these counties so that within a very short time,—within a year of the census—they have gone up by 7,000.

Be that as it may, Senator, I still think that unless you can show us that this distribution is more equitable than what we have here, I am going to have to ask my colleagues to reject this amendment.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, that is a fair request. Therefore, I request a roll call on this amendment.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Bell.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, will the gentleman tell us what the size of the Ninth District would be under the plan he has presented?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I do not have the exact figures here. The Ninth District, as this plan would set it up, would have approximately 40,000 people less than the new District that Senator Seyler has carved out of central Pennsylvania.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, can the gentleman give us a figure?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, not to the exact 100. However, I will be glad to give him the figures tomorrow. I do not think the gentleman needs them to 100 or 1,000 tonight. I have given him approximate figures, and I think that is accurate enough right now.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, can the gentleman give us the population figure of the Twentieth District, which he has proposed?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, the Twentieth District will be approximately 40,000 greater than the Ninth District.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, is the gentleman able to give us the size of the district?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, approximately 40,000 larger than the Ninth District.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would say to the gentleman that we are engaged in an enterprise here, and we are proposing a reapportionment bill which would, so far as possible, give equal representation to the people of Pennsylvania, including the people of Delaware County.

Now the gentleman asks us to vote tonight on a proposition concerning which he is unable even to give us the size of the districts. He offers to give us the figures. In that case, I respectfully suggest to the gentleman that he hold the amendment, which he will still be able to present tomorrow, until such time as he is able to give us adequate information. I think in asking the Members of the Senate to vote on a proposal on which he is unable to give us the information as to the representation these people will have is asking us to do an unreasonable thing.

The tone of the gentleman's presentation is that he has these figures but, for some reason, is unable to give them. I suggest, therefore, that he get the figures and, when he has the figures, present them to us so that we can estimate the value of this and proceed to vote according to the merits of this proposal.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I also desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, may we be at ease a moment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded a voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

Bell,	Hawbaker,	McMenamin,	Taylor,
Berger,	Keller,	Pechan,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Kessler,	Propert,	Wade,
Confair,	Kromer,	Scott,	Wagner,

Haluska,	Miller,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Hays,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Donolow,
Kalman,	Murray,	Silvert,	Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the amendment was adopted.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I request that Senate Bill No. 761 go over in its order, as amended. I would also like to make a very brief statement then about a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. Preident, I object to the bill going over in its order, as amended. I ask that it be moved up to Third Reading by being read for the second time, as amended.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, on a bill as important as this and since this amendment has been adopted, I think, in all fairness, the Majority Leader should permit us to look the bill over very carefully. There are a few adjustments that I think might be necessary in Allegheny County. I would like very definitely to look into Senator Sarraf's District. He is not here tonight. I have a high regard for him, and I would like to look his District over tomorrow.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, will state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, Senator Sarraf is here. If the gentleman is concerned about him, I will have him in here in about two seconds.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, Senator Sarraf is very modest. He does not like to speak for himself, and I merely wanted to speak for him.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, my objection is that this bill cannot possibly pass. The genelemen on both sides of the aisle know that. I think it should come before us and a vote should be taken on it.

We may be back here working on reapportionment early next January, or maybe sooner. I do not know. However, I think we ought to have the bentfit of having this measure before us, having debate on it, and having a recorded vote.

We have not had a reapportionment bill in this Senate for many, many years. In approximately forty-one years, the Senate has not been reapportioned. I think at least we ought to take a look-see at it. I think these gentlemen should not take the view of being concerned about it. We ought to have it out. The bill cannot possibly get out of this Senate in time to be passed by the House, even if it passes here.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if what the Majority Leader says is correct and the bill cannot pass, then, Mr. President, it might better remain where it is on the Calendar, or he might make a motion to have it dropped if he knows that the printing of it and the repetition of it on the Calendar is simply a useless gesture.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like whoever succeeds us here and those who come back to have the benefit of some debate and some discussion on this matter.

As I stated, for forty-one years there has never been a reapportionment bill on the Calendar of the Senate. I think that the Senate, being a body that is independent, should be the type of a body that will discuss this matter and get it on the record despite the fact that it cannot pass.

If the gentlemen on the other side are so concerned about this measure and do not want to vote for it, I would ask that a roll call be held to determine if this bill will go up to Third Reading. If that be the case, I think a vote for this bill or against it on this roll call will indicate whether you are in favor of reapportionment or not.

I am not asking anybody to vote for this bill. All I am asking that they do is move this bill up for Third Reading so that a vote can be taken. If anybody sees fit to vote against it, they can do so. At least, we ought to have the benefit of discussing this among ourselves. I think the public ought to have the benefit of getting an opportunity to look at this measure and the opportunity for the reaction that will result from it to be presented to the Members of this Body.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I have a great deal of information on my desk and on my chair concerning this whole subject. I would be hopeful, for example, that the Administration would get some photographers over here so that it would be proved to my constituents that I know something about this subject and that I have a great deal of information available on it. It is right here, as everyone can well see. I would not want to read it all, very frankly, because it might take a lot of the time of my friends in the Senate, and I am sure they have many more important things to do concerning this subject.

Senator Taylor wants to give me some more information, and I appreciate that.

Thank you very much, Mr. President. It has been a pleasure to be with you tonight and bid you all this invitation.

Mr. SESLER Mr. President, I do not like to chastise my good friends on the other side of the aisle. However, this is a serious issue. I would like to second the thoughts and the words of the Majority Leader in talking about reapportionment.

This spring, I had the opportunity and the pleasure to be on a seminar on political science at Thiel College with my good friend from Crawford County, Senator Shafer. In the course of this seminar, I had a chance to study some of the reapportionment problems, not only in Pennsylvania but in other States.

First of all, I would like to say, in regard to Pennsylvania, that unfortunately the Senate of this great State has consistently—and perhaps just as equally jocularly as it has tonight—disregarded the basic problem of reapportionment. I would say that since 1906, there have been a number of reapportionment bills. However, there has been no basic reapportionment of the Senate of Pennsylvania since 1906. This is in flagrant disregard of the constitutional provisions.

It is more than just a question of preserving seats. Reapportionment is a tremendously political question. Everybody jumps into the act. Everybody wants to save his own seat and his own skin. However, malapportionment is bad government. Malapportionment brings about many evils. Malapportionment, for example, creates representatives who are unreasponsive to the interest of the people. Malapportionment makes our people cynical. It makes them become disgusted with government.

I could talk for two hours on what malapportionment does. I say, for one, that I am new in politics. However, if my seat were coming up for reapportionment, I would vote for a fair bill, and Harry Seyler has prepared a fair bill. This is a bill which attempted equally to divide this Senate.

At the present time, for example, we have malapportionment, and this malapportionment obiously favors the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle. We have 25 to 25. Yet, out of 11,000,000 in this State, we represent over 6,000,000 and they represent slightly over 5,000,000 people. I do not say this because I am a Democrat, but if it turned the other way, I am willing to stand here and say it should be the other way around.

In the South, malapportionment has favored the Democrats. In the North, basically, malapportionment has favored the Republicans, if you study it carefully.

I know, for example, how serious malapportionment can be. In California, before they redistricted, one State Senator represented 4,500,000 in the county of Los Angeles. Another Senator, from one of the mountain districts in the Sierras, represented 18,000 people. This man who represented 18,000 people had as much to say about the development of the freeway in Los Angeles County as did that man who represented 4,500,000 people. Obviously, his lack of concern was extreme, he cared little about this. Yet, this was a basic problem which affected millions of people.

I could give many examples on this subject. Tomorrow, I would like to talk about it, and at least bring to your attention the failure and the disinterest of the Senators in this Commonwealth to consider what I think is one of the most serious problems you have in government.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I think everybody here takes seriously the oath of office which they took when they were elected to the Senate. One of the requirements is to support the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that this Body shall be reapportioned after each decennial census. The Constitution also is very serious about that oath, because it prescribes certain sanctions.

I think we should be a little bit serious about reapportionment; serious because it is provided for in the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the document which we here are sworn to uphold. I think every proposition to reapportion the Senate of Pennsylvania should be taken seriously by the Members of the Senate.

I did not particularly like the present bill which was drawn up by Senator Seyler, although I must say that numerically it is a fair document. Maybe I would like a different way of arriving at that fairness. However, it is the only bill that was introduced here and it is the only bill that was brought up here.

I introduced, on several occassions, some bills to reapportion Pennsylvania. I introduced a bill that was drawn up by the Committee of Seventy in Philadelphia, and I think Senator Silvert introduced a bill at the last Session. However, I do not think we are doing the right thing by ignoring the question completely. I do think the bill should be given the consideration of proper parliamentary procedure and it should come to a final vote, even though the bill does not favor me particularly.

I do live in a District something like Senator Bell's District. I represent 523,000 people. Senator Bell has 533,000 people whom he represents. Certainly, they are entitled to another Senator. Under this bill, nearly half of my District would go into other Districts.

I do think we ought to bring this bill up for a vote and see who wants reapportionment and who does not want it. If you do not want this bill, come up with another bill, bring in another bill, or provide a committee to go into a study of this question.

I know you have to hammer out Districts. It takes a lot of hard work and a lot of effort to bring forth a satisfactory bill that can pass. However, I think that can be done, and I think we should take steps to do it. We can either do it ourselves or let the Joint State Government Commission undertake it for us. I do think it should be done. Also, I think we should take a fair way of disposing of this bill so that the people know where we stand on reapportionment.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have no objection to this bill going up to Third Reading. It is no secret, and everyone knows, that I am opposed to this reapportionment bill.

Mr. President, I have had the honor for the past sixteen years to represent the good people of Washington County and Greene County. I like the people of Greene County and I like the people of Washington County. I rather think that they like me, too.

I do not want my District split up. Washington County and Greene County have been one Senatorial District for almost four decades. I had a sneaking idea, when I was told they were going to split up my District, that probably someone had the idea they were going to get Bill Lane Politically.

I want you to know this, Mr. President. I will go down fighting in opposition to this reapportionment bill. My District is not too small. My District is too large, but I like it that way. I am going to support and work with the people of Washington County and Greene County, and I will fight to the last before they split up my District, regardless. Everyone knows my position. It is no secret. The Democratic Caucus knew it; everyone else knew it. I am not changing my mind.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I do not think the remarks of some of the Members were well-founded, to the effect that we consider senatorial reapportionment other than something that is very serious. I do not think there is a man in this Chamber, Republican or Democrat, who does not realize that at some time we have to reapportion Pennsylvania on a senatorial basis.

I object to this method. I think that when we reapportion this State, as far as the Senators are concerned, there ought to be public hearings and there ought to be studies. It should not be done by one man putting his ideas into a committee of which he is chairman, bringing the bill to the floor for a vote, and saying this is true reapportionment.

The people of Pennsylvania have not had a chance to be heard on this. The Chairman of the Committee has had plenty of time. We are in the latter part of the eighth month of this Session, and here at the eleventh hour, we are told this is it. I do not think that is the true Democratic process.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I also live in a District with 450,000 people. As Senator Mullin stated, I introduced a bill for reapportionment in the last Session.

Unlike Senator Lane, I do not mind having part of my District taken away. Under this bill, the Twenty-second Ward and the Thirty-eighth Ward are taken away and given to Senator Stiefel. I say, more power to him. Let us have the opportunity to vote on reapportionment. I want that opportunity.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, of all of the incongruities in this bill, I am the beneficiary of one because I will have to fight a battle with a Napoleon—none other than the Presiding Officer.

This bill takes the Twentieth Ward in the city of Philadelphia, which I have represented for almost the last three decades, and gives it to Senator Donolow. In other words, he becomes my Senator.

However, I have long ago learned that reapportionment bills cannot be perfect. In 1937, when I came to the Senate of Pennsylvania, all kinds of silly jobs were given to me as a junior Senator. For instance, they made me Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary Reapportionment. For ninety years, there had been no judiciary reapportionment of Pennsylvania. So, I became the Admiral of the Swiss Navy.

The next job was to assist a Senator from Allegheny County by the name of Rodgers. Senator Rodgers was Chairman of the Committee on Reapportionment. A separate room, on the third floor of the State Capitol, was given to him. This room contained all kinds of maps, and this man was all engrossed in maps. He was playing with maps, cutting them and putting them together. Finally, he came up and said: "Yes, I have the perfect district." The man came from Allegheny County but, sure enough, he forgot to put the township of Sewickley in the reapportionment bill and the entire thing tumbled.

Therefore, you can never expect a perfect bill. This is in answer to my good colleague from Lebanon County, Senator Ehrgood. He said he has some massive information, and I believe he wants to display to his constituents his mastery of the geography of Pennsylvania. I want to tell him to bear in mind the sad experience of Senator Rodgers. The more he studied this, the more it baffled him.

Let us get a bill. My friend, Senator Seyler, in his anxiety to do a good job, simply took the rule of thumb, divided by population, and here I have to fight it out with Senator Donolow, the man with the finest stentorian voice in Pennsylvania, and I have to cope with this menace.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think it is obvious from the remarks of my colleagues on this side of the aisle that I did not play political favoritism in arriving at the conclusions in this bill.

Replying to the gentleman from Delaware, I would like to tell him that when the bill was first introduced in this Senate,—which was relatively early in the career of the Senate and not at the twelfth hour, as he said—each Member received a map showing what the bill would do, in addition, of course, to having access to a copy of the bill outlining what the Districts were.

At that time, I suggested that I would like to receive from the Members criticisms and suggestions. I would like to say, Mr. President, that to this date and until he presented a plan on the floor, I had not received any communication from the Senator from Delaware which indicated that he had another plan which was fair and which he felt would better represent the people of Delaware County.

In working on this plan, I used the resources of the Department of Internal Affairs, which supplied me with census data and with detailed maps. An effort was made to make a plan which was as equal as could be possibly made under our Constitution, and also as compact and contiguous as could be made. I think Senator Bell will have to admit that the map, in so far as it is related to Delaware County, in those respects was a good map. It may not have suited him as to which political enemies were represented in his District, and the District of the person who would have been his colleague, had this passed. However, at any rate, it was fair from the standpoint of representation, of compactness, and of contiguity.

It is really a difficult problem, of course, to make a fair reapportionment plan and satisfy every incumbent Senator, because it is obvious that in order to be fair, changes must be made which will dislocate somewhat existing Districts. If you did not do that, there would be no point in making a plan. If the only purpose was to perpetuate existing inequalities, then, obviously, there would be no task at all.

I do think that the people of Pennsylvania are alert to this problem. I think there are many people in this Commonwealth who realize that this Senate has not performed a function assigned to not only the Senate, but the Senate and the House, and they have not performed the function assigned to them by the Constitution since the early part of this century. It is inevitable that in that time gross inequalities have grown up. The people of this Commonwealth are not being represented fairly. I think this is a serious thing.

If there were any questions about the bill I offered, certainly the committee would have welcomed other bills, would have studied them, or would have taken any suggestions with regard to this bill. These I did not receive.

Now as to why this bill is brought up so late, it has been on the Calendar for quite a while, and it has consistently been put over in order by the Majority Party. They have, day after day, requested that this bill go over in its order. I do not complain about this. However, I do complain a bit about Senator Bell standing up and making the implication that he is asked, at the last minute, to vote on a bill without any opportunity to do anything about it because that is just not the case.

I think the people of Pennsylvania will be interested to know that there have been several proposals for reapportionment presented, an effort was made to bring them to a vote in this Senate, and we have not been able to get to that vote because of the resistance of the Minority Party in putting the bill over in its order consistently.

Therefore, I would say that at least we might be serious tonight and at any time when we consider this bill, and not make it a matter of levity and not make it a matter of joking, because I think this is out of tune with the dignity of this Senate and with the concept of this Senate which the people of Pennsylvania have of it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe when Senator Seyler said "Majority Party," he meant the Members on the other side of the aisle. He meant the Members who are opposing this measure going to Third Reading, which does not happen to be the Majority Party.

I might report to the Members of the Senate that this bill was referred to the Reapportionment Committee on June 13th. There was quite a lengthy discussion on it at that time, so that everybody was aware that this bill was being introduced. It was reported from committee, as amended, on August 15th, and had its first reading on August 15th. Therefore, this bill did not come here just ten minutes ago.

I would also like to respectfully present to the Members of the Senate the fact that you can see from the expression of opinions on both sides of the aisle that this must be a pretty good bill because nobody is happy with it. I think Senator Seyler proceeded to take fifty Members and he took 11,000,000 people. He arrived at a number which he thought was a fair number that each District ought to contain, and divided them out over this type of an area. I think that is equitable reapportionment.

I am not happy with the District I end up with, as are many people. However, I think at least we ought to bring this bill to a head, have an expression of opinion on it, and give it a run here in the Senate. To do otherwise is not facing up to the problem. On our part, it is not acting as mature lawmakers who have to deal with the problem of reapportioning ourselves.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, oddly enough, I have no apprehensions about senatorial reapportionment. I do not believe that many of the Senators in this room have any such thing. However, there is one fundamental thing that ought to be considered in the discussion of senatorial representation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

For instance, Mr. President, you talk about disproportionate representation in the Senate on the basis of population. One of the fundamental safeguards of the United States Constitution is that each State shall have two United States Senators. The State of Montana has just as many as the State of California. The State of Rhode Island has just as many as the State of New York or Pennsylvania.

There is some consideration that must be given to territory and area. Now I know of a Senatorial District in Philadelphia which, I believe, encompasses not very many city blocks. My own District represents about 150 miles from end to end.

Mr. President, somewhere along the line consideration must be given to these factors. Those people are entitled to representation in this Senate, and they cannot get it as handily in a District that has so many square miles and so much territory to traverse as they can with one Senator and a great many more people in a District encompassing just a few city blocks. That has to be taken into consideration.

Mr. President, inasmuch as mention has been made of the contitutional obligation, our courts are charged with, and have discharged, the duty of interpreting that Constitution. They have decided that the Legislature is its own arbiter in this matter, and that the constitutional provision is not necessarily obligatory.

Nevertheless, Mr. President, as I said at the beginning, I do not believe there is anybody in this room who fears or apprehends senatorial reapportionment excepting on the basis of equity, both in population and in area.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, without any desire to unduly prolong this discussion, I wish to reply to several remarks of the gentleman which I think are erroneous.

In the first place, he has correctly quoted the Constitution of the United States in assigning two Senators. Also, he has not correctly quoted or interpreted the Senate of Pennsylvania if he believes this is a correct analogy with the Constitution of Pennsylvania, because the Constitution of Pennsylvania says that these Districts shall be as even as may be.

Secondly, I do not believe it is correct—from my research—to say that the courts have decided that we need not reapportion. The courts have merely decided that Senators and Representatives cannot be held individually accountable for a failure to reapportion. According to my knowledge, it has never been said that this constitutional provision requiring that we should reapportion after each census, does not need to be carried out by the Senate, but simply that suits against individual Members can have no validity.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am familiar with the case that the gentleman has in mind. That was a fairly recent case and not the one in which the court stated that the provisions as to reapportionment following each census is not obligatory. The one I believe the Senator refers to is the one in which he has served with a summons by the Federal Court the same as I was.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I believe there has been a request that the bill go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct, but the request has been objected to by Senator Weiner. Therefore, we will proceed with consideration of the bill on second reading, as amended.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 761 go over in its order, as amended.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I oppose the motion that this bill go over in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no" so that the bill may proceed to Third Reading. I will vote against the bill tomorrow, but I am in favor of it passing Second Reading, as amended, at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Lebanon will be so recorded.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The roll was called and resulted as follows:

YEAS—24

Bell,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Stroup,
Berger,	Hawbaker,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Corbett,	Kessler,	Scott,	Wade,

Hays,	McMenamin,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Donolow, Presiding Officer

Less than a majority of the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the negative and the motion was defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill on second reading, as amended, was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE SUBMITTED

Mr. McMENAMIN submitted the Report of Committee of Conference on HB 1181, which was laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The President pro tempore (Anthony J. DiSilvestro) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

SB 96, 225, 238, 247, 351, 354, 361, 413, 603, 644, 750, 811, 843, 867, 869, 871, 876, HB 161, 298, 301, 944, 1139, 1178, 1219, 1221, 1275, 1276, 1278, 1306, 1339, 1373, 1385, 1421, 1438, 1452, 1453, 1454, 1455, 1457, 1469, 1473, 1484, 1506, 1531, 1564, 1572, 1601, 1604, 1606, 1607, 1619, 1709, 1746, 1774 and 1811.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Benjamin R. Donolow) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, it is obvious to me that the Republicans do not intend to take seriously any reapportionment bill during this Session.

In order to avoid any argument about needing a sufficient study on this matter, I have prepared and am submitting herewith a resolution which requests that the Joint State Government Commission conduct a study and investigation of reapportioning the Senate, and to submit to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with a draft of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

I do believe that since the Joint State Government Commisison is made up of all the Members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, they may call in each and every Member and discuss with him his District and hammer out legislation which is necessary, because the Constitution requires it.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE SUBJECT OF REAPPORTIONMENT

Mr. MULLIN, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 131), which was read and referred to the Committee on Reapportionment:

In the Senate, August 30, 1961.

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the subject of reapportioning this Commonwealth with respect to representation in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the 1963 Session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with a draft of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

HB 773—Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Mr. WEINER.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

HB 1008 (Pr. No. 2424)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. MAHADY offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 410), page 3, line 2, by striking out "HEAD" and inserting: Secretary
Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 410), page 3, line 3, by inserting after "PARTMENT": of Public Welfare
Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 410), page 3, line 3, by inserting after "EMERGENCY": in public assistance
Amend Bill, page 4, by inserting after line 4: Section 2 This act shall take effect immediately

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 1008 go over in its order, as amended.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I would like to suggest, since the amendments have been adopted, that the bill be read for the second time. I object to it going over in order, as amended.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now move that House Bill No. 1008 go over in its order.

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I will withdraw my objection to the bill going over in its order, as amended.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to and the bill on second reading, as amended, was passed over in order.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 1030 (Pr. No. 2687), HB 1048 (Pr. No. 1640), HB 1059 (Pr. No. 1176), HB 1080 (Pr. No. 1197), HB 1340 (Pr. No. 2715), HB 1463 (Pr. No. 1796), HB 1522 (Pr. No. 1878), and HB 1528 (Pr. No. 1894)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

RESOLUTIONS REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Rules reported, without amendment, Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 130, entitled:

Creating the General Assembly Advisory Council.

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 130, ADOPTED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate do adopt this resolution.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 1541 (Pr. No. 2717)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I object to House Bill No. 1541 going over in order.

This is an important measure and a great deal of time has been spent in amending it. I think we ought to move it up for a vote and really act on it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection has been raised to the bill going over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 1597 (Pr. No. 2426)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

HB 1598 (Pr. No. 2718)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SHAFER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 6, page 20, line 10, by striking out "MAY" and inserting: shall

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Members of the Senate if they have any more amendments to the pharmacy bill to submit them tonight. Be charitable enough to give us a chance to see this bill live or die. It is just too bad when people do not know anything about a profession like pharmacy.

I mean this sincerely. I have no interest in this bill other than an interest in the public welfare. If there are any more amendments, let us be men and put them in now and not wait until the last minute of the Session.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL REREFERRED

HB 1625 (Pr. No. 2699)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request that House Bill No. 1625 go over in its order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want to interrogate the Minority Leader. I want to interrogate his associate, the gentleman whose District would benefit by having an extra judge. Will he allow himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman whose District will benefit—Senator Pechan—permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator, would you advise the Members of the Senate why you feel this is not a good measure or why you do not want it to move up so that we can vote on it tomorrow?

Mr. Pechan. It is a House Bill, Mr. President, and I would like to have the bill go over in its order. If it does not go over, I would like to have it put over on the Postponed Calendar for the 1963 Session.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman is very clear in his intention on this bill. Will the gentleman advise us why he feels they do not need another judge in his area?

Mr. PECHAN. I do not know as we need one, Mr. President. May I give you the entire story on House Bill No. 1625?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If it is the answer to Senator Weiner's question, you may.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, some time ago, some representatives of the Bar Association of Butler County came to my office. Representatives of both Parties came as a committee to talk about the feasibility and the advisability of a second judge in Butler County. We discussed it, and we suggested at that time that the bill read exactly as it is presently written.

If we pass this bill, you know we have no bill anyhow because according to the provisions of the bill, the question of the election of the additional judge is to be on the ballot in November of 1961. The appointment would have been made for the judge to serve until January of 1962. The bill, as it is presently written, if we passed it would be unconstitutional. It would not be worth the paper it is written on, because it says that the judge shall be elected in November of 1961. If that were possible, I certainly would be willing to allow this bill to go up to Third Reading. However, it is impossible because August 7th was the deadline for having a nominee for the office of Judge appear on the November 1961 ballot.

As I say, we had an agreement that the bill should be presented as it is presently. However, it seems that over in the House they shuffled around until it was too late for the judge to be on the November 1961 ballot. Therefore, it would mean, if we did pass this bill in an amended version,—and we would have to amend it—that the appointment would have to be until 1964. We just do not want it.

Is that answer good enough for the gentleman across the aisle?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does that answer your question, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. It does not, Mr. President. It does not answer it sufficiently because the gentleman, who happens to be in one of the professions himself, not too long ago on the floor of this Senate gave us a professional opinion about what a certain school needed, and he took it from a professional point of view.

If the gentleman will allow me, I will give him the professional point of view for his county in regard to this matter.

The Bar Association has written to the Governor, asking that there be another judge. One of the gentlemen who is a sponsor of this bill is not a Member of the same Party as I am. Therefore, there cannot be any politics involved. The only politics I can think of at the moment is that there might possibly be a Democrat appointed as a judge during the interim before there is an election. If that is what offends you, I think you ought to say that rather than anything else.

I think the Bar Association is in a somewhat better position to judge whether or not they need another judge down there, as compared to someone else. If it had something to do with dentistry or the field of medicine, I would listen to your advice on that because you probably would know that better than anyone else. However, I think in this area, you are in complete conflict with the Bar Association. If you tell me that they are wrong or in error, I will be glad to listen to your advice on that portion of it.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, is the gentleman still interrogating me or may I—

Mr. WEINER. No, sir. I am not interrogating you at all, sir.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Pechan, you have been released from interrogation.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I would like to have the gentleman know, and my colleagues know, that I have fulfilled my part of the bargain.

After these gentlemen left my office, if there were any politics played, they were not played by myself or the sponsors of this bill. They were played in the front office when they shuffled and allowed this bill to die.

Mind you, this bill was introduced I think in May. We would have had plenty of time to act on it. When the gentlemen spoke to me, one of them said we should introduce such a bill.

May I have the Majority Leader's ear, please, Mr. Shafer?

I would like to also say this. One of the sponsors of the bill wanted to introduce a bill stating that the Governor shall not appoint anyone, and that we would just have an election. I said: "No, even if I were the Governor or you were the Governor, it is his prerogative and he should name anyone he likes."

I think the gentleman who was in my office was probably the most likely Democratic candidate. He agreed that it was giving him an advantage, and he is certainly entitled to it. However, we do not think he is entitled to two and one-half years. If they would have kept their side of the bargain, the bill would have gone through.

I think we can get along without another judge. When and if you fellows appoint another Governor—

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, may state it.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I believe in this Commonwealth, we still elect Governors. We do not appoint them.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, my rooting section says maybe Congressman Green might. I do not know.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Senator, I am curious as to the peregrinations of this bill through the Legislature. It came to my attention in this debate for the first time.

I notice from the History which we have available to us that the last recorded action in the House History is that the bill passed Second Reading in the House on July 26th. As far as I know, in this Session of the Legislature, bills creating additional judgeships have come through the Judiciary General Committee. We had a meeting yesterday morning, and this bill did not appear there.

I am wondering, Doctor Pechan, if you can tell me where this bill came from?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not know, but I would like to know.

I will tell you. I was minding my own business here yesterday when, out of a clear sky, House Bill No. 1625 was read as just coming over from the House. Ten minutes later, it was reported on the floor. I do not know how many Members were there who helped to report this bill from committee.

I recognized the number yesterday because I had been alerted to it. Today, I found it on the Calendar. I have a big mark on here—if you will look at my Calendar—indicating that I did want to make some remarks about it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Doctor Pechan, you made a suggestion that this be put over until the 1963 Session of the Legislature. I notice the bill carries an appropriation.

Perhaps we could consider it in the 1962 Session of the Legislature, which is limited, of course, to fiscal matters. This, having an appropriation, might be appropriate then.

Mr. PECHAN. I think you have a good suggestion. Let us do that in 1962, and have the judge in 1963. We will then be in business.

Mr. President, with that help, I would like to now move that we rerefer this bill to the Committee on Judiciary General. I do not know whether or not it was there yesterday. If it was not, let us put it where it rightly belongs.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill came over from the House and went to the Appropriations Committee. The reason for doing so was to save some time.

I would like to point out to the good Senator from Armstrong that the sponsors of this bill are all Republicans. Two of them happen to be right from your own county, Senator Pechan. They were in favor of this measure. They had spoken to a number of people here about moving it, because they were interested in it. Somebody stated that you would take a position against this bill, unless you could name the gentleman who is going to be the judge. I do not know if there is any truth in that rumor or not. I took it merely as a rumor.

Mr. President, I oppose the motion to rerefer this bill to any committee.

If the gentleman does not have the courage of his convictions to vote against this bill, instead of evading the issue by sending it back to committee, that is up to him. However, I certainly think the people in his county—and, more particularly, the Members of the Bar who look to him to provide extra judges—ought to be aware of this fact.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, to clarify a misunderstanding, I would like to inform Senator Weiner that two of the gentlemen who sponsored this bill voted against it in the House yesterday, and asked me to do likewise in the Senate today. They did not vote for the bill. They are against it and so voted yesterday.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair make a ruling that a motion to rerefer is debatable? However, the bill, itself, is not debatable.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, please advise the Members of the Senate—and he can answer this question if he sees fit—as to who forced these gentlemen to sign their names to the bill and to introduce it?

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, will state it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, the point of order is that the Majority Leader's remarks are improper.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair does not believe they are improper. The Majority Leader asked Senator Pechan whether he would permit himself to be interrogated and then be asked the question.

Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. No, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, will state it.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the Majority Leader is discussing the bill and not the motion.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am not discussing the bill at all. I am merely discussing how the bill came into being. Since Senator Pechan said these people are not in favor of it and are against it, I want to know why they signed the bill, and how it got introduced. Now that is not discussing the bill at all. I did not go into the merits of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. We will only debate the motion to rerefer the bill.

Mr. BERGER. Very well, Mr. President.

Mr. BELL. Mr. President, I would like to request a roll call on this motion.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on the motion—and very pertinent to the motion—the Majority Leader has stated that the people who were concerned with the professional aspects of this particular subject ought to be the ones to discuss it and advise upon it. There could be no better committee for that purpose than the Judiciary General Committee, which has all bills of this type, and which discusses and passes upon all bills of this type.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BELL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—25

Bell,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Stevenson,
Berger,	Hawbaker,	McMenamin,	Stroup,
Chapman,	Keller,	Pechan,	Taylor,
Confair,	Kessler,	Propert,	Van Sant,
Ehrgood,	Kromer,	Scott,	Wade,
Flack,	Madigan,	Shafer,	Wagner,
			Ware, III,

NAYS—23

Camiel,	Lane,	Murray,	Staisey,
Devlin,	Mahady,	Ripp,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McCreesh,	Rooney,	Weiner,
Haluska,	McGinnis,	Sesler,	Yatron,
Hays,	Miller,	Seyler,	Donolow,
Kalman,	Mullin.	Silvert,	Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill was rereferred.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 1781 (Pr. No. 2335)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 1818 (Pr. No. 2679)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments to House Bill No. 1818.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, after Senator Kessler offers his amendments, I request that we be at ease so that we can examine the amendments.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to make a statement to explain the amendments after the period of being at ease.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, eighth and ninth lines of Title, by striking out all of eighth lines, and "FAMILY ENTERPRISE AS WAGES" in ninth line, and inserting: redefining "base year" and "State"

(f) For purposes of this section and of section four hundred one (a) wages paid with respect to employment performed under Shipping Articles shall be considered as having been paid in the respective calendar quarters in which the services of the employe were being performed

Amend Sec. 4, page 8, line 6, by striking out "4 This" and inserting: 8 Except as otherwise provided this

Amend Sec. 4, page 8, by inserting after line 9:

The amendments provided by this act to clause (a) of section 4 section 206 and subsection (f) of section 302 shall take effect January 1 1962

The amendments provided by this act to subsection (a) of section 401 subsection (b) of section 402 and section 404 shall take effect with respect to benefit years commencing on and after October 1 1961

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the hour is late, and I hate to take the time to explain these lengthy amendments. However, I think it is necessary.

The Unemployment Compensation Law, as it is administered in Pennsylvania today, makes me think of the story of the old mountain lady, who was giving some advice to a newly wedded girl. She said: "I hope your lot is easier than mine. All my wedded days, I have carried two burdens; Pa and the fire. Everytime I turned around to look at one, the other was out."

It seems to me that on unemployment compensation, everytime we try to do something to improve our situation in Pennsylvania, something else happens to make it worse.

Mr. President, it is unbelievable that this Senate would delay, until the last few days of an eight-month Session, the consideration of one of the Commonwealth's most serious problems; namely, the bankrupted unemployment compensation program.

It is even more unbelievable that the first and only U.C. Bill brought up for consideration is the one now before us, House Bill No. 1818, which covers inconsequential subjects, while completely ignoring every one of its basic and consuming ills.

We have done much to try to improve the business climate in this Commonwealth. However, to our discredit, we have failed to face up to the unemployment compensation problem, which is doing more to impede industrial expansion in Pennsylvania than any other factor.

How is the unemployment compensation program serving as a road block to industrial expansion in the State? The answer is obvious. The average U.C. tax imposed on our employers this year is 3.2 per cent. On a taxable payroll of $8.6 billion, that amounts to over $275 million. In Ohio,—one of our most aggressive business competitors—the average U.C. tax this year is 1.5 per cent. If a similar tax prevailed in Pennsylvania, the U.C. bill this year would be only $129 million. In other words, Pennsylvania employers are paying $146 million more in 1961 unemployment compensation taxes than they would be paying if they were operating in Ohio.

The comparison is even more odious in regard to Indiana, which is Pennsylvania's biggest competitor in its basic industry—steel. This year, the average unemployment compensation tax rate in the Hoosier State is 1.2 per cent. If Pennsylvania employers were operating in that State, their current unemployment compensation tax bill would be $103 million as compared to the $275 million they are paying here. This means that the unemployment compensation program is costing Pennsylvania employers $172 million more in one year to do business in Pennsylvania than it would be costing them to do business in Indiana.

These figures tell a terrifying story which we can no longer ignore. They explain, in part, why so many of our major industries, which at one time made Pennsylvania the unrivaled industrial giant of the Nation, are building new facilities in other States.

Pennsylvania, once the workshop of the world, now has more depressed areas than any other State in the Nation. There are many reasons for this unhappy situation. They will vary from one locality to another. However, a basic underlying reason which is impeding industrial expansion in all these areas is the abnormally high unemployment compensation tax. It is a vexatious anomaly that the unemployment compensation law is creating unemployment, which is the very thing it was intended to alleviate.

Anyone willing to face up to this problem must readily admit that something is desperately wrong when, despite the highest taxes in the Nation, Pennsylvania is forced to call on the Federal Government to bail out its unemployment compensation program. How can our neighboring States maintain sound unemployment compensation programs and, at the same time, impose substantially lower taxes than obtain here in Pennsylvania?

The answer is evident, even to those who give the question only a casual investigation. The Pennsylvania unemployment compensation program is more costly than in other States. Why? It is more costly, in part, because we are paying benefits to several large groups of individuals who should not be receiving them. These expenditures amount to about $60 million a year. They have plunged the U.C. program into bankruptcy. They have created the highest U.C. taxes in the Nation. They involve payments to individuals who are not actually members of the labor force. They are payments to the "second dippers," to our retired pensioners, and overgenerous allowances to those who have only a casual attachment to the labor force.

Of course, it is nice to be generous. However, in all sincerity, I ask you, can these payments be justified in face of the fact that they have bankrupted the fund? They have created the highest taxes in the Nation, and they now make it impossible for us to raise benefit levels maintained in other States.

I ask my colleagues, are you willing to tell your constituents that you cannot increase their unemployment compensation benefit rates because you refuse to close the loopholes? The question is just that simple but, nevertheless, embarrassing.

Personally, I will not do so. Consequently, I am offering amendments to House Bill No. 1818, which will decrease unwarranted and extravagant payments and, at the same time, provide for an increase in the maximum benefit rate from forty dollars to forty-five dollars a week.

The first objective of these amendments is the limiting of the maximum duration of benefits to thirty weeks. This is accomplished by redefining the base year to the first fifty-two of the last fifty-four completed calendar weeks previous to the benefit year.

An important by-product to this change would be the elimination of the quarterly wage reporting for over 3,000,000 employees. Thus, employers would be relieved of an enormous reporting burden. The Bureau of Employment Security would be relieved of an expensive task of record-processing and filing wage records. Under the new proposed setup, employers would file wage records only when requested to do so after an employee becomes an unemployment compnsation claimant.

The second amendment has to do with the payment of benefits to certain pensioners. Anyone who has studied this problem well knows that we have crippled our unemployment compensation program through overgenerosity with those who have retired from the labor market. We have let our hearts rule our heads. Now that the cupboard is bare, it behooves us to use a little more common sense.

My amendments, perhaps, do not go as far as they should. Although I am convinced that all pension payments, both public and private, should be offset against unemployment compensation payments, I recognize that this objective is too replete with emotion to be accomplished. Therefore, I propose to do exactly what Congress has done in the Temporary Extended Unemployment Compensation Act; namely, offset only public and private pensions to which employers have contributed and not offset the Social Security Pension or Railroad Retirement Pension.

Such a plan should bring no great hardship on our pensioners, yet it will go a long way in putting the U.C. program on its feet, and making certain that we will have enough money to pay our regular workers, should they become unemployed.

The third amendment, Mr. President, will accomplish to a greater degree what has always been a fundamental concept of the unemployment compensation program; that is, a benefit program which compensates for fifty per cent of the wage loss.

The benefit table is revised to pay benefits for periods ranging from twenty to thirty weeks, and the entire benefit table has been developd so that it would pay amounts equal to fifty per cent of the base year wages.

The savings secured by this type of a table are a result of paying the casually employed persons in exactly the same manner in which the benefits of the regularly employed people are computed. Under the current table, the casually employed worker gets up to ninety-five per cent or more of his weekly wages in benefits. He also gets paid for the same duration. Frequently, he gets paid for a longer period than he worked.

This has been a foolish practice. It is one of the reasons the fund is bankrupt. We have jeopardized the rights of our regularly employed because of our oversolicitation for the casually employed.

Then, finally, these proposed amendments would raise the maximum benefit level from forty dollars to firty-five dollars a week; a step which simply cannot now be taken unless there are offsetting savings in the extravagant expenditures.

The closing of the three extravagances would result in the following annual savings: Elimination of the "second dip," $12,000,000; offsetting private pensions, $8,000,000; and tightening the benefit table, $20,000,00 or a total of $40,000,000.

However, the greater part of these savings would be utilized in paying the increased benefits. The increase in the maximum benefit rate to forty-five dollars would cost $25,000,000 annually. Thus, there would be a net saving under these proposals of approximately $15,000,000 a year.

Considering the deplorable condition of the program, this would appear to be less of an improvement than is really needed. This fact becomes quite clear when it is realized that we are now paying more than $1,000,000 a day in benefits, and we have paid more than $2,000,000 a day. However, I have proposed only this modest improvement in consideration of the reluctance of so many of my colleagues to make any improvement in the program at all. It will take many years for these amendments to effectuate a material improvement in the financial structure of the program but, at least, it is a much needed step in the right direction.

The unemployment compensation program is in dire trouble. Its troubles will increase unless we have the wisdom to face up to the situation by enacting these life-saving amendments.

If we, as Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, have the real interest of the people who are regularly employed at heart, we will try to protect the unemployment compensation fund for their benefit when they need it.

I urge my colleagues to support these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the position taken by the gentleman from Lancaster, at first blush, may seem to have some merit.

However, let us examine it a little more closely. We have operated in Pennsylvania from 2.0 to 4.0 per cent. Now with respect to New York State, there is a small headline in the New York Times,—and just as recently as today's paper, Wednesday, August 30, 1961—which states:

> "Employers Facing $85,000,000 Rise in State's Job Tax
> "Because of the sharp rise in unemployment insurance benefits in the first six months of this year, New York State employers are facing an $85,000,000 rise in insurance taxes starting January 1st . . ."

It goes on to state the area in which this problem exists, and it goes on in quite some detail.

New York has been and will be moving from 2.2 to 4.2 per cent. Pennsylvania has always lagged behind and has always remained behind in this area.

This bill is not that difficult, although it might seem a little complex. It deals with only three problems, one of which is very familiar to one of the Senators in this Chamber, Senator Bell, who had this very problem right in his own District.

The one amendment eliminates the inequity that now exists. For example, in a plant you have union employees and nonunion employees, and the plant shuts down. The union employees receive a severance pay because of the contract under which they operate. The nonunion employees, in order to be matched up with the union employees by the employer, usually get severance pay directly. The result is that the severance pay received by the union employees is deductible from the benefits they will receive over a pro rata period. With the other gentlemen who received the same amount, but were nonunion, it is not deductible, thereby accruing benefits to them while they go on to collect unemployment compensation.

This situation existed in the Ford Motor Plant when it closed down, and it was very difficult, under the interpretation of the present law, for them to make any differentiation between these two groups. Yet both groups suffered the same hardship and suffered the same difficulty in being re-employed, retrained or rehired.

This first amendment, if adopted, would cost approximately one-half of one per cent of the total benefits paid.

The second amendment to this bill—

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to just question the Majority Leader as to whether he is speaking on the amendments which I offered or whether he is speaking on the bill, itself.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the gentleman is correct. However, in order for me to get into the other area, I wanted to discuss the first area first.

Mr. KESSLER. Senator Weiner, are you speaking on House Bill No. 1818, and its present provisions, and not on the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Yes, sir.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. As the Chair understands, Senator Weiner is speaking of the amendments as they pertain to the entire bill.

Mr. WEINER. That is correct, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You are giving us the background of the bill first.

Mr. WEINER. That is correct, sir, because I wanted to indicate that these amendments go to one section of the bill, and we are talking about this over-all measure.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, there is nothing in the bill that I know of which refers to the amendments I offered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will Senator Weiner confine his remarks to the amendments, please?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will discuss the other phase, which is the phase that the gentleman is trying to amend. This is the amendment that deals with the family corporation.

The present law today states that where you employ three persons and one person happens to be employed by his mother and father and is fired, he could not obtain the benefits. If the—

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, again may I ask whether the Majority Leader is speaking on the amendments or on House Bill No. 1818?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am speaking on the amendments. The first amendment, if I may read it, provides as follows:

> ". . . striking out all of eighth line, and 'FAMILY ENTERPRISE AS WAGES' in ninth line, and inserting: "redefining 'base year' and 'State'" the next amendment then goes on to amend title, page 2, as follows:

> "or when separated from a family enterprise requiring additional reports . . ."—and so on and so forth.

I cannot discuss a family enterprise unless I talk about the present law and what they mean by a family and a family corporation. I will be delighted to do it the other way, but it will not be intelligible. I would like all of the Members here to vote on this matter in an intelligent fashion.

Mr. KESSLER. Might I observe, Mr. President,it is not very intelligible in any event?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, what they are eliminating in this bill is where they employ less than four people. There have been many indications in many places where a corporation was formed and, in that event, the third person or the fourth person could then go out and collect the benefits. This helped to increase the amount that was needed in order keep the fund running. By eliminating this phase or this feature of it, the fund will have approximately $500,000 a year.

I, therefore, Mr. President, could go on discussing some of the other amendments that have been mentioned here. However, where we are discussing the base year and the amount of money,—which I think is the Senator's main point and how this fund is being run up—I would like to point out to the gentleman that Pennsylvania has been behind and has lagged behind. We have a lower rate in this State—and we have to compare States that are like other States—than they have in other States similar to us.

Just as recently as today, I read to you a portion of an article appearing in the New York Times, which stated that New York was going to raise their amount. I would ask my colleagues to vote against these amendments.

Mr. WARE. Mr. President, I would like to follow the suggestion of the Majority Leader that we look further into these amendments and the effect that they would have on our unemployment compensation problem.

The Majority Leader very clearly gave us the example of the Ford Motor Company. However, he failed I think to get Senator Kessler's point; namely, that we would have fewer plants closing in this Commonwealth and we would have fewer plants in this Commonwealth moving to other States if we had an unemployment compensation rate which was comparable, not to the higher States in the Union but to those which offer lower rates.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments to House Bill No. 1818. These are very modest ones compared to the ten pages of the prior offering.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

> Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 4, lines 15 and 16 by striking out "per week allocated to any week or weeks during such period."
> Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 6, line 16, by inserting after "available": and has not refused an offer of suitable work

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HB 1828 (Pr. No. 2489)—The bill was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there is one phase of this bill which I think is very good. However, I would like to have some explanation made of why it is limited to family corporations. In other words, as I understand the bill, it provides that corporations which are composed of family stockholders—that is, the family—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Berger, we are now considering House Bill No. 1828.

Mr. BERGER. I beg your pardon, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, now that we have almost completed the Calendar, I would be very happy if Senator Berger would put his question so that I can get the answer and we can debate the bill tomorrow. If I do not have the answer. I would like to get it for him.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I agree that House Bill No. 1818, Printer's No. 2679, having gone up to Third Reading. should not be debated at this time. However, I would like to ask the question because I would like to have the answer when we do debate the bill.

The question is: Why are these corporations limited to family corporations? In other words, Mr. President, I know of instances where people engaged in a seasonal enterprise will form a corporation, and at the end of the season in which they could possibly be engaged in business as employees of their own corporation, they immediately go upon unemployment compensation and draw that amount of money until they can go to work again in their own business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will Senator Weiner take that question to bed with him tonight and be prepared tomorrow?

BILLS ON SECOND READING

HB 1831 (Pr. No. 2616) and HB 1841 (Pr. No. 2668)—Read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TERMINATION OF SENATORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Messrs. KESSLER, SEYLER and HAYS, by unanimous consent, offered the following resolution (Serial No. 9a), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, August 30, 1961.

Though there has never been a statutory basis for Senatorial Scholarships, the record shows that they have been in existence for at least 80 years. On July 1, 1881, the governing body of a State-aided institution of learning resolved:

> "That one scholar from each Senatorial District of Pennsylvania shall be admitted free of the regular college charge of $40.00 per annum, on these conditions: That he shall have been nominated for the scholarship by the Senator of his District, after a competitive examination; that said scholar is at least fifteen years of age; and that he is fully prepared for the freshman class. This scholar shall be entitled to the benefits of his scholarship to the end of his college course, . . ."

Two weeks later, the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania were advised of this action in a letter which read in part:

". . . These scholarships, . . . will entitle the holders thereof to exemption from the payment of other college charges for incidentals, room rent, fuel and use of furniture."

Today, a "college charge" of $40 per annum is something known only to specialists in ancient scholastic history, and today's students attending Commonwealth-aided institutions of higher learning are not required to furnish their own fuel and, as a general rule, are not charged for the use of furniture.

Over the last 80 years, senatorial responsibilities have also changed. Today's Senator has three times as many constituents as the men who constituted the Senate of Pennsylvania in 1881. The task of today's Senator has been further complicated by the rapidly increasing mobility of constituents. As population has expanded, the number of young Pennsylvanians who wish to attend instructions of learing has also increased. During the period under discussion, the number of college students increased from 21,000 in 1900 to over 191,000 in 1960.

Concurrently, knowledge has become increasingly complex and specialized. In response, intricate techniques have been evolved for the purpose of ascertaining the aptitudes of young men and women for particular areas of specialization. The increasing demand for college and university training and the rapidly rising cost of such training require that these techniques be uniformly applied to all seeking admission.

Though the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania can be relied upon to make informed judgments with respect to such qualifications as an applicant's character and need, they cannot be expected to make expert findings with respect to those aptitudes which make for success in specialized areas; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Senate hereby agrees that the Senatorial Scholarship Program be terminated, effective as of the end of the academic year 1961-1962, except for those scholarships currently in effect and extending beyond that period, and that the universities and schools now granting such scholarships be requested to grant the same number, of equivalent value, by competive examinations conducted by each university and school.

RECONSIDERATION OF HB 216

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 216, Printer's No. 2702, failed of final passage on August 29, 1961.

The PRESIDING OFFICE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, August 30, 1961

The House met at 10 a. m., e. s. t.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, Thou in whom we live and move and have our being, as members of a society dedicated to fostering Thy truths among our fellowmen, we bow before Thee in this hour. We are conscious that many times the accepted order which society chooses to follow is not in accord with the truths of Thy Word. So, O God, we pray that as dedicated servants of Thine we may never compromise the truths we know, but we pray that we may stand for that truth even if it means altering the accepted order. Amen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has requested the present occupant of the Chair to preside. The Speaker is attending a meeting and will be delayed for some time.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, August 29, 1961, will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

And has appointed Messrs. WEINER, LANE and BERGER a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the differences between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the Senate and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1335

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has appointed as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House, Messrs. POLEN, McCANN and HELM.

Ordered, that the clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ISAACS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, On August 8th we debated in this House, and passed, Senate bill 496, printer's No. 547, which would revise Legislative Route 730 and add a new Legislative Route in Delaware County, beginning at the intersection of Primos Avenue and Delmar Drive in Folcroft Borough, and continuing in a southerly direction to a point in Tinicum Township, a distance of about one and one-quarter miles, and connecting two state highways.

On August 24, 1961, Governor David L. Lawrence vetoed this bill, giving as his reasons the fact that it would be necessary to lay out and construct a new roadway. Further, the construction would be across the tidewater swamps of Darby Creek and would involve the erection of a major bridge across the stream and the engineering and construction costs would be substantial and, on the basis of preliminary studies, would be wholly disproportionate to the benefits derived. Further, he was advised by the Department of Highways that the Department of Highways, planning unit is presently conducting a study involving the construction of a Cobbs Creek Expressway from International Airport through these portions of Delaware County, and it would be ill-advised to disregard the extensive studies of the Department of Highway in this area.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the Governor vetoed this measure on the basis of recommendations of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways and, I am advised, particularly the district engineers' office at Haverford.

Mr. Speaker, I would put more dependence in the statement of a confidence man than in the recommendations of this latter office. From personal experience, you have to point a pistol at their heads to correct even a minor complaint. When Senate bill 496 was in the Highway Committee in this House, Chairman Harry Comer received proposed amendments from the Highway Department which would have deleted this new route. A memorandum further stressed the proposed Cobbs Creek Expressway used in the Governor's veto. On August 14th I wrote Secretary of Highways Park Martin and informed him that using the Cobbs Creek Expressway as an argument against the construction of this road was not honest, either morally or intellectually, as it would not come near this part of Delaware County. Yesterday, Mr. Carl W. Wild, deputy secretary for planning and programming, confirmed this fact. After checking the route he agreed it would stay east of Darby Creek. This makes the next to last paragraph of the Governor's veto as phony as a three-dollar bill.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I will summarize in the following manner. Construction of this highway would have (1) relieved the congestion on a state highway between Delmar Drive and Primos Avenue and the airport circle by 84th Street in the city of Philadelphia, which is and has been one of the worst bottlenecks in the County of Delaware; (2) it would have opened an area of some 500 acres for industrial development, much of it so zoned and ready to go. This area would develop rapidly as it would be only a quarter to a mile and a quarter off the Industrial Highway. This area would have made the 100-acre industrial park adjacent to the airport in Northeastern Philadelphia look like a play pen. Two days after this bill passed the House, Secretary of Commerce William R. Davlin had his director of the Bureau of Industrial Development, Mr. Newton Griffiths, on the ground, who made a survey of this area and was impressed with it. I want to commend Mr. Davlin and Mr. Griffiths for performing in a manner creditable to any business executive; (3) as to the expense of this road, attention is directed to the fact that 50 years ago, when the dikes along Darby Creek were in repair and the sluice boxes operated, the so-called tidewater marshes were being farmed right up to the banks of Darby Creek. Construction of this highway would require considerable fill. According to some of the figures being bandied about, the Highway Department must have contemplated filling this roadway with a base comprised of or containing a high content of gold, silver or copper; (4) the Governor's office received hundreds of letters advocating approval of Senate bill 496; (5) everyone in the northeastern section of Delaware County was interested in the construction of this road. This included the users of the highway, industrial developers, the Delaware County planning commission, who, incidentally, advocated two crossings of this stream, borough and township officials, and the unions whose members lose time every night and morning bucking traffic on this highway; (6) Secretary Martin indicated the prime reason for opposition to this measure was the construction of a paper road, which the department hesitated to do unless it was a limited access highway. For his information, Mr. Speaker, we would be satisfied with a limited access highway; (7) the feelings of the users of this highway have been alienated by this veto and deplore the fact that construction of this road was thwarted; (8) the excuse in using the proposed Cobbs Creek Expressway as a vehicle to veto this bill is a fraud and a sham.

Mr. Speaker, it is realized the Governor has to depend on his staff to give him the correct information in signing or vetoing a measure. The Justice Department ruled this bill was in proper form. The Commerce Department approved it. I call upon the Governor to appoint a committee to restudy this proposed highway and make a factual report. I can assure him, if he leaves the Highway Department and their ilk off this committee and the committee goes into every angle of the traffic conditions and possibilities for industrial development, there will be but one answer. The Highway Department could construct this highway without the benefit of any legislation, and I call upon the Governor to follow this procedure and build this link. I believe if subordinates of mine were to give me such misinformation, I would recommend their dismissal.

Further, Mr. Speaker, you have advocated for a long time that the committees in this House be given room to work and the technical staffs to investigate all features of bills before this House. I would recommend highly that this be done and that this General Assembly, through its Highway Committee, equip itself with the necessary technicians to study and survey conditions and to lay down by statute, line by line, the performance to which the Pennsylvania Department of Highways would have to conform. Then, Mr. Speaker, and only then will the people of Pennsylvania get what they are paying for.

Mr. Speaker, I repeat, everybody cannot be out of step except the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. I thank you, Mr. Speaker, and I thank the House for its attention.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, at this point I am going to ask the Democratic members to bring their house calendars with them and, when we make the motion for recess, to proceed immediately to the House caucus room, for we must caucus on everything on pages 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, to the top of page 14 on the first caucus. Therefore, we are going to ask for a caucus of one hour and fifteen minutes, the caucus to start first and then, roughly, thirty-five or forty minutes to eat lunch. We ask that the members come to the caucus first and lunch later. Then we will return and start roll calls at 2 o'clock, daylight saving time, on the first run this afternoon. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the minority leader.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader, the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we are also calling a Republican caucus immediately. We will also caucus for a period of time and then break for lunch and be back here at 2 o'clock.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Before the declaration of a recess, the Chair would like to take one resolution from the table.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. HORST asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, August 30, 1961.

On Wednesday, August 23, 1961, Miss Michelle Derridinger, 18, was selected as Pennsylvania Peach Dessert Queen in State competition at York. Miss Derridinger thereby became the fourth Franklin County queen to achieve the State title.

Following her selection she received a crown from the Pennsylvania Grocers Association and an album from the Pennsylvania Chain Store Association.

This is an outstanding honor which has been bestowed on Michelle Derridinger, for which Chambersburg and Franklin County are exceedingly proud. She is a daughter of Mrs. R. L. Derridinger of Chambersburg, Franklin County. She is a graduate of the Chambersburg Area Senior High School, Class of 1961 and expects to enter Shippensburg State College in September; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby commends and congratulates Michelle Derridinger on the outstanding honor which has been awarded her as Pennsylvania Peach Dessert Queen for 1961, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented to her representative here in the General Assembly, Enos H. Horst, so that he may present it to her at her home in Chambersburg.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I am sure the Chair, on behalf of the members of the House, wishes to thank the gentleman from Franklin for his hand-out of beautiful peaches this morning. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman if these peaches have been raised in Franklin County or were brought in from surrounding counties.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Horst.

Mr. HORST. They were raised in Franklin County, yes, sir.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The chair thanks the gentleman and I think they will probably shorten the lunch by 30 minutes.

Mr. HORST. And you are all as welcome as the flowers in June.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to bring their calendars and come to the caucus room immediately because lunch will be at the end of caucus. So please proceed to the caucus.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess of two hours.

The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Musto, rise?

Mr. MUSTO. I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, has there ever been a precedent set that when both Houses adopted a sine die resolution it was amended?

The SPEAKER. The answer is "yes."

The Chair said yes, there is such a precedent. From the Legislative Journal of May 26, 1937, page 6084: "The House and Senate rescinded its action in adopting a resolution fixing a date for sine die adjournment of the General Assembly and fixed a later date by adopting a new resolution."

In answer to the gentleman's question, the Chair would say that if there were no precedent, the Chair would so decide in any event.

Mr. MUSTO. Can such a thing take place, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The answer is, yes, there is precedent for it. If the House wants to change its mind and the Senate wants to change its mind, as long as they are in session, they have a right to as many changes of mind as they want.

Mr. MUSTO. The purpose, if I have a right to explain, it does take three legislative days in the House and it takes three in the Senate, is that right?

The SPEAKER. That is right.

Mr. MUSTO. Therefore, if any chairman of a committee calls a meeting from now on—

The SPEAKER. It takes that time to pass a bill but it does not take that time to adjourn.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, I am talking about the chairmen who might call meetings to release bills from committee at this late day. If there is not enough time for those bills to receive proper consideration, then I do not know why they are going to release them from committee, if such intent were there.

The SPEAKER. That is a matter for the chairman of the committee to decide. We know that unless the sine die resolution is changed, the bills will not get anywhere.

In my opinion, on a certain date, the House should pass a resolution placing all bills in the hands of the various committees under the control of the House Rules Committee. That has not been done. I think it is the sort of thing that should be done at this time. It should have been done several days ago according to my way of thinking.

There are 25 or 30 bills that should be signed and, since the gentleman from Armstrong needs the practice, we will ask him to preside while the Chair disposes of these bills.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. HAMILTON asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Insurance to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that on page 11 there is Senate bill No. 670, printer's No. 1219, establishing the family court division in the court of common pleas of Allegheny County. I have been requested to offer the following amendments to the bill and ask that it be printed immediately and returned here so that Allegheny County members may caucus on the printed version of the bill. Therefore, since we did check this out with both the Democratic and Republican membership and they requested this, I will call up Senate bill 670 for that purpose and will ask the chief clerk to send it to the printer and ask that the printer have it back here by our evening period, which will be around 5, 5:30, or 6 o'clock.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 670, entitled:

An Act establishing a Family Court division in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County imposing certain jurisdiction over actions and other matters involving the family providing for a chief judge and board of judges clerk director and professional and other employes transferring certain duties of the Juvenile Court of Allegheny County and the domestic relations court of the county court to the family court division providing for additional law judges of the Court of Common Pleas in the fifth judicial district establishing procedures for reconciliation and providing for the investigation and report of relevant factual information.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCANN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 6, page 7, line 5, by inserting after "PLEAS": who shall include it in his budget to the county commissioners of Allegheny County.

Amend Sec. 7, page 7, line 20, by inserting after "judge": The prothonotary's fees shall be as set forth in the prothonotary's fee bill in the act approved July 12, 1961 (Act No. 277).

Amend Sec. 8, page 8, line 15, by inserting after "em ploy": with the approval of the board of judges.

Amend Sec. 8, page 9, line 6, by inserting after "judges": and board of county commissioners.

Amend Sec. 9, page 10, line 4, by inserting after "basis": and the fees therefor shall be fixed by the Allegheny County salary board.

Amend Sec. 9, page 10, line 8, by inserting after "basis": at salaries fixed by the Allegheny County salary board.

Amend Sec. 11, page 12, lines 15 to 17, by striking out "and which actions may be" in line 15 and all of lines 16 and 17 and inserting: cases.

Amend Sec. 19, page 17, line 8, by striking out "are hereby" and inserting: shall be.

Amend Sec. 19, page 17, line 9, by inserting after "County": upon the request of the board of judges of said court.

Amend Sec. 20, page 19, line 7, by striking out "GENERAL" and inserting: municipal.

Amend Sec. 20, page 19, line 7, by striking out "1962" and inserting: 1963.

Amend Sec. 20, page 19, line 15, by striking out "1963" and inserting: 1964.

Amend Sec. 23, page 22, line 4, by striking out all of said line and inserting: July 1 1962.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. McCANN. Will the chief clerk make the arrangements with the printer?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will so direct the chief clerk.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, rise?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I understand that a leave of absence had been requested for me for the week. I request that the leave be cancelled as of today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The leave will be cancelled as of today, and the Chair is happy to see the gentleman back in his seat.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 566, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), defining and providing for special education of exceptional children.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Capitolo, rise?

Mr. CAPITOLO. Mr. Speaker, I pressed my button and it did not register. I would have voted 'aye" if it had registered.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1854, entitled:

An Act amending "The Military Code of 1949" approved May 27, 1949 (P. L. 1903), providing for the extension of the terms of service of enlisted personnel in the Pennsylvania National Guard.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as everyone knows, House bill 1854 was introduced a couple days ago, after a request was received to extend the terms of the military service of the enlisted personnel of the National Guard. Here in Pennsylvania it was found that we have no law which permits the extension of a term of enlistment in the National Guard. In the world crisis that is confronting this Nation of ours, the request has come from our Nation's capitol, and, therefore, this proposed amendment to the Military Code of 1949 is on the calendar today.

I realize that we must pass this and enact it into law and, in the interest of the defense of our Country, we ask that all members vote "aye," extending the term of service of the enlisted personnel of the Pennsylvania National Guard units.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act authorizing business corporations engaged in community industrial development whose stock is owned exclusively by a nonprofit corporation to amend their charters to be converted into nonprofit corporations engaged in similar purposes with court approval and prescribing procedure.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate someone to whom I may put a question or two, seeking information on this bill.

The SPEAKER. Does any member in the House . . .

Mr. FINEMAN. This is Senate bill 354. Mr. Petrosky, I do not know whether or not you will be able to answer the questions.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland volunteers to permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. PETROSKY. I will try, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Can you tell me if, under the provisions of this bill, a business corporation, once it changes into a non-profit corporation, will remain liable for any unliquidated claim against it? Now the reason I raise this question, and I do not know whether or not you can answer it since this properly should be a question addressed to an attorney, is because on page 3 of the bill it says that the corporation shall nevertheless remain liable for all existing obligations. Now, what about an nonliquidated claim which is not in fact an existing obligation but nevertheless a right that can be of service?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, the question that the gentleman propounded could better be answered, if I would give him the background of this bill and the reason for it and the way in which it has been drafted and the scope to which it is limited, as to what it would apply. Would that be satisfactory?

Mr. FINEMAN. If I gave you a specific illustration perhaps you could pinpoint this thing for me. If a suit for personal injuries is started against a business corporation and it had not yet come to trial, no judgment had been rendered on the suit, and the corporation changes from a business corporation to a non-profit corporation, since suits for trespass or personal injuries or torts cannot be started against a non-profit organization, what would be the status of that lawsuit?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I am going at this time, to request the majority leader to put this bill over temporarily, and I am happy the gentleman propounded this question. This did not come up in our caucus; however, we did have an expert on this matter attend our caucus to explain it to us. Now if we could pass this over temporarily, I shall get in touch with the gentleman and get the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, the answer.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate bill No. 354, printer's No. 1186,

was passed over temporarily at the request of Mr. PETROSKY.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 373, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled "Public School Code of 1949" changing certain salaries and work loads prescribing general extension education areas decreasing the number of names needed for free extension education raising the deposit fee and providing for a tuition fee in certain instances deleting provisions relating to free evening schools providing for payments on account of approved vocational extension classes and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 413, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304), entitled as amended "Local Health Administration Law" changing the number of signatures required on a petition to dissolve or withdraw from certain departments of health changing the time for circulating petitions in certain cases and changing the form of the question to be submitted to electors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it was my intention today to place amendments into Senate bill 413, which would have restored it to its original form or rather to the form in which House bill 1496 passed this House.

However, I have decided not to present these amendments because of the fact that I have been reliably informed that these amendments would fall. Therefore, why waste the time of this House with unnecessary procedure?

However, as much as you or some of you members may think this bill a "joke" and you sit in your seats and laugh, I can heartly agree with you, this bill is a joke. Senate bill 413 is the biggest joke that has ever been perpetrated upon this legislature. I am only going to take a few minutes to explain why I say it is a joke. And joke it is.

This bill calls for a 10 percent of the electorate, by petition, to call for referendum. This new bill calls for a referendum, and the other one calls for what this one now calls for, 1 percent. I say this bill is a joke because there is not a person sitting in this House who does not realize it is just as easy to get ten signatures out of a hundred as it is to get one signature out of a hundred. I can hire, in any district, professionals who will go out and get you any percentage of signatures on any referendum that you need today, and the people will sign it. I am against this bill, whether it has 1 percent, 10 percent or 20 percent in it. I am against the bill on the principle that you do not put matters pertaining to health to a referendum.

Ladies and gentlemen, if this bill passes today you are setting a dangerous precedent. Since when are not the members of this legislature, who have the time and the facilities at their command to study these matters, since when are they not capable of making a decision on questions pertaining to health, that they should have to refer them to an electorate for a referendum, when the electorate is at the mercy of every pressure group, every paid lobbyist and everyone else in this State who want to make a fast buck at the expense of the health of the citizens of this Commonwealth. I could go on and talk perhaps two hours. I am not going to do it. I thank the membership, I see that they appreciate my consideration with their patience. You vote for what you want to vote for; I personally am going to vote "no" on this bill. Thank you.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request the membership to vote "aye".

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 644, entitled:

An Act to provide for the organization incorporation operation and supervision of cooperative savings and credit associations to be termed credit unions designating such credit unions as corporations and defining their powers and duties conferring certain powers and duties on the Department of Banking and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BOWMAN asked unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Sec 5, page 10, by inserting after line 19:

(e) Any investment that is legal for savings banks or for the investment of trust funds under the laws of the Commonwealth; provided, however, that at least one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) shall first be invested as provided in (a), (b), (c) or (4) of this clause.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have offered to the so-called credit union bill now before us, amendments which would permit investment funds of credit unions of securities and investments as are now permitted by law for them to invest in.

The credit union bill before us today restricts the types of investments in which credit unions may invest; in other words, it is more strict in the bill before us today than it is under existing law.

Mr. Speaker, in submitting these amendments I must say that I have basically no objection whatsoever to the bill before us, but I do think that credit unions which can afford and which do have sufficient funds of the amount specified have both the qualified personnel and the references to investment counsel to permit them to invest these excess funds in a wider range of investments than would be permitted under the bill before us.

This will not affect smaller credit unions, and properly so, because I recognize that many of these smaller credit unions do not have professional investment help nor do they have any investment counsel, and, therefore, I think it is proper that they should be restricted to a smaller class, a more conservative class, of investments than under present law and they will be permitted to do that under this law. However, credit unions having in excess of $100,000 in investment funds, to my knowledge, usually have investment counsel or investment officers right in the credit union. This amendment would permit them to continue what they are doing today, namely, invest any funds over $100,000 in what we call legal investments, in trust funds or investments which are qualified for investment by savings banks.

I think this amendment is acceptable and should be acceptable to everyone because the objection to the type of investment by smaller credit unions is not included within this amendment. I therefore request each and every one of you to support the amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, the contents of this bill are the result of much study and many conferences with the banking department which was spread over a period of almost four years. The provisions as stated in the bill are acceptable to the Department of Banking and the great majority of all the credit unions operating under a State charter.

I join with the Department of Banking in a mutual desire to have the bill as provided in printer's No. 1046 adopted without any change. In addition, I am quite certain The Pennsylvania Bankers' Association and The Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League have considered this bill and have determined that as representatives of their associated members they would not oppose the bill in its present form. However, if the investment provisions should be changed to broaden the scope of investments, these groups probably will and must oppose this bill.

The bill was amended in the Senate to provide for the broadening of the investment provisions and later amended to restore the bill to its original form of limiting it to specified investments. It is my understanding from my personal contacts that the bill would have been defeated in the Senate if the investment provisions were not as provided in the bill as provided under printer's No. 1046.

I ask all the members of the House to support me in opposing the amendments proposed by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. BOWMAN and AUKER and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. HAMILTON submitted the following statement for the record:

Credit unions have only a limited amount of money available for investment purposes, if they are endeavoring to meet the usual personal loan needs of their members, and use funds in excess of these needs to meet the occasional request of members for reasonable amount of short-term mortgage loans.

Inasmuch as credit unions have only a limited amount of surplus funds for investment, such funds should be limited to short-term type of investment which is not subject to market fluctuations.

In general, credit unions do not have the technical skills or trained personnel to advise and counsel them in making investments in various securities and stocks on the market, which are subject to frequent fluctuations. Such fluctuations in investments, at times when credit union members request loans, create a problem which would require the borrowing of funds from other sources to meet the personal loan demands or possibly even delay the service to the members. If in the event of an undesirable situation in relation to the liquidation of investments, the credit union could be forced to borrow to replace invested money and defeat the objective restrictions provided in section 20 of the bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 750, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 27, 1955 (P. L. 288), entitled as amended, "An act making it unlawful for owners of certain property in cities of the first class and in cities of the second class to sell or agree to sell such property without first delivering to the purchasers a certification of the District classification . . ." requiring certification and disclosure of outstanding notices of fire building safety and housing ordinance violations.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. CURWOOD asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Game and Conservation to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, House bill 1816 got by me. I had intended to debate the bill. This is a bill, if I understand it, that provides liberal arts courses in our fourteen former State Teachers' Colleges. I was against the bill and I would have liked to make a strong debate on the floor of the House at the time the bill was called. It is going to make it mandatory that we furnish considerable millions of dollars to support fourteen liberal arts colleges in this State over the next ten or twelve years.

I have no particular objection to making liberal arts colleges out of our fourteen former State Teachers' Colleges, but what I am objecting to is this: If they are going to do that, then the future legislatures should provide that the students entering these colleges, now liberal arts colleges, if it passes the Senate, and it probably will, pay the same average tuition that is paid in the private collegiate institutions over the State. I think that is only fair, and, if you do that, then you are going to make it equal with the other State collegiate institutions, some 200 of them which are supported by private endowment, private alumni associations and all that sort of thing that these teachers' colleges do not have in their program. It would be only fair and will save the taxpayers in the State a considerable amount of money. It can easily be done. All we would have to do, all you would have to do, if I am not here, you people who will be here in future sessions, when the appropriation is provided for these extended courses, is to add up all the tuition fees in all the other colleges and universities in Pennsylvania that charge tuition, average them out and make that fee chargeable to the liberal arts students in these particular colleges. Then I believe we would be acting on a sound basis and would certainly save the taxpayers of this State a considerable amount of money.

If you do not do that, then to my mind you are taking a big forward step in socialism, and I say that advisedly, and socialism is akin to communism.

I would ask you in the future sessions to keep this seriously in mind. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I thank you and thank the members of the House.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. FINEMAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on State Government to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FULMER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Representative Auker spoke about the state colleges becoming liberal arts colleges and he discussed the impact they might have on our educational program. I think it is only fair that I should point out to the members of the House that, in my opinion, the 14 state colleges, the Pennsylvania State University, along with its 15 Commonwealth campuses, can well serve as a nucleus for a well-founded, well-developed community college program, because by using the present state colleges and utilizing the Pennsylvania State University and its Commonwealth campuses we will already have in existence, in operation, the physical plant which can, if added to, provide all the facilities needed for a good community college program, as well as a good baccalaureate program, as well as an associate degree program and a graduate program.

Allow me to point out to the members of the House, when we are talking about education and utilization of space, when we are talking about the budget, the need for more money to provide for equal opportunity for our youngsters, then we must bear in mind what we presently have.

Mr. Speaker, allow me to point out to you that today, under the present system of Pennsylvania State University, its Commonwealth campuses and the state colleges, 97.5 percent of the college-age population is within a 35-mile radius of one of these institutions. I think this should well serve notice to us that we should look about and search for methods of utilizing these facilities to a greater capacity before we think about spending millions, perhaps hundreds of millions, of dollars in developing new campuses throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Allow me to suggest this to each member of the House, that when we are talking about education, we are talking about our general education program, we are talking about higher education. Allow me to point out to you, if I may, that today only about 33 1/3 percent of our college-age population, the high school graduates, are going on to higher education, and yet at the same time we have this 66 2/3 percent which do not go on to higher education. What are we doing for these people? We are talking about equal opportunity for the people for higher education, for the people to learn how to make a living.

Allow me to suggest to you that you bear in mind that if we want to have a successful, post-high-school education, we need to have a good basic elementary and secondary education. We need to tie in the higher education with vocational education.

I am only advancing this to you because later on we might be asked to consider higher education as a separate entity.

Allow me to suggest to you that, in my opinion, the elementary and secondary education program should be considered a general education program. That should be the basis for an equilateral triangle. On the one side we should have higher education, on the other we should have vocational education. This would make for us a perfect equilateral triangle of a good educational program, one that we can finance, one that will help to educate our people to provide for the defense of this Country, and not have a lot of bureaucracy created and create a mess out of it. Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DENGLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I think that when we gave the state teachers' colleges a new name, state colleges, we moved in the right direction in education. It seems there is a general movement in this Country in teacher-training institutions to get away from a preponderance of courses in psychology, education and pedagogy and to place a greater stress on content courses.

I am in total agreement with the two former speakers that we are moving in the right direction and I do believe that we should use these facilities to a greater and greater advantage, taking up this mass of young people that is coming along, as we will probably reach the saturation point along about 1970.

I do want to point out that I think the State of Pennsylvania is using a very short-sighted program when we do not raise the salaries of beginning teachers to the point where we can compete with New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Ohio and West Virginia, our neighbors. After all, we do prepare many teachers and they leave this State for the sake of the differential of, perhaps, $300 to $400.

Now, various panaceas have been proposed from time to time as to how we can keep in Pennsylvania these people who are graduating from our 14 colleges. At the present time they sign to the effect that they will teach, but there is nothing to hold them to their promise. I have heard it suggested that we have them sign a bond and, if they do not teach in Pennsylvania, we make them live up to the letter of the bond and pay back for their education received in Pennsylvania. As a counter to that, I have heard that if we do that we are going to discourage young people from going into teaching. I do think, however, that we should have some kind of law on our books which would make it mandatory—that some kind of legislation be passed that would be mandatory in this field—that these people do more than just sign a promise to teach.

So far as community colleges are concerned, I did not say anything about this when the bill was before us, but I do agree with Representative Fulmer that you cannot compare Pennsylvania with California when it comes to higher education. There they have a wonderful system of junior colleges, and they need them, because they do not have a hundred or so accredited institutions like we have in Pennsylvania. I do believe sincerely that we have a sufficient number of organized colleges and universities in this State that will be able to take this load of college people coming up in the next eight to ten years. If we do not use the facilities that are already at hand, I think we are wasting millions of dollars in new ventures. Just because they have been tried in other States may not be a valid argument, because we are not on the same bases.

I would suggest that we give this matter of our 14 colleges a great deal of thought, because they are set up administratively and financially, and what Representative Auker said about raising the tuition to a point where it would become comparable to teacher education in other areas, I think is a very good point. But the point I want to stress more than any other thing is that we in Pennsylvania have sufficient administrative colleges set up to take care of many more thousands of young people, and I think they can do a much better job than having to set up community colleges or colleges in various areas that will be in the nature of a very expensive experiment. Thank you.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. FRY. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, August 30, 1961.

On July 26, 1961, Governor David L. Lawrence signed into law Act Number 378 authorizing the construction of a highway and erection and maintenance of a bridge over the Schuylkill River in Montgomery County from a point in Norristown to a point in Bridgeport, or a township adjacent thereto.

The dire need for such a bridge has been well known for many years, and although many efforts have been made in the past, all such efforts were fruitless.

It is with the deepest humility that the author expresses his appreciation and gratitude to the newspapers, the radio stations, the Chamber of Commerce, the various civic organizations, and the numerous individuals who rallied together to support and assist in passing this highly important legislation; therefore, be it

Resolved, That appreciation is hereby expressed for the support and assistance so unselfishly and conscientiously rendered by the press, the radio stations, the Chamber of Commerce, the various civic organizations, and the individuals in obtaining legislation authorizing the construction of the new bridge; and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Norristown Times Herald, Norristown, Pa.; the Central Montgomery County Chamber of Commerce, Curren Arcade Building, Norristown, Pa.; and to Radio Station WNAR, Old Arch Road, Norristown, Pa.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1277

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1277.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. RUDISILL asked for and obtained permission for the Committee on Judiciary to meet during the session of the House.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL No. 373

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate bill No. 373, printer's No. 1266, entitled:

"An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30), entitled 'Public School Code of 1949' changing certain salaries and work loads prescribing general extension education areas decreasing the number of names needed for free extension education raising the deposit fee and providing for a tuition fee in certain instances deleting provisions relating to free evening schools providing for payments on account of approved vocational extension classes and making an appropriation."

was defeated on final passage Wednesday, August 30, 1961, be reconsidered.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dougherty, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this reconsideration motion is on the bill that was defeated a while ago. After a conference that the Republican members had with the Education Committee, they have drawn amendments to strike out certain items in the bill. The amendments are now ready to be offered.

I ask the membership to vote "aye" on the reconsideration motion so that it may be reconsidered in this session for the present day. There has never been a reconsideration motion offered that has not been agreed to. We have two more days to go and I hope it will not happen today or tomorrow. I ask you to vote "aye" so that it may have an opportunity to be amended, to be printed, and, if you still feel that you should vote against the bill, vote at that time as your conscience dictates. I ask the members to vote "aye" and support the reconsideration motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, carrying out what the majority leader has said, a number of members on this side of the House have come down to my desk since this bill was defeated and indicated that if it were amended in certain particulars they would like to look the bill over again as amended. These amendments were just delivered to my desk but I believe it can be a roll call; however, there will be some on this side who will want to look at the bill again to see what it looks like after being amended.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. HOCKER and BOWMAN and were as follows:

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. REIBMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Section 1 (Section 1901), page 8, line 3, by striking out "Family and parent education (home" and inserting Home.

Amend Section 1 (Section 1901), page 8, line 4, by striking out "marriage adjustment"

Amend Section 1 (Section 1901), page 8, line 4, by striking out the parenthesis after "care".

Amend Section 1 (Section 1901), page 8, lines 5 to 7, by striking out all of said lines.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mrs. REIBMAN asked unanimous consent to offer an additional amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The amendment will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Section 1 (Section 1901), page 8, lines 11 and 12, by striking out all of said lines.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of an amendment at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate bill No. 923, printer's No. 1265,

was passed over at the request of Mr. McCANN.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this is not a recess. I ask that the Democratic members proceed immediately to the House caucus room and take their calendars with them. I request very humbly that they proceed immediately to the House caucus room.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, we are also calling a Republican caucus to be held immediately in the caucus room.

(After Caucuses)

STATEMENT BY MINORITY WHIP

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, desire to be recognized at this time?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cameron.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, during this session there has been a great deal of effort made to improve the legislative processes of this General Assembly. The Speaker leading on this very program has done a great deal to try to accomplish that purpose.

Earlier in the year a space committee of this House and of the Senate of this General Assembly was appointed and it was found, as time went on, that space committee could not do much because they had no power to move or act. The Speaker, within the past couple of weeks generated a resolution whereby the standing committees of this House could be called into meeting during the interim upon the approval of the Speaker in order to try to have those committees as functioning committees. Because of the inability of the space committee to do any business under the resolution, there is a piece of legislation on our calendar right now to give them power enough to try to accomplish some of those purposes.

As an added item, to try to improve the work of this General Assembly, we have decided that pre-session budget preparation hearings are a very good thing and would be a valuable time-saving device.

I prepared a resolution, after consultation with some House leaders, to accomplish this purpose. We have been informed that the front office does not look with favor upon such a procedure. I had intended to offer this resolution and ask for its immediate consideration. However, because of the attitude of the front office, I am introducing the resolution and ask that it be referred to the Committee on Rules with the hope that the front office meant what he said when he talked for public consumption for shorter and more businesslike sessions. I hope the Governor will follow his own advice and call the chairman of the Rules Committee and request that the resolution be reported to this House for action. I say to you that it is time for action and not more double talk. I offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will refer the resolution to the Rules Committee, but he suggests, for the information of the House, if no one objects, that the resolution be read. The clerk will read the resolution which may be of interest to such members who desire to listen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. ANDREWS, TOMPKINS, IRVIS, POLEN, HELM, EILBERG, McCANN and A. W. JOHNSON.

RESOLUTION No. 104.

In the House of Representatives, August 28, 1961.

Whereas, the Appropriation Committees of the House and Senate in the preparation of the Budget for the General Assembly must hold a series of hearings after submission of the Budget by the Governor; and

Whereas, at said hearings, said committee review the same information and hear the same Departments that have previously submitted the same information and been heard before the Budget office; and

Whereas, said committee hearings are but a duplication of time and effort;

Be it resolved, the Senate concurring, that the General Assembly request the Governor:

1. In addition to the budget requests submitted by the several Department Heads to the Governor, that copies also be furnished to the Chairmen of the House and Senate Appropriation Committees.
2. That the Chairmen of the House and Senate Appropriation Committees, together with the respective floor leaders of House and Senate be permitted to sit in on the Budget hearings and preparation, with full voice, but without power to modify any action which the Governor may wish to take until after formal submission of the budget to the General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 869

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 869.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mrs. REIBMAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 67

Mr. NEEDHAM. Mr. Speaker, I present the report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 67.

The SPEAKER. The report will lie over for printing under the Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Concurrent Sine Die Resolution as follows:

In the Senate, August 22, 1961.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring) that this regular session of the General Assembly adjourn sine die on (Thursday, August 31, 1961) Friday, September 1, 1961 at 9 p. m., e. s. t.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, we have a momentary lull here and I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of myself and some of my colleagues here in the House, and in conjunction with your oft-repeated suggestion that we improve the procedures used in the House, to offer a resolution, Mr. Speaker, which calls for an amendment of our House rules, particularly House rule 14.

Now what basically we propose, Mr. Speaker, is that we have an omnibus fish bill and an omnibus game bill. Now, Mr. Speaker, I realize full well that this resolution cannot be adopted this year. However, I look forward to future sessions of this General Assembly when we have all the skunks, the raccoons, the white-tailed deer, the carbines, the shot guns, in one bill, and in another bill, Mr. Speaker, we have the clams, we have the speckled trout, and we have all the tadpoles and fish in another bill.

I think, Mr. Speaker, that would clear our calendar substantially during the first part of each session. Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I take great pride in offering this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be referred to the Committee on Rules under the rules, and the Chair, incidentally, expresses the hope that before the next session for regular business that we shall have reviewed and revised all the committees to make them more logical than some of them are now.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Erie mentioned in his omnibus bills everything except the two most important things. He forgot to mention the great dane and the beagle, and I would like to see him include them in the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Bonner.

Mr. BONNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman from Erie that the white-tailed deer is now the official State animal.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, before we start, the boys from Philadelphia want to give a gift to Mr. Boies. This is an appropriate time for the delegation to give it to him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will waive formalities and recognize the giver of the gift if he wants to make the presentation from the Speaker's rostrum.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Boies.

Mr. BOIES. Mr. Speaker, this is the sandwich to end all sandwiches.

It is a striking example, Mr. Speaker, of the work of the Philadelphia delegation. I think this was promised to me about two years ago, but they finally did come through with it and that has happened many times in this session; not only this session but others. They may be slow but they finally get there.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE REQUESTED

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that I did not tell the majority whip that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kramer, was sent home early today. He called us about 9:30 and said that his wife was very bad early this morning due to complications, but the baby was delivered. It is a bouncing baby girl and I do not know what number it is in the family—number seven—but, when he called, the wife and the child were excellent. Mr. Kramer will be coming back here. So I ask for a leave of absence for Mr. Kramer for tonight's session.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leaves of absence were granted as follows:

Mr. McCann for Mr. KRAMER for the remainder of today's session.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. A. M. LEE for the remainder of today's session.

Mr. Tompkins for Mr. ODORISIO for the remainder of today's session.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 923, entitled:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 670, entitled:

An Act establishing a Family Court Division in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County imposing certain jurisdiction over actions and other matters involving the family providing for a chief judge and board of judges clerk director and professional and other employes transferring certain duties of the Juvenile Court of Allegheny County and the domestic relations court of the county court to the family court division providing for additional law judges of the Court of Common Pleas in the Fifth Judicial District establishing procedures for reconciliation and providing for the investigation and report of relevant factual information.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

Mr. WALSH. Mr. Speaker, I want to second this motion for recommittal and I want it distinctly understood that I am heartily in accord with the purpose and intent of this bill, but this bill is so full of inequities that I feel it should go back and the interested parties should sit down with the county commissioners or a good welfare organization and draw up a bill that will be able to take care of the intent of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 805, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 20, 1937 (P. (Committee on the part of the House of Representatives)

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code, the Tractor Code, the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership, possession and use of vehicles and tractors," requiring certain commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers and semi-trailers to be marked with the names and addresses of the owners or operators and prescribing penalties.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1. The act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), known as "The Vehicle Code," is amended by adding after section 830 a new section to read:

Section 830.1. Commercial Motor Vehicles, Truck Tractors, Trailers and Semi-trailers to Have Names and Addresses of Owners or Operators. Every commercial motor vehicle, truck tractor, trailer or semi-trailer when used on a highway shall be conspicuously marked or placarded in letters showing to the outside not less than three (3) inches in height with the name and address of the registered owner or operator. The provisions of this section shall not apply to (a) commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers or semi-trailers owned or operated by any public utility or contract carrier regulated by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission or the Interstate Commerce Commission (b) or to commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers or semi-trailers used in agriculture (c) or to commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers or semi-trailers which are clearly identified by the name or trade name of the registered owner or operator or to (d) commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers or semi-trailers being demonstrated or delivered by manufacturer or dealer thereof.

Penalty. Any owner or operator who shall fail to comply with any of the provisions of this section shall upon summary conviction before a magistrate be sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars ($10.00) and costs of prosecution and in default of the payment thereof shall undergo imprisonment for not more than five (5) days.

Section 2. This act shall take effect June 30, 1962.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 81

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the Report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 81, printer's No. 2633, entitled:

"An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled 'An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code, the Tractor Code, the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership, possession and use of vehicles and tractors' requiring certain commercial motor vehicles, truck tractors, trailers and semi-trailers to be marked with the names and addresses of the owners or operators and prescribing penalties."

was not adopted on Monday, August 21, 1961, be reconsidered.

Mr. McDONALD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Wilt, vote on the adoption of the report?

Mr. WILT. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. How did the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. McDonald, vote on the adoption of the report?

Mr. McDONALD. Mr. Speaker, I voted with the prevailing side.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority whip.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in order that the members of the House may know what we are voting on, it is a conference report on House bill No. 81, which deals with the markings and signs which must be put on the outside of trucks. The conference report was defeated some short time ago and they are now asking for a revote on that particular conference report.

If there are any questions the members have in connection with the conference report, now is the time to interrogate, before the roll is called.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this is the conference committee report I mentioned in caucus dealing with House bill 81. Mr. Heavey was the chairman of the conference committee on this report. The explanation is similar to what Mr. Tompkins said, we agreed in the caucus that we would vote "aye" in support of the conference committee report.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 840.

An Act prohibiting the sale, transfer, purchase, ownership, possession and use of tear and noxious gas and tear gas guns, providing for certain exemptions and providing penalties.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will read the amendments.

The clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 3, page 3, by striking out on line 1, "association or corporation lawfully" and by striking out all of line 2 and by striking out on line 3 "the sale of securities or valuables" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: person, association or corporation engaged in the sale, conveyance or storage of moneys, securities, valuables or stocks in trade.

Amend Section 3, page 3, by striking out on lines 11 and 12 the following: "conveyance of moneys, securities or valuables or the sale of securities or valuables" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: sale, conveyance or storage of moneys, securities, valuables or stocks in trade.

Amend Section 3, page 4, by inserting after line 2, the following:

(5) The purchase, possession or use of tear or noxious gases for pest control purposes or uses.

(6) Any person, association or corporation engaged in the manufacture, fabrication or distribution of munitions of war or other defense material on order from the government of the United States of America or any of its allies from obtaining, installing and using tear gas equipment for protection against sabotage or other forms of interference with the defense of the United States of America.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the minority leader.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am asking that the House do not concur in the amendments so we can put this bill into a conference committee. The only amendments that have been added to this bill were to correct weaknesses in the bill as we saw it, fleetingly, when it was in the House:

Number one, you would destroy the exterminating business in the State;

And, secondly, those businesses in the State engaged in atomic energy, and so forth, where they use noxious gases, would be put out of business.

So what they have done in the bill is to eliminate the use of noxious gases for the control of pests and then defined defense industries, that in defense industries you can use noxious gases. In other words, I suppose, had we pointed them out, there are many, many other defects in the bill that would now be amended out of the bill.

Since this bill went to the Senate, we have learned of numerous instances all over Pennsylvania where in industry, not necessarily connected with defense, they use noxious gases.

You people do not realize what you are doing here. I know what you want to do; you want to stop the use of noxious gases in a labor dispute. As we said when the bill was here in the House in its inception, you should have just said that it is unlawful to use noxious gases or tear gas in a labor dispute. That is all you would have had to do, and that is all you are trying to accomplish.

Therefore, we think we should not concur. Put it into a conference committee and just say that it is unlawful to use tear gas in a labor dispute and you have accomplished your purpose, instead of now moving it out of here. Sign this bill, and you will find many, many industries in Pennsylvania that will not have the right to use the noxious gases that they are using in pursuit of their lawful business of manufacturing other things. I am telling you that you are doing industry a tremendous injustice here. We said when the bill was here, why do you not just do what you want to accomplish, say you shall not use tear gas in labor disputes. That is all there would have been to do, and we would vote for it, because we do not think that since the turn of the century, or even before it, they have used tear gas in a labor dispute in this State. Nobody was able to point out to us when tear gas was used in a labor dispute. But you are doing serious harm in this and you do not realize what you are doing.

I am asking the members on this side, in all justice to the people of this State, who are trying to employ people, to vote against concurrence.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, when House bill 840 passed here the same argument took place. When it went to the Senate they made the amendments that are there, and they are right, as Mr. Johnson states, and they passed the bill and sent it over.

I am asking the membership now to vote "aye."

You recall the debate on this for page after page, hour after hour, and I ask the membership to vote "aye" on concurrence on House bill 840.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Before we announce the roll call, the Chair would like to inform the members that the gentleman who has repaired the roll call system has just returned from Montgomery, Alabama, to repair our roll call system and you might be interested in knowing that they have been in session for three days continuously on a surprising subject—congressional reapportionment.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, you mean that he has returned from Montgomery, Alabama, to repair the keys for the Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, boys?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That is correct.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. PRENDERGAST, SCHAAF, GALLAGHER and KING. RESOLUTION No. 105.

In the House of Representatives, August 30, 1961.

Resolved, That the Rules of the House of Representatives be amended as follows:

RULE 14

INTRODUCTION OF HOSPITAL AND HOME APPROPRIATIONS AND HIGHWAY ROUTE BILLS

Rule 14 is hereby amended by inserting after the word "Route" in the title, the following:

AND FISH AND GAME

Rule 14 is hereby amended by inserting after the second paragraph the following:

"No bills concerning fish or game shall be introduced in the House except two bills, one of which shall contain all the changes to be made to the fish laws and the other which shall contain all the changes to be made to the game laws. Requests for changes to the fish laws shall be filed with the Chairman of the Committee on Fisheries and those for changes to the game laws shall be filed with the Chairman of the Committee on Game and Conservation. These requests shall be made on forms supplied by the Legislative Reference Bureau and shall be signed by the member making the request."

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate bill No. 191, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959, (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" including additional buses within the provisions relating to school buses, further providing for the operation of school buses and lights located thereon and providing penalties.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, a day or two ago this bill was recommitted and in committee it was amended. The bill was certainly vague when it was recommitted and there are parts of the bill I would like to have answers on now. I think it is vague; it is not a well-written bill and should have further study. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like permission to interrogate a proponent of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, on page 12 of the bill, line 7, there is a statement concerning an established school-bus loading zone. This is in reference to the use of alternate flashing lights. To make it clear we will read part of the section starting at line 3:

"The driver of any school bus being used solely for the transportation of children between their homes and school shall activate the flashing red signal lamps only when approaching within one hundred (100) feet of an established school-bus loading zone."

Now could the gentleman tell me if every stop on a school bus route is an established school-bus loading zone?

Mr. PETROSKY. No, it is not.

Mr. GOODRICH. Then certainly this is vague, Mr. Speaker. Does it mean that the lights would not have to be turned on at a stop where it was not an established school-bus loading zone?

Mr. PETROSKY. Loading zones are specifically marked out on the highways that are traveled by the school bus. There are particular spots on the highway that have a sign on them and it is notated as "school bus loading zone."

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, that was my concept of a loading zone. If that is true in the wording of this bill, there is nothing in this bill, if it passes, that would require the use of flashing lights at any other stop. This is very vague, certainly not good legislation and not well-written, and I thought this should be brought out to other people.

A further question, Mr. Speaker: On line 10, page 12, starting with "The driver," we have another statement: "The driver shall not permit any pupil to board or alight from a school bus until approaching and overtaking traffic has stopped." Now I would like to have the gentleman define what is approaching and overtaking traffic.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a real safety precaution. This specifically spells out that the driver shall observe that approaching and overtaking traffic will be completely stopped and then he open the door to let the children either board the bus or alight from the bus.

Mr. GOODRICH. I am in accord with the gentleman's thought, but I am not sure that the bill is drafted so there is a workable wording in the bill. I will ask the question again, what is approaching and overtaking traffic?

Mr. PETROSKY. Approaching traffic is the traffic coming head on into the school bus and the overtaking traffic is the traffic that is following the school bus.

Mr. GOODRICH. Then, Mr. Speaker, on a straight stretch of road, if a school bus driver can see traffic for as much as one or two miles either in front or behind the bus he would have his bus stopped until such traffic caught up with his bus and stopped?

Mr. PETROSKY. This is not so. The word "visible" was taken out and it is to be noted that the bus will stop for such a situation only 100 feet away from this loading zone and only when boarding school children as passengers or discharging school children from the bus at the designated point.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I think that needs clarification. I do not follow the answer. How far from the bus did you say approaching traffic would have to be? Only 100 feet from the bus? I did not quite get the answer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. The flashing signal lamps would be turned on 100 feet before the bus entered a loading zone.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I cannot hear the gentleman's answer.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, the bus driver would be required to turn on the flashing red signal lamps within 100 feet of an established loading zone only at the time that the bus was being driven to a stop to either receive or discharge school children at this loading zone. Once the bus was stopped he would observe that the overtaking and the approaching traffic were at a standstill before he either loaded the children or discharged the children.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that, but this is vague. Does this mean all approaching and all overtaking traffic?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, our school bus law requires such traffic to stop. This closes any possible loophole in the area of protecting or observing the safety of the children riding those buses.

Mr. GOODRICH. That is obvious, Mr. Speaker, but it still does not answer the question. I bring this out for a particular reason, Mr. Speaker.

Reading from line 15, Mr. Speaker, on the same page, there is a provision, and the only provision, in the bill pertaining to four-lane highways. The provision we are talking about now, approaching and overtaking traffic, would mean that on every four-lane or six-lane or multiple-lane highway, all traffic approaching or overtaking on all lanes would have to stop. This is a vague bill and I cannot get the answers from the gentleman. He does not answer the question. What regulates traffic on four-lane highways in the bill, Mr. Speaker? There is nothing. Mr. Speaker, is there a proponent of the bill who can answer the question?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I have read subsection (b) on page 12 and it very clearly indicates the intent and purpose of the safety features of this bill. The gentleman is asking me to say something that is not in the bill. It is plainly spelled out. The bus does not have to wait for approaching and overtaking traffic that is a mile away. This is definitely spelled out because the word "visible" was stricken out. This was the vague portion of the bill. It is now stricken out. So in my opinion, although the gentleman may differ with me, this does not occur in the realm of being vague.

Mr. GOODRICH. Then, Mr. Speaker, what is approaching and overtaking traffic? How far?

Mr. PETROSKY. I indicated to the gentleman that 100 feet is when the flashing red lamps were to be put on. The traffic approaching the bus at that point, when the flashing red lamps are put on, would be required, under our law, to stop until those children were boarded and the bus was in motion, or until they were discharged and reached a place of safety.

Mr. GOODRICH. I agree with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, but it still does not determine what approaching traffic is.

The reason I bring this out is, the last section of the bill requires a penalty of $25 for violation of any provision of the section. Now, a school bus operator would be subject to a fine of $25 if he did not wait, as I read the bill, for approaching traffic to stop. That is not right, Mr. Speaker, and until we know what approaching traffic is, or overtaking traffic is, definitely, I do not think that is well written. Also, especially in relation to the fact that on multi-lane highways there is no provision in this bill to regulate the traffic.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer the gentleman other than I have — approaching traffic is that which approaches the vehicle from its head. The overtaking traffic is that traffic that follows the bus. This is the traffic.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER, pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, it is obvious that the gentleman from Westmoreland is not an expert and rather than continue this cross-examination, may I suggest to the gentleman from Potter that, recognizing the weakness in this bill, he debate the bill and its weakness and maybe he can persuade other members of the House that it is a bad bill and they will vote against it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, some provisions of this bill are good.

This bill was defeated once and at that time I made the same statement. This bill is a vague, a cloudy or a fuzzy bill. There was no sincere effort to clear this bill up. I offered my help and it was not accepted.

On the basis that the bill is not in proper language, I ask the members of the House to vote against the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out just a couple paragraphs in this bill that I think denote something you should take notice of. On page 7, line 9:

> The provisions of clause (7) requiring labeling and the provision of clause (9) requiring flashing red lights shall not apply to any bus operated by a common carrier of passengers holding a certificate of public convenience issued by the Public Utility Commission when being used to transport school children within business or residential districts where there are curbs and sidewalks.

Now the proviso that every driver is supposed to know before he gets there if there is a curb or a sidewalk is one of the weak spots. Another is on page 11, line 19:

> If the flashing red signal lamps are not activated the driver of any approaching or overtaking vehicle shall be permitted to pass the school bus without stopping but at a speed not in excess of twenty-five (25) miles per hour.

Now what happens? If a school bus is stopped when the light happens to be going off, then you are allowed to go past at 25 miles an hour, according to this.

Now the point I would like to make is this: Some years back there was a law passed to protect school children by requiring everyone to stop when a school bus stopped and not pass it. As a result of that the children who ride on school buses have become somewhat careless because they know in this way they are protected.

Now you are going to allow traffic to drive more freely. This bill would allow them, under certain conditions, to drive past them, and the result is the safety measure is gone, resulting in killing a lot of school children.

I hope you will oppose this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Merry.

Mr. MERRY. Mr. Speaker, I think maybe I can clarify the discussion here. Back in 1959 the school board, et cetera, decided that the so-called loading zones were costing too much to keep up. So those signs have disappeared. If you drive over the State of Pennsylvania, you will find very few of them anywhere along the highway. They had to be changed from one house to the next. A person would move out so we sent for the maintenance crew on the roads and they would move that sign to the next house where they moved to. This kept going on so the signs went. So there are not any.

I do not want to take up much of your time because we went over this rather well when we first defeated it at 57 to 145, or something like that on July 12th. It is practically as bad a bill as it was then. To go over it quickly, the much-hurt bus industry was given a very nice present in the $12 license to save them a few hundred dollars. This bill would make them pay over $100,000 as a group or industry so they could pick up a few pennies from some extra school-bus runs.

Now these buses are very expensive. They are lit up like a Christmas tree. They have not had any bad record of accidents. They very seldom travel outside of business and residential areas, where they would not be allowed to use these lights anyhow. They do not go out and drive the gravel roads that we do. They all have a wonderful accident rate.

I will ask you another thing: Why was this bill presented in the first place? Do you know that since 1949 we have been working under what is practically the uniform motor vehicle code. It has been adopted in many States. Our surrounding States have it, and this uniform motor code, I think, should be expanded to include all States so that people know what the school-bus laws are, what the traffic laws are, and I am very much for it and would like to see the whole motor code matched into it.

And we have, since that has been in effect, enjoyed the safest transportation of any industry, and I can prove that by my insurance policies, what they cost me today and what they cost me in 1949. That particular section, I think is 12-228 put in, in 1949 said that the school-bus lights shall be used whenever, but only whenever, the bus is stopped.

I do not want to take up a bit more of your time. Defeat this bill. It is not needed now.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I certainly must agree with several of the speakers who talked upon this measure and must advocate its adoption by this House on the basis of it being a safety measure. All this bill does at the present time is to remove the provisions requiring traffic to stop within residential and business districts where there are curbs and sidewalks.

This is a safety factor inasmuch as at the present time, in a congested residential and business area where a school bus stops to discharge, overtaking traffic and approaching traffic would be in violation of the law and, in the event they are in violation and would stop on a heavy traveled artery in the city or borough and then back up so badly in front of this bus at each stop that it becomes a tremendous traffic hazard, and the safety precautions here are for the children to be discharged safely at the sidewalks before the bus would move.

This also establishes a speed limit on these buses of 40 miles per hour on a two-lane highway and 50 miles per hour on a four-lane highway. Now it further does this and I am sorry to disagree with the gentleman from Cambria, but if he would read absolutely the provision referred to on page 11, line 19, it indicates that after the driver sees to it that the children are discharged in a place of safety, it cuts off the blinking lights for they are no longer needed and traffic can then proceed to move no faster than 25 miles or whatever the speed at that point. And the same thing, after the children have boarded the bus, and it does not impede traffic. It continues safety, the further safety, of our children on school buses, and I would advocate the passage of this bill. Thank you.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to concur in the statements that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, just made concerning features of the bill. They are good, but why one gem in a bucket of garbage? It is a mistake to pass the bill the way it is drafted.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 574, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" increasing the portion of the fee received from learners' permits appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for carrying out a standardized program of teaching safe driving of motor vehicles

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. VARNER asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "vehicles" and defining and prohibiting the use of speed traps and prohibiting the use of evidence obtained thereby

Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 12 and 13

Section 2. The act is amended by adding after section 1002, a new section to read:

Section 1002.1. Speed Traps Defined and Prohibited. (a) A "speed trap," for the purposes of this section, shall mean a particular section of highway measured as to distance and with boundaries marked, designated or otherwise determined in order that the speed of a vehicle may be calculated by securing the time it takes the vehicle to travel such known distance.

(b) No officer or other person shall use a speed trap in arresting or participating or assisting in the arrest of any person for any alleged violation under section 1002 of this act nor shall any speed trap be used in securing evidence as to the speed of any vehicle for the purpose of an arrest or prosecution under this act.

(c) No evidence as to the speed of a vehicle upon a highway shall be admitted in any court upon the trial of any person for an alleged violation of section 1002 of this act when such evidence is based upon or obtained from or by the maintenance or use of a speed trap.

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 13, by striking out "2" and inserting 3

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clarion, Mr. Varner, who will explain his amendments since they were not read in full.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, members of the House, these amendments, briefly, do what the amendments do that were offered by Representative King to Senate bill 191, or was it House bill 191? They eliminate speed traps in the municipalities of the Commonwealth. I ask you to support them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to please vote "no" on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Clarion, Mr. Varner, to Senate bill 574. Senate bill 574 is the bill dealing with the additional moneys for the schools and the training program.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clarion, Mr. Varner.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call vote.

Mr. Speaker, I might say a few more words about it. I think the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, wants to be recognized.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, desire to be recognized?

Mr. GAILEY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that these are amendments which should be given the close attention of every member of this House. It is my undestanding that these amendments as they are drawn do not in any way affect the use of radar upon our highways, but in fact they are limited fully to the kind of mechanical testing which, unfortunately, we are too familiar with, in which policemen usually attached to small municipalities have trapped the unwary speeder, be he doing 38 miles in a 35-mile zone or 28 miles in a 25-mile zone. It has led in many sections of our Commonwealth, unfortunately, to what has been termed to be "fining mills." It seems to me that with the resources we have available today, not just to the State Police, but to all local officers for the regulation of speeds within the limits of the municipalities which they should police, that this sort of device should be prohibited. In fact it leads to contempt for the law rather than acceptance of it as a means for saving lives on our highways. I would ask then that all members of the House give careful attention to these amendments and I would ask that they vote for them.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

(During Roll Call)

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I know that it is not proper to speak on a bill when the roll call is up there, and it looks like these amendments will carry.

I have no right to say either way on this, but should this be concurred in, this is a bill that deals with changing from two dollars to three dollars for each learner's permit to go to schools for the driver-training program. If this amendment is in there and it has not been cleared, I would hate to think that we might lose this on this ground, but the amendment will carry by the vote. Therefore, I want you to think carefully as you vote.

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. VARNER and McCANN and were as follows:

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Butler rise?

Mr. KING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask a point of order. The other night we introduced this same amendment and we got a long count on it.

The SPEAKER. What is the point of order?

Mr. KING. The point of order is, Mr. Speaker, can the Speaker or anyone else speak against the bill while the roll is being taken?

The SPEAKER. They cannot, but no point of order was raised from the floor. If any objection had been raised, the Chair would have had to rule that there was nothing in order but the roll call. The point was not raised.

Mr. KING. I ask to have a reconsideration of the motion.

The SPEAKER. It is not in order at this time.

Mr. KING. I make a motion that we reconsider.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman, rise?

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I think the majority leader mentioned the fact that there were two sets of amendments, the one that was just defeated and one which I have here. I would like to ask their consideration and speak very briefly on the amendments.

Mr. SHERMAN asked unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of Title, by inserting after "vehicles": and providing for the refund of operators' license fees in certain cases.

Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 12 and 13:

Section 2. The act is amended by adding, after section 717, a new section to read:

Section 717.1. Refund of Operators' License Fees.—In the event that a licensed operator dies after paying the fee for a two-year period and prior to the beginning of the second year of such period, then upon application of his personal representative, or if there be none then upon application of the surviving spouse the Department of Revenue shall refund the license fee for the second year of such period. The provisions of this section shall apply to licenses heretofore issued.

As much as may be necessary from time to time is appropriated from the Motor License Fund to the Department of Revenue for the purpose of making the refunds required by this section.

Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 13, by striking out "2" and inserting: 3

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia explain the amendments since they were not read in full.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to speak briefly on the amendments as soon as I have order here, please.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia appreciates the need for order and the lack of conversation when he has the floor. He is a missionary to help the Chair preserve order when any member is speaking. The gentleman will proceed and the House will please be in order, because the Chair would like to hear what the gentleman has to say.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the bill itself, Senate bill 574, refers to payments and receipts of moneys anywhere from fifty cents to $4.00, and as the result of the matter coming to my attention, I put these amendments in. Briefly it was this! A certain party died, say about the middle of January, after ordering an operator's license and paying the sum of $4.00 prior to the effective date of that operator's license. The widow came to me for help, she being very poor. Perhaps two dollars or four dollars or a dollar may mean nothing to most of you, but we are dealing often with people to whom the matter of two or three dollars does mean something. After preparing a certain bill which was gone over with the majority leader in the House to make sure there was no expense to the Commonwealth, and since it was ascertained by the majority leader that it would come to the sum of sixty-eight cents to get any rebate in this matter, that bill was prepared, and, since that bill has not come out of committee, these amendments really represent that particular bill.

The amendments state that where the license has been ordered and paid for and the party dies and no benefits whatsoever have accrued to the party, since he died before the effective date and has paid the four dollars, that the sum of two dollars be returned to the widow or the personal representative. A good many of you have had experience with, perhaps, a two-dollar summons or a three-dollar summons, where the summon's fee may have meant a great deal to the particular party concerned.

We all want to get out of here, but if you keep on talking I will wait until you are through and I mean I will wait. I do not care whether you vote for the bill or against the bill, but I am sincere in this bill. I feel that the sum of two dollars, three dollars, or a dollar, to certain individuals, whether they come to you as Republicans or Democrats, is immaterial, but when they come to you and ask you for something to which they are entitled, I feel that they are entitled to that rebate as long as it does not cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania one dime.

In this case the sum of two dollars will be returned to the widow or personal representative where the operator's license has been ordered and nothing was gained as the result thereof. By administrative action it cannot be done because the motor vehicle department insists that it cannot be done unless you have a law covering that subject. Therefore, I ask the support of both sides in favor of this amendment.

The SPEAKER. How does the gentleman desire the issue to be determined, by voice vote or a roll call?

Mr. SHERMAN. Roll call, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Piper, rise?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the majority leader, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Can the majority leader tell us whether or not these amendments have been cleared by the front office.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, as I said on the other issue, neither one has been cleared. May I say to the gentleman, quite frankly, that I was one of the co-sponsors of this piece of legislation which I think carries great merit, where we are licensed only for two years and we do not get even one year's use out of it, or a refund of two dollars, but I cannot take the chance of jeopardizing Senate bill 574. You well know what it does now in providing money to your schools if you have a driver training program. I am in sympathy with this but I have not cleared either one of the amendments to the bill with the front office, if that is your question.

Mr. PIPER. May I ask how the schools obtain the money at the present time for the driver training program?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, that is very simple, Mr. Speaker. At the present time the law provides that two dollars of each learner's permit shall be set aside in the Department of Public Instruction for the schools that have the driver training program. Senate bill 574 strikes out "two" and inserts "three' which would be three dollars of each learner's permit that would go for that purpose.

Mr. PIPER. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. After listening to the remarks by Mr. Sherman on this amendment, I think I can summarize it up very briefly by saying that the State in this situation has a moral obligation to return that money; the State has no right to keep that money. This bill is to make it not only a moral obligation but a legal obligation on the part of the State to return that money, and, although the amount is insignificant when we are dealing with millions of dollars in many instances, it is something that a widow or a family would be glad to get, so I am going to vote in favor of this amendment.

Esler,	Kramer,	Odorisio,	Willard,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 935, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 28, 1937 (P. L. 417), entitled "Milk Control Law" further regulating the sale of milk on farms directly to consumers.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, in conferring with the Legislative Reference Bureau and the parliamentarian, I have found that Senate bill 935, printer's No. 1263, and House bill 1448, printer's No. 2564, are similar; in fact, verbatim. According to House rule 49, when a bill has been defeated by the House it shall not be re-introduced, nor shall it be in order to consider a similar one or to act on a Senate bill of like import during the same session.

Mr. Speaker, I say that in considering this bill it is contradictory to rule 49. I would like to have a ruling.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has read the rule correctly and his conclusion is a conclusion that under the rule the Chair must coincide with on the bills being identical, but it cannot be considered at this time. The only question is, are the two bills identical? The Chair would like to inquire—

Mr. McCANN. The question would also be involved that 1448 was once defeated in its original introduction form, was then reconsidered and amended to the form in which it was voted the second time. Does the question deal with the identity with the original bill or the amended bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SPEAKER. What was the form of the amended bill? What was the fate of the amended bill?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, before you give us the ruling, there is a question I want determined so it will be clear. We know the difference between the bills. Senate bill 935, printer's No. 1263, is here before us in this form. Is the question on the original bill as it was first defeated or on the amended bill which was defeated?

The SPEAKER. Is the Chair correct that the bill that was defeated, printer's No. 2563, was identical with Senate bill 935, printer's No. 1263? Is that so?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. The point is well taken.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, Senate bill 935, printer's No. 1263, and House bill 1448, the last one defeated, are identical. Mr. Schaaf has the bills in his hand and he will confirm that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled that the point of order is well taken. The bill cannot be considered in its present form.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, then can you take this bill off the calendar, or would it be considering the bill if you moved to recommit it?

The SPEAKER. The bill would automatically be removed from the calendar as having no proper place on the calendar.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the other bill was defeated by 51 votes, and I know there is at least one member who was called out of the House after making the mistake of voting the opposite to what he intended, I ask that you suspend the rules and permit us to vote on this bill and I so move, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Would the gentleman from Cambria come to the desk and, with the parliamentarian, frame for the record a written motion for the suspension of the rules so that it will be in order.

For what purpose does the gentleman from Mercer rise?

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, the bill, as I understood you to say, could not be considered and it is off the calendar?

The SPEAKER. It could only be considered as the result of suspension of the rules, and the gentleman from Cambria is preparing a motion for the suspension of the rules. If the House suspends the rules, the bill can be considered.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf, rise?

Mr. SCHAAF. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker, pending the presentation of the motion by Mr. Farabaugh.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SCHAAF. Would the Speaker inform this house as to the scope of the debate on this motion?

The SPEAKER. The motion to suspend is not debatable unless you suspend the rules.

Mr. SCHAAF, Mr. Speaker, pending presentation of the motion, would you inform this House as to the last time we suspended the rules of this House.

The SPEAKER. For this particular operation, I think you would have to go back a good many years to get a similar situation where the same bill came over from the Senate that was defeated in the House. It was years and years ago. I said it was a long, long time ago, and the parliamentarian tells me you will find in your manual that one time was in 1865 and another time in 1891.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, that being the case, upon presentation of this motion by the gentleman from Cambria, I would like to be recognized for the purpose of making a motion.

The SPEAKER. The only motion before the House will be on the suspension of the rules.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, how then can I move to suspend the rules regarding the suspension of rules so we can debate it?

The SPEAKER. It would not have priority over the other motion. The other motion would take priority. It is like having two or three appeals from a decision of the Chair pending at the same time, which you cannot do.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I understood you to say that the only way this motion could be debated—

The SPEAKER. I said that more or less facetiously.

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down, rise?

Mr. DOWN. I rise to a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I understood you to say that this bill is automatically dropped from the calendar. Now if it is automatically dropped from the calendar—

The SPEAKER. It would be automatically dropped unless there was a suspension of the rules.

Mr. DOWN. But if it is dropped from the calendar, we do not have a bill to suspend the rules on, that is my question. It is already removed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, that is not correct, what the gentleman is saying. He gave his point to the Chair and the Chair said the point of order was well taken. Actually, and the members of the House know this, when he received the ruling from the Chair a motion could have been made to appeal that ruling. The gentleman from Cambria is making a motion to suspend the rules, and under our House rules, when the motion is presented, it is not debatable, it is to be voted on.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Schaaf.

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, may I ask who has the floor at this time?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria has the floor at this time for the presentation of his motion on suspension of the rules.

Mr. SCHAAF. I thank the Speaker.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, rise?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, it seems that this moonlight must be affecting us. My parliamentary inquiry is, would a motion to adjourn take precedence?

The SPEAKER. It would, but the Chair is not ready to hear such a motion at the present time.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher, rise?

Mr. GALLAGHER. I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I wonder at this time, being so late in the session, if we would not extend the courtesy to the gentlemen who are concerned about this bill to allow it to come to a vote and vote it up or down.

I suggest that the members accept this as a solution to their problem.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the other bill they are talking about was not voted upon twice in the same form—

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognized the gentleman for the presentation of a motion.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. FARABAUGH. I move that House rule 49 be suspended for the specific purpose of considering Senate bill 935 on second reading.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Erie rise?

Mr. SCHAAF. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of this House to debate this motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman asks for unanimous consent. The Chair would not agree; this is not debatable. The gentleman knows that it is not debatable, and the Chair himself objects.

The question is on the motion. It takes 106 votes to suspend the rules. The Chair will require a roll call. Those voting "aye" vote to suspend the rule; those voting "no" vote not to suspend the rule.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the members of the House vote "no."

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. After the result has been announced, the Chair will entertain any parliamentary inquiry, but there is nothing in order at the present time. We are taking the roll.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I can raise a point concerning the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, my point of parliamentary inquiry is, how many votes does it take to suspend the rules?

The SPEAKER. One hundred six.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to suspend Rule 49?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. FARABAUGH and McCANN and were as follows:

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, could I inquire now if Senate bill 935 is automatically dropped from the calendar or does it not require a motion?

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 254

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 254.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House bill No. 254, entitled: "An act amending the act of June 2, 1915 (P. L. 736), entitled, as amended 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties' employers to furnish employes with instructions on their rights in the event of an accident and requiring the Secretary of Labor and Industry to supply such instructions to employes."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

PAUL W. MAHADY,
MARTIN L. MURRAY,
D. ELMER HAWBAKER,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)
BARNET SAKULSKY,
A. V. CAPANO,
JAMES S. BOWMAN,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act Amending the act of June 2, 1915 (P. L. 736), entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" requiring employers to furnish employes with instructions on their rights in the event of an accident and requiring the Secretary of Labor and Industry to prepare such instructions to be printed by insurers and supplied to employers.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows.

Section 1. The act of June 2, 1915 (P. L. 736) known as "The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Act" reenacted and amended June 21, 1939 (P. L. 520) is amended by adding after section 304 a new section to read.

Section 304.1. The Secretary of Labor and Industry shall within ninety (90) days after the effective date of this amendatory act prepare a brochure of instructions setting forth the rights of an employe in the event of an accident and informing him of the time and manner in which claims should be filed A copy of such brochure shall be provided each insurance company authorized to write insurance policies covering workmen's compensation under this act. Such insurance companies shall prepare at their own expense copies of said brochure for distributions to such insured employers. Each insurance company shall prepare the brochures immediately upon receipt of the sample brochure from the Secretary of Labor and Industry in such quantity as required by employers for distribution to each employe. The employers shall distribute such brochures to each employe at the time of hiring and to each existing employe within thirty (30) days after the receipt of the brochure.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 255

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House bill No. 255.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House bill No. 255, entitled: "An act amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 566), entitled 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employе arising out of and in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry, the Workmen's Compensation Board, Workmen's Compensation Reference and deans of medical schools; creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues; establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board; imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases; making an appropriation and prescribing penalties,' requiring employers to furnish employes with instructions on their rights in the event of disability or death caused by occupational disease and requiring the Secretary of Labor and industry to supply such instructions to employers."

Respectively submit the following bill as our report:

PAUL W. MAHADY,
MARTIN L. MURRAY,
D. ELMER HAWBAKER,
(Committee on the part of the Senate.)
BARNET SAKULSKY,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act Amending the act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 566), entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of and in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry the Workmen's Compensation Board Workmen's Compensation Referees and deans of medical schools creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases making an appropriation and prescribing penalties" requiring employers to furnish employes with instructions on their rights in the event of disability or death caused by occupational disease and requiring the Secretary of Labor and Industry to prepare such instructions to be printed by insurers and supplied to employers.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1. The act of June 21, 1939 (P. L. 566), known as "The Pennsylvania Occupational Disease Act" is amended by adding after section 304 a new section to read.

Section 304.1. The Secretary of Labor and Industry shall within ninety (90) days after the effective date of this amendatory act prepare a brochure of instructions setting forth the rights of an employe in the event of disability or death caused by occupational disease and informing him of the time and manner in which claims should be filed. A copy of such brochure shall be provided each insurance company authorized to write insurance policies covering occupational diseases under this act. Such insurance companies shall prepare at their own expense copies of said brochure for distribution to such insured employers. Each insurance company shall prepare the brochures immediately upon receipt of the sample brochure from the Secretary of Labor and Industry in such quantity as required by employers for distribution to each employe. The employer shall distribute such brochures to each employe at the time of hiring and to each existing employe within thirty (30) days after the receipt of the brochure.

You are hereby summoned to appear before me (here insert the title of the official issuing the summons) at (location of the Court) on the ..... day of ..... 19..... at ..... o'clock .....M to the end that an investigation may be made of the said complaint and upon your failure to appear at the time and place herein mentioned you are liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100)

Date at ..... this ..... day of..... 19 .....

Signed .....

(b) Whoever shall without cause wilfully refuse or fail to appear at the time and place fixed by the criminal summons issued in the form prescribed by this section shall upon conviction thereof before the judge or magistrate issuing such summons be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100)

Section 3 A record to be known as the Criminal Summons Docket shall be kept in the office of the issuing judge or magistrate of the issuance and disposition of all criminal summonses.

Section 4 The criminal summons and a copy of the complaint shall be served by the peace officer or other person designated designated by the issuing official in the same manner as original process in civil actions at law

Section 5 On defendants failure to appear in response to the criminal summons herein provided the official who issued such criminal summons shall forthwith issue a warrant for his arrest

Section 6 In any event in which the defendant fails to appear in court when required to do so as a result of proceedings pursuant to this act the court in which the defendant was required to appear shall issue a warrant for his arrest

Section 7 Nothing in this act shall be deemed to affect the right of a peace officer to arrest on sight for breach of the peace or for any other offense as heretofore

Section 8 All acts and parts of acts are hereby repealed in so far as they are inconsistent herewith

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 486

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses on Senate bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 486

An Act amending the act of June 25 1947 (P L 1145) entitled as amended "Local Tax Enabling Act" prescribing the effective date of taxes levied for the first time by any political subdivision limiting appeals by taxpayers to such first tax levies.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 486

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 486.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate bill No. 486, entitled "An act amending the act of June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145), entitled, as amended, "An act empowering cities of the second class, cities of the second class A, cities of the third class, boroughs, towns, townships of the first class, townships of the second class, school districts of the second class, school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy, assess and collect, or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes; * * * placing a limitation on the flat rate occupation privilege taxes levied by any political subdivision and prescribing the effective date of taxes levied for the first time by any political subdivision limiting appeals by taxpayers to such first tax levies."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

WILLIAM J. LANE,
JOHN H. DEVLIN,
GEORGE B. STEVENSON

RICHARD L. ADAMS,
JULIAN POLASKI,
DANIEL F. McDEVITT,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act Amending the act of June 25 1947 (P L 1145) entitled as emended "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs town townships of the first class townships of the second class districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" placing a limitation on flat rate occupational privilege taxes levied by any political subdivision and prescribing the effective date of taxes levied for the first time by any political subdivision limiting appeals by taxpayers to such first tax levies.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Subsection e of section 1 act of June 25 1947 (P L 1145) entitled as amended "An act empowering cities of the second class cities of the second class A cities of the third class boroughs towns townships of the first class townships of the second class school districts of the second class school districts of the third class and school districts of the fourth class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes subject to maximum limitations for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced providing an appeal from the ordinance or resolution levying such taxes to the court of quarter sessions and to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" is amended by adding after clause (g) a new clause to read

Section 1 * * *

e Limitations on Rates of Specific Taxes No taxes levied under the provisions of this act shall be levied by any political subdivision on the following subjects exceeding the rates specified in this subsection

(h) Flat rate occupation and occupational privilege taxes not using a millage or percentage as a basis $10

* * *

Section 2 Section 3 of the act amended May 9 1949 (P L 898) is amended to read

Section 3 Appeals by Taxpayers No tax levied for the first time by any political subdivision to which this act applies shall [in any event] go into effect until thirty days from the time of the adoption of the ordinance or resolution levying the tax Within said thirty days taxpayers representing 25% or more of the total valuation of real estate in the political subdivision as assessed for taxation purposes or taxpayers of the political subdivision not less than 25 in number aggrieved by the ordinance or resolution shall have the right to appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions of the county upon giving bond with sufficient security in the amount of five hundred dollars ($500) approved by the court to prosecute the appeal with effect and for the payment of costs The petition shall set for the objections to the tax and the facts in support of such objections and shall be accompanied by the affidavit of at least five of the petitioners that the averments of the petition are true and the petition is not filed for the purpose of delay

No such appeal shall act as a supersedeas unless specifically allowed by the court to which the appeal is taken or a judge thereof

Immediately upon the filing of any such petition the petitioners shall serve a copy of the petition and any rule granted by the court upon the president chairman secretary or clerk of the legislative body levying the tax

The court shall fix a day for a hearing not less than 15 days nor more than 30 days after the filing of the petition Notice of the time of such hearing shall be given to all interested parties as the court shall direct The court shall promptly hear and dispose of the appeal

It shall be the duty of the court to declare the ordinance and the tax imposed thereby to be valid unless it concludes that the ordinance is unlawful or finds that the tax imposed is excessive or unreasonable but the court shall not interfere with the reasonable discretion of the legislative body in selecting the subjects or fixing the rates of the tax The court may declare invalid all or any portion of the ordinance or of the tax imposed or may reduce the rates of tax

Any party to the proceeding shall have the right to appeal from the decision of the court of quarter sessions to the Supreme or Superior Court as in the other cases but such appeal shall be taken within 30 days from the time the decree of the court was entered and not thereafter Any two or more parties may join in such appeal

Section 3 This act shall take effect immediately but section 1 shall not apply to any political subdivision which has prior to the effective date of this act adopted an ordinance imposing a flat rate occupation or occupational privilege tax in excess of $10 until the end of the fiscal year of the political subdivision current on the effective date of this act

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 601

SENATE BILL No. 601.

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" permitting motor vehicles owned and used by certain persons engaged in collecting news to be equipped with a warning light.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 601

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 601.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate bill No. 601, entitled: "An act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled 'An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code, the Tractor Code the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership, possession and use of vehicles and tractors,' permitting motor vehicles owned and used by certain persons engaged in collecting news to be equipped with a warning light."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

JOHN H. DEVLIN,
LEONARD C. STAISEY,
GEORGE H. WADE,

(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

JULES FILO,
THOMAS J. FOERSTER,
EDWIN C. EWING,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives).

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" permitting motor vehicles owned and used by certain persons engaged in collecting news to be equipped with a warning light

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section 820 act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), known as "The Vehicle Code" is amended by adding after subsection (d) a new subsection to read

Section 820 Horns and Warning Devices

* * *

(e) Any motor vehicle owned by any natural person partnership association or corporation engaged exclusively on a full-time daily basis in the business of collecting and disseminating news through any news media may be equipped with not more than one (1) flashing amber warning light to be approved by the secretary Such light shall be in use and operation only when the motor vehicle is being used by such natural person or an employe of such a partnership association or corporation in the pursuit of his regular employment in covering news emergencies No motor vehicle shall be used for this purpose unless a certificate therefor has been issued by the Secretary of Revenue

* * *

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate one of the conferees on this bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will one of the conferees permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Filo, Mr. Foerster?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FILO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. What did you change in the bill in the conference committee? What changes did you make?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I believe the change was in the original bill. The original bill was drawn vaguely, and I would assume that a student on a student newspaper could possible get a light on his car and go out to get news for the school or for the newspaper. The bill as it reads now is ". . . owned by a natural person, partnership, association, or corporation engaged exclusively on a full-time daily basis in the business of collecting and disseminating news through any news media." I think the bill the way it is written now is a pretty fair bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. I see there is language here that you can only use that amber light when you are actually in pursuit of your regular employment going to an emergency, is that correct?

Mr. FILO. That is right.

Mr. McCORMACK. Suppose one of these newsmen should decide that he would operate that amber light all the time, not only in covering news emergencies, but going to and from work, suppose he decided to do that, what could be done about it?

Mr. FILO. Well, knowing some of these newspapermen and the men that are in this field, I would say that they would not use the light to that extent. I think they would use good judgment.

Mr. McCORMACK. What I am trying to point out, Mr. Speaker, is this, is there any provision, any penal provision, in there that, in the event there was an abuse or misuse of this amber light, you could take this newsman before the minor judiciary?

Mr. FILO. I would not say that there would be any. I will say this, if they were to abuse this law, the Secretary of Revenue could withdraw their certificate.

Mr. McCORMACK. Why? Where does he get that authority?

Mr. FILO. It says here that this is issued to them through the Secretary of Revenue.

Mr. McCORMACK. How many times? It is only issued once to an individual, is it not? Right? Once he gets it, it is his?

Mr. FILO. Yes, that is right.

Mr. McCORMICK. And he does not have to reapply, but what I am trying to find out is whether or not there is a provision in the Vehicle Code that if this section is violated the person who violates it is subject to a penalty, a fine.

Mr. FILO. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker. We have been talking back and forth here, but, Mr. Speaker, I say this, if the Secretary of Revenue has the power to give, the Secretary has the power to take away.

Mr. McCORMACK. Do you or do you not know whether there is a penal provision in the Vehicle Code that would apply in the situation where the person, the newsman, uses the amber lights at all times?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I say that the gentleman is well-versed in the law, he is an attorney and, if he can give us the answer, we will appreciate it. It is a good bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, Mr. Speaker, I suppose there would be no objection if I ask that this went over for a week until I amend it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I object.

Mr. McCORMACK. I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that there is anything in the Vehicle Code that would punish a newsman who continuously used that amber flashing light to go to and from his house, just like some of these happy firemen. Mr. Speaker, I have no quarrel with the bill, although I think it is essentially a silly bill, but I think there should be a penal provision in here to provide that, in the event a newsman misuses the privileges we are now giving him, he would be subjected to a fine of at least $5.00 or $10.00. As the bill stands now, if this becomes law, even though the bill requires that he uses this amber light only in pursuit of emergency news stories, there is nothing to prevent him from using it on a full-time basis, and for that reason I think we ought to hold this bill over and put that amendment in there providing for a fine of $10.00 and costs in the event a newsman misuses the privilege.

I, therefore, ask that this be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. FILO. To be serious, in my opinion, this is a fairly good piece of legislation. I honestly do not believe—and I respect—the newsmen and the people who will use this legislation to do the work they do in gathering news media. As we are going year by year, times and things have been changing. Presently I would say that TV is more or less on-the-spot reporting and this will help men in getting to and from scenes of accidents so that you can have the same picture and the news brought to you by the television cameras within maybe hours, or less than hours. I know, as I say, that the legislator, Mr. McCormack, is worried about the abuse of this and, as I stated before, the power to give also has the power to take away. So I think this is good legislation and I hope everybody votes for it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill is very unnecessary. I think that the newspapermen, the real newspapermen who know how to gather the news, who know how to go out and bring the news home to the newspapers, can do this without any frills or lights on top of their vehicles.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the newspapermen of this State have done a very fine job of reporting, without coming to this Assembly, or any place else, without blinker lights on top of their vehicles.

I can look back into my own county where I have seen some individuals try to adjust the status of their vehicles to that of the police to attain the notoriety of being in an official capacity in trying to collect news or being there in a public position. I do not think there is enough of a need for us to be concerned about giving this use to those in the newspaper profession. I have talked to many newspaper people throughout this Commonwealth and they have all said to me this one very important thing, that a good newspaperman does not need a red light or an amber light on top of his car; if he is a good newspaperman, he can get the information without it.

I would suggest very seriously to all the members of the House that they vote this measure down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Goodrich.

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate to volunteer information to the eminent attorney from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack. However, there is clearly a penalty involved that would apply to this section for the misuse of an amber light, a fine of $10.

This section amends section 820 of the Vehicle Code. The penalty section of that section states this:

> Any person violating any of the provisions of subsection . . .

Mr. Speaker, I knew that I should not offer information to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, has corrected me. I am wrong. I find there is no penalty to this section.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Piper, desire recognition?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Mr. Filo, please?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FILO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Would the use of these amber lights absolve the driver of a news car, a news truck, from any liability as a result of going to an emergency?

Mr. FILO. I do not think so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Is there a provision in this act, or should the other part of the Motor Vehicle Code be amended to take care of this matter the same as they do for fire apparatus or ambulances?

Mr. FILO. I do not think it is necessary, Mr. Speaker. I do not think they have any problem over fire apparatus. It does not say it in the bill.

Mr. PIPER. I think it should be spelled out in the bill the same as it is for your fire apparatus, your police, and your ambulances. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would just like to say on record, Mr. Speaker, that the newspapers from Berks County are against this bill for the reason that our reporters feel they do not need such a bill. There is no emergency they would have to answer that they would need an amber light or a red light to clear traffic for them. I think it is one of the most silly and asinine bills to come before this House this year, and I ask every member to vote it down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Guesman.

Mr. GUESMAN. Mr. Speaker, I realize it is late, I realize everybody is tired of this bill, but there has been one thing said tonight that is not actually correct.

It has been said news media are for it. I know most of the gentlemen sitting over there in the press gallery and I know other men of the press in Pittsburgh, and not one of them is for it. I realize that there are many members in this House tonight who have been angered by the gentlemen of the press and feel that this is one way to get even with them.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is recommended . . .

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield? For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, rise?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I think those remarks made by the gentleman should be stricken from the record.

Mr. GUESMAN. No, sir, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. We cannot entertain a motion to strike from the record during consideration of the bill.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker . . .

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman cannot impose on the members. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GUESMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will close only by saying this: This bill has been proposed, has been advocated, and it has been reported accurately by two television stations from the city of Pittsburgh. I would not question their motives, but I cannot agree with their ideas.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, let us carefully see what this bill says that you are going to vote on. It says that the vehicle must be owned by a corporation and must be used exclusively for that purpose.

Let us study the situation. Similar laws exist in other States. Let us take a factual case. You have in Pittsburgh Mike Levine's KDKA radio vehicle owned by the KDKA Broadcasting Corporation. It is used extensively daily, and you people from Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania have many times heard the Mike Levine flashes as they come from the scene.

Now, the last section of the bill says that only on the approval of the Secretary of Revenue can this be used. There is not a vehicle owned by any individual newspaper person working for a newspaper, including any sitting in this House or the Senate, that is their own vehicle that falls in that category.

This bill is not a bill that causes an argument, as has been presented here in the debate, as to what it would do and who would have it. Read the bill and the conference report carefully, if you will, please, each of you, and tell me if the facts as stated here are not correct.

The conference committee has given you that report. To say that this bill is asinine is just like saying some other bills are asinine, depending upon your point of view. But perhaps it is not asinine to the KDKA Broadcasting Corporation, to WPAE, Channel 4, in Pittsburgh. Perhaps it is not asinine to the corporation that owns a news media which is also in those fields. News media is not exclusively a news media only in one field. That field is also in the field that I speak of. I mention it particularly since I am from the west, and I give it to you as an example, and those in the west know this. This bill and conference committee report is drawn in such a manner that it does fit that case. Whether the conference committee report passes or fails, it certainly should be voted on the merits and not on the personal feelings of a situation that it is being done for this reason or that. Consider the facts accurately and vote as you see fit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman to say he read the bill carefully and it only applied to motor vehicles owned by corporations?

Mr. McCANN. Corporations, a partnership or association or person engaged exclusively full time in that business, approved by the Secretary of Revenue.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Well, the bill says that any motor vehicle owned by any natural person engaged exclusively on a full-time basis. In other words, the reporter's own private automobile could have one of these lights if he worked full time for a newspaper, is that not true?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is not my understanding that a vehicle owned by Mr. X, who is employed by a newspaper, used in that category, would fall in that particular section.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I say that the bill originally did provide as the majority leader stated. However, this conference committee report clearly says that any motor vehicle owned by any natural person, partnership, association or corporation engaged exclusively on a full-time daily basis, and so on, in the business of collecting news. That would clearly and plainly mean, at least in my opinion, that a private car of a newspaper reporter who works full time for a newspaper could be equipped with this light.

I agree that it is an asinine bill, and I think we should defeat it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Farabaugh.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, this piece of legislation is certainly contrary to the wishes of many people throughout this State. We have so many flashing lights already on various types of vehicles that people are forgetting what those flashing lights are for. Now you want to add one more to it for the benefit of one corporation. The volunteer firemen of this State are seriously opposed to this type of legislation as many of you know. This does say, "The secretary shall determine who shall have a permit from the Secretary." Some years ago we passed a similar bill and gave the secretary the privilege of stating that, and the result is that you have hundreds of trucks throughout the State with flashing lights so you do not know whether it is a fire truck or what it is. I do not think you should pass any more such legislation as this.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Adams.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I think a lot of people are thoroughly confused by this time on the bill.

When this bill was up before, I voted for it, and I thought I was being of service to the reporters who could put this light on their car, and for the use of trucks carrying newspapers and delivering them, but the first thing that happened to me when I met up with the two newspaper reporters from the Reading Eagle and the Reading Times, was that they jumped me and wanted to know why I voted for the "beanie" bill. I said, "I thought I was doing a service to the newspapers." They ridiculed this bill and I am trying to figure out who wants this bill at all. Apparently the newspapers in Berks County do not want to have it, or the fellows who gather the news. I am not going to make the mistake of voting for it again; I am going to vote against it this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, originally I did not think this bill was too important, but since this has gone through the mill in the House and Senate and the conference committee, apparently it is very important to someone. Therefore, I think we should debate this bill. Otherwise, I would just let it come to a vote.

I would like to interrogate the majority leader.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the majority leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, under the vehicle code at the present time, can you tell me what persons or what municipalities or political subdivisions have the right or privilege to use flashing lights on their vehicles?

Mr. McCANN. I believe the gentleman knows quite well, Mr. Speaker, that under the vehicle code the police department does, the volunteer firemen, the fire trucks of the fire companies, the firemen themselves have the blue light, the ambulance of an organization or an individual or a company has that right, and no others.

Mr. McCORMACK. Right, Now what is the reason they have that right?

Mr. McCANN. To go to the scene of an emergency or to actually assist in getting to a destination as quickly and as easily as possible, and to warn the other traffic to give them the necessary right-of-way.

Mr. McCORMACK. Is it fair to say the reason that we have given them that privilege or that right is because they are trying to protect lives and property?

Mr. McCANN. There would be no question, that would be correct.

Mr. McCORMACK. If we pass this bill, would the gentleman not say that is a departure from the present law that we are going into fields where there is no question about any lives or property being in danger?

Mr. McCANN. I would honestly say that no lives or property would either be saved or endangered in this situation by granting this. They certainly are not a part of the same category.

Mr. McCORMACK. And they would not in any way help to protect lives and property, would they, if they were given this privilege or right?

Mr. McCANN. I would again answer the same; they certainly would not.

Mr. McCORMACK. Right. Now how many people would you conclude to be affected, possibly be affected, if this right or privilege were granted? Do you have any idea of the number of newsmen?

Mr. McCANN. I do not, Mr. Speaker. Had I known, I certainly would have tried to get an estimate.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, if I say there might possibly be a couple thousand, would that be a fair assumption, or do you not—

Mr. McCANN. I would not make any assumption that would be fair and accurate or inaccurate, or any kind of an assumption.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well now, a news emergency, as I understand it, would be a situation where there is a holocaust or a havoc such as a jet flying into the supermarket, something like that. Would you say that is a news emergency?

Mr. McCANN. I am not an authority on a news emergency, not being in that field, but I assume that getting to the scene or the source of the story as it is occurring, or as quickly as possible, dealing with all types of catastrophes in the city, would perhaps be in that category.

Mr. McCORMACK. And usually where you have catastrophes or news emergencies like that you have terrible traffic jams, do you not?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I am sure the gentleman is quite accurate in his statement. As a general rule, you have a far greater traffic jam than you should and it always occurs that way.

Mr. McCORMACK. Would the gentleman say that if this bill passed it would alleviate the traffic jams?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it certainly would not alleviate the traffic jam in any way because the gentlemen of the news media would be attempting to get there whether they had a red light or no lights, or even if they did not have a vehicle they would be trying to get there. That is their job.

Mr. McCORMACK. All right. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

I think that as the result of the interrogation—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny rise?

Mr. FILO. I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would like to ask the indulgence of the House. We have one other person who desires recognition and would like the gentleman not to move the previous question. We have spent a long time on this bill and I think we only have one other speaker who has asked for recognition. I do not know whether there are others.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, if that question is going to be moved, I will sit down, but if it is not, I want to continue and conclude my remarks.

Mr. Speaker, may I conclude my remarks?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has the floor.

Mr. McCORMACK. Let us get down to the facts. I am going to conclude in just one minute.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, rise?

Mr. AUKER. Point of order, Mr. Speaker. Has not the previous question been moved and seconded?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is required that it be seconded by 20 members.

The Chair would like to request that this method not be used at this particular time. We have not used it this session nor for many sessions. During the tenure of the present Speaker and the present occupant of the Chair, I have never seen it used and would like to request that we not use it unless it is absolutely necessary.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, then I request that a limited debate be made on this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will try to limit the debate insofar as we possibly can. We have been trying to get to the question.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, we are having a night session tonight to consider important legislation like this, and I think it is so important we ought to debate it fully. It is only 12 o'clock.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The House is getting rather impatient, I am sure, and if the gentleman persists upon prolonging the debate I feel quite sure that someone will insist upon the previous question and the Chair will have to entertain the motion, so the Chair would like to caution the gentleman.

The Chair recognizse the gentleman from Bucks. Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to conclude this debate by offering a few remarks to the membership here to make them understand what is before us now. Each of these members of the press, radio, television, or newspapermen have special cards, special badges, special recognition to permit them easy access to the scene of any emergency. All they have to do is to identify themselves to any police official and show them that they are a bona fide member of the press. This gets them into any emergency situation very quickly. A flashing light on the top of the car is not necessarily the end to the means they are after. Maybe some people in this profession feel that it is, but it is not necessarily the end to the means of what they are trying to do. I have to reiterate again that I will finish my remarks and ask that we vote on this report with this statement, that a good newspaperman does not need and has never had a flashing light on the top of his automobile.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, rise?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, we are all tired, we all want to get away from here as soon as possible, and I sincerely believe that in any speaking on conference reports that the members ought to confine themselves to discussion on the conference report only and not debate the merits of the bills that have already been running in the House and have had a chance to be debated thoroughly and should have been raised at that time.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 99

The clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses on Senate bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 99.

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "The Vehicle Code" regulating the issuance of operators' licenses to persons between sixteen and eighteen years of age restricting their driving privileges and providing penalties.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 99

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate bill No. 99.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate bill No. 99, entitled: "An act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled 'An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code, the Tractor Code, the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership, possession and use of vehicles and tractors,' regulating the issuance of operators' licenses to persons between sixteen and eighteen years of age, restricting their driving privileges, and providing penalties."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report

WILLIAM J. LANE,
FRED B. ROONEY,
JOHN T. VAN SANT,

(Committee on the part of the Senate.)

HERBERT FINEMAN,
WILLIAM LIMPER,
MORTON H. FETTEROLF, JR.

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), entitled "An act consolidating and revising the Vehicle Code the Tractor Code the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act and other acts relating to the ownership possession and use of vehicles and tractors" regulating the issuance of operators' licenses to persons between sixteen and eighteen years of age restricting their driving privileges and providing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Clause (1) of subsection (a) of section 604 act of April 29, 1959 (P. L. 58), known as "The Vehicle Code" is amended to read

Section 604 Persons Not to Be Licensed

(a) An operator's license or learner's permit shall not be issued to any person under the following conditions

(1) When he is less than eighteen (18) years of age unless he is sixteen (16) years of age or more and includes with his application for [an] a junior operator's license or learner's permit a statement of his parent or a person in loco parentis made under oath or affirmation that such applicant is sixteen (16) years of age or more and has the consent of such parent or person in loco parentis to obtain a learner's permit or junior operator's license unless such person was issued a learner's permit or operator's license before September 1 1961

* * *

Section 2 The act is amended by adding after section 604 a new section to read

Section 604.1 Junior Operator's License

(a) No operator's license shall be issued to any person under eighteen (18) years of age except that junior operators' licenses may be issued to minors who have arrived at the age of sixteen (16) years but who have not reached the age of eighteen (18) years under rules and regulations to be established by the secretary The secretary shall prescribe the form of application for a junior operator's license and each applicant for such a license shall submit with his application an affidavit of a parent or person in loco parentis indicating the age of the applicant and indicating his consent to the issuance of such license Upon receipt of a withdrawal of consent duly acknowledged by the parent or person in loco parentis who executed the consent on the basis of which a junior operator's license or a regular operator's license for a minor seventeen (17) years of age was issued the secretary shall provided the licensee has not reached the age of eighteen (18) years revoke such junior operator's license Where revocation is made pursuant to this provision no new license shall be issued by the secretary until the licensee has reached the age of eighteen (18) years In addition to the other provisions of this act relating to the suspension or revocation of operating privileges in the event that a licensed junior operator is involved in an accident for which he is partially or fully responsible in the opinion of the secretary pleads guilty or nolo contendere or is convicted of any violation of "The Vehicle Code" or violates subsection (c) hereof the secretary may after a hearing suspend the operating privileges of such junior operator until he has reached the age of eighteen (18) years or for any other period of time A junior operator's license shall automatically become a regular operator's license when the licensee reaches the age of eighteen (18) years

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing provision relating to age a regular operator's license including all provisions of the act relating to the suspension or revocation of such licenses may be issued to a minor who has arrived at the age of seventeen (17) years and who has successfully completed a driver's training course which course has been approved by the Department of Public Instruction and the secretary and who has not been involved in any accident for which he is partially or fully responsible in the opinion of the secretary required to be reported under Section 1217 of this act or who has not pleaded guilty or nolo contendere or who has not been convicted of any violation of this act The secretary shall prescribe the form for such application and each applicant shall submit with his application (1) an affidavit of a parent or person in loco parentis indicating the age of the applicant and indicating his consent to the issuance of such license and (2) a diploma or other evidence to show that he has successfully completed a driver's training course which course has been approved by the Department of Public Instruction and the secretary

(c) No person possessing a junior operator's license shall operate any vehicle or tractor upon any public highway between the hours of midnight and five o'clock antemedidian unless he is accompanied by a parent or a person in loco parentis

(d) In addition to the other provisions of this act relating to the suspension or revocation of operating privileges in the event that a regular operator under the age of eighteen (18) is involved in an accident for which he is partially or fully responsible in the opinion of the secretary pleads guilty or nolo contendere or is convicted of any violation of "The Vehicle Code" the secretary may after a hearing suspend the operating privileges of such operator or issue him a junior operator's license in lieu of or in addition to said suspension

Penalty Any person violating the provisions of this section shall upon summary conviction before a magistrate be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) and costs of prosecution

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate one of the conferees, Mr. Fineman?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will be satisfied with Republican answers tonight, I yield to the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Fetterolf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FETTEROLF. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. On page 5 of the conference report there is a provision that the secretary may suspend the operating privileges of the junior operator if he is involved in an accident for which he is partially or wholly responsible, and the secretary may suspend the privileges of the operator until he has reached the age of 18 years—this is on lines 11 and 12—or for any other period of time. Now, for any other period of time, what does that mean, or how much time would that encompass?

Mr. FETTEROLF. As I understand it, he can either suspend the privileges until the operator reaches the age of 18 or for any period of time between the violation and the age of 18. In other words, he may limit it to perhaps a six-month suspension. In other words, the entire time may be taken up in suspension or it may be just a portion of that time.

Mr. McCORMACK. This suspension could go beyond his 18th year the way it reads, could it not?

Mr. FETTEROLF. Not the way I understand the report.

Mr. McCORMACK. Where is the language that would support what the gentleman just said?

Mr. FETTEROLF. The prerogative of the secretary is limited to the time the man reaches 18 years of age, according to the way I read it. Beyond that age he would have no right to take any action based on this act.

Mr. McCORMACK. Would not this language give the secretary the right to suspend his license for, say, a two-year period or longer than that?

Mr. FETTEROLF. It says "until he has reached the age of 18 years."

Mr. McCORMACK. —"Or for any period of time."

Mr. FETTEROLF. He is no longer a junior operator after he is 18, therefore this act would not take effect.

Mr. McCORMACK. He would not have the power to suspend after he reaches 18?

Mr. FETTEROLF. This act deals with junior operators' licenses. What you are talking about is after a man passes that age limit.

Mr. McCORMACK. All right. That is all I have. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, all I would like to say is that if the membership would just bear with us, there are only two more votes. I am as tired as the next person. I ask that they cut out all the side malarkey and let us vote these two conference committee reports and get done; I am ready to fall over.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:
